J. W. Stewart is repairing the Henderson House.

Don't forget Mrs. Weinstein's military opening to-day.

W. P. Burrus & Co. have moved into one of the new iron buildings near the market dock.

Mr. Frank Myer returned from Norfolk yesterday evening on the one o'clock train and made things lively around the Exchange the balance of the evening, buying 186 bales of cotton.

Eleven car loads of cotton were brought in on the A. & N. C. Railroad yesterday. The Smithfield branch has proven a good feeder to the road and is beneficial to the people in that section.

Several car loads of brick have been brought from that end of the line for the new court house here and others have been shipped to Morehead City.

Hon. C. C. Clark left for Raleigh yesterday morning. We understand he goes for consultation with the other counsel for the A. & N. C. Railroad Company in the injunction suit brought by one Christian of Richmond to prevent the stockholders from leasing the road. We learn that Judge Bond has turned the matter over to the State courts and that it will be heard at the next term of our Superior court.

Fire.

At 7 o'clock last evening the alarm of fire was given, and after some effort on the part of the firemen it was discovered at the stables of Leinater Duffy, corner of Broad and Fleet streets, and although the companies were very quick in getting out, the stables were nearly consumed, on account of the long distance between the engine houses and the fire. The Atlantics were the first at the fire and was the only engine that threw any water.

New Firm.

We call attention to the notice of the new law firm of C. C. Clark and Rodolph Duffy. Mr. Clark is so well known in North Carolina as an able lawyer that it is not necessary for us to say anything further than to announce that he has formed a co-partnership with one of Onslow's most talented young men. W. W. Clark, Esq., has moved to Raleigh and formed a co-partnership with J. B. Bachler, Esq., for the practice of law.

Beautiful Sunset.

For two evenings past the admirers of the beautiful have enjoyed a rare treat in the "roseate hues" of the setting sun. The western horizon has been radiant with a crimson or old gold tint that looked much the same as the glare of a distant fire.

All roads persons declared it equal to the finest views of Italian skies, while those posted in weather auguries affirm that it betokens good weather, and in this we believe they have the advantage of Scriptural announcement.

Onslow in the City.

Onslow came in in full force yesterday evening. Among the arrivals are some of the best and most intelligent farmers, lawyers and pretty ladies. The farmers of that sterling old county were well represented in the persons of Messrs. D. E. Sanderlin, E. L. Francks, Elias Venters, J. Stead, Uzza Mills and B. Venters; the lawyers by J. G. Scott and Henry Sanderlin; and the ladies by Misses Sallie and Jennie Sanderlin and Miss Annetta Venters, while the young bloods are represented by Messrs. Charles Francks and David Sanderlin, Jr.

Important to New Bern.

We see from the Raleigh News-Observer that a meeting of business men is called for Friday night, the object of which is to take steps to invite to Raleigh and show courtesies while there to a large and respectable number of northern gentlemen who will visit North Carolina about the middle of November, to look for homes and places to invest their means.

If such a body of gentlemen are to visit North Carolina on such business it is important that they be shown the advantages of this section, and to this end we think the matter worthy of the consideration of our Board of Trade and all other business men in the city. We need more intelligent people in this community, and to get them we must offer some inducement. The most of our farmers own three times as much land as they ought to. For the sake of good, intelligent, thrifty settlers, they can afford to sell half their lands on very reasonable terms. At any rate let's have them come down to us, and if possible, and if they do come some one should be prepared to show them something of the productiveness of our soil, health of climate, school and church advantages, etc., etc.

The County Debt.

"Tax Payer" wants to know of the county commissioners something about the debt of Craven county. He seems to be at a loss to know how the debt could be $312,000 in 1869 and have $360,000 paid on it and still have a debt of $125,000. We do not propose to answer for the commissioners, but really we see no difficulty in explaining this. The interest on $312,000 from 1869 to 1883 is $178,080; which, added to the principal, makes $390,080, take from this $360,000, which he says the county has paid, and he will see there is a balance of $130,080 still unpaid.
Interest creeps
While men sleep.

All Saints Day.

To-day is down in the Church Calendar as the Feast of All Saints or All Saints Day.

It seems to have been an old custom to keep vigils the night before, which was known as Hallow Even or Hallow-ween, as the Scotch call it, and as it is most popularly known. During these vigils all manner of fireside revelries were introduced probably to while away the time, as well as to impress the occasion on the minds of the vigilants.

In England cracking nuts, ducking for apples which was that a number of apples were placed in a tub of water and must be taken out by the stem in the teeth, which afforded much amusement to those engaged in it.

