Sad Accident.

By the telegram below it will be seen that a sad accident occurred on the A. & N. C. Railroad yesterday at Kinston, which will probably result in the death of Mr. William Fields, formerly Sheriff of Lenoir county, which office he held had a good time, no "benzine" being for twelve or fifteen years. Mr. Fields was well known in this city and in all the counties adjoining his, and the event will be heard with universal sorrow:

The Oxford Orphan Asylum.

Dr. B. F. Dixon, the Superintendent of the Oxford Orphan Asylum, was in the city yesterday, and we were very glad to have received a call from him. The Doctor takes hold of the institution with an earnest zeal that we think will inspire the hearts of the charitably disposed persons with whom he may meet. The Asylum is to be formed somewhat into the character of an industrial achool, and the boys receive training in the pursuits of agriculture, for which purpose a fine tract of land has been secured in accordance with the straw was all burned off; then I the recommendation of the former Superintendent, J. WADLEY, GA., May 24, 1884. Mr. Editor:-Since I wrote to you last I have been to several picnics and other entertainments throughout the county; but we didn't have a big time of it like you do about New Berne, for you have got the advantage of the steamboats to carry the whole picnic up and down the rivers, while here we haven tany. At one picnic that I went to a few days ago the crowd divided Bartow crowd, another the Mill crowd. and the other the piney woods, 'tickey;' they all eat their dinners separate from each other, in fact they didn't have any-thing to do with each other, though hundred yards apart. around A good many of the farmers here have large fish ponds with all kinds of fish in them, and strange to say some of them can call up their fish to the edge of the water. I was invited with a small crowd to one of these ponds a few days ago to have some fun, or rather a fish fry. Before we commenced fishing the both legs of Sheriff Fields, killed his borse and tore up his buggy. He cannot live. The train was backing when it struck him. No one to blame.
