A CLEAR HEAD

"One year ago I was induced to try AYER'S PILLS as a remody for Indigestion, Constipation, and Headache, from which I had long been a great safferer. Commencing with a dose of five Pills, I found their action easy, and obtained prompt relief. In continuing their use, a single Pill taken after dinner, daily, has been all the medicine I have required. AYER'S PILLS have kept my system regular and my head clear, and benefited me more than all the medicines ever before tried. Every person similarly affilicted should know their value, 152 State St., Chicago, June 6, 1882.

Jersey Cattle.

For twenty years past the cattle island of Jersey, in the English Channel near the coast of France, with the two neighboring islands of Alderney and Guernsey, has been pouring a constant stream of little cows into the United States. These islands situated in the current of a branch of the Gulf Stream and being kept moist all the time, have afforded pasture for large herds and have been producing an incredible amount of the choicest butter. This has caused the cows to be bred up to the highest excellence and to be sought after by those who desire to make the best butter, and now they are found in great and increasing numbers all over England and America. These cattle are very small, handsome, wedge-shaped animals, with a look of a wild deer about them, as if they might be the immediate and pure descendants from some primitive wild stock. They are used to being tethered, and are usually very tame and gentle. But the bulls often get wild and fierce as they grow older, and then are very dangerous. The Jersey cow usually breeds at two years old, and sometimes at little more than one, and gives milk almost or quite up to the time of her next calving. She gives a fair quan-tity of milk, in proportion to her size, and it is so rich that it makes as much butter as the milk of any breed, however large. The butter is remarkably fine and brings double price. It is churned with the greatest ease. Often a little stirring of a bowl of cream with a spoon, is all that is needed.

These cattle have been bred pure or 200 years; and a half breed is often almost all Jersey. They have been raised so numerously in this country that the breeds can be had for a reasonable price. A male Jersey calf is worth from ten to thirty dollars, and a heifer three times as Fancy bred animals are often sold for hundreds and thousands of dollars, but except to raise fancy stock from they are but little better than the common ones.

Let fancy men pay fancy prices, but every day farmers should improve their stock at reasonable cost .- Manufacturer d' Agricultur-

About sixty millior espies of THE SUN have one out of our establishment during the past gone out of our establishment during the past twelve months.

If you were to paste end to end all the columns of all THE SUNS printed and sold last year you would get a continuous strip of interesting information, common sease wisdom, sound doctrine, and sane wit long enough to reach from Printing House square to the top of Mount Copernicus in the moon, then back to Printing House square, and then three-quarters of the way back to the moon again.

But THE SUN is written for the inhabitants of the earth; this same strip of intelligence would girdle the globe liventy-seven or iwenty eight times.

If every buyer of a copy of THE SUN during the past year has spent only one hour over it, and if his wife or his grandfather hus spent another hour, this newspaper in 1828 has afforded the human race thirteen thousand years of steady reading, night and day.

It is only be little calculations like these that you can form any idea of the circulation of the most popular of American men and women.

THE SUN is, and will continue to be, a newspaper which tells the truth without fear of consequences, which gets at the facts no matter how much the process costs, which presents the news of all the world without waste of words and in the most readable shape, which is working with all its heart for the cause of honest government, and which therefore believes that the lepublican party must
