Little Delaware speaks for Bayard.

The steamer Goldsboro arrived last night with a cargo of general merchandise.

Thought you had gone to Morehead! was the usual salutation on the streets yesterday afternoon.

Capt. J. M. White, of the Neuse and Trent River Steamboat Company was in town yesterday.

In the absence of Mayor Meadows, Councilman B. M. Gates, will discharge the duties of Mayor.

A special elsewhere from Morehead states that the excursionists from here were having a grand time.

The festival at the McLean building on Tuesday night was well patronized; a really pleasant affair and a success.

The suspended ordinance against fast driving caused many an old stogey to sweat yesterday and the day before.

The steamer Trent came in yesterday afternoon on schedule time from Pollocksville and Bank's Landing with freight and passengers.

Abram Lee, Esq., says he has Gray-Lee beach in good order, with a landing on the front for the convenience of picnic and excursion parties.

We regret that the Mary Alice did not turn on a stream yesterday; we wished to see her work, but some other time we hope to have that pleasure.

Several telegrams congratulating the Wilmington boys were received by them after the contest yesterday, from the folks at home to whom the result was wired.

The visitors at the Cotton Exchange yesterday were so numerous that no satisfactory list could be obtained and there's where our reporter missed an opportunity.

A high compliment to the visiting firemen was paid when Mr. Street, at the Gaston House, said he had not heard a word of profanity from them while his guests.

Mr. Jonathan Havens was the most gallant man in looking after the comfort of the ladies who had assembled at the Cotton Exchange to witness the test of the engines yesterday.

Comparisons are odious but then the Atlantic's engine did throw a pretty stream and the furthest of any yesterday while the New Berne's did some solid work—our boys.

"Compelled to go or be ruled out of good company" was the reason assigned yesterday at the train by a young gentleman speaking through the window to a miss seated in the cars, as he watched a chance to get aboard.

False Alarm.

A party of ladies went over the ferry yesterday and in company with them some young Misses who remained on that side for a later boat; darkness came before the boat and with daylight went the breeze, and a late trip was the result. Great alarm among the families who were represented was the only damage.

Good Music.

While the music furnished by the different bands was elegant, and we enjoyed it greatly at the different occasions during the firemen's visit, we must compliment Prof. Wilson, leader of the Cornet Concert Club, and Mr. S. A. Shioch, of the same, on the part they took in rendering the "Old North State" Tuesday afternoon. Prof. Wilson played the first B-flat and Mr. Shioch the second B-flat cornet, which added much to the beauties of this really sublime piece of music when rendered by so many excellent voices as it was on that occasion.

Firemen at Morehead City.

Delightful time at the supper table. Phil Holland, in a neat little speech, presented, on the part of the firemen of New Berne, to the Wilmington Steam Fire Company No. 1, a beautiful silver trumpet which was received by Foreman, E. G. Parme, with appropriate remarks. After supper a banquet was had and the following toasts and responses given: Our Guests, responded to by J. W. Moore; Wilmington, by Maj. Hall; Goldsboro, by Capt. Lamb; New Berne, by Mayor Meadows; The Fire Department of North Carolina by John S. Mauls; The Press, by H. S. Nunn; The Ladies, by A. W. Wood; The Fisheries, by Geo. N. Ives; The Old North State, by W. H. Oliver; Grand Jollification, The cutter Colfax is here, and she officers by invitation participated. H. S. N.

THE VISITING FIREMEN.

The Parade and Test.

The several fire companies formed yesterday in procession, and the streets, all as named in the programme, were passed through. The display was grand and the citizens were out all along the line of march to get a view of the pageant. Three bands of music enlivened the march and swelled the crowd on the sidewalks with those who were too much entranced by the beautiful strains floating through the air to think of the discomfort and fatigue they were undergoing to enjoy it. At an early hour the "wise and prudent" began to assemble at the foot of Craven street, where the test was to come off. They did this no doubt to select a "good place to see," and it was amusing to see the variety of opinions on that important point, and the readiness with which one well situated would consent to move at the suggestion of some one who thought they had found a better place. Moving and removing was the order of the day among the constantly increasing crowd of spectators until the engines arrived and their several positions taken.

The Wilmington "Little Giant" occupied the right, the "New Berne" the centre and the Atlantic, "Elijah Ellis" the left. The "Mary Alice," of Goldsboro, declining to enter the competition, was withdrawn and driven to its quarters.

