ED. JOURNAL:-Since reading your suggestion in Tuesday's issue in regard to the Athletic Club donating their means in aid to the erection of the new school building, we would say that we agree with you if the Club has entirely given up their intentions as proposed nearly two years ago. WILLING TO "EXPLAIN."

New Berne, April 12, 1884.

Mr. Epitor:—In to-day's issue of your paper appears a card calling upon the Fire Department Committee to explain their action in regard to shoeing the city horses. As the business of a committee is usually attended to by its chairman, I wish to place the odium attached to this matter where it rightfully belongs—upon my individual shoulders. One of the horses belonging to the New Berne steamer had been very lame for several weeks; competent horsemen several weeks; competent horsemen stated that it was caused by defective shoeing. The writer has a horse affected the same way and from the same cause. Mr. Trenwith has been charging $5 per pair for shoeing city horses—the pair complained of cost $3.50. It is true that Mr. Trenwith has been receiving pay in city vouchers, but I think that will hardly warrant a bonus of 42 per Chm'n F. D. Com.

I should never have noticed the article of Mr. H. but for the fact that the press in other cities have made it impublic. I came to this city during the late war, as I had a right to do; (Mr. The convention endorsed E. R. Page as their first choice for Congress. followed it ever since—have worked at go before any committee of turfmen in gate each. the United States and stand examinathe United States and stand examina-tion upon the theory of horse-shoeing, and to show specimens of work done by my hands or under my special super-vision. I have worked in large cities; have shod horses for draught and the turf, and never before have I been acturf, and never before have I been ac- men and that they are going to have all manner. If the "competent horsemen" have among their number one who is paid to inspect other things than horseshoeing, I will say something more er. $1. hereafter.

The horse alluded to became lame sometime after he was shod, and it was caused by a stone-bruise upon the "frog" of his foot. This I assert, and defy all the "competent horsemen" to successfully dispute.

As for Mr. Hackburn's mare, a carpenter could make her some cork legs that she might get around upon for a while longer, or, some science un- a trial. known to me, might straighten her "sprung" legs. It is, however, a good horse the farrier to any king to lose his reputation upon and, perhaps, his head if he worked for the Shah of Persia, and no doubt there would be a better man headless than are some horsemen. Now, Mr. Editor, does it not appear to you, and, also to every reader of your paper, that the many chairmen of the Fire Department Committee have been the most obtuse men in the country, else they would have made the discovery long ago, that my horse-shoeing was defective? I have been shoeing the city's horses for three years, and all was peace until I saw proper to exercise the rights and privileges of every American citizen-voting for whem I pleased -"I hope there is no odium attached to my course in so doing. When an C. C. Whorton, the young lady that I wrote was burned so severely a week or so ago, died at her father's one day last week, after suffering intensely ever since she was burned.

honest mechanic sees his reputation as a workman assailed by incompetent mushroom horsemen or others, it is time he should speak, for, his daily bread is in danger. I shall endeavor in time he should speak, for, his daily bread is in danger. I shall endeavor in the future to do as I have in the pastdo good work and charge reasonable prices, but if I have to take city paper for my work and run all over town to find some friend to discount it at 25 and 30 per cent, and get no other work, I 80 per cent, and get no other work, I shall go to bed hungry many times. I have the warmest feelings for my fellow mechanics, be they Republicans or Democrats, and don't begrudge the job of shoring the city's horses to any man, and hope that no political capital may he made out of my utterances.

Very respectfully,

P. TRENWITH.

NEW BERNE, April 12, 1884.

MR. EDITOR:—In to-day issue of cincts except Beaver creek. One of the delegates, Mr. D. H. Harrison, declined to serve and a colored man was appointed in his stead. The committee retired to the grand jury room and stayed there over four hours during which time it seemed, from the noise that they made, that they were having a real pandemonium. While these proceedings were progressing, down stairs some called loudly for Mr. C. E. Scott, who took the floor and told them he was glad to meet the good Republicans one time more, notwithstanding that they had treated him very badly some time since, he wished to tell them that he was yet a Republican, was born a Republican, should always be one, gloried in the name of the party, it had done something that the Democrats could not do-established a currency that had surprised the world.
