C. E. Foy & Co. have received a big lot of "Pearline." See "ad."

Mr. S. B. Waters offers his stock for sale on Middle street. See "ad."

Thos. Daniels says he can beat any man in New Berne on a game of draft.

Big log rolling to-day at the ten mile fork on Capt. K. R. Jones' plantation.

The subscriptions to the school building on yesterday were one hundred and eighty dollars.

Thos. Daniels, Esq., received a pair of shad recently from his nets in the river below the city that weighed fifteen pounds.

T. B. Kingsbury, Esq., of the Star, has been invited to deliver the annual address before Kinston College next June. We expect something rich.

Twenty-two years ago on yesterday many of us who were then in this section had business towards Kinston. Burnside was coming from below.

The Trustees of the New Berne Academy, at their meeting yesterday evening, elected Miss Molly Heath an assistant teacher of the first grade in the Graded School.

A message was received in the city yesterday announcing that young Fred. Boesser, who was drowned at Baltimore a few days ago, was buried before his father arrived.

We return thanks to Mr. W. C. Whitfield for an invitation to attend the annual commencement of the University of Medicine at the Academy of Music, Baltimore, Md.

The continued wet weather is keeping farmers back with their work. Joel Kinsey, Esq., of Cobton, says he has about concluded to not plant this year, but get ready for next year.

Joe Whitty, the faithful mail carrier on the route from this city to Trenton, brought in a fine covey of partridges yesterday evening which he put on the market at twenty-five cents per pair.

The fish dealers say that the bottom has dropped out of the shad market in New York, being glutted with stock from the other sounds north of here. This will probably cause a decline in this market.

The steamer Blanche, while on her down trip from Snow Hill yesterday when within about fourteen miles of the city, broke the shaft of her wheel, which will necessitate her resting for a few days until it is mended.

Tia Ore.

Our townsman, Mr. R. Berry, has received a specimen of the tin ore recently discovered at King's Mountain. It is itself sufficient evidence of the necessity of a State Geologist well sustained in order to develop the mining interest of North Carolina. No one but an expert could discover that this specimen is of any value whatever, while if our State Geologist had been given the means to prosecute his work its value would probably have been discovered a quarter of a century ago.

The School Building.

We are pleased to learn that the committee on the new Academy building have been so far successful in obtaining subscriptions to the building fund that the Trustees have decided to undertake the erection of the building. This action, we learn, is taken with the expectation that the committee will fully canvass the city and that every citizen who is interested in the success of the school, and the welfare of their children will subscribe to the fund. One thousand dollars more is yet needed in order to complete the building ready for occupancy. We trust that the amount will be obtained and that no delay will be allowed to occur.

The Hyde County Trade.

Capt. A. W. Styron writes a communication to the Washington Gazette, in which he maps out a plan to bring Washington and Hyde county into more intimate commercial relations. "The first thing to do," he says, "is to build and put on a fast and comfortable steamer between here and Sladesville, making that the objective point, running daily trips." He also favors petitioning Congress, and sending a committee composed of leading men to urge the matter of having a daily mail between the two points.

We mention this as an item of interest to New Berne. With the advantages for handling the Hyde county corn, and supplying what is needed in the way of commercial supplies, and with plenty of steamboats already built, can it be possible that New Berne will sit idly by and allow this trade to be directed to a point with less facilities for handling it? We will see.

Personal.

Mrs. F. Ulrich left on the Shenandoah yesterday for Plymouth on a visit to relatives.

Welcome Visitors.

We received a pleasant call last night from Messrs. Charles Cox and son, and others from the Richlands section of Onslow county. They brought to market cotton, bacon and lard. Mr. Cox is in his 62d year, been a farmer all his life, never bought but one bushel of corn, and that was the year he married, never bought an ounce of fertilizer, never gave a mortgage nor took one, therefore he is a prosperous farmer and worth something to his country.

Seeking Homes.

North Carolina is certainly attracting the attention of those who are seeking homes. Almost every day we hear of some one receiving letters of inquiry about the lands in different localities. J. C. Wooten, Esq., of Lenoir, was in to see us yesterday and showed us a letter from two parties in Brooklyn, N. Y., mechanics, who wanted to engage in agricultural pursuits and spoke of coming on a prospective tour to Lenoir county. If the Exposition is made a success the Old North State may expect such a boom as she has never received before.