The test was to be the first water thrown fifty feet from the nozzle through fifty feet of hose, making one hundred feet from the machine. The Wilmington company selected Major Hall, the New Berne, Robert Hancock, jr., and the Atlantic, Major D. T. Carraway, to be the judges. Planks were placed across the street at the measured distance, the crowd pressed back and a representative of each company in position to guard the marks so that no sliding of the planks or other interference with the fairness of the test should take place.

When everything was in readiness the match was applied to the kindling and the black volumes of smoke indicated that steam would soon be raised; the waiting time was short, for in four minutes and twenty-six seconds the Little Giant began to send forward a stream and the Elijah Ellis followed in seven seconds.

The first water thrown beyond the planks was so clearly that from the Wilmington Engine, that no contention whatever was had over the award.

When the Little Giant started the stream, the Wilmington boys sent up a cheer that was caught up by bystanders until the welkin rang. The colored driver, Nick, became perfectly wild with enthusiasm, rushed through the stream, grabbing up members of the successful company and tossing them about like toys. In fact it was thought that his namesake, Old Nick, would have hardly been more excited had he have seen all from these powerful machines turning streams into the overheated precincts of his dominion.

The Foreman of the Goldsboro Company, Capt. Lamb, states that he did not enter into the competition for the reason that, he understood that it was agreed at the meeting of representatives the night before that inasmuch as the first agreement for a test on the three points: first stream, greatest distance through two hundred and fifty feet of hose, and then through five hundred feet had been abandoned, that there would be no prize competed for, but only a trial of the engines; but after the engines were on the spot a new agreement was made between the New Berne and Wilmington companies to test on the first water thrown fifty feet from the nozzle through fifty feet of hose, and as he was not prepared for that, and in fact regarded it only a competition between the Elijah Ellis and Little Giant, he declined to sign the agreement and ordered his engine to its quarters.

About three o'clock the four companies, accompanied by a number of citizens, a host of ladies and a group of widowers, took the train for Morehead, where a supper was spread and the prizes awarded. The Editor is along and will give a full account of the "Res Gestae."

Saratoga Yesterday.

The eyes of the country are directed to the convention of the Democracy of New York, which met at Saratoga yesterday. Much of the interest in the action of this always important body—important because of near business connections with the whole country grows out of the impression that it will have an important bearing on the National Convention at Chicago on the 8th of July. We await intelligence with a strong hope that the developments there may be securing to the National Convention that New York will be all right

Personal.

Miss Florence Rountree and Mrs. Wm. J. Street, of Kinston, have been spending a day or two with friends and relatives in the city, and will return this morning.

Mr. George Allen is attending the commencement exercises of Davidson College.

Mr. Robert Ferguson, formerly of this city and of Kinston, now of Augusta, Ga., is in the city. He is an operator in the Western Union office at that place, and is on a short leave of absence to visit his old home.

Grapes Ripening.

Grapes are already beginning to ripen at Capt. S. W. Noble's vineyard, near this city, as we learned yesterday by ocular demonstration. In fact, Capt. Noble claims that grapes can be made to ripen here in New Hanover county as soon as anywhere in South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, or any other grape growing State. Earliness in ripening is one important feature in successful grape culture, and we are glad to know that our county can compare with any section in this respect.—W. L. Star.

Notes on the Parade.

The new uniform added much to the appearance of the New Berne Company. A striking feature in the Atlantic turn-out was a number of little fellows, the future firemen of New Berne.

The best pair of horses in line were the Atlantic, though the Wilmington's are quite as fine in appearance.

All the bands made good music, but the Wilmington is clearly entitled to the premium.

The Mary Alice, of Goldsboro, was the prettiest engine in the procession.

Altogether the Goldsboro boys present the finest physique. The Wilmington's are more uniform in size, but they have no such physical giants as Parker and Carroll of the Goldsboro Company, Wood, Slover, Styron and Ellis of the Atlantic, and Pavie, Styron and Warters of the New Berne Company.

The New-Bern's had the oldest engine in the line.

As to gentlemanly deportment we cannot award a premium to any one company for the reason that it was a uniform which adorned each alike. We may be a little too proud of them, but don't believe any State in the Union can bring together four fire companies which will through all the excitement of a visit, a reception, a contest, a defeat, a victory, carry with each and every member the strong marks of a gentleman as completely as these have.

Delaware Convention.

DOVER, DEL., June 17.—The Democratic State convention was called to order by Robert J. Reynolds, chairman of the State committee. In his remarks he mentioned Bayard's name, which was greeted with applause. After the appointment of committees, Dr. E. Cooper was made permanent chairman. The committee on resolutions then reported as follows:

Resolved, That the Democratic party of Delaware in convention assembled, in advance of the declaration of principles soon to be made by the Democracy of the Union, declares its steadfast adherence to the cardinal and time honored customs of the party.

