NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

HANCOCK BROS.—Yanpon Bitters.
R. D. CHADWICK—Notice.
E. W. CARPENTER—Notice.
E. W. CARPENTER—Notice.

Journal miniature Almanac.
Sun rises, 5:43; Length of day,
Sun sets, 6:03; 12 hours, 22 minutes.
Moon sets at 5:00 a. m.

Ten bales of cotton sold at the Exchange yesterday at 3.45.

The Inland Coasting Company gives notice of a meeting in this issue.

The steamer Goldsboro brought in on her last trip 50 stoves for L. H. Cutler.

By request we publish in this issue the rules and regulations of the Graded School. Read and obey.

The steamer Goldsboro cleared for Baltimore last night with a cargo of lumber, cotton and naval stores.

A fishing smack was up yesterday with a good catch of sheephead, trout, spots and other varieties which went off rapidly.

Eng. E. M. Foscoe was in the city yesterday. He is preparing to fix a grist mill to his new outfit of machinery for graining.

Mr. J. L. Fowler received a telegram yesterday from Caesar, at Edenton, announcing that the ferry boat had been found there.

Mr. John J. Bonner, of Hatteras, arrived on the schooner Independent last evening quite sick. He was taken to the marine hospital.

The Goldsboro Bulletin has passed its first year and now proposes to enlarge to a 28 column paper. Glad to see it in a prosperous condition.

The schooner Ada arrived from Hyde county yesterday with a cargo of corn for J. A. Meadows, which she discharged and cleared for Beaufort.

The steamer Snow Hill cleared yesterday evening for Snow Hill with a heavy cargo of general merchandise for Bell's Ferry, Hookerton and Snow Hill.

The will of the late Dr. E. R. Hubbard has been probated and filled in the Probate Judge's office in this county.

After giving away several legacies he closes with these words: "Any notes and accounts that I may have, I give them to those that owe them."

Marriage License.

Our Register of Deeds has issued only one marriage license during the past week and that to a colored couple. Perhaps it is not generally known that it will cost $1.25 more after the 1st of November than it does now to procure a wife. The price now is $1.75, after November it will be $3.00.

New Buggies.

We noticed on Saturday two elegant buggies being put into Dell Bros. store. Upon inquiry we learn that they were manufactured by McD. Pate & Co. of Snow Hill. In price they compare favorably with Cincinnati and Columbus buggies, while the work is far superior. They are good, neat and substantial. We can afford to speak much truth, without charge, of a home enterprise.

Church Services.

North Street Methodist Church, Preaching at 11 a. m. and at 7 p. m. by the Pastor, Rev. Dr. Burkhead. Sunday school at 4 p. m. Seats free. All cordially invited.

Christ Church, V. W. Shields, Pastor. 12th Sunday after Trinity. Services at 11 a. m. and 6 p. m. The public are always invited to attend the services of this church. Ushers at the door.

Rev. C. A. Jenkins will preach today at the Baptist Church, morning and evening at the usual hours.

The Case of Messrs. Wood and White.

Messrs. Wood and White have received the following letter: "Office Chief Engineer of Fire Dept., Wilmington, Sept. 12, 1883. Messrs. ALPHRUS W. WOOD & Wm. ELLIS, Atlantic Steam Fire Engine Co., New Berne, N. C. Gentlemen: Your order of the 11th inst. with the beautiful testimonial accompanying, has been received, and I beg to tender to you and the members of your company my sincere thanks not only for the testimonial itself, but for the delicate manner in which the gift has been conveyed. The pleasure has been greatly enhanced from the fact that the action of yours was entirely unexpected, for I did not suppose that you were in the line of most agreeable duty. If it was our good fortune to make your visit to our city a pleasant one, it is a matter of great gratification to us, and we bestowed our most cheerful and cordial attention to your interests, and we are glad to hear that you were so well pleased with the result. Again thanking you for this elegant remembrance of a mutually pleasant visit, and trusting the day may not be far distant when we shall meet for another 'hang of war.' I am, with great respect and kind regards to yourself and those you represent, Yours truly, CHAS. B. STONE."

The Shenandoah.

Capt. E. M. Stoddard, of Norfolk, Superintendent of the Baker Salvage Co. and Capt. Bourne, of N. Y., Superintendent of the Old Dominion Steamship Co., went down last night to investigate the condition of the steamer Shenandoah, which will be glad to see her round to her dock in this city again.

New Goods.

