The Theatre.

ED. JOURNAL :-- Your correspondent "X. Y. Z." in yesterday's issue, calls attention to a very important matter as to the manner of providing exits from the theatre building in times of sudden or threatened danger. I wish to add to the above the following suggestions, namely: The managers of the theatre ought to provide a dozen metal bukets as a part of the property of the same, and whenever the building is to be used by any traveling. troupe, require the

Resolved, That Appleton Oaksmith, Wm. F. Rountree and W. G. J. Best and his associates.

Resolved further, That said committee be empowered to correspond and confer with said bondholders and creditors and take any steps which they deem expedient in the premises, and upon their request the president is hereby instructed to call a meeting of stock holders at any time to confirm their proceedings or to take such other action in the promises as may be deemed expedient.
