THE JOURNAL

H. S. WYNN, Editor. NEW BERNE, N. C., SEPT. 19, 1883.

It looks like Gov. Holden is trying to butter his bread on both sides of the biscuit...

At Glendive, Montana Territory, a small watermelon sells readily for $2.50...

OLD FANCY, the war horse rode by Stonewall Jackson, is tenderly cared for at the Virginia Military Institute at Lexington...

THE State of Iowa was admitted into the Union in 1846 and from that day to this neither the State nor any county has ever received a dollar, directly or indirectly...

It required twenty companies of militia to inaugurate Gov. Knott, of Kentucky, in a style commensurate with "old Kaintuck" idea of the fitness of things...

THOS. L. CLINGMAN, warrior, statesman, philosopher and genius, has invented and patented an electric light which is said to surpass the work of the wizard Edison...

STONEWALL JACKSON'S widow and daughter were the guests of the State of Massachusetts at the opening of the Institute Fair at Boston...

HARMONIZING. At a meeting of the General Committee, appointed on organization by Tammany Hall, held last Friday night the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That we tender the right hand of fellowship to the New York County Democracy and to the Irving Hall Democracy...

Hon. Algernon S. Sullivan addressed the committee and denied that Tammany was hostile to Gov. Cleveland. He also defended the Democracy against the charge frequently made by the Republicans that it was composed of the bad element in society...

New York is just as essential to Democratic success in 1884, perhaps a little more so, as Ohio is to the Republicans. If the latter should succeed in carrying Ohio in October, and the Democrats harmonize in New York city, we might count the honors easy, and look for a warm campaign in 1884. In North Carolina it is about "up and tick." Governor Holden leaves the Republican party and is giving his reasons for so doing. Patrick Henry Winston joins the Republican party and gives his reasons for the faith that is in him. These two political philosophers will mark on the pages of history among the profound reasoners of the age.

STATE NEWS

Gleaned from our Exchanges.

Goldsboro Messenger: The total sales of cotton marketed in Goldsboro for the year ending Sept. 1st foot up 24,934 bales which is an increase over the previous year of nearly 2,000 bales. In addition to this 6,903 bales were shipped via the Wilmington road, not sold in the city, making the total shipment for the period named 31,837 bales.

Statesville Landmark: A Stany county man with a quart on board, ate, at the store of Messrs. Hoffmann Bros., yesterday afternoon, 27 raw eggs, remarking they only cost 10 cents a dozen, that he liked eggs and d—n a man that would stand on 10 cents. We have a twig from a peach tree on the farm of M. J. Troutman, of Fallston township, on which grew nine large peaches. Three of them had fallen off in getting to us, but the peaches and the places where they had been were there to speak for themselves.

Clinton Caucasian: A mammoth apple is on exhibition at the store of Mr. A. F. Johnson. It is 13 inches in circumference and weighs 15 1/2 ounces. It is of the Backingham variety. It was raised by Mr. Abner Robinson. One of our farmers has just reaped 9,000 pounds of forage from less than 1 1/2 acres of land sowed in common Italian corn. The corn was sowed in drills 3 1/2 feet apart, 3 1/2 bushels of seed to the acre, and just as the fodder began to ripen—he says his horses are quite fond of the forage, eating the entire stalk. He thinks it beats oats badly.

Raleigh News-Observer: Dr. Jas. McKee, county superintendent of public health, yesterday informed a reporter that the health of the city and county was better than he had ever known it.—Mr. J. C. Scarborough has been appointed a commissioner from this State at the national conference of charities and corrections, to be held at Louisville, Ky., this month.—There was a happy woman in the Governor's office yesterday morning. It was Mrs. Williams, of Durham county, whose husband was pardoned and released from the penitentiary by Acting-Governor Robinson. The petition for release was signed by Judge Avera, who sentenced Williams, and many of the best citizens of the county. It was urged by these petitioners that Williams was drunk at the time he committed the offence, which was the larceny of a pair of shoes. He was a shoemaker. He went home yesterday, a happy man with a happy wife.

Tarboro Guide: Gen. W. G. Lewis has on exhibition at Mr. J. F. Shackelford's office, the largest sunflower stalk ever raised in this section. It is fourteen feet in height, the flower at the top was about twenty inches across, the matured seed receptacle now measures fourteen inches in diameter, and contains probably a pound of seed. How is his cotton?—Reuben Keel, a white man living near Old Sparta in this county, attempted several times on Tuesday to obtain laudanum and other poisonous drugs for the purpose of suiciding. Dr. M. B. Pitt, suspecting his motive, gave him quinine. The next morning, much to his surprise, he was not dead. Disgusted and angered he started out by day break. His son jumped up and attempted to follow his father. Keel got in the woods where the briars and undergrowth were so thick he could not follow. Since, a futile search has been made for the poor man. It is suspected that he drowned himself in a river.

