Mr. H. S. Gracie, of Beach Grove, predicts a dry June.

Huckleberries have appeared in the market, and go for ten cents per quart.

Meeting of the Board of Trustees at the Academy this evening at 4 o'clock.

Mr. L. H. Cutler gives a new "ad." in this issue. It is interesting reading to those needing anything in his line.

The beautiful sharpie just completed by Mr. John Greer for Mr. C. T. Watson was launched yesterday evening.

The closing exercises of the graded school will be held on the Academy Green to-day, and will be interesting. Read the programme and attend.

Mr. Lodge's wagon will be out this morning on the regular delivery route, and the luxury of having the ice delivered at their door enjoyed by our citizens.

Capt. Powell, on his down trip yesterday evening, made the time from Clark's brick yard, to New Berne, a distance of eight miles, in eleven minutes.

The Elm City arrived yesterday evening from Hyde with the following passengers: N. Beckwith, Esq., J. G. Young, G. Seears, J. T. Midyette, Mrs. M. L. Selby, Mrs. S. S. Dudley, and B. Hosler, of Adams Creek.

Mr. Clifford Simpson has left in our office a sample of bricks made and burned by him. They seem to be of good quality and encourages us to think that we can have as good brick made in this vicinity as anywhere.

We give, with pleasure, space to the letter from Col. Whitford elsewhere relative to through freight and passenger rates on the A. & N. C. Railroad. This is one of the difficulties that have been a draw back to the road, and we hope that it has been removed for all time.

Dinner was served at the Gaston House yesterday in the new dining room, or rather in the old one made new. It has been thoroughly set in order and guests can have a good meal served by polite and attentive servants. The office and other portions of the building are also being repaired, so that the house will soon be in better condition for entertaining guest than for many years.

The County Debt.

We surrender our editorial space to-day to the county debt statement submitted to the board of justices on the 1st Monday. It is a very clear statement of the history of the debt, and the progress made in paying it, and is very creditable to the chairman of the board of commissioners, who doubtless spent a great deal of time and labor in preparing it. It will prove interesting to the taxpayers of the county, as from it they will learn something about what the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad has cost them; and now that the debt is being steadily reduced and on this way to final extinction, it behooves the taxpayers of the county more than ever to see that their stock in this valuable property is not disposed of for a mere song.

We propose to make other extracts from the report from time to time.

First Peaches.

We received a package on Thursday containing a half dozen fine ripe peaches from our old friend A. G. Barrus, of Polkville. They were just simply delicious. We see an occasional mention in the Wilmington papers about what our old neighbor, Capt. S. W. Noble, says about the superior advantages of New Hanover as a fruit growing section. With all due deference to the Captain's good judgment and experience, and we know he has studied the subject well—we can't see in what respects the climate and soil of his section are superior to this for fruit raising. We believe the only way to account for it is that we lack the man of pluck, energy and persistency that the Captain possesses. We would like to see Mr. Barrus and other of our farmers at the Peach Growers' Fair to be held in October in July, with specimens of their fruit. We believe they can show that New Hanover is not the only place where the peach can be raised.

The Convention Still at Work.

The convention at Chicago still holds the expectant multitude in breathless suspense. At the end of the third day it has elected a chairman, made its platform and adjourned to a night session at which it is telegraphed that the roll of States is to be called and the candidates placed in nomination. Private telegrams received here state that Mr. Blaine's prospects are improving while Mr. Arthur's were on the decline.

Personal.

E. A. Johnson, of Pitt, was down on the excursion party yesterday and called to see us.

Messrs. Mills & Walker are putting their fire and water proof paint on roofs in the city. Judge Green and J. R. B. Carraway have each treated their buildings to a coat.

Miss Willie Rountree, of Lenoir, is in the city visiting Mrs. W. F. Rountree.

Mr. W. W. Bailey, special examiner pension claims, is in the city.

Mrs. Rixie and Miss Sallie Jones, of Selma, Alabama, are in the city stopping at the Gaston House. They will spend the summer in the city and at Morehead City.

Excursions.

An excursion from Jolly Old Field came down yesterday on the steamer Kinston and stopped for about an hour in the city before starting on the return trip. There was quite a number of persons from Pitt and Lenoir counties on board and we regret that the time allotted them to see the town was so short.

