The schooner Gertrude Browning, is discharging a cargo of lime and brick for the new court house.

The steamer Trent left at 8 o'clock sharp on the excursion, but had to come back for the band and other passengers.

The beautiful sunsets are now attracting attention, and it is said the sunrise is equally charming; but who tries to see it?

Although many of the cotton buyers and sellers were off to the picnic yesterday, a few bales rolled in and were disposed of.

Blind Tom is working his way Southward. He performs in Elizabeth City to-morrow. We hope to have him in New Berne.

Mr. R. S. Burkhead brought us last night a spider of large size and beautiful colors. We will get our bugologist to interview it.

The Exposition Committee are meeting good success in soliciting subscriptions to the fund needed to make the Exhibit a success.

Mrs. M. D. Dewey has gone North by Shenandoah and will purchase a complete stock of millinery and other goods. Her opening, about the 1st of October, will be announced in the JOURNAL.

We see from the Wilmington Star that Pompey Sneed has been captured and jailed at that place. He is one of the two noted desperadoes that have been raiding through a number of counties lately.

Forty-six bales of cotton, long expected from New River, arrived yesterday, was consigned to F. G. Simmons by C. C. Stevens of Richlands, Onslow county. The cotton and schooner are for sale.

One of New Berne's dandies was making his way up Craven street when he saw two young Misses coming. He made all due preparations for his politeness, but just in the act of tipping his hat it slipped from his hand and another one of his greatest efforts was spoiled.

Mr. George E. Pittman and family left for Greenville Tuesday by carriage, across the country. The sickness of their little boy delayed their departure somewhat.

Mr. K. F. Williams and family returned from the Straits Tuesday, and his little daughter is much better.

Mrs. Mary Mayhew and Miss Carrie returned last night from a visit to Stateville.

Steamer Movements.
The Trent went to Quaker Bridge with an excursion party and returned at night.

The John City came in from Hyde county with freight and passengers.

The Kinston, from Kinston, with freight and passengers.

We Did Not Know It.
Since instituting the inquiry in yesterday's paper "where is the $50,000 usually listed for taxes?" we are informed that a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States relieves National Bank notes as well as Treasury notes from taxation when in actual possession and not on deposit. We make no apology for not knowing this, as we always have none on hand at the listing time or any other.

Accident on the Railroad.
A pin dropped out of the engine on the up train yesterday morning when near Tuscarora. The throttle lever struck engineer G. W. Brinkley, inflicting a very painful wound. The engine returned to the city and Dr. J. B. Hughes was called to the wounded man, and another engine forwarded to take the train up.

By the accident the connections at Goldsboro were missed, but no great damage otherwise was experienced. Mr. Brinkley was doing well last night.

Any body who has disease of throat or lungs, we will send proof that Piso's Cure for Consumption has cured the same complaints in other cases. Address, E. T. HARTLEY, WARREN, Pa.

The Quaker Bridge Picnic.

The picnic at Quaker Bridge on Thursday, as was expected, was a grand success. A good crowd of ladies and gentlemen went up from the city on the steamer Trent, accompanied by the Silver Cornet Band and a string band, and a large crowd was present from Jones and Onslow counties.

No orator had been selected for the occasion, but F. M. Simmons, Esq., of our city being present responded, after pressing invitations, in an impromptu speech of about three quarters of an hour. His subject—internal improvements—was happily chosen and he handled it in a mastery manner. He urged the necessity of unity of action on the part of the people of this section in demanding of the State convict labor to construct roads through the great White Oak woods and thus in a measure provide better and quicker transportation for their produce and develop a large body of rich lands belonging to the State. It was a speech abounding in practical ideas and was well received by all present.

This gathering was for the purpose of celebrating the completion of the long talked of Quaker Bridge road, but we regret to say the work is not yet completed. The ditches cut on the Jones county side are not sufficient to take the water off and if they are not cut wider and deeper the road will be of no service. The commissioners have ordered Capt. Melver to take his force to the Jones county side and cut the ditches the proper width and depth, which will take two or three weeks time, and then it will indeed be one of the finest roads in the State.

But the picnic was enjoyed by all who attended, whether the road was completed or not. The bands furnished splendid music, the young ladies and gentlemen sang songs, old men danced—how could they help it when a pretty young lady would pull them out—and everybody appeared to be happy. We wouldn't care if the thing could be repeated when the road is completed.

Kinston Items.

When a woman casts her "shoo" at a catterwauling cat or a sweetly singing young man, it is not by any means for good luck.

Cummings and Gray are paying three cents for seed cotton. A few bales of lint cotton came in this week. The best brings 9.45.

Rev. J. C. Burruss, Universalist of Nottulsga, Ala., will preach in Kinston Friday night, October 3rd, 1884, at the court house.

People who commit suicide, say they wish to end their troubles; but how does a man who commits suicide know he is "ending his troubles?"

The greatest trouble Mrs. Lockwood had in accepting the nomination for the presidency of the United States, on the "gal's ticket," was that in accepting, she was compelled to admit she was over 35 years old. Most women would sooner refuse the presidency than tell their true age.