Geo. Allen & Co. are recruiting their stock of hardware by every steamer. Thirty boxes of axes were brought in at one time.

H. W. Wahan has been North and replenished his stock of liquors.

James Redman is receiving fresh groceries and Bargner & Engel beer.

L. H. Cutler is laying in his fall stock of hardware. He has an extra large lot of sash, doors, blinds and stoves.

The Graded School.

The number of pupils who have already entered the Graded School is surprisingly large, especially considering the unusually bad weather during the week, and the early season at which the school opens. Quite a large number of pupils have come in from the surrounding country, paid their tuition and entered the school, and although the people are manifesting much interest in the subject of proper education, the same enthusiasm seems to obtain in New Berne with reference to the Graded School system, which is prevailing all over the State.

The question of education is the question which is to decide the future prosperity of the South, and fix her position and influence in the world. Since the war education has not been given the attention which it deserves. In other parts of the country there has been a vast improvement in the system of schools. Not only in the States, but in this direction, she seems to be in earnest, and we confidently expect to see her take her stand among the most carefully and universally educated people of the country.

Our school in New Berne has just closed its first week for the year, under the most favorable and gratifying circumstances possible. The school has been carefully and thoroughly organized under a carefully selected and able, earnest, progressive corps of teachers. The satisfaction with the school in all its departments seems to be marked and general. The good effects of last year's training and discipline have been manifest in the organization and the prospect for a profitable and entirely satisfactory year's work is certainly very gratifying.

Catharine Lake Items.

The Aman mill on South West is washed away.

Mr. Geo. W. Taylor, of Jacksonville has returned and expects new goods soon.

South West bridge, which has been under repairs, is overflowed and impassable.

Col. S. B. Taylor, Catharine Lake, is away attending the Boston Exposition and preparing for the fall trade.

During Mrs. Emma Hussey's visit at W. B. Cox's, the young men had been unusually fond of calling to see Mr. Ed. Jones.

Mr. Henry Canby, the dry goods merchant, Jacksonville, went to Baltimore, New York and Boston, and is receiving a fall stock.

Mr. H. D. Murrill has gone to South Carolina in company with N. F. Nixon, who has been spending several days with relatives here. They have gone to examine a farm.

On Monday and Tuesday, we had incessant rain for 48 hours. It was the heaviest fall of rain for years. Travel and work is much hindered. Mails have been irregular.

Work on the Quaker Bridge road is suspended for a few days on account of high water. It is several inches deep in the canal, but the "conduits" are high enough to be free from water.

Mr. W. H. Cox and Nick Cox have supplied themselves with new buggies. Buggies were abundant last winter, but our young men are making a fair trade, which shows they do not propose to be excelled.

All the people of Onslow are anxious for better transportation; but many have seen the folly of ten dollar shares in large stock companies, controlled by a few who own a majority of shares. It will pay them to believe capitalists are willing to invest and let the farmers use their money on their farms.

In the several railroad meetings held lately and reported in the JOURNAL, it is proposed to build a "bam-rail" from Quaker Bridge to Tar Landing on the road now being made by the contractors. This all looks very pretty on paper, and we hope it may be a grand success. But the serious question of this road for the present is at Onslow Branch, several miles from Tar Landing. Besides, it is not clear in this direction. No man's dream rests there will have to be at least five miles of road built. Who expects to do this?

Jones County Items.

Your correspondent, at the suggestion of a friend wrote last week an article in reference to the Quaker Bridge Road and another item in regard to the celebration of the laying of the corner stone of the jail of this county, one, or both, of which items has, or have, seriously "disgruntled" a certain individual who claims to be a quondam friend of your correspondent—one "W. D."

His reply, if it may be dignified by that name, was at least ingenious if not ingenious. As to the discussion, as to the cultivation of cotton, etc., which he claims to have occurred between ourselves; the consultation of the stars, which is known as "Astrology"; the disturbances of Venus, a favorite insinuation, in terms of W. D.; the "butting the butt of the bridge"—Quaker Bridge—by Mr. Foy; the slowness of Mr. Wilson's walk; or the rapidity of Mr. Kinsey's; the pedestrianism of Messrs. Pearsall and Whitford and as to whether Trenton, or the inhabitants thereof, should be embalmed in mummies, dogs, ponies, house cats, etc., which he states make the subjects of conversation between ourselves, I have no remembrance. Therefore, I could not have been greatly benefited by the imaginary or real conversation, howsoever interesting, it might have been, or it would not have faded so soon from memory. Consequently my friend must have been the gainer, to pursue his beautiful line of reasoning, which is so learned, so abstruse and so clear, yes, as "clear as mud."