There was also a colored Sunday school excursion on the steamer Trent from this city to some point up the Trent river.

The excursion to Harlowe on the steamer Kinston has been definitely set for Thursday, the 12th inst., instead of Friday the 13th, as was at first advertised.

Graded School Exhibition.

The closing exercises of the graded school will take place on the Academy Green this morning, commencing at 10 o'clock. The exercises will be short and it is hoped the citizens will find time to attend.

Through Freights.

June 5th, 1884.
EDITOR JOURNAL:—My attention has been called to the statement in your paper that "through freight and passenger trains to the mountains is what the people want." The present management of the A. & N. C. R. R., it must gratify you to learn, concur with you in this opinion. Therefore, we have now cars at Morehead and on the road on the way to that place loaded with furniture from Louisville, Ky., freight and all charges to be paid at point of destination as you will see by enclosed way bills. And we would very gladly send any freight our people may desire to Louisville or points beyond, or to any point on the North Carolina or Western North Carolina Railroads. We also send freight through to Richmond without change of cars. Further, our excellent express agent, Mr. Henderson, is receiving packages over our road from Europe via New York, then by All Rail and Bay Line to Newbern, all charges paid here. In addition, summer excursion tickets can now be bought at any of the stations on our road to Hickory, Catawba, Morganton, Glen Alpine, Black Mountain, Asheville, Warm Springs, Waynesville, etc., etc. Also we sell tickets to the following points: Raleigh, Wilmington, Portsmouth via Richmond, Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, to the two last cities by either via Bay Line or All Rail. Sleeping cars from the North Carolina Railroad and further west will be run through to Morehead, and baggage will be checked through to all points. We, in fact, have a great through line now to the Mountains and to Morehead City, and all that is required to make it profitable to us is the encouragement of our own citizens.

The owners of the Atlantic Hotel at Morehead have at heavy expense greatly enlarged and improved the hotel property. Have also had erected a pavilion 40 by 60 feet on the banks and only a few steps from the ocean, where the sea bathing for convenience and safety is unsurpassed. The hotel is in charge of Mr. R. B. Raney, a gentleman of unexceptionable character. He is competent, courteous and liberal, and has large experience in his business. Therefore his work will find every attention and comfort. And we think it is a pity that the hotel is not more generally known. It is a pity that the hotel is not more generally known. It is a pity that the hotel is not more generally known.

coast. The schedule of the Atlantic Road trains have been drawn in more than two hours over the Midland management, and it is one hour quicker than any schedule ever heretofore run on the road. The cars are in good order and the present schedule it is found after trial can be kept up with ease and safety. Therefore, we repeat, nothing is left to be done except united effort on the part of our own people to make all a success and improve this section of the State.
JOHN D. WHITFORD.

Kinston Items.

We sing to the "old campaigner," as Puck sings to Logan:

A fine looking young man of the tribe of Judah was baptized last Wednesday morning at Kinston by a young Christian lady. The ceremony was performed by pouring.

It is said the Democracy of Lenoir county, at the State Democratic convention, will do its "level best" to put a "Finger" in the pie for Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The ladies of Greene county have written to us to inquire who is the Kinstonian that drove through Snow Hill last Monday with the finest harness horse in Kinston—a blaze face, too. We suppose he was a widower.

Sheriff Davis will now soon put on his "war paint" and bring in the scalps sometime in July, viz: The Phillips scalp, the Fields scalp, the Cameron scalp, the Atkinson scalp and the nice red Grady scalp. He expects to start a bang factory in Kinston next fall.

"You are well supplied with gall And you are well supplied with nerve, And with a lot of other matters Your ambition for to serve; But for the sheriffally, If you are a candidate, You have not got the grammar And you have not got the weight."

The palatial residence of J. W. Grainger, Esq., of this place, as it approaches completion, attracts the attention of the fair sex. Seven widows and two young ladies, it is said, were viewing this residence last Sunday evening and drawing straws to decide who shall occupy it. The ladies know the value of investments in real estate.

