A light rain on Sunday laid the dust, cooled the air, and made the cabbage growers smile.

The steamer Stout cleared for Norfolk last night with a full cargo of cotton and naval stores.

John Dunn was shipping a large lot of Guion. candy to Goldsboro yesterday; the work of that handsome drummer. Dunn's factory is one of the institutions of Eastern Carolina.

The young men of Pamlico are making extensive preparations for the grand tournament and ball on the 20th of December. We have been assured there will be no postponement.

The Pamlico Enterprise states that the tournament to be held at Stonewall on the 20th has been postponed. We have been reliably informed that this is a mistake. There will be no postponement.

If our friends at La Grange will read the recipe given by "Young Housekeeper" on preparing macaroni, and try it, McD. Taylor will have a run on that article. We will youch "Young Housekeeper's" knowing how, but its got to be a mighty nice young man to get her name.

Luke Mason, one of the old chronic suitors in the Superior Court of Craven, brought an action for trespass against Wm. Mourning on yesterday which was heard before Wm. Hay, Esq. The old man failed to make out his case and become bound for the cost. The Justice kindly remitted his portion of the cost but the Constable insisted on having blood out of a turnip and took him to jail, receiving on the way the old man's opinion in words not over polite.

Steamer Arrivals.

The Blanche, from Trenton, with a cargo of cotton.

The Snow Hill, from Bell's Ferry, with cotton and rice. The Kinston, from Kinston, with a
