The grand jury of the U. S. District were discharged yesterday.

Maj. Dennison has completed a large storage room for cotton seed.

Dr. G. K. Bagby leaves for Beaufort to day and will be absent for a week.

The steamer Stout sailed last night for Baltimore with a cargo of over 700 bales of cotton.

The steamer Blanche brought in 18 bales of cotton yesterday from Beaufort creek.

Visiting at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hayward and leaves this morning at 5 o'clock for Snow Hill.

The Shenandoah sailed yesterday evening for Elizabeth City with about 700 bales of cotton.

The crowd at the rink last night was quite large, the skating good and the music excellent.

Mr. E. L. Keeler, Assistant Keeper of Brant Island Light, was in to see us Thursday night and reports everything in good order and condition at his station.

We publish elsewhere an article on the "Home Guardian," an organization for the purpose of insurance. Those interested in insurance or desirous of insuring would do well to read it.

Yesterday was the biggest day of the season at the cotton exchange. Three hundred and sixty-three bales were sold, many cars and wagons were in from the country and things were quite lively.

Duffy & Ives, on Middle street, are receiving new goods by every steamer. This is a new firm, their goods and the proprietors and clerks are all good looking, and their goods are broad new and fresh.

Dr. Wm. Pell, Ballance returned on the Shenandoah yesterday morning. He has been in the northern markets for the last two weeks where he has purchased and is now receiving a choice stock of fancy groceries.

We regret to hear of the continued illness of Mrs. F. W. Hancock, at Goldsboro. Mr. Hancock received a telegram yesterday stating that she was worse. He left on the freight train yesterday evening for Goldsboro.

A very pleasant social gathering was held at Mr. Calvin Perry's, near the city, last night. Several of our Graded School girls and teachers attended. We return thanks for an invitation and regret that we could not attend.

Mr. Will B. Lane, the popular manager of the Carolina Music House, at Goldsboro, was in the city yesterday. He makes an advertisement in our Weekly, and makes some important changes which deserves the attention of our readers.

A telegram was received in this city yesterday announcing the death of Mrs. F. H. Hamft, the well known musician, which took place in Goldsboro on Thursday night of heart disease. After an illness of about ten days. Funeral this evening from the Methodist Church at 8 p. m.

The Supreme Court has confirmed the judgment of the court below in the case of Adam Bryan and Fisher, convicted at last term of Superior Court for breaking Orange county jail and releasing the prisoners therefrom. They were sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. They will be re-arrested at the next term of the court.

October 26th, at the residence of Levi Bray in this city, by Rev. G. W. Neal, Mr. Stephen D. Smith to Miss Rachel A. Smith.

A nice quiet company of friends and acquaintances were present to witness the interesting ceremony.

The Pender Monument Fund. We have a letter from Capt. A. Asher acknowledging the receipt of the check for $50.00 from Mrs. Lewis Ginter for the erection of a monument to General W. D. Pender. He says the amount has been deposited to the credit of that fund in the Raleigh National Bank. Capt. Asher requests us to say to Mrs. Ginter that the friends of General Pender in this State are moving actively in the matter and have hopes of early raising a suitable amount.

We think it due our townsman, Maj. D. T. Caraway, who was a member of General Pender's staff, to say that his name belongs to the credit of the monument fund for a Pender monument. It was at all events a communication that appeared in the Southern Statesman, in a Richmond paper, which was made to the decision of $50.00 by Maj. Caraway. Major Caraway had expressed a feeling something of General Pender's great character as a North Carolinian and showed his appreciation of it by the efforts he is making to do something for his memory.

REPUBLICAN NOMINATION.

The convention at Edenton on Thursday nominated Judge C. C. Pool for Congress. His opponent, T. C. Skinner, has passed down for Newport last night, where he speaks to-day; says the outlook is fine for his election.

The District Court. Judge Pool's first case taken up on Friday morning was U. S. vs Charles H. Brown—illicit distilling. W. E. Clarke appeared for the defendant, Robinson and Bagley for the government. Mistrial. Another eleven to one case.

Sam Harrison, convicted of perjury, was brought into court and the District Attorney prayed judgment.

