Insurance adjusters are now about.
The farmers wanted rain and they have got it in these parts.

"Rally Democrats." is the head of many advertisement about now.

The heated term seems to have struck later this year in the North than usual.

Democrats, don't fail to attend the primaries in your respective wards to-night.

There are promising prospects of a new building on the site of the old market soon.

Rev. Dr. Burkhead will occupy the pulpit of the Presbyterian Church to-morrow.

Judge Fowle speaks at Snow Hill to-day. The JOURNAL will be represented on the Hill.

The storm of yesterday is about the anniversary of the one which rendered Swan Island notable.

At this writing a steady rain is falling and the wind quite moderate. It is hoped that the equinoctial storm has passed.

The Democratic voters of the 5th ward will meet at Hackburn's store to-night and elect delegates to the county convention.

Mr. C. L. Ives has received a fine line of samples for fall and winter clothing to be made to order. Call and see him at the store of A. M. Baker.

Cotton picking will be retarded by the rains, but as it was getting too dry in the country, it is hoped it will increase the quantity to be picked.

The Democratic voters of the 4th Ward will meet to-night at 8 o'clock at John Lane's shop, for the purpose of electing delegates to the county convention.

We regret to hear that a private letter from Chocowinity, Beaufort county, states that diphtheria is prevailing to an alarming extent in that community.

Clement Manly, Esq., and Mr. Geo. Ash will go to Vanceboro this morning for the purpose of assisting in organizing a Cleveland and Seales Club at that place. Phil. Holland, jr., and A. W. Wood will go to Biddle's for the same purpose.

We publish to-day the appeal of the Exposition Committee, which it is hoped will be read and digested by our people. The funds are needed and without them we shall make a poor showing, but with the amount asked a display will be had equal, we think, to any section of the State.

There are nearly twenty mechanics, carpenters and plasterers at work on the new school building and they are rapidly pushing the work to completion. During the first part of August about fifteen days time was lost on account of rain. Had that time not been lost the building would have been completed on the day designated, Sept. 15th. It will, however, soon be ready.

The State Chronicle.

This paper, which has for one year appeared as a weekly, will, on its anniversary, Sept. 15, appear as a daily. The paper has been an excellent one and the managers are to be congratulated upon the success that has attended their enterprise. The Daily Chronicle will be published in connection with the weekly and not in place of it. We wish it an abundant success.

Political.

"Don't you want to go out in the country and pick cotton?" asked a meek looking white man of a stately piece of colored statuary that was standing on the corner of South Front and Middle streets under a shed to avoid the rain yesterday. "Pick cotton!" he exclaimed with some surprise, "why, sah! I've in correspondence right now wid de frens of Hain and Timpan to fine out which side is agwine to offer de mos' to stump de county for dem. No, sir! no cotton picking fur me."

All the Way Round.

Mrs. Geo. E. Pittman shipped her furniture to Greenville via Elizabeth City yesterday by the Shenandoah. This seems strange but it is the most perfect freight connections. The Old Dominion line from here, connects with the boat for Washington at Elizabeth City and thence by river boat to Greenville. Mrs. Pittman will go in a few days to join her husband, who is now there, and while the many friends of the "Star Shell" look with regret upon the final closing out of that paper, yet they are gratified to think that Mr. Pittman sees his field where he has good reason to hope to be benefited by the move. They carry with them the best wishes of this community.

Up in Pennsylvania It's Different.

On the 9th—last Tuesday—there were five deaths from sunstroke and six other cases in a dangerous condition in Philadelphia, while yesterday—the 12th—fires wore comfortable and overcoats brought into requisition here in New Berne.

That Storm.

Considerable discussion is going on as to when the steamer Shenandoah was grounded on Swan Island. By reference to the JOURNAL files we find that the steamer left on Saturday morning, Sept. 8th, became disabled that evening near Brant Island, anchored and despatched a boat, obtained from the light house, with engineer Hand and others for New Berne for aid. Engineer Hand arrived at New Berne Sunday morning.

The cutter Stevens left for the disabled steamer, but on reaching Broad creek made a harbor and was unable to proceed on Monday.

The Shenandoah, after riding a terrific storm at anchor, on Monday night, Sept. 10, dragged her anchors and was landed on Swan Island, it being the 10th day of the month.

