No News and Observer on Thursday night.

Our New Berne attorneys have returned from Jones court, and some of them are now preparing to get off to Onslow, where court convenes on Monday, Judge Shepherd presiding.

Mr. L. H. Albrecht, of the Signal Service Department at Wilmington, was in the city yesterday for the purpose of establishing a station here. Mr. J. B. Webb is placed in charge with headquarters at the depot.

General Manager of the New and Trent River Transit Company, George Credle, received a communication a few days ago from a steam mill man at Gum Thicket, Onslow county, with a proposition to furnish material for building the tramroad. He called the executive committee together but no action was taken.

Fish Dealers' Convention.

Fish Commissioner Stephen G. Worth has been in the city for a day or two, and established a fish hatchery. On yesterday a meeting of the fish dealers and other citizens was held at the Gaston House, with Thos. Daniels as chairman and J. J. Royal secretary.

Mr. Worth addressed the meeting upon the importance of organization for the protection of the fish industry. He suggested that a convention of fish dealers be held at Raleigh on the 15th of October next for the purpose of organizing and taking such action as is necessary for the success of their work. Remarks were made by Capt. S. H. Gray, Capt. Matt Manly, Messrs. Geo. N. Ives, T. A. Green, C. T. Watson, the chairman of the meeting, and Dr. Davidson, of Boston.

On motion of Geo. N. Ives, a committee of three was appointed to draft resolutions expressing the objects of the convention. The chair appointed Messrs. Geo. N. Ives, C. T. Watson and J. J. Royal.

Large Sale of Land.

We learn that the Gaston & Evans farm, near New Berne, has been sold by Capt. S. H. Gray to Messrs. Rockwell, Pierce and others of Pennsylvania. This is a valuable piece of farming and timber land, containing about six thousand acres. The price paid was twenty thousand dollars cash, or about three and a quarter dollars per acre. This is one of a number of large sales of land made near New Berne during the past few months. We notice that several large deeds have been recorded, one for $7,000, another calling for 200 acres for $4,000. A valuable farm was sold in Hyde county a few weeks since containing 150 acres for $9,000.

The First Peas.

Dr. House, of this city, brought in the first box of peas on yesterday and shipped them per Shenandoah to Liscomb Leonard, New York. They were of the Meadows variety and were pretty well filled. Later in the day another box was brought in from the South side of Trent from the farm of H. R. Bryan, Esq., but were not so well filled. By reference to our files we find that the first box came in last year on the 20th of April, and on April 10th, '83, we find a note of two car loads being shipped. So it will be seen that we are ten days earlier than last year and about ten days later than the year before last.

Now that the excitement of the first box is over it is to be hoped that the business will not ruin their market by rushing in the hulls before they are filled with peas. It has been suggested, and we think the suggestion a good one, that an inspector of truck should be appointed. It would be to the interest of all truck growers in this community if unsuitable stock could be kept at home.

List of Jurors.

The following jurors were drawn at the last meeting of the county commissioners for the spring term of the Superior court: Jesse P. Stuart, J. D. Hart, Henry Hardesty, col., Alfred Dudley, A. B. Kinsey, J. T. Hall, Henry Jenkins, Rigdon Martin, col., A. E. Kilpatrick, Elisha Moore, F. G. Mosley, B. F. Jenkins, John Grover, O. Hubbs, John B. Brown, col., Robt. Hancock, jr., J. M. ### The Jewels Poetize.

One by one the Jewels go,
One by one they fade away;
Johnnie went two weeks ago,
And Tommie goes to-day.
No offer of our rarest cheer
Would cause them here to stay;
Though offered with a trembling fear,
The price we could not pay.
They think to find in other climes
More genial friends than we,
But in the Fall, in better times,
Their faces we shall see.

Explain.

MR. EDITOR.—I learned to-day that the shoeing of one pair of the city's horses had been given to a Republican blacksmith, instead of Mr. P. Trenwith, a good Democrat—who has been doing the work. If this is true, will the Committee on Fire Department explain to the citizens of New Berne why this change was made?

John S. Long's Lecture.

