"Some few weeks ago I sent you an item stating that there was a strong sentiment in favor of re-establishing the treasurer's office in this county. Since then I understand that those who are opposed to the restoration of this office have been busily at work trying to defeat the wishes of at least nine-tenths of the tax payers of the county. I have been informed by one of our most intelligent magistrates that he had been waited upon and inquiries made relative to his sentiments on it, and that it would be just creating, by establishing the office, an additional expenditure of sufficient to convince the board that they had better let well enough alone. Now I would like to say to every intelligent magistrate to examine for himself the last settlement of our present worthy sheriff and see if it is a saving of over three hundred dollars to the county by not having a Treasurer. Suppose it is a little saving to the county. As it now stands would it not be prudent to provide against certain contingencies that might arise in the future?