Organizing.

A party went up yesterday to Core creek to organize a Seales and Cleveland Club. If it rained there as it did here, we think that the Club will wash well and not be likely to get out of soap.

Democrats never mind water when intent on business, and we dare say a good crowd assembled and that a prosperous club was organized.

The editor in chief of this paper was along and we shall hear definitely from the meeting through that reliable source.

LATER.—A club was organized with the following officers: C. W. McCoy, President; L. H. Fields, Vice-President; J. F. Hawkins, Secretary; R. A. Wood, Treasurer. And will bring forth fruit abundantly in November.

Personal.

Mr. G. F. M. Dail has returned from his trip north.

J. P. Brogden of Trenton came in yesterday on the Shenandoah and left for home.

J. U. Smith came in on the Shenandoah from Norfolk.

W. R. Guion is back from Baltimore and looking after his trade here.

Capt. J. M. White went North yesterday on the Shenandoah.

Mrs. Jesse Claypoole has returned from the mountains.

Mr. Geo. Rountree, of Richmond, was in the city Thursday on a business trip.

Miss Rachel Simmons, of Pollocksville, is visiting friends in the city.

Mr. Frank Smaw has returned from Atlantic City, where he has been summering.

Dr. J. A. Guion, Owen H. Guion, Esq., Mr. Geo. B. Guion and Miss Fannie Bryan returned last night from their summer visit to the mountains.

Mr. Boyd's Speech.

EDITOR JOURNAL.—After writing an article a few days ago, another gross misrepresentation made by Mr. Boyd in his speech at the court house the other night occurred to me. Mr. Boyd said: That at the close of the war the property of the people of North Carolina had been taken from them, and that the people were unable to pay their debts without selling off the last thing they possessed; and that when the Canby Constitution assembled they gave us a homestead law, and that we were indebted to the Republican party for it in North Carolina. Now Mr. Boyd is said to be a lawyer, and he must know that the Legislature of 1868-7 passed a homestead law, and that that law was in force when the Canby Constitution assembled.

So we are not indebted to the Republican party for the original homestead law of North Carolina, if the records speak the truth. Mr. Boyd will claim that the Legislature of '68-'67 was composed of a majority of Republicans, but he could do that with as much propriety as some of the other statements made by him. Mr. Boyd seemed to make an appeal to the colored people and not one word did we hear that was calculated to win a single white vote. We have several colored men in this city who could have presented the issues of the day in a more forcible manner than Mr. Boyd did and who would certainly arouse more enthusiasm than a dozen speakers like Mr. Boyd. DEMOCRAT.

NEWBERN, N. C., Sept 13, 1884.

The Exposition Committee of Craven county are endeavoring to make an exhibit of the resources of Craven county at the North Carolina State Exposition, to be held in Raleigh during the month of October, and they issue this appeal to the citizens of Newbern for funds to enable them to carry out the plan. Through the energy and work of a few members of the committee, a large space in the best portion of the building has been obtained, and much work has been done towards preparing the exhibit, which can be made of great advantage to the county.

This is an excellent opportunity to make a display of our timber, marl, fish, and agricultural interests, but it will require money and hard work. At least Four Hundred Dollars will be required, and there is no time to lose. Our citizens are earnestly requested to contribute funds, and to furnish articles for exhibition.

Articles prepared for exhibit can be sent to Geo. Allen, or George N. Ives, chairman of committees, or to Morgan & Clark, or to C. L. MANLY, Pres. Craven Co. Exposition Com.

We clip the following well deserved compliment from the Wilmington Star upon the conduct of King Humbert in the cholera-stricken city of Naples:

The conduct of King Humbert, of Italy, is a fine example of courage, sympathy and devotion. He does not hesitate to go to Naples where the scourge has attained far more appalling dimensions than at any time previous in that country or France or elsewhere. He goes into the poorer and more infected quarters of the city and sees for himself what can be done to mitigate the sufferings and lessen the virulence of the fearful disease. He gives freely of his means and exposes his life as if it were of no more value to his people than the life of his poorest subject. It is a great mistake to suppose that "the age of chivalry" has passed.

The Electrical Exhibition.

The electrical exhibition is not yet as complete as it will be; many exhibits are not placed and many have not even arrived on the grounds.