Greensboro Patriot: George Ledford has in his possession a sewing needle that has a set of well developed molars. It was found in a hay stack on Benbow's dairy farm.—Two new postoffices, have been established in the State—Orton, in Columbus county, with Hines Lennon, postmaster, and Wharton, in Beaufort county, with Francis P. Hodges, postmaster.—Hugh Peters got in from the South this morning, and says that the cotton crop between Charlotte and Augusta, Ga., is burnt up. He predicts that a half crop will not be realized on account of the drought.—Jim Jones, a colored archer, generally seen hanging about the depot, has been laid up several days with a tooth. This morning he appeared with a swollen jaw, and a long string tied to his tooth. Just before the Danville train left he tied the other end of the string to the rear car. When the train started he ran along behind it until it had gathered headway, when he dropped on his knees. The train carried the tooth off.

Greenville Reflector: Rev. J. S. Nelson and wife and youngest child were thrown from a buggy by a runaway horse, below Washington a few days ago. Mr. Nelson and the child receiving severe injuries. His wife escaped unhurt.—Mr. J. G. Sheppard, of Beaver Dam township, has brought us a stalk of corn to place alongside of the ear brought us by Mr. W. B. Phillips. The stalk brought us by Mr. Sheppard has thirty distinct tassels. It beats anything we have ever seen.—Emily Forbes, a colored woman, while fishing in the river near Bryant's creek Saturday caught a large white shad. Rev. B. H. Hearn and Mr. J. T. Pollard both ate some of the shad and they tell us that it was genuine and as good as a May shad. We know of two or three instances of shad being caught with a hook, but the fact that one was caught that way in September, is in our knowledge, unprecedented. It is rarely the fact that shad are seen in our waters later than June. Aunt Emily can take the trout seat as the boss fisher.

The Richest Chinaman in the United States

I sat on the piazza at El Paso, Texas, and saw approaching a repulsive looking Chinaman, whose face was disfigured by a long, ghastly scar. It was Sam Hing, the richest Chinaman in America, who is said to have salted down four delicious millions. "Washee?" you ask. "Not much washee!" Sam has too "soft a thing." Rumor has it that all the Chinamen employed in constructing the Mexican and Texas railroads get their employment through Sam Hing, and that each Chinaman (about 30,000) pays him $1-per month, besides a bonus for the job of work obtained through Sam. Sam, in fact, controls the labor market, and Chinamen who "go it alone" have an odd way of disappearing—to China, perhaps. The men whom Sam provides with employment must also purchase all their clothes and provisions of him, and so, "by a mathematical process," you will conclude that Sam has a bonanza. Why don't I tell you about the scar that disfigures the face? I will. Common fame and Chinese history say that Sam Hing was once upon a time hanged in the Celestial Empire for a crime unknown. After a Chinaman has played Mohammed's coffin for a given legal length of time his body is given over to his friends, who are at liberty to resuscitate it if they can, in which event the resuscitant must, like the late Carey, and others, pack up and "go" for foreign shores. Sam Hing's vitality was restored, and he lived to become an American millionaire, with headquarters at El Paso, and branches in California, Colorado, Mexico and Arizona.—Correspondence St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Shocked to Death

About half past four o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, Kinchon Cherry, white, Charles Knight and three other colored men and a colored woman were working on the farm of Staton Cummings, near Old Sparta, in Edgecombe county, when a sudden storm barely gave them time to seek cover under an old cart shelter in the field. A deafening crash of lightning struck the shelter, immediately killing Cherry and Knight, stunning the others, one of them perhaps fatally. The woman, the mother of Chas. Knight, was the only person unharmed. Cherry lived in Richmond county and was visiting his brother who lives in the county. His remains were removed to his home for interment on Thursday.—Tarboro Guide.

A Funny Bear

The most amusing thing that has occurred at or near Wood river, Utah, for some time happened on a western mountain side. A huge brown bear leisurely stalked into the scene of log chopping and fired a "logger, seemingly with much amusement. A chopper who witnessed the proceeding lost no time in getting out of the timber, but the mystery of his whereabouts has since caused considerable speculation. It is thought he was scared crazy. The other fellow amused the bear for three hours and a half, when the latter departed to parts unknown.—Salt Lake Tribune.
