Cotton Exchange Lyrics No. 3. We have received from the author a copy of "Cotton Exchange Lyrics No. 3." We regret to have stirred up the wrath of our poetic friend Oliver Dayasdust. If he had not been so hasty, it might have occurred to him, that the two adjoining counties. Jones and Cra-croffied state of onr columns, at this ven, a good road from Trenton to Core crof led state of onr columns, at this time, forbids the insertion of his poem, even if we had been willing to publish a dampoon on ex-President Davis. Cicero says, some men are witty, and some men are like whetstones to sharpen other's wit. We must be content to act other's wit. We must be content to act as whetstone. The reading of this poem reminds us of a cur yelping on a lion's track. We merely mention the circumstance, Mr. D. can make the application. It is related of the poet, Burns, that he Messrs. Clem. Loftin's speech and Thompson's skin-ning reply has thoroughly aroused our people. Wednesday's speaking has made for us over fifty votes. White people who heretofore have never taken any interest in politics at all were cheering and applauding our speakers.

Dr. Thompson is the very man to arouse the people of our county and if he makes a thorough canvass of our county the rads will have to call for more help. I don't believe Loftin can be coaxed to meet him again.

Mr. R. B. Hearne, of the Free Will Bap tist, has just returned from Raleigh, where he had been in attendance of the meeting of the Press Association and the Exposition. He says the Exposition is a grand success and everybody in North Carolina ought to see it. He brings with him a silk handkerchief, with the portraits of Cleveland and Hendricks on it, that was spun and wove on the grounds while he was there. He of Jones county are a very ignorant also brings samples of work done by the class, or else he never would have made Household sewing machine, a piece of leather stitched to a piece of lead oneeighth of an inch thick, and a silk badge with his name neatly stitched on it. One of the interesting things on exhibit, he says, is a miniature steam engine, ten inches long, running a pool of water at the rate of eight miles per and had returned with a plenty of York's shots; and besides, they had hour.

his appointment at New Berne. To this arrangement Mr. Bryan would not accede, so the Dr. led off in a whole two hours speech. I listened with at tention and I must say that I have never listened to a speech where the speaker labored so hard to make out his case by endeavoring to bring out all the strong points on his side and cover up all his weak points. It appeared to me that he must suppose that the white people 80 such assertions and charges on the Democratic party he did. To cap the climax he said that he came in contact with 8 Jarvis and demolished him, and that Jarvis had fied the track, and that Capt. Reid followed, and when in the midst of his speech, pouring the chain shot and grape into Edward's record on the negro question, the negroes split their throats hollering for Reid, and great became the excitement half, dozen of them rushed to the stand, lifted Reid on their shoulders and toted him around on their shoulders, singing "We's got de old coon." For a few minutes the scene buffled description. Poor Edwards; there he sat, glued to his seat, dumbfounded and disgusted. I never again wish to see the picture Edwards' face presented.