The principal attraction of the exposition at night are the myriads of lights, ranging from 16 to 2,000 candle power. To eighty out of every hundred visitors the construction of the electric light is a mystery. Not more than 50 per cent of the sightseers can tell the difference between an arc and an incandescent light. The arc light is not in favor for lighting within doors, owing to its propensity for flickering. In an arc lamp the electricity travels through two long, round carbon points, which are arranged so that their ends meet perpendicularly. When the current is established they are automatically separated a short space by ingenious contrivances. Then the current leaps from one carbon, or "point" as it is termed, to the other. The air between the two points offers such resistance that the electric fluid expands its force and heats the carbons into flame, thus securing a light the power of which has never been equaled. An arc lamp of one make differs from those of other manufacture merely in the arrangements for raising and lowering the carbons. Carbon is made of many different materials, and, of course, is slowly consumed and must be replaced.

The one striking difference between arc and incandescent lights is that the former burn in the open air, while the latter are contained in a vacuum, or glass globe from which all air has been pumped. It is a favorite light for indoor use, for which it is almost exclusively used. It ranges in strength given from eight to one hundred candle power. Within the globe is a filament of carbonized material much like a slender wire. This forms a loop, the ends of which connect with the supply wires. The filament offers such resistance to the electricity that it is heated white and emits a bright light. All incandescent lamps are the same in general construction, the only noticeable difference being that the filaments are of different material. The globes do not heat very much, and can be placed in any convenient position without affecting the light. They do not flicker at all, owing to the absence of air.—Philadelphia Press.

GENERAL NEWS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—It was rumored here to-day that the President has decided to appoint Gen. George S. Sharpe secretary of the treasury. Gen. Sharpe was recently appointed a member of the commission to visit South America.

EAU CLAIRE, Wis., Sept. 12.—The east and west sides of the Chippewa river, which divides the city, are entirely cut off from communication with each other, except by way of the Omaha railway iron bridge, which admits of the passage of foot passengers. It is situated so far up the river that a walk of four miles is necessary in reaching the business portion of the east side from the court house. Almost every family in the city loses something. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway company's loss in the Chippewa valley is not less than half a million dollars. The lumber companies all lose heavily, but the heaviest losses are suffered by the poor people, who have had their houses swept away. The newspaper offices have all been flooded, and no paper was issued yesterday or will be to-day except the Leader, which is such a small sheet that it is printed on a job press. Only one life was lost in the flood here. A man named Ehler was drowned while trying to rescue his sick wife. Mayor Davis has telegraphed to Wabasha for a steam ferry boat, which will come up the river as soon as the stage of the water will permit. Work will be commenced upon the bridges to replace those swept away as soon as the water goes down.

NAPLES, Sept. 11.—The situation here continues of the most distressing character. The dreadful epidemic increases hourly in its ravages. A feeling of the deepest gloom pervades the city and the misery and suffering among the poor are simply appalling. King Humbert was yesterday prevented from visiting the poorer quarters of the city.

NAPLES, Sept. 11.—In this city, during the last twenty-four hours ending at 9 o'clock this evening, there have been 900 fresh cases and 325 deaths from cholera, in the province for the same time nineteen fresh cases and fourteen deaths. Avalline, four fresh cases, two deaths; Bergamo, eleven fresh cases, nine deaths; Campobasso, three fresh cases, two deaths; Caserta, thirteen fresh cases, six deaths; Cremona, two fresh cases, ten deaths; Genoa, thirty-six fresh cases, twenty-one deaths; Spezia, twenty-six fresh cases, seventeen deaths.

NAPLES, Sept. 12.—As King Humbert was passing a prison yesterday, the inmates raised a loud shout, praying to be set at liberty. Among those dangerously ill with cholera is the son of King Kalakaua of the Sandwich Islands.

BERNE, September 11.—The Swiss authorities have established a rigorous quarantine along the Italian frontier.

ROME, Sept. 11.—One death is reported here to-day of Asiatic cholera.

The ladies of the New Berne Memoria Association earnestly desire to complete the monument already begun to the memory of our honored Confederate soldiers. Any contribution, however small, will be thankfully received and properly used. A box will be placed at the store of Mr. Alex.