Whether my friend has pursued the line of reasoning laid down by Aristotle or the "Baconian system" is left for conjecture. I don't charge him with either, judging from his "hair splitting" arguments, I should take him to be a disciple of neither.

At any event, whether Trenton is to be visited by smallpox again or not, we do trust that our quondam friend may not then be a sojourner in this modern sodom, if she is so unfortunate as to be thus afflicted, because if he were it might be my unpleasant duty as itemizer of the JOURNAL to be called upon to chronicle his sad departure to that "bourne from whence no traveller returns." We use a quotation from his favorite author, some portions of which he appears to be perfectly familiar with. One in which he makes allusion he seems to have at his finger ends.

I was somewhat surprised that "W. D." should have allowed himself to have been betrayed even for an instant in making sport of epidemics; but when we are reminded that sometimes even wit is epidemic, then allowance was made because of the oyster flow which is in some men's brains. Ideas long pent up must be ventilated. New wine when put into old bottles sometimes burst the bottles. Even a volcano must have vent for the tremendous pressure from the inside must be delivered even from the mouth of the crater and my Lord Byron says that "a single drop of ink shed upon a small piece of paper will produce a thought which may make thousands, perhaps millions, think." If a single thought, then, is capable of making such an impression how much then the world would have been the loser from the loss of my quondam friend's irresistible arguments and interesting conversation so graphically described.

As to the unusual disturbances about Venus to which my quondam friend alludes; perhaps he had better consult the moon. For there are more stars in heaven and earth, Horatio, than thou dreamest of in thy philosophy.

Your correspondent thinks it a little unfair to be made a breast work for the purpose "W. D." intends that of hurling his arrows against his neighbor's friends. He protests that this is taking advantage of the situation for the purpose of demolishing two of his friends, Messrs. Pearsall and Whitford, the gentlemen, will excuse me for defending them in this connection—who have a perfect right to walk upon their accustomed rounds either of business or pleasure. It is not even a mooted question whether "it is better that two men should walk or one should ride." If the one gentleman sees fit to walk to see his clients for the purpose of collecting fees due him, and then afterwards walks away from them, or the other prefers walking to attend his numerous schools, wherein that "hottest fire" may be embodied, that "promote clean spark," that may lay slumbering in the soul of genius, which only awaits the Master's hand to enkindle into a flame of beauty and of splendor that perchance may dazzle the world with its brilliancy. If they perchance prefer walking to do this, and such results as the latter flow from a master stroke of genius, who does care to doubt that such are indeed pilgrimages to the "Holy Land?" Perhaps the very things ## and the very objects of the gentleman's ridicule may be turned into good and holy uses.

But the irresistible "funniness" of my quondam friend's arguments reach the climax where he says that if you cease to lay corner stones for jails you might as well do away with the same as to churches, court houses, etc., and had it not been for the rascalities of Adam we would not have needed such thing. It seems like begging the argument, and totting a lecture unfair when this "Sir Oracle," who has commanded even with the stars. This high authority should be reduced, the dire necessity of going back 6,000 years for the purpose of laying this charge upon his paternal ancestors' shoulders, why don't he go back just a little further and charge the devil with it at once? Now I do trust—and I hope I say it with all reverence—that it is ungrateful to charge upon old Father Adam the culpability of the present generation. The argument is too far fetched, entirely too foreign to the subject. We trust that the gentleman will come from behind his ambuscade and cease firing from behind masked batteries.

Kinston Items.

Martied, at the residence of the bride's father in Woodington township, by Rev. H. Cunningham, Mr. Egbert Waller and Miss Lizzie Harper, all of Woodington township and Woodington church.

Mrs. Mary Davis, wife of Jarman Davis, died of heart disease on the 4th instant in Pink Hill township. Her death was very sudden. Elder H. Cunningham preached her funeral to a large concourse of people, taking for his text, Job, 7th chap., 24th verse.

Mrs. Sarah Hines, wife of Lemuel Hines, died in Trent township on the 5th instant. Her funeral was preached by Elder H. Cunningham to a large congregation of relatives and friends on the 7th instant. She was buried in the family burial ground.

