The steamer Contentnea is on Howard's ship railway.

Policeman Hunt has accepted a position at the cannery establishment, and Mr. Ballard has been appointed in his place.

The schooner Evelene has been sold by Messrs. Daniels & Watson, of this city, to parties at Morehead City, to be used as a fishing boat.

Col. Benj. Askew was in the city on Tuesday. He has grown gray in the cause of Democracy, and, though past his three score and ten, he yet hopes to see the time when a Jeffersonian Democrat will occupy the White House.

Capt. Dickson, of the steamer Kinston, brought down a fine bunch of Bucklesbury turkeys on Tuesday, which went off readily at $1.40 per pair. Capt. Southgate, of the Shenandoah, who is noted for feeding passengers on good victuals, captured the whole lot.

Mr. H. J. Lovick, who has been doing business on Queen street for the last two years, has bought out the stock of Mr. C. H. Blank and now holds forth on Middle street, where will be found a large stock of groceries and dry goods. We bespeak for Mr. Lovick a liberal patronage. See "ad."

Mr. J. P. Caddagan, quondam treasurer of the Midland N. C. Railway, passed through this city last week returning from a trip through the far Western States, en route for New York. He is now traveling with a first class minstrel company. Wonder where W. J. Best is?—Goldboro Messenger.

Steamboat Inspection.
Messrs. Dunbar and Oast, the government steamboat inspectors, arrived yesterday on the Shenandoah and examined several steam vessels and granted pilot's license to Capt. W. H. Hill.

Marine Railway.
The revenue steamer E. A. Stevens will be hauled up on Howard's marine railway this week for examination as to the extent of damage received while cruising in the sound recently.

Bucklesbury at the Exchange.
Several of Lenoir's Bucklesbury farmers were at the Exchange yesterday with cotton. Of those who came down on the steamer Kinston, we had the pleasure of meeting Messrs. Benj. Sutton, Junius E. Sutton, Joel H. Elmore, Hardy Elmore and D. Wood. They generally bring good cotton and top the market.

Beacons Carried Away.
Masters of vessels plying the waters of the Pamlico and Croatan sounds, report that the ice formed during the late hard freezing weather had carried away the beacons erected recently by order of the Light House Board on Wire point and the blockade. As these are important aids to navigation, we hope that the buoy tender will replace them as soon as possible.

Teacher Wanted.
Mr. F. Wilcox, of Pollockville, advertises in this issue for a teacher. Here is an opportunity for a young man who is abreast with the times, and has the vim and push, to build up a good school. It is an intelligent community, and they want a teacher who will earn his money. The people are able, and if some man with "grit" would locate there he could build up a permanent school and accomplish much good.

Mistaken Identity.
Some very serious mistakes occur in identifying persons, no matter how intimate the acquaintance of the parties. Such was the case on Monday night when the steamer Kinston arrived at Beeton Old Field with a party of Bucklesbury farmers on board bound for New Berne. Mr. R. M. Abbott was at the landing. He is bitterly opposed to the "no fence" law and never lets an opportunity escape to condemn it in the strongest terms, as he was wont to do on this occasion. One of the Bucklesburys, a strong advocate of the "no fence" law, took issue with him and was getting the better of him in the argument when Mr. Abbott held up his light, bent forward, and in a very earnest tone, asked, "ain't that Dick Stanford?" Hearing of the incident, upon the arrival of the Kinston on Tuesday morning we made a careful survey of the passengers, and we now advise Mr. Stanford to sue Mr. Abbott for slander. Per contra, if Mr. Stanford ever takes one of those passengers for Mr. Abbott we would advise Mr. Abbott to sue him or slander.

Kinston College.
We call attention to the advertisement in this issue of Kinston College. No school in the State has a better corps of teachers, and there is not a more pleasant town in Eastern Carolina than Kinston.

Run Over.
Yesterday morning Mr. Morton, a farm hand on the place of Mr. Ed. Street, was run over by a wagon and severely hurt. Dr. Chas. Duffy was summoned to his assistance and we are glad to hear pronounced the injuries not necessarily fatal, but said the escape was a narrow one.

