LOCAL NEWS.

Journal's Anniversary.

Sun rises 5:57; length of day, Sun sets 6:53; 12 hours, 5 minutes. Moon sets at 12:00 a. m.

Beans are coming up nicely. Harry Stevenson has fitted up a new office on the Clyde wharf.

Herrings are now offered at ten cents per bunch with ten on a bunch.

The Elm City arrived from Bayboro last night with a number of passengers. Messrs. Moore & Brady have a huge pile of oyster shells for sale. Farmers who need shell can strike a bargain.

George Credle has left the city—on a trip to Beaufort county. He left a clerk, however, to attend to his business.

Capt. Swift Galloway, the genial and clever Solicitor of the Third Judicial District was in the city yesterday on his way home from Jones court.

The schooner Potter, Capt. Ned Adams, arrived from Wysocking on yesterday with a cargo of corn consigned to Burrus & Co. and Wahab & Credle.

The first ripe strawberry of the season was sent in on yesterday by Mrs. Geo. Green. It was of good size, and the neat and tiny box in which it was conveyed made it more appreciative.

We learn from parties who arrived on the east bound train yesterday morning that the remains of Mr. A. C. Wade were brought down to Kinston, he having died in Charlotte on Wednesday night. He was a former citizen of Kinston and much respected in that town. For several years past he has resided in Charlotte.

The Wilmington Star disclaims giving the "puff" for the Humpty Dumpty troupe that fooled the people of this city a few days ago. The notice that we copied, the Star says, was written for another company. Then another laurel has been added to the unenviable reputation won by the company—that of using some one else's thunder to deceive the people.

Jones Court.

The Superior court of Jones county closed for the term on Thursday morning, and the New Berne attorneys have all returned. The only case of importance disposed of, that we have heard of, was that of Henry Rouse, col., of Dover—known as the chimney corner lawyer of Dover—indicted for the larceny of, or receiving, one cow. L. J. Meade, Esq., assisted Solicitor Galloway in the prosecution and Henry Rouse was brought in guilty. Judge McCoy gave him five years in the pen.

When in Rome Do as Rome Does.

A visitor at Jones court said he had always been taught that when in Rome he must do as Rome does. He further said he had been among the Romans and thought he had about kept the injunction, but could not boast of any success as a shad shooter as some of the Newspaper men could, that is to say, Johnson, of the Messenger, and Taylor, of the JOURNAL, who, after a day of earnest work for their respected Journals, devoted a good portion of the night to the shooting of shad as they passed up the stream.

Cotton Market.

New York futures crawled up a few points yesterday, dragging spots along one sixteenth. The market was reported steady. New Berne market was pressed up to 9.50 for one bale and another lot brought as high as 9.40. Sales for the day 33 bales.

NEW YORK MARKET, SPOT:

Middling 10-18.	8 1/2
Strict low middling 9-15-16	8
Low middling 9-5-8	7 1/2

NEW YORK FUTURES:

	Morning	Noon	Evening
April	10.91	10.97	10.87
May	10.14	10.17	10.16
June	10.29	10.32	10.31
July	10.40	10.44	10.43

Re-Union Extraordinary.

At the late term of Jones court there was a Re-Union of veterans of the following Regiments: Of the 77th, Daniel G. Taylor, of Lenoir, and others. 69th, Sheriff Harper, of Greene, and John Murphy and others. 67th, Col. John N. Whitford, C. C. Taylor and others of the Infantry, and Capt. W. W. Carraway, of the 3d Cavalry.

Owing to the condition of the roads no artillery was in line.

During the engagement Rom Johnson and C. C. Taylor were detailed as an Ambulance corps and discharged the duties of that important branch of the service with commendable gallantry.

Before abandoning the position the mysteries of the New Jerusalem were disclosed to the JOURNAL Correspondent who was fishing with the much sought intelligence connected with the late small-fox saga, at the place and in the manner suggested by the Kinston tinsler.

Core Creek.

The prospects of a public road being opened up from Core Creek to Trenton has given the former, and in fact both places, a boom. Trenton is now twenty miles from the railroad, but when this road is opened it will be only eight. As soon as the convict force now on Quaker Bridge road completes that work they will be taken to the Core Creek road.

Graded School Picnic.

The Committee to arrange for a May Day celebration for the children, met Wednesday evening and decided to have the Picnic on Tuesday, May 1st, on the Academy Green.

The parents of the children, and the citizens generally will be invited to contribute baskets of provisions, and other articles of refreshment.

A cash contribution for necessary expense was started among the members of the committee and nearly fifty dollars subscribed, which will no doubt be largely increased.

The committee will hold another meeting at Prof. Johnson's office on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

First Trip to Trenton.