As heretofore announced, Mr. John S. Long, of New Berne, delivered his lecture on "Nineteenth Century Perils" at the opera house on Thursday evening last to a very full audience, and one that could appreciate the talents of the gentleman.
The speaker was introduced or rather presented (as he needs no introduction to this people) by Mr. John H. Small.
Mr. Long in his characteristic style began his remarks by referring to the great strides of progress that had been made during the century, in all the sciences, paying a high tribute to American genius and industry. The introduction of the electric light, the speed attained by railroads, the great inroads made by civil engineers, and all manner of improvements in all the arts and sciences. In all this he conceded progress to the Nineteenth Century.
He then in most beautiful and chaste language, every sentence of which was clothed in poetry itself, began the burden of his remarks by referring to what he considered the perils of this century, not confining himself to our own country alone, but defects of the people and the degeneracy of the times. Where, said the speaker, can you find in this age the peers of Swinburne in poetry, and Addison in literature; of Burke and Curran in statesmanship. He referred to the want of desire on the part of the parents and the same unconcern on the part of young men themselves to reach the high standard of education and prominence attained by these intellectual giants of the past. In the course of these remarks he paid a glowing tribute to England's best man, Premier Gladstone.
It seemed to him, that the general idea prevailed that young men, all of them, should be educated for the trades and menial labor and who then, he asked, would take the place of those in high places in church, and in state who were passing away. He spoke of the low standard that had been adopted by the people, especially young men and women as to their selections of literature and compared it with that which was in vogue in the past. He thought there was great degeneracy there.
He referred to the ill influence of such men as Ingersoll, who by their bewitching eloquence had many followers, calling him the Great Magician; who has caused such revolts in Europe, and of the darts of mean and scathing criticism that had been thrown at true Bible Christianity.
His tribute to the Christian religion was clothed in such language that could only be uttered by one who had communed with the muses. He thought that education, with a purpose in view in life, together with a belief in all the tenets of the Bible was the remedy for the prevailing evils.
We hope our readers will not think we have undertaken to give them an idea of the lecture, but only to show some of the points of his argument.
Mr. Long stands first among the orators of North Carolina, and none but a stenographer could do him justice. The lecture was for the benefit of St. Peter's church, the ladies having extended the invitation. The proceeds amounted to about $65.00.—Washington Gazette.

Flapping the Bloody Shirt Played.

DANVILLE, Va., April 8.—Senator Vance this evening in passing south was met by a committee of citizens and had a reception at the depot. There were present about 500 citizens and a number of military companies. Mr. Vance said that the time for flapping the bloody shirt was passing away, since the sober-minded, thinking people of the North were beginning to understand the peculiar state of things at the South and to make allowance for the apparent impatience of the Southern people. A Southern outrage bill, the speaker said, will never again be enacted. There will never be another investigation of an alleged Southern outrage. A time of peace and harmony is near at hand, and as for disturbances caused by colored people, it had always been found that mean white soundrels were at the bottom of them. The educated, thinking people are going to rule the country.

John Stuart Mill had a pipe sticking around in nearly every tree and nook of his spacious lawn. In his walks he regarded himself frequently with a smoldering pipe often, but when he struck a superior tobacco like Blackwell's Durham Long Cut, he stuck to it like a philosopher, evolving political economy from the smoke thereof.

Opening of the Mine.

LYNCHBURG, Va., April 10.—A force of twelve experienced miners, under the direction of superintendent Dodds, of Wilkesbarre, Pennsylvania, worked all last night clearing away timbers and debris covering the track at the main entrance to the Pocahontas mines, the flooding of the mines having caused great damage to the tracks and the force of the explosion having blockaded them. At noon to-day the superintendent had the following notice posted at the main entrance to the mines:
POCAHONTAS, April 10.—"Some of the bodies will in all probability be removed from the mines this afternoon. A number of men best acquainted with the deceased will be stationed on the outside to identify the remains. Relatives and friends will be given an opportunity to recognize and claim their own, who will be delivered to them on my order. A careful record will be kept of all the bodies. A final resting place below the town has been selected, where all that are not claimed will be buried. During the removal and burial of the bodies all persons are requested to observe solemn decorum befitting the occasion. Appropriate memorial services will be held at the church in the near future, of which due notice will be given. No one will be allowed to enter the mines excepting those engaged there."

Moonshiner Redmond.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 11.—The attorney general has ordered the transfer of convict L. R. Redmond from the State penitentiary at Auburn, New York, to the South Carolina penitentiary at Columbia. This was done at the request of Senator Butler and the district attorney. Redmond was a notorious moonshiner and had killed several men who attempted to arrest him. He was finally surrounded by a posse and was literally shot to pieces. He is crippled and unable to work, and carries seven bullets in his body. His general health is rapidly failing in the cold climate of Auburn, and he will be removed south where the climate is warmer and where he can be cared for by his friends.

Instantly Relieved.

Mrs. Ann Lacour, of New Orleans, La., writes: "I have a son who has been sick for two years; he has been attended by our leading physicians, but all to no purpose. This morning he had his usual spell of coughing, and was so greatly prostrated in consequence that death seemed imminent. We had in the house a bottle of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, purchased by my husband, who noticed your advertisement yesterday. We administered it, and he was instantly relieved."
Hall's Hair Renewer renews cleanses, brightens, and invigorates the hair, and restores faded or gray hair to its youthful color and lustre. People with gray hair prefer to use the Renewer, rather than proclaim to the world through their bleached locks that they are becoming aged, and passing on to decay.

Inasmuch as I have been grossly misrepresented by designing enemies in the case of Robert House, I herewith append proceedings in the inquest and leave the matter to the impartial minds of our good citizens. The increasing demand for our farming and timber lands among capitalists abroad who are being attracted hither by the splendid investments offered, creates, we think, a necessity for an Agency of this kind which has not been felt heretofore.
The great success which has attended the efforts of our Steamboat Companies and other enterprising corporations in our midst, has caused a demand for these stocks which has made them an article of every-day purchase and sale.