The Lecture Last Night.
Dr. Milburn was greeted again last night by a large and intelligent audience to hear his lecture on "Sargent Smith Prentiss," which was well delivered and highly enjoyed by all.

The subject to-night is "Aaron Burr," the most romantic character in American political history. It is said, by those who have heard it, to be one of the Doctor's most interesting lectures.

Broken Rails.
EDITOR JOURNAL.—Your issue of the 13th informs us of three broken rails on the A. & N. C. Road; it may be news to many of your readers that one of these rails was broken in two places; how many are split and frayed almost to a thread this deponent saith not. In truth the whole road, rolling stock and all, are in a dislocated state, and need doctoring with a prescription called lease.

We must remind "X. X. X." that his remedy for supplying the A. & N. C. Railroad with rails is not always a sure one. Great things were expected under the Best lease, but only a few new rails were put on the old road during the lifetime of that Syndicate. We don't think it good policy for those who have the interest of the counties and State at heart to exaggerate the bad condition of the road. If we really think it to the interest of the public at large that the road should be leased, let's not depreciate its value in the market by magnifying its defects.

George S. Palmer.
MR. EDITOR:—My glad and solemn memories of the past have been very vividly kindled by the sudden death of this patriot citizen. Towards the close of the year, 1861, I was very hastily summoned to Richmond by the critical condition of my gallant brother-in-law, Captain William T. Marsh. This youthful soldier, though a brilliant member of the Convention which adopted secession, and a member elect of the Legislature when he fell at the head of his troops on the field of Antietam, steadily refused to abandon his regiment for any honors or rewards, and at the close of that terrible campaign of marches, countermarches and battles which went before the collapse of McClellan before the Confederate capitol, was stricken down with typhoid fever. I found him in Richmond at the residence of Mr. George S. Palmer. The impression made upon me at that time by Mr. Palmer and his family is one of the most glowing records of the past. If there ever was a patriot who laid himself out nobly, unconditionally and unceasingly for his country, that man was George S. Palmer. Though possessing a large family of his own, he turned his house into a hospital, his accomplished wife and daughters became nurses of the sick and weary soldiers, he watched every battle field for broken and shattered recruits to the company of his guests, he spent his money freely for their relief, and, as day after day of the terrific struggle went by, he bravely kept his post, never flagging in his work of angelic mercy. North Carolina seemed to have the largest place in his pitiful heart. Why, I cannot tell, unless there was some tender thought drawing him to the brave old State. Certain it is, that from the time she put on her first crown of suffering and glory at Big Bethel, down to her last man and last dollar, Mr. Palmer loved her and ministered to her friends. What a kind and gentle face he had, and how his eyes kindled at the tale of victory or disaster. How truly his devoted wife stood by him in his heroic self-sacrifice, and what a band of generous daughters gathered around both to cheer and help them through that long and stormy night. A North Carolina soldier ragged, wounded and helpless was always the pet of that household. Whether coarse or cultured, it mattered not. Those aristocratic and lovely women surrounded him with every comfort and convenience, raised his heart out of the dust, and made him strong for another effort of patriotism and manhood. God bless the memory of George S. Palmer. North Carolinians will everywhere weep for a good and true man departed. The very dust of such a noble patriot in her clay gives Virginia another claim upon our reverence and affection.

Respectfully,
JOHN S. LONG,
Newbern, N. C., January 16th, 1884.

La Grange Items.

A new baby at W. H. Hardin's. It's another girl.
Mrs. C. S. Wooten is very sick, so says Dr. Hadley, the attending physician.

Cotton boomed a little last week and several bales changed hands at 9¢ cents for the best.

We hear a disturbance of the town regulations occasionally, some too frivolous to speak of, others best to say nothing about.

Rev. C. R. Duval is conducting a series of meetings in the Methodist Church here. But little interest has been manifested up to this writing.

George A. Pitts has moved to town, and has been appointed chief of police. Mr. Pitts has some experience in the business in Goldsboro, and it is hoped that better order will be maintained here.