The Trent River Transportation Company's steamer Trent, M. B. Smith, Commander, arrived yesterday afternoon from Trenton with ootton and passengers. This being her first trip to Trenton, C. E. Foy, Esq., the President of the Company, ordered a salute to be fired upon her arrival in honor of the event, and also as a deserved compliment to Gen. Robert Ransom, to whose engineering skill and perseverance is due the present improved condition of Trent river, thus enabling so large a steamer as the Trent (whose capacity is 350 bales cotton and 50 passengers) to reach Trenton. We note this improvement in our waters with pleasure, and when the Quaker Bridge road is completed this fall to New river in Onslow county the Trent river will be an important stream to the commerce of New Berne.

Patience To-Night.

Patience will be given again to-night for the last time. The performance at the matinee yesterday was well attended, and the company played the opera without omission.

To-night the new uniforms of the Dragoons will be seen. Being red they will add greatly to the scene. The suggestion of "P. A." in the JOURNAL is concurred in, and Judge Gaston's patriotic song, "The Old North State," will be given. The audience will be requested to rise and join in the chorus.

With new uniforms, new local hits, and the noble old song so dear to every New Bernean, the theatre should be filled to overflowing.

Go and see Patience, and, besides getting your money's worth, encourage the youth of our city in amusements that are not only innocuous but really and manifestly beneficial.

Tickets fifty cents (no charge for reserved seats) to any part of the house.

Gratifying Progress.

The Southern manufacturers can find a large open market in the Northwest. It costs no more to ship from North Carolina or Georgia to Cincinnati, Chicago, Milwaukee or St. Paul, than it does from Lowell and Boston. In other words the Southern manufacturer can ship as cheaply to the West as the New England manufacturer can. That is important. The Southern manufacturer buys his cotton for less, pays less for labor and can make goods at less cost; so he can sell cheaper, and this fact is opening the eyes very wide of the sharp Yankee. There are signs in New England even that they are beginning to fear the South, and it is "the opinion of shrewd observers that the transfer of New England cotton manufacture to the South is certain."

For one we say let them come. The South will welcome all men who come to help build up and develop. It is just what the Star has been contending for during the last fifteen years—to bring the mills to the cotton. Let the Northern capitalists and manufacturers come South and erect their fine mills all along our numerous streams.

The leading dry goods houses and representatives of trunk line railroads held recently a meeting in New York, and what was the burden of their talk? The Washington correspondent of the Richmond State says the merchants complained "that they are unable to compete in St. Louis, Cincinnati, and other Western cities for Northwestern trade with the Southern manufacturers, who have entered those markets as active competitors. The New York houses, therefore, ask for a reclassification of domestic and a consequent reduction of freight rates. It is admitted that the future existence of the great cotton industry of New England is involved."

The South is already shipping its goods to the large Western cities and the merchants of those cities are able to outsell the New York merchants in the same class of goods. Such is the statement. Here is most gratifying progress.

Kinston items.

Spring has now fairly opened. The picnic season will soon be here, when the gorgeous young man shall gallant, through sylvan groves, the beautiful maid of the laughing lip and frolicsome eye.

Mitchell & Fields, of this place, bought, last Monday at Jones court for $800, the Sheriff Worley land, over which the county commissioners of Jones and Worley have had a long fight.

It seems that the "Dover Pocosin lawyer, Henry Rouse, will, in the future, hang out his professional shingle on a "penitentiary rock," he having been convicted of larceny at Jones Superior court last Tuesday.

Mr. James E. Nunn and Miss Willie B. Hartsfield, both of Kinston, were joined in holy wedlock by Rev. E. E. Orvis last Tuesday night. A crowd of broken hearts sought relief in the music of tin pans, cow bells and saw-horse-fiddles.

Two polite, popular and goodlooking farmer-widowers of Pink Hill township, who are "just in their prime," are reported to desire a change in their lifelong occupation, as each is now seeking the position as CAR conductor in their neighborhood; but, to prevent all mistakes, it is well enough to say right here neither Rete Jones nor Cephalus Lawson is here referred to.

A couple of valiant Sand-Hillers met the train in Kinston last Tuesday, seeking summary satisfaction for damage said to have been recently done by the train to a horse of one of these Knights. It is said their ambition was fully satisfied; but not after the fashion of the Knight of Woodington township, who, several years ago, attempted to whip the Great Easton Circus, at Kinston, in revenge for imposing on him a Peter Funk phrenological examination of his head. Arriving at the depot when the circus train was leaving and taking a view of the mammoth concern and concluding it was "too big a thing" for a single man to fight, he bravely bawled out, "Go along, go to—ll, go to Goldsboro and phrenologize Rom Johnson," and fired a parting shot at the departing train.

Washington Items.

The schr. M. L. Wedmore arrived from West Indies last week. She was 17 days out on her return trip, and all of the anxiously expected fruit, bananas and other fruit, had rotted.

The young ladies and gentlemen of New Berne deserve credit for the splendid production of the Comic Aesthetic Opera "Patience," which was presented to that town on Friday night last.

Dr. Barker the eminent expounder of phrenology has been in town the past week giving lectures which are very entertaining, and examining heads publicly for the amusement of his audience and also making private examinations and giving charts of his demonstration to parties desiring them.

