Thankful issue.

Governor Jarvis speaks at Kinston today.

Mr. B. Swert will be pleased to meet his friends to-day on Wabab's corner.

The back-bone of the city council will soon be tested again on the "fire district."

Freeman Ernul set 'em up to scuppernongs yesterday. They were ripe and delicious. Thanks.

The Atlantic Co. returns thanks to Jno. W. Williams for valuable services rendered at the fire yesterday.

The firemen desire to return thanks to the kind ladies who furnished them with the excellent coffee on the morning of the fire.

Any person, white or colored, who was burned out on Friday morning, having opened in new quarters, can announce the same, one time, through our columns, free of charge.

The September 2nd edition of Harper's Young People is unusually interesting. It is filled with bright and sparkling stories, and we believe it to be the best issue we have ever read.

As will be seen by an advertisement elsewhere, the county commissioners will hold a meeting next Saturday. We presume this meeting is for the purpose of appointing registrars judges of election.

Capt. Glover, of the revenue cutter Stevens, was of great aid in superintending the removal of Dr. Bates' effects from an exposed position to one of safety, and rendered other valuable services during the fire.

We are requested to announce that Messrs. Watson & Daniels, owing to the burning of their ice house, and the consequent ill-convenience of getting to their ice they will be compelled to charge one cent per pound for ice hereafter.

Energy and pluck was what enabled Joseph Swert to take a boat and get the beef out of his father's stall, in the city market, after the building was on fire Friday morning; but self-preservation urged him not to attempt to gather up the scales and tools, so they were left.

Will not the fire of Friday morning convince our people that it does not pay to erect frame buildings in the business portion of the city? The best fire department in the United States could not save such a range of buildings as was then destroyed. Brick and mortar is cheaper in the long run than fire engines.

Score One.

The first bale of new cotton was shipped by Dail Bros. to Elliott Bros., Baltimore, by steamer Stout, of the Clyde line.

Correction.

In giving the amount of insurance on Mr. J. W. Moore's stock of goods, in our extra issue of yesterday morning, an error was made. It should have been $3,000 instead of $3,000.

Thanks.

Mr. James Redmond desires to return thanks to firemen, citizens and all who assisted him in the endeavors to save his property from the flames on Friday morning. Without wishing to make invidious distinctions he desires to name the valuable services of Mr. Wm. D. Wallace as worthy of special mention.

Meeting of Executive Committee.

The executive committee of the Democratic party of Craven county held a meeting on yesterday and decided to hold a county convention on Friday, the 19th inst. The primary conventions in the townships will be held on Saturday, the 18th, for the purpose of electing delegates to the county convention. The meeting was well attended and steps will be taken at once to make a vigorous canvass.

Push.

For real genuine push, our friend James Redmond stands at the head of the list. Notwithstanding his bottling establishment was burned down, and all the beer bottled was consumed yesterday morning; yet he put his shoulder to the wheel and gave such a push as placed the daily supply in the hands of his city customers with perfect regularity only three hours behind time.

Mr. Redmond gives strict attention to his business and particularly looks after the interest of his customers. He has transferred his plant to the building next above the cotton exchange.

Further Losses by the Fire Yesterday Morning.

Since getting out our extra yesterday morning, we find the following persons, not mentioned in it, who have met losses, to what extent we are not advised, and in fact they themselves do not clearly know:

Mr. B. B. Lane, fish sheds, etc., value not ascertained; Wm. G. Bryan, one frame store; T. A. Green, one brick store burned out, and other slight damages, with probably some loss in removing stock, amount not ascertained; Roberts Bros., slight damage in removal of goods; Samuel Parsons, sail maker's material, etc., amount not known; John Greer, carpenter and tin smith, amount not ascertained; Dr. H. G. Bates, slight damage to books, furniture and medicines by removal; J. and J. B. Hughes, corrugated iron building, value not ascertained; estate of E. H. Windley, frame store house; Geo. Henderson, small buildings and wharf damaged.

The stock company owning the old market house, and the city, which owned the new market, have met entire loss of the buildings, with no insurance nor estimate of amount that we could ascertain. By the burning of the market houses the following persons, who had stalls in them, suffered from loss of stock, material and fixtures various amounts, from $300 down, besides that they are thrown out of business temporarily, and in that way are the greater losers: In the old market there was Ezekiah McCotter, dealer in vegetables, fruits, etc.; William Thompson, butcher; Randolph Parker, dealer in vegetables, etc.; Harriet Jones, col., cooking stall and eating room; Edney Shaw, col., cooking stall and eating room; Lawrence Davis, col., cook stall and eating room; Horace Rumbough, col., vegetables and fruits; Thomas Robbins, col., vegetables, poultry, etc.; Harriet Blackwell, col., cook stall and eating room; Mary Cotton, col., cook stall and eating room; A. E. Kimball, restaurant and bar; J. W. Messick, general grocery; Henrietta Jackson, col., cook stall and eating room; Dicey Oden, col., cook stalls and eating rooms. And in the new market was B. Swert, butcher; John Thomas, col., butcher; John Warren, col., butcher; Virgil Bryan, col., butcher; Stephen Roberts, colored, dealer in fish and oysters; Henry Brown, colored, dealer in vegetables, etc.; and outside of the market Ellis Walsten and Wm. Elliott, col., dealers in fish; Bryan Busic, dealer in vegetables, poultry and general huckster's stock.