Wm. E. Clarke, Esq., Sam's attorney, moved for a new trial upon the ground that His Honor admitted secondary testimony when the original was in existence. After argument the motion was denied. Mr. Clarke then asked for an arrest of judgment upon the ground that the bill of indictment was defective. After argument His Honor decided that the bill would hold; counsel then asked for an appeal; the court could find no statute under which an appeal could be taken. This being the last resort His Honor proceeded to give Sam two years in the penitentiary at Albany and he fined one dollar and costs.

This was an outrageous case of perjury, one committed with the intent to injure his fellow man, and did cause one Jesse Miller to be imprisoned for sometime. But for his ignorance, he would have had the full benefit of the law.

Court adjourned until ten o'clock this morning.

The Home Guardian.

The Home Guardian Life and Benefit Society, (it may not be generally known,) has an organization in this city composed of some of our leading citizens and is now ready to take risks on as reasonable terms as any company in the United States.

The object of this society is to provide self-protection against the loss of time while you are incapacitated, by sickness or accident from pursuing your daily avocation. To secure to yourselves, in the event that you should become personally disabled, an amount of money that would under any contingencies prevent you being thrown upon the cold charity of the world, and to your families, at your death, a sum that would place them above want.

The expense fund is created by the payment of membership fees and thirty-five per cent of the deposits. Only one membership fee being required from any one member. There are no assessments and no annual dues or contribution taxes, the regular annual deposits being all that is required.

The weekly benefit fund and the death and total disability fund are created by the deposits of each member of such sums as is shown by his certificate of membership. These funds are kept separate and are deposited in the bank daily and can be drawn out only by drafts signed by the executive committee of a division, payable to the beneficiary. All officers or agents handling the funds of this society are required to give good and sufficient bonds.

By joining this society you will receive, in the case of sickness or accident, from three to twenty-five dollars per week. In case of death, from $500 to $5,000, or in case of disability, one half of the amount of the death indemnity. You can take out a joint policy with your wife which will cost you but a trifle more and at the death of either one then the survivor will receive the amount insured.

There is no question about the safety of the investment, in this society, as the funds in the bank of deposit belongs to the membership at large. Subject to the audit of the executive committee of the division where the death or disability occurs. (Remember, where the division is located, and said death is made payable to the order of the beneficiary, and this is the only way the deposits can be drawn from the bank. The Bank of Deposit is the National Life and Bank of Commerce of Cincinnati, Ohio, and the Supreme Secretary is C. J. Tyler, Southwest corner of fifth and Race streets, Cincinnati.)

The members of the Executive Division are Wm. Geo. Brinson, President; Walter F. Durrant, Vice President; Bryan G. Credle, Financial Secretary; Charles and Frank Duff, Medical Examiners; Wm. Bell Ballance, James W. Walker, Thomas J. Mitchell and Moses E. Whitehurst, Agents in this State. Hon. George Green, ex. Alex. Miller, Geo. Green, Jr., John W. Smallwood, Joseph B. Brown, Ed. Daniels, Mrs. Mary Daniels, Mrs. Maggie L. Barron, Mrs. Mary J. Whitehurst and Mrs. Bettie M. Miller (jointly with their husbands) are members.

The order must be made, if necessary, at the call of the President, and there is no need of you running around. Any one wishing to join this division will call on Bryan G. Credle at his residence, or at the office of the Home Guardian, on Middle street, where you can get information and the proper blanks and rate of insurance, etc.

Cleaned from our Exchanges.

Greensboro Patriot: Quintin Morehead tried to get on his last winter's boots this morning and collided with a rattlesnake in the foot of the boot. In kicking the boot off his foot it struck another colored man about midships and doubled him for several minutes.

Wilmington Review: Aaron Kellogg, colored, while attending a jointing machine in the Weldon Railroad shops yesterday afternoon, had the misfortune to get four of his fingers cut off. The unfortunate man was taken to his home and surgical aid at once summoned. It is a terrible misfortune to him, or to any one to whom the use of his hands means a livelihood for himself and family.

Durham Plant: Last Friday evening while James A. Hall, who lives a few miles below Durham, was absent from home some fiend went into his stable and attempted to kill a fine mare he had recently purchased, by cutting her throat, but in the hurry he failed to strike the main artery. On the next evening, Saturday, Mr. Hall went to a neighbor's house and was not absent over an hour. On returning he found that the same scoundrel had returned and killed his mare. In another column we publish an advertisement offering a reward of $50 for sufficient evidence to convict the party or parties. There is no clue to the perpetrator of this inhuman act.

