Col. Pardee arrived at Trenton on Tuesday last, and on Wednesday night addressed the citizens of Trenton and vicinity on the present and prospective prosperity of North Carolina. The Col. remarked that the first intimation that he had of the vast resources of North Carolina was given him at Atlanta, Ga., at the exposition there. Then again at Boston. He said that North Carolina at Boston opened the eyes of all New Eng-land and Canada; so much so that there were now in this State over four hundred persons spying out her rich min erals and agricultural resources. He said that North Carolina was destined to be one of the greatest manufacturing States of the Southern United States. and had everything in her borders that was needed to make her citizens rich and prosperous, if they would properly develop them; North Carolina was rich in minerals; her agricultural lands were the equal of other States, while her forests abounded with vast timbers. which had scarcely been touched with game of every kind. Our rivers and sounds were filled with fish, and our oysters could be planted and cultivated vertisement to North Carolina, so had the Boston Exposition; and that our next State Fair would be our crowning effort. He said he hoped that every one there that night would endeavor to have something to send to our next State Fair, and hoped that the ladies would show their handiwork. At the conclusion of his speech the house gave him a unanimous vote of thanks. Our Clerk, Mr. Whitaker, arose then and told Col. Pardee, on his return to his native State, to "tell your people we welcomed with open hands all who are good citizens; tell them we want them; tell them to come and help develop our resources.

Distressing Accident to a Wilmingtonian in South Carolnia,

The painful intelligence was received here yesterday morning that a serious accident had befallen Mr. Eugene B. Wiggins, near Lexington, S. C. The particulars have so far been very meagre, having come altogether by wire, but, so far as can be learned, Mr. Wiggins was in the neighborhood of where a stump was being blasted, on Wednesstore. day evening, when he and three or four others were injured. A later telegram, received yesterday morning, says that Mr. W. rested very well the preceding night, considering his wounds. A third dispatch, sent in response to an inquiry from Mr. A. H. VanBokkelen, by Dr. Talley, a prominent physician, was to the effect that he (Dr. Talley) had seen Mr. Wiggins; that his injuries were very serious, and that he (Mr. VanBokkelen) had better come on at once; while a still later one says that he was being emoved into Lexington, a distance of about four miles from the place where the accident occurred, which looked favorable as to his condition. Mrs. Wiggins left for the scene of the accident yesterday morning, and it is to be sincerely hoped that she found her husband in better condition than she had been led to apprehend.

Since the above was written, a telegram was received, at 6:30 p. m., stating that Mr. W. had been moved to the town of Lexington, a distance of four miles, and that he had revived somewhat and was resting quiet.

Mrs. Wiggins reached Lexington at 7. p. m., and telegraphed that her husband was doing well; being perfectly con-scious and resting easy, but was badly wounded. Again, at 0 p. m., she tele graphed to her father, Mr. VanBok kelen: "Continues to improve. Come if you can conveniently."

Mr. VanBokkelen left on last night's
