THE FRUIT FAIR.

The Fruit Growers' Association is doing a good work in North Carolina. By its annual Fairs, fruit is collected together from different portions of the State and placed on exhibition, and here can be seen what can be and what is being done in this, one of the most important industries in the State.

At the Fair held in in Goldsboro on the 30th and 31st of July there were not many counties represented, but the several sections of the State were all there save the trans-montane district. On the first table after entering the building was a display from Wilson county. Here were apples, pears, peaches and tomatoes, nice enough, and a very fine display of canned fruits, jellies, etc., by W. M. Edwards. Next is Warren county with a very fine exhibit of grapes.

Gaillard had specimens of apples, pears, peaches, tomatoes and dried fruits. The display of dried fruits by M. T. Hughes, of this county, was very fine.

Pender county exhibited the largest watermelons; there were six that averaged sixty pounds each. There were also fine specimens of apples, tomatoes, canned fruits, jellies, etc., from this county.

Chatham had a good display of apples and dried fruits.

New Hanover; Capt. S. W. Noble made a fine display of grapes and cantaloupes; Donald McRae, pears; Dr. Thomas, pears and peaches.

Sampson; Mrs. W. E. Faison, a display of canned fruits, preserves and jellies that would cause one's mouth to water on beholding them. Mr. T. L. Pugh, of this county, had on exhibition the famous Le Conte pear, which he says is the pear for this climate.

Duplin; peaches, apples and dried fruits by H. E. Newberry. Mrs. M. H. Hodges, of this county, had a very creditable exhibit of canned fruits, apples, tomato wine—said to be better than scuppernon—cabbage, canned corn, etc. She exhibited an apple from a tree one hundred years old.

Yadkin had a large display of grapes—every variety—also tomatoes, pears, apples, peaches, white wine, both sweet and dry, all from Cedar Cove Nursery. The exhibitors also showed their manner of growing the grape, which is to train the vine along a strip of timber so that they can be covered with a board at any time to protect them from the weather.

Forsyth; a good exhibit of peaches, apples and dried fruits.

Craven; fine apples and peaches by Daniel Lane and B. B. Mallison; German millet, oats, milo maize, wheat and fine stalk of cotton by Mr. Geo. Allen.

Pamlico; Japanese persimmons by J. O. Baxter.

Wayne; a large display of apples, grapes, peaches, dried fruits, canned fruits, jellies, melons, tomatoes, a huge cucumber,—by Mrs. K. W. Edgerton—strawberries, mulberries, cabbage and an extra fine sample of honey comb.

Lenoir; Mr. J. M. Kirkpatrick exhibited some very fine peaches, and Miss Willie Rountree a large lemon.

Greene; fine beets by H. H. Best. Jones; peaches and grapes by C. E. Scott.

The Eastern Insane Asylum made a fine display of flowers.

Altogether, we think Guilford county made the best display. The dried fruits, canned fruits, jellies, preserves, etc., added much to the exhibit of that county.

While the grapes from Warren, Wayne and Yadkin were quite fine, yet we think the exhibit made by Capt. S. W. Noble, of Wilmington, a little ahead of them all. His Concord were the finest we ever saw, and every variety exhibited by him were nearer maturity than the others. The Capt. is thoroughly convinced that Eastern Carolina is the place for fruit growing, especially for the grape. He says the great difficulty is not in the climate and soil, but in knowing how. He takes great pride in his favorite branch of industry, and we are glad to know that he is succeeding handsomely. We expect to visit his vineyard soon and try to learn the secret of his success.

CLEVELAND NOTIFIED OFFICIALLY OF HIS NOMINATION.

In presenting the letter of the Committee, Col. VILAS, Chairman of the Committee of Notification, who had also presided over the National convention, said:

"Grover Cleveland, Governor of the State of New York: These gentlemen, my associates here present, whose voice I am honored with authority to utter, are the committee appointed by the National Democratic convention, which recently assembled in Chicago, and charged with the grateful duty of acquainting you officially and in that solemn and ceremonious manner which the dignity and importance of the communication demand, with the interesting result of its deliberations already known to you through the ordinary channel of news.