Smithfield Herald: A fight occurred at the colored Baptist church of this place one night last week, in which Joe Green, a colored brick mason from Goldsboro, and Benita Sanders, colored, of this place, were the participants. Sanders was painfully, though not seriously, cut. Joe Green was tried before Mayor Fuller, and was bound over to the next term of Johnston Superior court, in default of which he went to jail. A negro boy about fifteen years old, stole a horse from a Mr. Sutton, near Benham's Cross Roads, Sampson county, on the night of the 14th inst. He was pursued and caught in Meadow Township, this county, at the house of Mr. Surles, on the 18th. On Monday he went to Mr. Wm. McClamb in pretended search of employment and offered to hire himself and horse to this gentleman, but he was not hired by this gentleman. From there he made his way to Maj. Surles, where he was caught. He is now safely incarcerated in Sampson county jail.

The Effect of Kindness. Prof. Lester, tells in substance, this story:—

"Once when I was in a teacher's class, I found myself unable to get my pupils interested in the reading lesson. When a pupil makes a mistake I stop him short and show him how the piece should be read; then I make him read properly. I do not allow any whispering. When anything goes wrong, I take out a little note-book, which I keep for the purpose, and make a note of the pupil that breaks the rules, and at the end of the day, if I have forgotten, what the boy's or girl's offence was, I look it up in the book. I have perfect order, but the scholars do not seem interested in their lessons. What is the trouble?"

"Now, when the Institute opens," said I, "I am going to call upon you to get up here on the platform and read this essay. I am going to have three persons watch you very closely to see how you stand; how you hold your book; how you make your pauses; and when you fall in the least thing, we shall stop you at once and show you how it must be done; then you will have to do it correctly. We shall mark the lesson."

"But I must read under those circumstances."

"Yet that is what you require from your pupils," I replied. "You take too much notice of unimportant things. The child has a bright thought; a sudden thought strikes him; he communicates it to his neighbor. He does not intend to do wrong. He simply follows his inward nature. He forgot about the rule, and directly after he has broken it he remembers, and looks ahead anticipating punishment. The pupils are afraid to come in the school house; they look upon it with distrust; they know that they are punished for the slightest mistake."

"Yes, it is so. You have described my school."

"Now, when you go back to your school, let us see your memorandum book. Have your pupils constantly make them feel at home. Treat them as though they had souls. Make them love you, and they will try to do right out of love for you."

"I saw her a year later. She asked me if I remembered the conversation. I replied, 'Yes.'"

"Well, said she, 'I followed your advice, and you don't know what a difference there is. The children run to meet me every morning; they crowd into the school house and heap my desk with flowers. I have no need of monitors. They are perfectly orderly, and best of all, they really make an effort in the reading classes to learn. I can see the efforts and I reward them.'"

School Journal. (From a letter to the Editor.)

A circular containing in one of the upper corners a likeness of Mary Churchill, the missing St. Louis girl, has been received by the police here. The picture represents a rather pretty girl of sixteen, whose good looks are somewhat modified by the kind of bangs that she wears.

Miss Churchill left her father's house on Sunday, August 10th, and all efforts to find her or to induce her to return have thus far proved fruitless. One of the suggestions to account for her disappearance is that she has run away to seek a theatrical engagement, as she had a mania for the stage. The following announcement by Mr. Churchill was with the circular:

"The intent of the enclosed circular is not to induce the return of my daughter contrary to her own inclination, but simply to secure the assurance of her safety; if alive, and to thank object I ask any person knowing her whereabouts to communicate these representations to her and ask her to establish her identity, either by letter direct to me, signing her middle name in full, or through some friend, who may confidentially assure her that her motives for leaving home will not be questioned, or her return, if she is otherwise disposed, insisted upon by her parents."

JAMES O. CHURCHILL, "811 Olive street, St. Louis."

Vox Populi.

The voice of an intelligent people declares that SOZODONT is an article of genuine merit, and their patronage confirms what their voice proclaims. There is no gainsaying this pronouncement. Facts attested by the evidence of numberless respectable citizens prove that it is correct. No article for the teeth has such a wide popularity, and assuredly none exerts such a beneficent influence upon them, rendering, as it does, their structure more solid, and exterminating the seeds of its decay.