In Scotland, however, the amusements partook liberally of superstition and was devoted largely to what we in this country call fortune telling. One amusing trial being to take a lighted candle and stand before a looking-glass combing the head while eating an apple, and the face of your future spouse will be seen in the glass looking over your shoulder.

Halloween has been taken by Burns as the subject of one of his finest poems and he has beautifully described many of the Scotch customs applying to it. In several States in this country the night is observed as one of gayety and many times tricks are played, and deceptions practiced as on the first of April.

All Saints Day is set apart as a festival to all those holy persons to whom no special day has been assigned and is therefore one of great interest to the devoutly disposed and is an occasion of grand services in the Catholic and Episcopal Churches.

Craven County's Indebtedness.

Mr. Edron:—For the information of the tax-payers of Craven county, I desire to ask the Commissioners of said county to please inform us through the columns of your paper the amount which has been levied and collected by taxation since 1869 from the counties of Craven and Pamlico for the exclusive payment of the bonded and old floating debt of Craven?

We learn that the bonded and floating debt of Craven county in 1869, including the interest, was about $312,000.00 and that there has been levied and collected for the payment of this amount about $360,000.00 since 1870, and yet still the present indebtedness is about $125,000. Is this true? Will the Commissioners please let us know? TAX-PAYER.

Sad Accident at Vanceboro.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—Sad to relate, yet it is true, that on the night of Oct. 29th, about 7 o'clock p. m., was heard the cry of fire in our little town. Soon thereafter the humiliating intelligence was circulated in our vicinity that while Mr. James Dixon and wife had repaired to supper, two of their children were left in the sitting room. Igniting the older heads, they got the kerosene can and endeavoring to kindle the fire, the flame was conducted to the can and spread over the floor and burned the children severely.

The oldest child, Florence, an interesting girl about six years of age, died in about four hours after the fire. She had good sense up to her death, and the words and lamentations that she uttered were sufficient to mellow the most callous heart. She appeared to be aware of her death, notwithstanding her age, and her talk to her mother would cause the tear-drop to roll down the cheek not only of relatives, but down the cheek of all those that were present. "Mama, she would say, 'I am going to die; then I cannot see mama any more on earth.'"
"Words to her father: 'Papa, give me a drink of water, for I am burning to death.'"
She would also call on the Lord not to forget her, and to have mercy upon her.

In a short while thereafter she gave her soul to Him who said: "Suffer little children to come unto Me, and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

The little boy, much younger, is yet alive but suffering serious burns. He may live.

The father, James Dixon, in endeavoring to extinguish the flame, got his hand burnt badly. Only by immediate assistance, was the building and probably other lives saved.

This should be a caution to every household, and cause everybody to look upon kerosene as fearfully dangerous.
R. C. CLEVELAND.

Seven Springs Items.

The curative effects of the Seven Springs water approach the marvelous.

Mr. A. W. Sutton now wears the policeman's badge and no case of disorder has been reported recently.

Mr. John Parks who bore off the palm as the champion shot last winter, reports a greater amount of game in this section than has been known for several years.

Oh for some Robert Rakes to come along and build up our Sunday schools for our wayward boys. We would like to see them more profitably employed than being engaged in playing town ball or prison base.

The steamer Kinston, Capt. Dixon, arrived at our wharf on Sunday morning with goods for our merchants and bushels of oysters for our lovers of the bivalves. Lay over until Monday, carrying a load of cotton for the New Bern market.

Lon Rouse called us in a few days since, when passing, to sample his vintage. We found a variety of the finest wines and almost imagined ourself in the famous wine producing countries of Europe. Well, we sampled, and couldn't be convinced until we sampled again. It was really excellent and we sampled again—we arrived at home, however, on the same day.

Our friend Alonzo Rouse was married on the 24th inst. to Miss Lula Elmore of Buckleberry. The bridal party passed through town in the evening en route for the Rouse mansion and the happy couple had an extremely satisfied appearance. May their pathway through life always be strewn with bright flowers and may the ills of adversity ever be loth to put in an appearance.

The Seven Springs is being improved by an excellent road being built to the main county road from the springs. One would suppose in following its meanderings up the valley that they were actually following the serpentine course of the Swannanoa or Cumberland gaps in the Blue Ridge. Nature has seemingly intended our springs and their surroundings as a pleasure resort. It only remains for art to give them the finishing touch.

The health of the town and surrounding country has been remarkably good for the last few months; no sickness of any consequence. The M. D.'s are preparing to turn the amputating case into plowshares, pruning hooks, grubbing hoes and Ames' shovels. Persimmons and possum haws are plentiful though and if we can have a mild winter we hope they will pull through, but a severe winter always makes it mighty hard on doctors and old cows.