The principles and policy avowed in the platform adopted at St. Louis in 1876, and repeated at Cincinnati in 1880, have been approved by time and experience, and we trust our delegates in the approaching convention at Chicago will co-operate in confirming and adapting them to the present needs of the country.

We present to the whole country our fellow citizen, Thomas Francis Bayard, as a statesman, who through his long public career has enunciated and illustrated the enduring principles of the Democratic faith, and whose nomination as President would furnish at once platform and candidate, and whose election would satisfy the highest aspirations of the American people.

Mr. John W. Cansly, in moving the adoption of the resolution made a short speech, saying that, like Webster, Bayard was enough for both candidate and platform. The resolutions were adopted amid renewed cheering and the convention adjourned amid much enthusiasm.

Yes, They Certainly Have.

Who's at—Jim?
Jim Blaine?
Got him?
Great Cain!

Jim Blaine
Of the State of Maine,
Smartest cuss in or out of the rain—
Got him?
Our Jim?
Cheeky Jim,
Fall to the brim
Of brass and sass, and pluck and vim—
Got Jim?

Why, he's the festive little pill
That went through Catawampus Hill
And made the chivalry so ill;
He stole Ulysses' little squirt,
And put on Morton's bloody shirt;
Hammered Conkling's bump of gump-tion.
Waloped Hayes out of resumption,
Whitened Butler's gory locks,
And put a black eye on Sam Cox.

Got him!
Our Jim—
Jim Blaine
Of the State of Maine;
Will certainly please anybody.

Jones County Items.

We have been favored during the last week with some delightful showers of rain, which was very much needed.

I have been informed that Miss Julia Pritchett, of Bladen county, who is visiting relatives at Trenton, is now very sick with malarial fever at John P. Brogden's.

Mr. Wm. McDaniel's little son Hugh, who has been lying dangerously sick with the typhoid fever for several days, is now pronounced to be better by the attending physician, Dr. Scarborough.

The picnic next Friday and the tableaux at night, a big time expected with big baskets filled with big things prepared in big style for a big crowd. We are looking for everybody, and don't you forget it.

Crops are certainly good in Jones county thus far and are in splendid order. Labor is plentiful and the farmers have utilized it in a very judicious manner. If no disaster happens we will next year have corn to sell and keep.

This is certainly one of the trying years which has been brought on us by the last years short crops. Corn and meat both scarce and not much money to buy with. Yet our people appear cheerful, hoping and trusting that the good time is not far off when their meat and corn houses will be nearer filled than they have been for these many years.

Died, on Saturday morning, June the 14th, Mrs. Annie D. Pollock, the beloved wife of Wm. W. Pollock, Esq., Mrs. Pollock was sick but a few days, having been taken on Monday, and died on Saturday morning. She leaves a devoted husband, several little children and an aged father and mother, together with brothers, sisters and many other sorrowing relatives and friends to mourn their irreparable loss.

Lightning struck the northeast corner of C. H. Foy's store on Monday the 9th of June and knocked off a few brick and passed along the tin gutter to the western corner and took a sudden descent through the roof and ceiling and shattered the window facing and broke all the glass but three in one window. Mr. Jas. D. Heritage, who was standing a short distance from the store, was badly stunned by the shock.

If our farmers will select out a good plat of ground and manure it well and otherwise prepare and sow it in ruta bagas they will find it as good a paying crop as any they can raise. They ought to sow them in July. Mr. L. H. Mallard raised and sold on one-half an acre thirty-six dollars worth of them last year. He also kept enough for his own use and fed a large quantity of the smaller ones to his stock. Mr. Mallard says it beats cotton raising.

Whorlie and dewberries are getting very plentiful around Trenton. The huckleberry brigade is fully organized plying their vocations with a push and vim. I enquired of one of the pickers if it was a paying business; he said it was not, but it was ready cash and he could pick eight quarts a day, but it took another day to sell them at Trenton unless he let them go at three cents per quart. I then enquired the condition of his crop, and he said it was good but it needed work, and said the blessed Lord had sent the huckleberries and he was determined to have his share if his crop did suffer a little.

Ice Cream and Banana Sherbet at Mrs. Dillingham's to-day.

If you, who delight in a soothing pipe, ask why Blackwell's Durham Long Cut is the most exquisite smoking tobacco in the world? the reply must be—there is art in preserving what nature bestows. The large capital of Blackwell & Co. privileges them to gather the cream of the leaf grown on the Golden Belt, and their immense storage facilities enable them to carry their choice stock till it becomes as sweet and fragrant as a rose.