An Important Enterprise.

Mr. H. C. Carter, President of the Matamuskeet Lake Canal Company, passed through the city yesterday morning on his way to Raleigh to look after a suit he has brought against the Lightwood Creek Canal for an infringement of patent on dredge.

Mr. Carter informs us that his company has organized with a capital of $10,000 which they propose to increase to $20,000, which sum he thinks will be sufficient to open the canal from Wysocking bay to Matamuskeet lake, making it 50 feet wide and of sufficient depth for boats drawing seven feet. This will enable boats to run right up into the heart of one of the finest grain sections in the State and will at the same time drain the lake so as to reclaim a large amount of valuable land. Mr. Carter has succeeded in removing one of the difficulties of navigating the canal by demonstrating that a steamer driven by a propeller will keep it open at the mouth where it empties into Wysocking bay. The trouble heretofore has been that the settlements from the lake would fill up the bay so as to render it unnavigable, but Mr. Carter began work with a dredge driven by a propeller and soon found by backing his boat he could plough right through the soft mud, and when once opened in this manner the channel would be kept clear by using steamers with propellers. He opened nearly a mile in one day in this manner.

Now while on this subject we wish to say a word to our Wilmington friends. Large quantities of the corn grown in Hyde and the Northeastern counties of North Carolina finds its way to Wilmington, so we have been informed, by way of Norfolk, the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad. A very circuitous route as a glance at the map will show. If Wilmington is in earnest about building a road to Onslow county why not bring it on to New Berne and be ready to take our corn right from the boats. There are many other advantages of such a road, which we will point out at some future time. There is a kindly feeling between the two cities now and we see no reason why a connection direct by rail would not be beneficial to both.

New Berne must keep an eye to this work and see that it is not locked on us after it is completed. It is reported that Norfolk stands ready to subscribe liberally to the capital stock provided the canal can be controlled in the interest of that city. If the work can be completed for $20,000 giving the depth of water estimated by Mr. Carter there is no doubt about the investment being a good one.

JESSE W. GRAINGER, ESQ.

The nomination of the above named gentleman by the Democratic party of Lenoir county was a wise one. He did not seek the nomination, and had he consulted his individual interest alone, he would not have accepted it. But laying aside considerations of personal gain, the question of becoming a candidate in response to the wishes of his fellow-men was with him one of duty.

Our Kinston correspondent, in writing of the nominations immediately after the convention, used the following words:

"J. Q. Jackson was nominated for the House of Representatives, but declined. John E. Wooten was then nominated by acclamation, who also declined. This honor was then tendered to Jesse W. Grainger, Esq., who appeared in the convention and accepted."

While this is not exactly the true statement of the circumstances under which Mr. Grainger was nominated, yet it is so near true, as far as it goes, that we did not think it necessary to correct it, especially after we had, as one of the secretaries, reported the proceedings in full. Here are the facts:

When the chair declared nominations in order for the House, Mr. Grainger's was one of the first names brought forward. He was not in the convention himself, but a friend of his arose and withdrew his name, stating that he did it at Mr. Grainger's request. Mr. Jackson was in the convention and declared all the time that he would not accept the nomination, yet his name was placed before the convention and he lacked only two votes of a nomination on the first ballot. He again informed the convention that he was in earnest, that he would not accept the nomination. At this juncture Mr. J. T. Askew arose and placed in nomination Mr. J. M. Mewborne, and some one, Mr. J. C. Kennedy, we think, moved to nominate Mr. John F. Wooten by acclamation. Before the chair could rule upon the motion, Mr. Wooten, who was on the stand, declared that he could not possibly accept a nomination. Upon the second ballot Mr. Jackson received a majority of the votes cast and was declared the nominee. He declined. Mr. Grainger was then again brought forward and nominated, without his consent, and appeared in the convention afterwards and accepted.

Our correspondent, Mr. Coleman, was not present, at least we don't think he was, but any one reading the facts as stated above will see there was but a slight error, and such an one as any one not present would easily fall into.

We have alluded to this matter, not that we think the item of our Kinston correspondent had injured Mr. Grainger one iota, but because there is an attempt in a certain quarter, unworthy of the young man who is making it, to make it appear to the Democrats of Lenoir county that the JOURNAL is arrayed against Mr. Grainger. It is a great pity that people will not mind their own business. It is indeed strange that a man publishing a newspaper can not find enough to do on his own columns instead of trying to suggest what other papers should publish, and should not publish.

But why notice this little attempt to place us in a false light; our readers know the sentiments of the JOURNAL, and will know how to vote if they read it, at least they will learn how we would have them vote. However, if we have any readers in Lenoir county who can't tell "where the JOURNAL stands," if they are old enough to vote, we advise the executive committee to look after them and see that they get the right ticket.