The primary and intermediate departments of Kinston College began commencement week last Tuesday night at the spacious hall of the court house in the presence of an immense audience, with a spirited and well chosen programme sustained and enlivened with gratifying music by Varilla's Italian band, of Raleigh. There being a large crowd of little ones participating, the evening's pleasing exercises were opened by Phoebe Curtis with her little speech, "Measuring the Baby." We, too, measured the babies and must say all exhibited excellent training, while many manifested great native talent and solid mother wit. The programme is too long to be embraced in this report; but we feel compelled to say, specially, that Harlowe Parrott, in "Mother's Fool," May Oettinger, in "The First Letter," Sibyl Hyatt, in "Dressed for Meeting," Rosa Laughinghouse, in "My Pocket," and Florence Einstein, in "City or Country," drew from the vast audience well deserved applause and filled overflowing full the measure of a mother's joy and happiness.

Mary Vaughn, in "Fairy Folks," and Clarence Oettinger, in "What a Little Boy Thinks," show how "little folks" can please and cast the shadows of future usefulness and greatness. W. G. Fordham, Jr., in "Give Thanks for What?" and Adolph Einstein, in "Smiling the Rock," exhibited fine oratorical talent and give special promise of holding the multitude by the charm of their oratory.

"The Leap of Roushan Beg," by Miss Capitola Grainger, was rendered with fine effect, while Miss Lizzie Lassiter, in "Shamus O'Brien," spoke as one accustomed to stand before multitudes and plead.

It was good and very good. Such are the "jewels" of Kinston College.

THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.

Maj. John Hughes, of New Berne. Where there are so many good men to choose from, it surely cannot be deemed invidious to let one's choice fall upon the peer of any of the many, for even the Good Book saith: "For many are called but few are chosen."

We hope therefore that we shall be pardoned by the zealous friends of all candidates before the convention when we say that our decided preference for Lieutenant-Governor is Maj. John Hughes, of New Berne. There are many reasons why he would make an acceptable and efficient officer and why he should be nominated. We will take up a few of them at random. He is by all odds one of the best and most eloquent speakers in the State, and as a stump orator has few superiors. He never does anything by halves, and will canvass from the mountains to the seashore, if he be nominated. He has the endurance and the physique to stand the fatigue and will not give out. He has a great amount of personal magnetism and attracts people to him, never makes an enemy, and adds to his already great popularity wherever he goes. His pleasant and engaging manner and his kind and gentle words for every one he meets make even his political foes personally friendly to him, and cause him to be universally liked by all who come in contact with him. Should he be put on the ticket he will not be far from being the strongest of our candidates after he has completed the canvass of the State. He will have no lead to carry, for he belongs to no clique nor faction, and it will be impossible to say that he is a railroad candidate, for he is in no manner connected with any railroad and is not even the owner of any railroad stock, except a few paltry shares of the ridiculously famous "Midland Road." He is perfectly unimpeachable in his character and his record is a record of high re-

as the presiding officer of the Senate would reflect honor upon that body, the party and himself. He is a resident of the Second Congressional District with its large white but larger negro population. The people of that district constitute a very large part of the people of the State, and it comprises very many of the largest slave-holding counties of ante-bellum days. Its white people are refined, once were wealthy and are getting rich again, very many in number, furnish much of the money and a good part of the votes for each campaign are intelligent, liberal, staunch Democrats, have suffered much for their allegiance to the party, have no voice in the legislature of their brethren, so to speak, and are practically without representation, for the Second is the Black District. This is not right, rather, it would not be right for the white people of the remainder of the State to refuse the second place on the ticket to the white people of the Black Second District, for if that position were allowed them they would be measurably represented in the General Assembly. As it is, unwise legislation from lack of knowledge of their needs and apparently almost despotic use of power from lack of representatives to prevent it conspire to make the condition of some of the counties in the East anything but what it ought to be. We do not think we err when we say we believe that Maj. Hughes is the choice of the people of these counties—the white people. His efforts for the adoption of the county government system have characterized him as a man fully alive to the wants of that people, and they would rejoice to know that he was in a position to still further care for their interests. Let him be nominated and it will surprise his many friends if he does not poll the largest vote of any man on the ticket.

In settling upon the above mentioned price, he has considered the Ice question in a practical sense, by fixing such a rate that the consumer cannot but be satisfied, and that will also afford the dealer a profit on his sales.
