The splendid side-wheeler Rough and Ready, from Goldsboro, was at our wharf on last Thursday. She is owned, we learn, by Needham Kennedy, a colored man, and will make regular trips to this place.

Mr. Fields, our clever mail carrier, reports that whiskey in La Grange was sold by the pound on Monday, the weather having occasioned a kind of congealment hard to account for. There is no accounting for these whiskey and weather freaks.

Christmas is gone and but few casualties to report. Marshall Joyner struck Bill Ritch three good pops over the head with a stick and then fell down, when Bill broke and ran. One gent, somewhat under the influence of spiritus bini gallici, charged on another with a manure fork. A fearful thing to fight with. No damages, however.

Will despatch their Steamers after this date for Kinston, Jolly Old Field, Trenton and Pollocksyllie, as follows:

There is much inquiry concerning the German Carp introduced into to every one.

Come e-rly and get the first pick. Fish Commission. People want to know where it will live, how fast it will grow, and generally what it is worth now that we have it. Often as these questions are answered they come up again, and in truth, the different results reported are Steamer L. H. Cutler

Will leave for Pollocksville and Trenton, taking freight and passengers, every Saturday and Wednesday, from her dock at EIGHT o'clock, A.M. are not as good to eat as the bull-head for instance, but then it may be said that the bull-head is a very excellent fish when well anderstood. So the carp can be made a tooth-some feature of the dinner table, if the mistress of the kitchen comprehends the mysteries of the sauceboat. Without that skill, which by the way is universally possessed by our adopted German fellow-citizens, and can be learned from almost any of them, the carp is rather tasteless, The N. C. Freight Line in New York.

In very cold spring brooks carp will not grow at all; they rather seem to shrink, if we can imagine a fish shrinking with the cold. But in warm waters, especially in the Southern States, where there is no trouble with frost, they attain an enormous size quickly. There have been instances of their growing to seven pounds weight in two years, which far surpasses anything known of any other species of fish. In the North, if the ponds have hard bottoms and freeze their entire depth, the carp will be killed. But if the bottom is soft and muddy, they will Merchants should remember that this is one of the best Steam Lines out of New York, making daily connection with Baltimore for New Berne; all inside, and only one change.

Solve and indudy, they will burrow into it and protect themselves. They are said to feed on yegetables, either the natured vegetables, either the natural growth in the water, or the refuse from the garden, but I imagine they are greatly improved by an occasional taste of the numberless insects that are found on all aquatic plants. The same rule applies to them that is found to govern in all other departments of nature; the best is always the hardest to get. Not only will carp never supply the place of trout, but they will hardly live in the same water. They need little care, and will exist on poorer food, are content in less the water. fittle care, and will exist on poorer food, are content in less fine water, and they are in the end an inferior fish. The common proverb says that whatever is worth having is worth working for, and that, translated into fish literature, means that an ordinary variety is more easily maintained than a superior one. Still there is always more void Breakage of Bulk and Ship via one. Still there is always more need of the lower class. Few men eat trout, more est abad, and infinitely more use cod, while the ponds that are adapted to trout are not as one in a hundred to these fitted for carp. Any old singgish pond, above a mud-hole, will answer for them. In conclusion, it is almost self-evi-dent that own is no dent that carp is no more a game as than a fattened hog is a game animal. Carp can generally be procured through the Stata Fish Commissioners, and several breeders offer them for sale.—R. B. ROOSE-VELT in American Agriculturist.