Thanks.

We tender thanks to Mr. Henry Archbell, the baker and candy manufacturer of Kinston for one of the handsomest ornamental cakes we have seen; and the taste is equally fine.

Mr. Archbell is engaged in the manufacture of fine confectionery, crackers, cakes—makes a specialty of wedding and party cakes and ornamental work. He is making a fine reputation for himself and his town by the enterprise, push and vim he has shown, and best of all, has orders almost up to his capacity to fill. But then all in want of goods in his line may send in and feel assured they will be pleased with the manner in which he does business and succeeds in his efforts to please.

Resolutions of Respect.

At a meeting of the Trustees of the New Berne Academy, held January 25, 1884, the undersigned were appointed a committee to draft suitable resolutions expressive of the sorrow of the Board at the loss of their late associate, Elijah Ellis, and to convey to his bereaved family their heartfelt condolence in this their hour of affliction.

Although Mr. Ellis had been connected but a short time with the Academy as one of its Trustees, yet during that time he displayed remarkable energy and perseverance in advancing the interest of the school.

His fine ability was ever enlisted and his liberal disposition ever ready to carry out any system that was calculated to advance the educational interest of the community.

An All-wise Providence whose ways are not our ways and whose thoughts are not our thoughts has seen fit to remove him from a most active and useful business life, but the impress of his superb business talents has been left upon this entire community.

While we bow in humble submission to the decree of Heaven we can not but express our sorrow that the years of one so useful should have been so few.

Resolved, That the foregoing be spread upon the minutes of this meeting and that a copy of the same be transmitted to his bereaved widow and also to the city papers for publication.

Respectfully submitted,
T. A. GREEN,
W. HAY,
GEO. ALLEN,
Committee.

Terrible Mining Disaster.

PETERSBURG, March 13.—Intelligence has just been received here of a terrible explosion in the coal mines of the Southwest Virginia improvement company, at Pocahontas, Tazewell county, this State, which occurred this morning at 1 o'clock. There were 150 men in the mines at the time of the explosion, not one of whom is believed to have escaped. Those who were not killed outright by the terrible force of the explosion most likely perished from the after-damp. The cause of the explosion is not definitely ascertained, as the entrances to the mines are all full of bad air, but the presumption is that one of the miners struck a fissure filled with gas. Several parties ventured into the mines this morning, but could not long endure the foul atmosphere. A number of bodies were discovered horribly mangled, some of them with their heads torn from their trunks and others with their limbs all gone, presenting an appalling spectacle. The work of destruction was not confined entirely to the interior of the mines, but houses, 200 or 300 feet removed from the mines were overturned and in several instances entirely demolished.

Defeat of the Rebels.

LONDON, March 13.—Dispatches from Suakin state that the rebels opened fire on Gen. Graham's forces at 1 o'clock this morning. The battle had not lasted more than half an hour when the victory of the British was made certain. A telegraphic dispatch has been received from Gen. Graham, dated at Osman Digna's camp, March 13, 11:40 a. m., in which he says: "The camp of the enemy has been taken, after hard fighting since 8 o'clock this morning. Several of the British were killed and a hundred wounded." Osman Digna's force was 2,400.

STATE NEWS.

Gleaned from our Exchanges.

Greensboro Bugle:

The interest is on the increase at the Methodist church. More persons asked for prayer last night than on any previous night.—Mr. J. M. Turrentine, who sued the R. & D. Railroad for $20,000, was awarded $2,500 on yesterday at Charlotte.

Goldsboro Messenger:

The pea crops on the truck farms in this vicinity are looking exceedingly thin and "delicate." The weather since the planting has been anything but favorable to the early growth of the vine, and in consequence the crop will be rather late in maturing, and considerably short in comparison with those usually made around here.

Durham Recorder:

The contract for building the cotton factory has been awarded to a firm in Concord, N. C. They will begin work in a few days. The building will cost $23,000.—We learn that the citizens of Wilmington are taking very active steps to extend the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad from Fayetteville to this city. It is a distance of seventy-five miles, and would give the shortest line from the west to the sea coast.