Insurance.

The following amounts of insurance on property in the life fire were carried by Watson & Street, insurance agents: James Redmond, $1,000 on beer establishment, $1,000 on ware house; U. S. Mace, $5,000 on stock; S. H. Scott, $1,000 on stock; T. A. Green, $2,000 on stock; J. & J. B. Hughes, executors, $1,500 on building; H. J. Lovick, $500 on stock; F. Ulrich, $2,000 on stock; F. Ulrich, $1,000 on building; J. W. Moore, $1,000 on stock.

The following was carried by Messrs. Roberts & Henderson: On the Windy buildings occupied by Scott and Lovick, $1,500; on Hugh J. Lovick's stock $1,000.

The Fire Department.

When we see our efficient firemen on parade, the gay clothes, polished machines, and fragrant bouquets, and martial tread; every heart beats a little quicker because of it, and we are really proud of them.

But it is when such scenes as those of Friday morning move as a fearful panorama before our eyes, that it may be truly said we are proud of them and almost adore the heroic men who do so much to save the property of others without reward or the hope of it except in the consciousness of duty well performed; in which temper each one of our firemen may soundly sleep to-night.

Watermen Good Firemen.

Bontewain Burgess and a detachment of marines did yeoman service at the fire Friday morning. Firemen, under whose observation they came, give them great credit for the manner in which they worked and the valuable assistance they rendered.

The Fire and Its Work.

Below we give losses and amounts of insurance as far as we can gather:

F. Ulrich, $12,000, insurance, $5,000; J. F. Clarke, $5,000, no insurance; Cooper & Howell, $500, no insurance; Hugh J. Lovick, $7,000, insurance $2,000; S. H. Scott, $7,500, insurance $2,500; J. W. Moore, $7,000, insurance $2,000; James Redmond, $4,000, insurance, $2,000 but stock and fixtures partially saved; J. W. Harrell, $200; Watson & Daniels, ice-house and ice, $5,000, insurance $1,500; the old market house, about $2,000, no insurance; Lee Taylor, $500, no insurance; D. N. Kilburn, $1,000, no insurance; U. S. Mace, $3,000, insurance $8,000; city market, 1,000, no insurance; Peter Jones, wood yard, $1,000, no insurance; J. and J. B. Hughes, $2,500, insurance, $1,500.

Personal.

J. U. Smith left yesterday on the Shenandoah for Norfolk.

Mr. Wm. Cleve, of Vanceboro, A. Lee, of Adams creek, A. Hahn and G. F. M. Dail, of this city, are all off on their northern trip to buy goods.

Lieut. J. B. Hughes left yesterday on the Shenandoah for the North, from whence he will go to join his regiment on the Texas border.

Mr. Ralph Gray left yesterday on the Shenandoah for Cheshire, Conn., where he will go to school.

George A. Latham, Esq., of the Statesville American, is in the city, and has been quite sick since he arrived, but we were glad to see him out yesterday.

John Dillard and F. S. Ernul were in town yesterday.

Charles H. Fowler, of Stonewall is in the city.

A Runaway.

Mr. Walter Cohen and Gerrit Vyne were driving down Pollock street yesterday forenoon, when their horse took fright at the tire of a wheel from a passing cart coming off and running in his way, and made a dash to run. Opposite the National Bank a collision with the Episcopal church fence occurred and both gentlemen were thrown headlong from the buggy, which immediately upon being relieved of their weight turned completely over, the horse became detached, and leaving the buggy, continued the run at an increased speed until intercepted up Craven street.

We are glad to note neither Mr. Cohen nor Mr. Vyne were seriously hurt. Nor did the horse or vehicle sustain serious damage, although the latter and the church fence did suffer some and will require repairing.

The moral is that cartmen should be careful of loose tires, and gentlemen driving should be equally attentive to defective reins, as that, Mr. Cohen says, was the cause of the horse getting the run on him.

MOREHEAD CITY, Sept. 5th, 1884.

EDITOR JOURNAL.—A party from the O. D. steamship Shenandoah and elsewhere, consisting of Hon. T. G. Skinner, member of Congress, Capt. T. M. Southgate, D. J. Turner, Norfolk agent, Dan Turner, jr., J. L. Darden, Edenton, Jon. Culpepper, jr., S. T. Hand, jr., chief engineer, E. C. Potter, pursuer, E. G. Cuthbert, B. A. Bell and E. B. Roberts of New Berne, came by special train this a. m., to indulge in a day of blue fishing. They fished outside the bar buoy in three boats, bringing in 615 blue fish, and lost two forty pound mackerel.

The Emperor Louis Napoleon smoked only the finest cigars the world could produce. Prof. Horsford says the Emperor's cigars were made specially for him in Havana from leaf tobacco grown in the Golden Belt of North Carolina, this being the finest leaf grown. In order that American smokers may have as good tobacco as the late Emperor, Blackwell's Durham Long Cut is now offered to the public. It is made from the same leaf used in the Emperor's cigars, is absolutely pure and is unquestionably the best tobacco for either pipe or cigarette ever offered.