A high freshet in Neuse river put the new bridge in some little danger. It is feared that the post being so near, (only 16 feet from centre to centre), while making the bridge much stronger, make the danger from rafts and logs much greater.

The Grand Lodge of Masons in North Carolina was not very largely attended last week. The change of time may have had something to do with it. The business was done about as well as usual, and in about as short time. The officers for the past year were re-elected. Samuel Smith, of Winston, was elected J. G. W. It will be regretted that J. H. Mills, who was almost unanimously elected Superintendent of the Oxford Orphan Asylum, refused to accept.

The Lenoir County Teachers' Association met at the Collegiate Institute building in this place last Saturday. Several members were absent, among these Prof. J. Y. Joyner, the Vice-President and the orator for the day. The meeting was called to order, and proceedings of last meeting read and approved. C. U. Hill, Miss Addie M. Kirkpatrick and Miss Addie Paris were elected members of the Association. Messrs. Hill and Williams, Business Committee, submitted for discussion at the next meeting: 1st. How to teach grammar.—Lost. 2nd. How to teach spelling.—Lost. 3rd. How to preserve order.—Adopted. Messrs. Hill and Joyner were elected to discuss the elected Orator of the next meeting. A proposition to elect a lady Essayist was adopted and Miss Mattie Gannon was chosen for the next meeting, and was allowed to select the subject. The next meeting will be held in the College building in Kinston on the 14th day of February, 1884. The questions selected for discussion at the meeting before, viz: How to teach reading, was discussed by Professors Harding and Claxton, Prof. Ray being absent. The first confined his remarks to advanced readers, showed the difficulties in teaching, in pronunciation and emphasis. A child should understand the meaning of the words and subject, to read intelligently. The remarks of Prof. Harding were to the point, and were practically such as used in his classes. Prof. Claxton explained how to teach primary reading. It would consume too much space to give even an outline of this gentleman's speech if I could do so. I may say, however, that his remarks showed that he understood the subject perfectly, and that the Graded School in Kinston was fortunate in securing the services of so able an instructor. The next question—How to obtain a school library, was discussed by Professors Skinner and Lewis, and though the subject was new, some excellent thoughts were given, especially as to what books should be purchased. Prof. Williams' remarks were very good in regard to this matter, and his opinions in regard to periodicals, etc., were valuable. A vote of thanks to railroad authorities for half rates, and Messrs. Joyner and Williams for the use of the Institute building, and the meeting adjourned.

Pollockville Items.
Mr. Pearsall, of Trenton, is now in town on professional business.
Miss Julia Henderson is visiting friends and relatives in New Berne.
We notice that Wm. Loftin, colored, has closed up his business by making Mr. T. A. Bell receiver. Bell says he is going to work.
We notice that the mail route from New Berne to Trenton via Pollockville has changed hands from Mr. Tob Parker to Mr. Joseph Whitty.
We have had chickenpox, measles and pneumonia here this winter and Mr. Tob Bender is now sick with one of the other, I have not heard which.
Mr. Frank Koonce, from above Trenton, will move here during the week; he wants the advantage of a good school is the cause of his coming. May many more just come after him.
The Rev. Mr. Pucket and wife have been visiting our town and section for the past few days. We are very sorry to see Mr. P. in such bad health. Rumor says that he expects to move here. Come on, our people would be glad to have you.
Again the violin made music and happy dancers tripped lightly over the large and spacious room of Esq. J. F. White, sr., on last Friday night, where they all enjoyed themselves swinging corners, except Mr. H. who complained very much of the back ache after the ball. Mr. H. is from Carteret county and is not very much adapted to our dances. Mr. L. also makes the same complaint. We give the same excuse for him as for H.

The New York Times (Rep.) declares that "if Mr. Randall carries on the investigation and reform of the department service at Washington which he promises he will receive the thanks of the public."

Kinston Items.

Codfish eat up the herring; the Yankees eat the codfish, and the Feejees like nothing better than to eat a fat Yankee.

