It is a poor time of year when the illicit distilleries cannot outwit the government. The latest dodge consists in giving information of the whereabouts of an illicit still. A another old still is prepared for DEMOCRATIC BLUNDERS. The news comes now that the the shore to an unprecedented Democratic prospects of carrying height. When daylight came it was Ohio are about to be thrown away by dissensions in their own ranks, while the Republicans are pulling together and using every effort to carry the State, and are greatly cheered in their work by the untimely squabble among their opponents. This state of affairs in Ohio and the fact that the party is forefron barmany in New York. Dohio and the fact that the party is far from harmony in New York, makes the outlook rather gloomy for the Democrats in 1884. But perhaps it is all for the better. The Democrats are accustomed to these blunders, and defeat in both Ohio and New York this fall might have a tendency to bring them together for the great contest next fall, whereas if they succeed in healing the breaches in time to defeat their opponents in these two States this fall, they will be too confident of the results in the Presidential struggle; factions will spring up from individual jealousies, and in their efforts to defeat each other both will be defeated, and all the corruption they charge upon the Republican party will stand endorsed by the people for another four years. Consider this an "off year" and do your wrangling next year unite, go to work and elect your dicket.

This section of the island was not so densely populated as the other portions, and the loss of life was comparatively small, although it must have aggregated fully 15,000 soils. The entire Kandang range of mountains extending along the coast in a semicircle for about 65 miles had gone out of sight. The waters of Welcome Bay, the Sunda Straits, and Pepper Bay on the sext and of the Indian Ocean on the south had rushed in apd formed a sea of turbulent waters. Here and there the peak of a crater was exposed for a moment by the receding of a great wave, and oceasion ally a puff of brownish gray smoke or a slight shower of rocks showed that the volcances still continued in active subaqueous craption. The debris of the submerged and destroyed buildings was tossed hither and thither on the water, the only sign left that there had once been inhubited land there.

At noon Sunday the eruptions and shocks were supposed to have reached their height, but late in the afternoon and around to have reached their neight, but late in the afternoon and evening the violence of the disturbances suddenly increased, and the island seemed to be about to be completely buried in fire and sulphurous ashes. At the same time the enorth mous waves began to dash with greater force upon the shores, coming in some places far up into the interior, and great chasms opened in the earth and threatened mountains which skirt the south- them. east coast of the island.
