Nine bales of cotton were sold at the Exchange yesterday upon a basis of 91 for middling. The sales for the week market is drooping.

There is said to be one hundred and fifty thousand dollars less money in circulation in this section than at the same time last year, owing to the low prices of cotton, truck, short crops etc.

A Deserted Ship. A crowd of bad boys disguised them selves on Friday night and went aboard of the Tiger Lily, lying at the market dock, to frighten its keeper. The keeper, Will Dixon, at first showed fight, thinking it was a put up job on him, but when the would-be ghost showed a willingness to meet him on that ground he took fright and fled. The mutinous crowd, howsver, did not move the old boat out of her bed, and the keeper was allowed to resume possession on Satur-

In Memoriam, John B. Grace died in the city of New terne on the 2nd day of July, at the esidence of Anson G. Wallace, aged 12 years.

The subject of this notice was born at Portsmouth, N. C., in the year 1861, and at his death was the only son of John K. and Theresa Grace, now living at Portsmouth. He came to New Berne a short time since and began work in the cotton factory as principal reeler, giving entire satisfaction to his employees. By his steady, industrious habits and almost perfect deportment. he won the esteem and confidence of all who knew him. Thus another young man of promise in industrial pursuits has been stricken down at the dawn of manhood and usefulness whose place cannot be filled simply with age and physical strength. Peace be to his ashes, and may his bereaved father and mother weep not as those who refused to be comforted. W.

Suggestion to Farmers.

We have often seen it stated, and heard it repeated as an actual experience, that the raising of goats with sheep is a perfect protection to the latter against the ravages of dogs, and we suggest that some farmer try it. While a sheep it is said can whip a goat, he has not the pluck to stand up to a dog. but a well regulated "billy goat" will put a pack of the most ferocious dogs to

The experiment is worth trying. But for the ravages of dogs, no more profitable industry could be engaged in in Eastern Carolina than sheep raising.

Officers Elected. We could get nothing very definite from the Directors' meeting at Morehead City last night, as to who had be elected to the positions on the road. We learn that two conductors were elected, Captains Richardson and Powell, the reident stating that they could ge with two. Mr. Dill was re-elected spar, and Mr. Basil Manly masschinist. Mr. Wm. Dunn was ed freight agent for New Berne in on of F. M. Acostine and his asat, Mr. Brynn. No road master was elected, and no change was made at

The Greene County Plenie.

We learn that our Kinston correspondent and Doc Mitchell, one or both, somewhat went back on the picnic at day at about 12 m., caught fire from a Suggville, Greene county, on the 4th. We were informed by Mr. James Edwards, a commercial traveller who is a native of Greene county, that he has have made a large conflagration, he never seen so large a crowd enjoy so much pleasure before. He says there were about seventy-five pigs and twelve sheep barbecued, such as only Greene county knows how to make barbecue, together with baskets full almost too numerous to mention. About two thousand pounds of ice was consumed on the grounds during the day. There were about four thousand perions present. The ladies of both the Episcopal Church and of the Methodist Church had ice cream and lemonade tables on the ground, from which they realized good profits. The ladies of the Episcopal Church sold a handsome cake, which was donated to the lady that received the largest vote. The candidates were Miss Sallie Grimsley and Miss Lula Edmundson. Miss Lula won the cake. It was also a notable fact that there was no drinking in the large crowd of visitors, the bar rooms of both Hookerton and Snow Hill were closed all day until the pionic was over.

For the JOURNAL. Bey, Moses A. Hopkins.

Mr. Hopkins is a colored minister who was called suddenly to New Berne to become Principal of the State Normal School, He has been at his post only two weeks and has had a difficult position to fill. The students have been constantly coming in, and he simply had to endeavor to get everything, as far as possible, in working order for the execution of Miss Somerville's plans. But he has been laboring with marked fidelity and success, and has shown what he could do junder favorable circumstances. Mr. Hopkins has charge of a school of over 400 scholars in Franklinton, with extensive buildings. He has also been the Principal of the State Colored Normal School there for two years, and Mr. Scarborough computting the road in good condition, and mends his work highly. Here he has then we think the people of Lenoir, Cra- had two active and excellent assistants ven and Pamileo abouid join in a pati in Rev. Measrs. Savage of Goldshore and Christmus of Warrenton, N. C.

"Farm Out Its Transportation." EDITOR JOURNAL :- As a solution to the A. & N. C. Railroad problem, and by way of inaugurating the great Railroad Reform of the near future, it is suggested that, instead of leasing, selling or retaining the operating management of the road as at present, the Company "farm out its transportation." The power, right and privilege to farm in all the original railway charters, and in the local contest over the lease of the North Carolina Railroad the power to lease of the road, but no such meaning was intended by the originators and draughtsmen of our railroad charter. The idea respecting transportation or carrying, with which railroads originated, was that they were to be toll roads, graded high-ways, iron turnpikes; and horses instead of steam engines were to be employed "to draw the waggons."

Even after the adoption of the locomotive, the idea was to farm out the transportation to independent companies, charging the companies running the cars a toll for the use of the road bed, and the carrying companies to collect freights and passage money.

In this way it was expected that a railroad would be made much the same use of as a canal, or a turnpike road. any one, choosing to do so, running cars over the roadway by paying the prescribed toll.

Undoubtedly this is the correct system of railroading, the one likely to prevail in the not distant future, and it will afford the only means of freeing the people from the burdens of railroad monopoly, and protecting our institutions against the dangerous and growing power of railroad corporations.

Indeed, advanced thinkers and the most profound policians (a coinage to meet the demands of this progressive age) mark the day as not far distant when the States will own all the railroad-bed and maintain open and cometitive traffic over them by farming out their transportation to rival transporta-tion companies, thus cheapening freight and passage carrying, as it is on the competitive water lines.

In time this system is to be succeeded by the National government absorbing all the railroad-beds and making them ree-highways, as the State of New York as done with the great Erie Canal. Already the National government has | Your itemiter eat the first ripe water-