"Sir, that august body, convened by direct delegation from the Democratic people of the several States and Territories of the republic, deliberating under witness of a great assembly of freemen and gathered in such conference in forethought of the election which the constitution imposes upon them to make during the current year, have nominated you to the people of these United States to be their President for the next ensuing term of that great office, and with the gravest consideration of its exalted responsibilities have confidently invoked their suffrages to invest you with its functions. Through this committee the convention's high requirement is delivered, that you accept that candidacy. This choice carries with it profound personal respect and admiration, but it has been in no manner the fruit of these sentiments. The National Democracy seeks a President not in compliment for what the man is, or in reward for what he has done, but in just expectation of what he will accomplish as the true servant of a free people. Fitness for that lofty trust is always of momentous consequence. They conceive the public exigency to be now of transcendent importance; that laborious reform in administration as well as legislation is imperatively necessary to the prosperity and honor of the republic and a competent chief magistrate must be of unusual temper power. They have observed with attention your execution of the public trusts you have held and performed and that is the cause of that with which you are now so honorably invested. They place their reliance for the usefulness of services they expect to exact for the benefit of the nation upon the evidence derived from services you have performed for the State of New York. They invite the electors to such proof of character and competence to justify their confidence that in the nation, as heretofore in the State, public business will be administered with commensurate intelligence and ability, with single hearted honesty and fidelity, and with resolute and daring fearlessness which no faction, no combination, no power of wealth, no mistaken clamor can dismay or qualify. In the spirit of wisdom and invoking the benediction of the divine Creator of men, we challenge from the sovereignty of the nation His words in commendation and ratification of our choice. 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things.' In further fulfillment of our duty the secretary will now present a written communication signed by the committee."

Col. Vilas was several times interrupted by applause. At the close of his remarks Nicholas M. Prince, of Missouri, secretary of the committee, read the following formal address, prepared by the committee:

NEW YORK CITY, July 28, 1884. To Hon. Grover Cleveland, of New York:

"Sir—In accordance with the custom befitting the nature of the communication, the undersigned, representing the several States and Territories of the Union, were appointed a committee by the National Democratic convention which assembled at Chicago on the 8th of July, to perform the pleasing office which by this means we have the honor to execute, of informing you of your nomination as the candidate of the Democratic party in the ensuing election for the office of President of the United States. A declaration of principles upon which the Democracy go before the people with the hope of establishing and maintaining them in the government was made by the convention and an engrossed copy hereof is submitted, in connection with this communication, for your consideration. We trust the approval of your judgment will follow an examination of this expression of opinion and policy and upon the political controversy now made up, we invite your acceptance of the exalted leadership to which you have been chosen. The election of a President is an event of the utmost importance to the people of America. Prosperity, growth, happiness, peace and liberty even may depend upon its wise ordering. Your unanimous nomination is a proof that the Democracy believe your election will most contribute to secure those great objects. We assure you that in the anxious responsibilities you must assume as our candidate you will have the steadfast and cordial support of the friends of the cause you will represent and in the execution of the duties of the high office which we confidently expect from the wisdom of the nation to be conferred upon you, you may securely rely for approving aid upon the patriotism, honor and intelligence of this free people.

Stanley's Return to England. LONDON, July 28.—Mr. Henry M. Stanley, the African explorer, arrived at Plymouth this evening. In an interview with an Associated Press representative Mr. Stanley said he had returned to England considering that he had completed the work of establishing satisfactory trading stations along the Congo river, from its mouth to Stanley Pool, a distance of 1,400 miles by river. When he left Congo country he was suffering badly from bronchitis, but was much benefited by the sea voyage. He eulogized the trading prospects of the country in the vicinity of the Congo river. Mr. Stanley considered that Gen. Gordon commands perfectly practicable routes of escape from Khartoum whether by way of Zanzibar on the east, or down the Congo to the west coast, if the Nile is blocked.

Mr. Stanley considers that Gen. Gordon can during the present season ascend the Nile in steamers from Khartoum to Gondokers, a distance of 500 miles in eight days; thence proceed to Bahar and Elgahazal and join Lupton Bey, who commands 400 troops having in their possession £40,000 worth of ivory. Gordon could then proceed with this addition to his force to Zanzibar. Should the soldiers refuse to take this journey, or should some other cause prevent the plan, Gordon could cross to Uganda, reach the Stanley stations, and proceed down the Congo. Should the garrisons at intermediate ports along the Nile be endangered Gordon could take them along with him. If they refused to accompany him at first they would be sure to follow after he had gone on. Mr. Stanley believes the sending of a large English force to extricate Gordon would be a most perilous undertaking, and would be likely to be attended with great loss of life and great expense. The English troops would be unable to stand the climate. Mr. Stanley commends the abandoning of the Congo treaty. He considers the leaving of the Congo in the hands of the Portuguese very inimical to English interests.

HANOVER, O., Feb. 13, 1884. After having lung fever and pneumonia I had a dreadful cough and could not sleep at night. The doctors told me I had consumption and would die. I have taken six bottles of Pico's Cure and my cough is entirely gone, and I am well as ever. E. MELISE FORD. jy26 d&w