The September term of Lenoir Superior Court adjourned last Thursday evening. The Civil docket was cleared of much of the rubbish accumulated for years. Judge Phillips gave universal satisfaction to the Bar and to the public, demonstrating the wisdom of the people in his selection for the Bench.

The King will case was heard last Thursday, consuming all the day. A. J. Loftin, M. A. Gray, John F. Wooten, W. E. Clarke, W. T. Dorch, and Hon. George Davis of Wilmington, appearing for the legatees and propounders of the will, and Judge Strong, H. F. Grainger and Daniel E. Perry for the "piny woods boy." There was sharp shooting between Counsellor Davis and Judge Strong, in which the latter "sat down" very severely on the former. Judge Phillips held it was not a jury case and sustained the will. The contestant, R. W. King, Jr., appeals to the Supreme Court, where he hopes to find better judges of the law. In the meantime, the plums are getting very ripe, and may all fall into the capacious maws of the larned counsel, engaged in the case.

La Grange Items.

The railroad cotton platform is being covered—a much needed work.

Miss Frankie Hall, sister of Mrs. H. M. McDonald, left for her home this morning.

Seasons were unfavorable for making a crop, and thus far they have been equally unfavorable for housing. A short crop, bad weather for housing, and low prices, are sure to be felt.

Capt. Davis' School is in full operation this week—last being taken up in registering, etc. The attendance is very large. The Capt. is ably assisted by Prof. Starke and Walker of Virginia.

Dr. Hodges has a clear case of jaundice; if yellowness of the skin and eyes are evidences of the disease. The Doctor has been confined to his room for a few days, but leaves for his father's this evening.

The surrounding country, say the doctors, is free from chills and fevers and biliousness, than for many years. There has been less biliousness and other kind of fevers in the Bucklesberg section since the first of August than almost ever before.

Hardy Barnes and John Williams had two altercations last Wednesday. The first was a blow from each and nobody hurt. The last was more serious, and Barnes received a severe and almost fatal blow from a brickbat in Williams' hand; Williams was not hurt.

Prof. J. D. Murphy, Ph. B., of the Collegiate Institute, withdrew from that institution Thursday. He goes to Chapel Hill to take an advanced course in Latin and study law. Mr. Murphy during his stay here has made many warm friends who are reluctant to part with him, and especially is he endeared to his pupils. Messrs. Joyner & Williams will have charge, and the school will be conducted on, as before, with ability and satisfaction.

THE LATEST NEWS.

LONDON, September 14.—A dispatch to the Reuter's Telegram Company from Hong Kong dated to-day states that a battle has taken place between the French forces and the Black Flags, lasting eight hours. The engagement took place between Hanoi and Sontay, near the Red river. The French forces are reported as having lost two officers and 50 men. The loss of the Black Flags is estimated at between 500 and 600 men. Hanoi is the town where the French have been holding their garrison since the previous engagement, at Sontay awaiting reinforcements. It is probable that the Black Flags, whose headquarters are at Bac Minh, northeast of Hanoi, determined to recapture Sontay from the French, who have kept gunboats there for the last fortnight, and while on route from Bac Minh across the Delta they were met by a French force sent from Hanoi to intercept them, the above battle being the result.

Mr. Henry C. Pool, New Berne, N. C., says: "I tried Brown's Iron Bitters for general debility and received great benefit."

"YANPON BITTERS."

Our townsmen, Captain Ludlow, has turned his knowledge as a druggist to account by inventing the above medicine, and elsewhere a certificate will be found which speaks strongly in his favor. This is from Father O'Keefe, and when a man of his calling and position comes forward to testify as he has done there must be good reason for it. Captain Ludlow has taken a famous North Carolina herb for his medicine, and we hope he may find "millions to it" and the public find health.—Norfolk Landmark.

(TESTIMONIAL.)
ST. MARY'S RECTORY,
NORFOLK, VA., April 18, 1883.

Captain John R. Ludlow:
My dear Sir—Please accept my sincere thanks for the substantial benefit derived by me from your "Yanpon Bitters." For years I have been a sufferer from a suspension of the functions of the digestive organs almost every night to the extent that relief could be afforded only by assuming an upright position and pacing my bedroom for some minutes. All this suffering and inconvenience have ceased by taking a teaspoonful of your medicine before retiring, and I now enjoy undisturbed rest every night, the digestive organs performing their functions as faithfully as every night to the extent that relief could be afforded only by assuming an upright position and pacing my bedroom for some minutes. I am ever, Sir, your obedient servant,
M. O'KEEFE.