Elizabeth City Economist:

Billy Pritchard sold his corn last week to Wm. Pailin for 60 cents a bushel, weight.—We will be responsible for our exhibit of marls, antiquities, relics and tuckahoe, at the State Exposition in October.—On Friday morning, Isaac Harris and Stewart Morgan killed a large bear near Seth N. Morgan's. They shot him with small shot out of the tree in which he had found refuge from the dogs, and knocked him in the head with clubs. Mr. Morgan brought his paw, as a trophy to the Economist office.

Roanoke News:

It is the general opinion that the credit system will not be as extensive this year as formerly.—A petition of many fair samples of hundreds of "chicken men" all over enterprising Yankeedom, where they have six months of snow and ice, and are compelled to build winter quarters for their chicks, while in our sunny land rarely a day dawns that we cannot turn our birds upon a green pasture of oats, rye, barley or wheat. We have the grandest country on earth for poultry as it is for everything else, and yet our folks are sitting down and idling away their time with the gold fields in view. There is many a young man lounging around the street corners and parlors of gilded sin in our large cities, living from hand to mouth, who might rent ten acres of poor land and make $1,000 a year raising chickens for market.

Wilmington Star:

One groceryman in this city says he ships on an average from three to four thousand dozen of eggs per week.—The sad intelligence was received here yesterday of the death, near North Madison, Connecticut, that morning, of George Wharton, youngest son of Lieut. J. U. Rhodes, aged about three years.—Sergeant L. H. Albrecht, in charge of the Signal Office here, has been directed to establish a station of the signal service at New Berne.—One of the most intelligent and prominent colored politicians of this city assured us yesterday that there was anything else but harmony in the Republican ranks hereabouts. That is generally the case some time before the election, but when the time comes for voting, it is astonishing how quickly the scattered fragments of the "grand old party" solidify.

Fayetteville Observer:

On Thursday night last the Cape Fear River rose twenty-five perpendicular feet at this place.—We understand that the late spell of cold weather has done much damage to early gardening, killing the peas lettuce, etc.—In this day and generation there is great interest in articles and items that date back a few hundred years. We often see references made to what is found in the Indian mounds in Western North Carolina. How many of our good people know that about two miles from this place on the west bank of the river there are two large Indian mounds, and that if one will search within a radius of fifty to one hundred feet from their arrow-heads of white quartz rock and other Indian relics can be found. These mounds are about ten feet high, fifteen to twenty feet in diameter at their base, and situated in the midst of a dense growth of Paw-paw trees.

Washington Gazette:

We are informed that M. J. Fowler will probably rent the large and comfortable house of Mr. S. D. Bragg at Ocracoke, and will open a hotel there this summer.—The steamer Margie left for Beaufort on Monday night last, where she is to ply the waters of Bogue sound, between Beaufort and Swansboro in Onslow. She is commanded by Capt. Wm. Wallace, son of the efficient commander of the steamer Washington, and has Mr. Fred Hanks as engineer. The Margie is a pretty little boat, and we were sorry to have her leave our waters. In this connection, we learn that Capt. Styron proposes to try the progressiveness of our merchants and others by asking them to contribute or take stock in a new steamer which he proposes to build and put on a daily line between Washington and Sladesville. This will no doubt be done sooner or later, and we are disposed to believe that it will be a capital good and paying line. We hope to see it in operation soon.

The Poultry Business Adapted to the South.

Mr. W. E. Mumford says in the Southern World (Atlanta) of March 1: If the South takes her stand where she properly belongs in this great republic, correct principles of diversified industries must be instilled into our present population, and then with the help of the proper class of immigrants, we will show the world what we can do.