Our young Onslow county was up here last week. He had better roost high. Our widows are getting in fine leaping trim for this year.

The town and country were enlivened last Sunday by many lovely Leap Year buggy drives and this was the only conversation heard:

He.—If lovie die, what 'ud dovie do?
She.—Dovie die, too!

A Lenoir county widow made a successful Leap Year leap, recently, into Wayne county and now all other Lenoir county widows are lubricating themselves with St. Jacob's oil, being determined to find a man this year, if they have to leap into Utah for him.

The teachers of Lenoir county are earnestly requested by some prominent teachers of the county to meet at the court house in Kinston on Saturday, the 20th of January, 1884, for the purpose of organizing a County Teachers' Association. All teachers and friends of education are cordially invited to attend.

There has been some suspicion that the burning of the house in this county on the night of the 5th instant, in which Wm. Wood and his wife and six small children were destroyed by the flames, was caused by foul work. The Coroner's jury, however, which held an inquest last Monday, brought forth no circumstance to sustain the suspicion. It was doubtless the work of accident or carelessness.

The January term of the Inferior Court convened last Monday at 10 o'clock a. m., Justices Wooten, Fields and Newborn presiding. Most of the forenoon was taken up in organizing the juries for the term and in charging the Grand Jury, which was done by the Chairman in a pointed, brief, but comprehensive exposition of the criminal laws. There is a fair attendance of people at court, but we observe a very limited attendance of nostrum venders and patent medicine orators. Excepting the Kinston bar, George H. White, Esq., of New Berne, was the only attorney present last Monday.

The following cases were called and disposed of:
State vs. Jas. H. Stanly; Larceny; continued and recognized.
State vs. Richard Wooten; cruelty to animals; defendant submits; $5.00 and costs.

State vs. Anthony Cobb and Church Cobb; A. and B.; guilty; $10 and costs.

State vs. Jno. E. Taylor; false pretence; not guilty.
State vs. J. H. Kinsey; cruelty to animals; pleads guilty.

State vs. Jno. F. Mewborne; cruelty to animals; pleads guilty.
State vs. Joshua Mewborne; pursuing live stock; continued.

There were many other cases either not prosequi or capias issued.

The New York World is of opinion that in accepting the Chairmanship of the Committee on Expenditures in the Department of Justice Mr. Springer obtains a position in which he can do more good for his party than by any tariff agitation. He can tear open the secret department and expose its rottenness and infamy. The fraudulent character of the star route prosecutors, the corrupt "settlements" made with public robbers, the plunder of the treasury through counsel fees are all at his mercy, and these will be the real live issues of the Presidential campaign.

Mrs. Margaret M. Pope, Rich Square, N. C., says: "Brown's Iron Bitters has restored my strength and given me a hearty appetite."

The Savannah News thinks the American Socialists are people of gigantic ideas. They have been abolishing monarchies and everything of that kind at long range for some time, and now they want to go a step further and abolish the United States Senate. The only thing they have been eminently successful in annihilating seems to have been beer.

The Delight of the Ladies.
because it enhances their charms tenfold, is Sozodont, with which no dentifrice can compare. It checks premature decay of the teeth, completely removing tartar from their surfaces, interstices and cavities, whitening them, rendering the gums healthy and coraline and the breath as balmy as the odor of flowers. The gritty and acid properties which render many tooth powders and washes objectionable are not to be found in America's favorite teeth restorative. dw

Richmond, Va., makes a good trade exhibit for 1883. During the year there were 714 manufacturing establishments in the city, employing 16,594 hands, and representing a capital of $11,525,430. The annual sales of the products of the factories were $88,997,061. The jobbing trade of Richmond for the year amounted to about $19,500,000.

The reputation of Blackwell's Durham Long Cut, for pipe or cigarette smoking, is the result of studying how best to preserve the natural qualities of the leaf through its curvative stages, and how to get it up for the smoker in its dearest form. The trade-mark of the Durham Bull is now the standard throughout the world for the very best smoking and cigarette tobacco.