A meeting of representative Disciples in the county was held in our town last week to take initial steps to erect a house of worship in this place, at an early day. Messrs. R. T. Hodges, Seth Bridgman, W. H. Stancill, O. K. Stille, Dr. J. F. Latham, and Jordan Wilkerson, were selected building committee. Rev. Aug. Latham was appointed soliciting agent for the county. The Disciples number 1160 in the county and have 14 houses of worship. We wish them the greatest success, and hope to see a handsome building in town at an early day.

Hayti Agitated for the Hundredth Time.

NEW YORK, April 11.—The brig Letia, Captain Potter, which arrived here from Miragoane, Hayti, to-day, reports that on March 27th at 8 o'clock, a. m., the revolutionary party, headed by Boyer, Bazelaiz and General Barlow, with 108 men equipped with Winchester repeaters, landed and took the town without any opposition. Bazelaiz assured the people that they had nothing to fear from his party. He made no arrests. To all who joined him he gave Remington rifles. Most of the able-bodied men joined him. He began immediately to fortify the town in a manner showing the people that he meant to hold it. The roads leading to the town he barricaded with barrels two or three tiers high and filled them with sand. Most of the women and children and the sick and lame, who were afraid of the burning of the town were put on board of four vessels lying in port. Up to the morning of the 29th no attack had been made by the government forces. No one was allowed to leave the town on any pretense.

STATE NEWS.

Gleaned from our Exchanges.

Raleigh Farmer and Mechanic: It is creditable to North Carolina—an agricultured State—that 150 sets of the British Encyclopedia at $110.00 per set of 22 volumes have been subscribed for within the past month; including 50 sets in Raleigh. As Appleton's Encyclopedia had a large run four or five years ago, we should have supposed the Britannica would get very few.

Elizabeth City Economist: A barrel factory would pay here and we learn that the enterprise will be undertaken.—Fish are going in. Three hundred and fifty boxes went on Saturday. The boxes average about sixty shad to the box.—We are pleased to learn that Fowler's Cotton factory is doing nicely. Our true interest lies in converting the raw material of every description that is so abundant around us.—Dare Court will be of more than usual interest from the suit vs. non-resident fishermen, St. vs. Willis Overton. A test case to determine the rights of non-resident fishermen.

Durham Tobacco Plant: Capt. O. R. Smith brought to our office a few days since a twig taken from a peach tree, on which were a number of blooms, none of which showed any sign of being injured by cold. An investigation proves to us that up to this time the fruit crop has not been hurt in this section.—Miss painter arrived Friday and has been assisting in the services at the Methodist church since. She preached Sunday morning and also at night. The church was well filled at the morning service and at night every available seat was taken, the gallery filled and the aisles taken up with impromptu seats. Her style of preaching is remarkable for its simplicity, but is nevertheless wonderfully effective. The meetings will continue during the present week if not longer.

Wilmington Star: At the election held last Monday in Florence, S. C., Mr. W. H. Day, a former resident of this city, was elected Mayor of the town. Mr. Day is the Master Car Builder of the W. C. & A. R. E. This is the second employee of this road who has been elected to that position, the last Mayor being Mr. J. T. Kershaw, a machinist. This speaks well for the employes of the W. C. & A. R. E. Company. Mr. Day's opponent being a prominent lawyer of the town.—A mad dog created a great deal of excitement in the neighborhood of Third and Nun streets Monday night. The animal was frothing at the mouth and snapping at everything that came in its way. He finally took refuge under an old house in the vicinity and the efforts of the police to discover and dispatch him were unavailing. Finally, about 10 o'clock, it was announced that he had been killed in the neighborhood of Front and Church streets. The animal was a setter dog, about nine months old, and belonged to Dr. W. H. Green. There seems to be little doubt that this was a case of genuine hydrophobia.

The Midland Railroad.

A large assemblage of the citizens of Smithfield met at Fuller House Saturday night, they having been requested by a telegram the evening before from Superintendent Bryan of the A. & N. C. Railroad to do so. Mr. Bryan explained the object of the meeting as follows: The Midland had been turned over to Mr. Gatlin by Mr. Best for the present; did not know how long Mr. Gatlin would have control; said the expenses of the road was greater than the income, and that the managers thought it best to run three trains a week instead of a daily, but he soon ascertained that such action would not suit the people of Smithfield. A free expression of opinion was then had between the citizens and the railroad men and the conclusion finally reached was that if the merchants of Smithfield would ship all of their goods possible by way of New Berne, that they, the railroad men would continue the daily train with a regular schedule. The meeting closed harmoniously, the citizens being determined to give the road all the patronage in their power, and the railroad men promising they would do all they could to favor Smithfield.

A young politician explained the tattered condition of his trousers to his father by stating that he was sitting under an apple tree enjoying himself, when the farmers dog came along and contested his seat.