Among the now considered main interests of the South is that of poultry. "A chicken man" South is laughed at by his neighbors and set down as either a crank or a fool. A "chicken man" in the North and West is a lord. The man in the South who gives five dollars for a Plymouth Rock rooster is ready for the lunatic asylum, while the fanciers of the North and West think no more of giving $50 and $60 for a chicken than the "Georgia Cracker" thinks of drinking a quart of sweet milk a day. Men all over the North and West are daily coming money raising chickens, yes, raising chickens—"a little business." During my travels in Massachusetts and Indiana the past summer I sat down to meat with at least three "chicken men" who had amassed fortunes by raising poultry both for fancy and market. One, a young man of twenty-nine, had sold during March, April and May $6,000 worth of eggs and chickens, and in June had more orders than he could fill. One, a young man of thirty-three, in Indiana, worked eleven years ago as a day laborer on a farm to get the money to buy his first pair of chickens and to-day he owns a fine farm and is worth $25,000. All from his "little chicken business." Now these two men are only fair samples of hundreds of "chicken men" all over enterprising Yankeedom, where they have six months of snow and ice, and are compelled to build winter quarters for their chicks, while in our sunny land rarely a day dawns that we cannot turn our birds upon a green pasture of oats, rye, barley or wheat. We have the grandest country on earth for poultry as it is for everything else, and yet our folks are sitting down and idling away their time with the gold fields in view. There is many a young man lounging around the street corners and parlors of gilded sin in our large cities, living from hand to mouth, who might rent ten acres of poor land and make $1,000 a year raising chickens for market.

Complimentary to O'Connor.

A letter from Col. W. W. Carraway in relation to Capt. O'Connor, the noted scout, came last week too late for insertion, and as we have already printed O'Connor's own letter, we take only the following extract from Col. C.'s letter: "I knew Jno. O'Connor during the war. He was a Confederate scout, a member of Capt. Galloway's Co., 5th Cavalry, and frequently operated on my lines, between New Berne and Kinston, (when I was Capt. of Co. E., 3rd N. C. Cavalry,) and did much valiant service. In the last days of the war the following gentlemen composed "O'Connor's Band": Jno. O'Connor, Capt.; Capt. Joe Price, commander of Gunboat Neuse, now of Wilmington; Major Warren J. Barrett, of Lenoir; Turner May, of Craven; John French, of Craven; Johnson, of Chatham; Wright Moore, of Lenoir; Sam Spock, of Craven; and W. W. Carraway, of Lenoir.

Capt. Joe Price joined us after the fall of Kinston, and after he had spiked his guns and scuttled his ship, and the enemy in possession of the town. Now these gentlemen will bear me out in what I am going to say.

That no braver or more gallant a soldier ever drew a sabre during the late war, than John O'Connor.

That he was as brave as courage itself, and had as much iron and steel in him as there ever was in Bonaparte himself, and never scrupled to expose his life, when necessary for his country's good, and his daring exploits can be counted by hundreds.

That he was a generous foe, and never maltreated a prisoner (and we have helped to take many with him) in his life.

That on the contrary he was ever mindful of their wants, and treated them kindly, and soldierly, fed them, and gave them the best the country afforded, and would allow no one to insult them, or maltreat them.

That the name of Jno. O'Connor was worth a thousand men on our lines. His highest nobelst, worthiest trait, was the privilege to stand by helpless womanhood, and defend her. He was a member of my home after the war, and I know him well.

His war record stands par excellence.—He never did a deed in that struggle that he was ashamed of. He was as kind to a prisoner as kindness itself. He was the eyes and ears of the Eastern army of North Carolina.—Farmer and Mechanic.

The extraordinary popularity of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the natural result of its use by intelligent people for over forty years. It has indisputably proven itself the very best known specific for all colds, coughs, and pulmonary complaints.

An Extraordinary Offer.

To All Wanting Employment.

We want Live, Energetic and Capable Agents in every county in the United States and Canada, to sell a patent article of great merit, on its merits. An article having a large sale, paying over 100 per cent. profit, having no competition, and on which the agent is protected in the exclusive sale by a deed given for each and every county he may secure from us. With all these advantages it might not be necessary to make an "EXTRAORDINARY OFFER" to secure good agents at once, but we have concluded to make it to show, not only our confidence in the merits of our invention, but in its salubility by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $150 to $600 a month clear, and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a thirty days' trial and fail to clear at least $100 in this time, ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent or general agent who would like ten or more counties and work them through sub-agents for ninety days, and fail to clear at least $750 ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other employer of agents ever dared to make such offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guaranteed, and but two sales a day would give a profit of over $125 a month, and that one of our agents took eighteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and these we wish to send to every one out of employment who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the boom, and go to work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine solicitors and carpenters in the country, and ask any readers of this paper who reads this offer, to send at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to those out of employment to make money.