Capt. R. W. Joyner is laboring very hard to build up a first class school in this place. His address on education on last Friday was chaste, spirited and truthful and was listened to with much interest by an appreciative audience and highly commended by all who heard it. The captain made a strong appeal in favor of female education and we feel sure his speech will have a fine effect in building up the cause of education in our midst. Success to his efforts.

Mr. James Grady, a young man living near here, wishes us to state that the buggy found in the woods, which was spoken of in last week's items, is not a mysterious matter at all. He was traveling towards his home in the buggy when a wheel was broken and the buggy was pulled to one side and left. The road along which he was travelling was merely a dim cart way which led to the statement that it was not near any road. Mr. Grady is a young man of excellent moral character and we have no doubt but what his statement is true.

"I had 'em all," said a robust happy-faced gentleman. "All what?" asked his friend. "Why all the symptoms of malaria, viz., lame back, aching joints, sleeplessness, indigestion, dizzy fits, cold extremities, rash of blood to the head, constant fatigue, no appetite, pains in the breast after eating, night sweats, alternate chills and fevers, etc., etc., but Brown's Iron Bitters cured me and I recommend it as being the only perfect medicine made."

Prevent sickness by taking occasionally one of EMORY'S LITTLE CATHARTIC PILLS, a wonderful appetizer, an absolute cure of biliousness. 15 cents. 4

White Oak Items.

"Tater diggin'" is on hand.

We are still living in the land.

We are having more rain, which checks cotton picking.

Our board-pen and enterprising merchants receive goods via their dirt trains.

Our enterprising merchants go to your city this week for another large stock of goods. Look out Board Pen.

Our farmers are busy getting that heavy burden off their shoulders—getting their crops out of the grass.

Hard times must be on hand as we meet his agents on every road with a good horse and buggy trying to collect "that little act."

Our butcher says it does not pay to butcher cattle till late spring, so as to give them a fair chance to live or die, in which case if they died it will save the expense of hired help. Just so, uncle Billy.

Mr. Editor tell your Swansboro snake story correspondent to come up here, we have one that must be an adamite from the number of times that he has been killed, shot and scalded, and still lives.

Our county is improving rapidly; two big stores and two more to be erected next spring and one Justice of the Peace and maybe two more next term of Legislature and what a time we will have every fellow do his own "fiteen."

We met friend T. J. a few days since with a staked and ridged cart full of goods boxes guess he is going to fit him up a store for the benefit of his neighbor, C. A. B. He has got the boxes and the goods will come on the next train.

The house in which knowledge is taught is near its completion and a magnificent building it is by the present "wig-wam" and the instructor of teaching young ideas how to shoot is on hand and

He'll teach you how to read and write And spell in any degree And by the use of the black gun, Will teach you the double rule of three.

Stonewall Items.

The genial face of Mr. Thos. Mitchell, who clerks for Mr. Geo. Allen, of your place, is with us and is accompanied by his friend Mr. Tull. Tom is always welcome in our section, and any one who he brings along shares the same fate.

Judge R. T. Bennett is posted for a speech to awaken the dormant part of the Democrats of this district on November 19th; and so is the Hon. A. M. Waddell, and if they can't fill the bill where will one be found that can? The great trouble is our court convenes on that day and the election is on the next. Three negroes are to be tried for murder at this term of our court and if something is not done, farewell votes.

The commissioners who were to survey the road from this place to Dawson's creek, have completed their job and report the distance from here to the road near Mr. Ed. Brinson's to be 7 1/2 miles, and from Mr. Wm. Clayton's, the end of the road, as far as is passable, 5 1/2 miles that is to be made. So at a cost of twenty-five hundred or three thousand dollars, the distance can be shortened more than one-half and open a vast territory of swamp land. Mr. Thos. Campen was their surveyor, and he reports a rough job.

Agreeably to appointment Mr. T. G. Skinner, the nominee of the Democratic Convention of this district, addressed a portion of the voters of this county at Bayboro on Tuesday, and if one can judge by outward appearances, he gave perfect satisfaction; and one thing is sure, he enunciated Democratic principles without a single departure, and if I am not mistaken he will surely be the next representative from this district. He was taken charge of by Mr. Cliff Caron to be cared for Tuesday night and conveyed to Pamlico Wednesday morning, where he was to discuss the issues of the day to another portion of our citizens and be with us Wednesday night at 7 o'clock.

Mr. J. B. Piver, Morehead City, N. C., says: "Brown's Iron Bitters is the best remedy for indigestion I ever used."