The famous faith and card doctor, Billy Haskins, of Jones county, was with us last Tuesday. Interested politicians had him to consult his cards to see if any of the Democratic candidates in Lenoir county would be elected this fall, but the conjuration didn't work well and he withholds an answer.

Cabbage Cox, the Republican nominee for the Legislature from Lenoir county is full of fun and good humor. When he heard that J. W. Grainger, Dan G. Taylor and J. C. Carter were all candidates for the same place, he went, as "Bret Rabbit" once did, "away, all alone by himself, an' he laff an' laff an' laff, twel he couldn't laff no longer."

Philip Taylor was before Justice W. C. Fields last Wednesday, charged with the burning of James Williams' dwelling house several years ago. He confessed to have set fire to the house at the request of one Croom Stroud who paid him five dollars to commit the crime. He waived preliminary examination and was committed to jail to await trial at the next term of our Superior Court.

Stonewall Items.

Freeman Small and Miss Penola Tingle were married at 3 o'clock the 17th inst., at the residence of the bride's father, Jno. Tingle, on upper Goose creek, Rev. Alonzo Holton officiating.

I learn that Col. C. W. Jacobs is quite sick at his place on Goose Creek Island, where he has been for some time superintending the erection of a fine steam saw mill on his extensive farm. Hope he may soon recover and that his days may be many in the land.

Our sheriff candidates, or a portion of them, are doing a good deal of driving. E. H. Dowdy and Jas. W. Dawson have each brought up a hind quarter and side. The 27th inst. is the day to get the coon and go on. I hear some talk of Frank P. Gatlin, a one-legged Confederate soldier, by the people. He has not been bush whacking either. And some want Jas. M. Carson for treasurer; neither has he been driving. What I have to say is hold a fair convention clear of all rings, and let the people have who they wish to vote for and all will be well; otherwise, I am not able to say.

The geologists' party have obtained data by which they expect to be able to definitely establish the exact age of the mountain.

Fighting is reported from the cities of Socorro and San Jose de Cuesta, and a general disturbance is apprehended throughout the State. The floods lasted four days, and the entire country was submerged to the depth of sixty feet. Whole towns were swept away. It is believed that fully 70,000 persons perished. It was feared that a pestilence would follow.

Cholera has broken out at Amoy. The number of deaths is not given. It has been declared to be an infected port.

PETERSBURG, Va., Sept. 16.—The large fruit, candy and berry basket factory of George Brown & Co., in this city, has stopped work, throwing out of employment over 150 persons. ## THIS AND THAT.

If it costs $300,000 to save Maine, how much will it take to rescue Iowa.

Mr. Blaine is trying to carry water on one shoulder and whiskey on the other. There has been more bustle in the campaign since Mrs. Lockwood came out.

Mr. St. John's mustache is fairly glowing over the big Prohibition vote in Maine.

Should Mr. Blaine be defeated he can go and start a Republican bank in New Jersey.

Maine having been made secure, Mr. Blaine can turn his attention to saving Iowa.

I think it was a very good scheme, that of turning Lot's wife into a pillar of salt.—J. G. B.

Maine Republicans voted for their new Governor because his name begins with "Rob."

Bank burglars are complaining that cashiers and presidents are leaving them no occupation.

The young man with a slender salary should choose for his bride a young woman of small waste.

When the Morrills of a party are dead, the Blaines come forth to lead it.—[Pine Tree Proverbs.]

Since the unlucky Morrill letter, Mr. Blaine has instructed his committees to read all the death columns every day.

The Puritan, no less than the Hoosier, can understand a new two-dollar bill. Monday was a prosperous day in Maine.

It is believed that Mr. Blaine will write a brief letter to Mr. Ogilvee, informing Mr. Ogilvee of the death of Senator Morrill.

D. Louis Bodge writes a poem in the New York Sun on "Butler and Reform." Mr. Bodge will never be able to reform Mr. Butler.

"Ah, isn't she a duck?" cried an admirer, as the doctor's daughter passed. "No doubt," replied a mean wretch, "her father is a quack."

A Chicago writer says: "Gen. Logan served his country in the hour of its greatest need." True; and a grateful Gen. Logan's relatives are still serving it.

The only member of the Cabinet who worked hard is dead. This will doubtless prove a warning to other Cabinet members who may have thought about doing some work.

The editors of this paper, like the Macon Telegraph and Messenger, have tried Holmes' Wash and Dentifrice, and can heartily endorse all claimed for it. It is a sure cure for sore mouth of any kind. Drs. Holmes are cultivated gentlemen and skilled in the practice of their profession. We most heartily endorse them.—Sunny South.

A Card.

Having been solicited by some of my friends to allow my name to be run as a candidate for the House of Representatives for the next Legislature I take this opportunity and method of saying positively I decline to do so and will vote for and support J. W. Grainger, and I call upon all my friends to do the same. D. G. TAYLOR, September 16, 1884.
