LOCAL NEWS.

Miss Harriet Lane gives notice in this issue of the opening of her elegant stock of fall and winter millinery and invites all to come and see them.

The M. E. Church Working Society will meet to-night at L. H. Cutler's. A full attendance is desired as business of importance will be before the meeting. We regret to hear of the death of Mrs. A. B. Dennison, which occurred at the residence of her husband yesterday. result. In just three minutes and ten She was a sister of Hon. A. S. Let every Democrat in the city and from the country turn out on Saturday night and give Gen. Scales a rousing reception. We cannot afford to be less zealous in the cause than our neighboring counties.

Col. John N. Staples, Democratic Elector at Large, will be in the city on Friday night and will address the people at Hackburn's store in the 5th Ward. He is a fine speaker, and should, and doubtless will, have a good crowd.

The Club had a splendid attendance last night. Hon. C. C. Clark appeared in the meeting and being called upon, made one of his short, eloquent and pointed speeches. The Democrats in this city are now thoroughly aroused and will poll their full vote. After Mr. Clark's able speech, Mr. Adolph Cohn through one hundred feet of hose; this was called upon and he made an elaborate speech on the tariff.

The almanac predicted that last hundred and seventy feet. Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday would be very rainy. All signs, however, fail in dry weather. The only hope we now have is this same almanac puts down next Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday as fair. Lookout for rain about that time. It should be remembered that Joe Turner is not the for Congress in the Raleigh district.

Yesterday evening the Button Engine was taken to the Foster wharf, and in the presence of the Board of City Council and many members of the Fire Department, was tested with the Silsby Engine on the following points: Quick steaming, and throwing capacity.

The first test was one line of hose one hundred feet. At eight minutes past 4 firemen sent up shouts while the older heads stood in breathless silence for the patiently. In five minutes and twentyfive seconds, by the JOURNAL watch, she squirted water through the nozzel. When steam was fully up it was noised around that the Silsby was throwing the best stream and this caused her friends to give a whoop, but it was difficult to tell from the position occupied by the reporter which was the best. The contest was quite exciting and highly enjoyed by the large crowd of school boys and the future firemen of New Berne. But this test was not so much between the two engines as it was to see if the Button would come up to the guarantee made by the manufacturer. There was no guarantee as to quick steaming, but surely everybody was satisfied on that point. In throwing capacity there was $7.50. a guarantee that it would throw a distance of two hundred and fifty feet test was made and it came fully up to the guarantee, throwing water two

The Board met in regular session on Monday, Oct. 6th, 1884. Present: E. M. Foscue, Chm'n; Wm. B. Becton, Isaac Brock, J. B. Banks and Quitman Hay. Ordered, That John Mercer be ap-pointed poll holder in place of John Pearce, Junius Stavenson in place of Amos Becton, W. J. Perry in place of F. A. Whitaker, E. H. Mills in place of S. D. Strayhorn, and E. H. Waters in place of Basil Jenkins.

Ordered, That as there is no public road leading from the lands of S. Ban-gert, said lands being known as the Murphey place, to a public road in Jones county, It is therefore ordered that a private way to the new Quaker Bridge road be and is hereby granted to the said Bangert over the lands of F. G. the match was applied, and the little Simmons, said way beginning at a point on said Bangert's lands near his dwelling house and running thence directly across the lands of said Simmons to said new Quaker Bridge road, at said Simgate, being the way which was mons formally used in going to Quaker Bridge from the said Murphey place.

The above order is granted in accord-ance with petition filed by said Bangert to have said private way laid out across the lands of said Simmons. And it is further ordered that all costs and damages of laying out and fencing said road be paid by said Bangert. And it is further ordered that the Chairman be authorized to do all things according to law to carry into effect the above order. The sheriff was directed to grant license to E. Piver & Co. to retail spirituous liquors in the town of Trenton upon payment of the lawful taxes. An order was passed directing a voucher for $100 to be issued to C. E. Foy & Co. in place of voucher No. 343 issued to B. F. Stilly May 7th, 1883, upon said Foy's executing to the Board a bond to be approved by the Chairman to indemnify the county against loss by reason of issuing such duplicate. The following bills were audited and allowed, viz:

John W. Bryan (Coroner) holding inquest, $12.20. J. A. Bonitz, dockets for clerk's office,

J. K. Davis, Sheriff, jail fees, etc., $2.33.

Kinston Items.

Cotton is coming in pretty freely. Mr. Burwell Canady's fine house is nearing completion. The materials for the county iron bridge near here are lying at the railroad station.

There are now 117 pupils at Kinston College and 235 at the graded school. All the new teachers give satisfaction.

The Democrats anticipate a victory in the county at the coming election. We think they have excellent grounds for this hope.

The turpentine still here continues in operation, and is turning a good ship load of freight for the steamers when they can come up here. The Knights of Honor lost a most valuable member and officer when Alex. Nicol died. Mr. J. P. Haskitt was chosen to fill the vacant Reporter's chair.

About twenty of the school children, with four teachers, from here, went up to the Exposition on Friday and carse back on Saturday. Many more will go up next Wednesday.

On Wednesday night last Miss Lidie Hill and Mr. Collins Pollock, both of this place, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. Several other couples will do the same soon.

The river is lower than for twenty years; you can stir up dust almost in mid river. The frogs have all migrated. The mosquitoes have moved to New Berne. The whistle of Capt. White's steamers is heard no more. Mr. Jacob Parrott's new bridge across the Neuse here, is finished. It is a handsome structure. It is the centre of at traction every Sunday afternoon. There the beaux and belles meet and go over to hunt sparkle-berries-more sparkle than berries. Mr. P. has been laying traps for the girls for sometime; but he has a bonanza of a trap now-it catches by the dozen.

Mr. Ed. Laughinghouse at last has his new saw mill in place and at work on the Exposition grounds at Raleigh. A Michigan saw mill man says it is the best saw mill that he has ever seen. North Carolina will come to the front

Robinson's big circus overshadows even the State Exposition in the minds and hearts of the Kinston youth. The great posters on the extemporized wall on the court house square, attract all ages, sexes and colors. I heard three ladies contending as to who should carry a certain little boy to the show. Mrs. Abe Oettinger and Mrs. E. F. Cox are conducting a festival this week for the benefit of the orphans at Oxford. They will have things worth eating. Let all go who want a square meal Masonic things are always done on the square. Mr. S. H. Loftin, with his usual generosity, has given the use of Another large crowd left for the Exposition yesterday morning, among them some fifteen were from Onslow, and a number from Pamlico, Jones and Carteret. How they will regret, when they get there and go through the main building, that they did not send in gentleman passed through New Berne something to help fill up the space seoured by the New Berne Association day morning by the steamer Norwood rice, cotton, a few potatoes, turnips, and anything that grows on the farm, rom each one that attends from these counties would have, with our Craven same evening. Some Grasses of Eastern N. C.

(A Letter to the Agricultural Editor.) DEAR SIR :-- In the JOURNAL of this week I notice that you speak hopefully of there "being millions in it," when you suggest that crab grass should be cultivated.

Now. Mr. Editor, I want to give you some advice about raising grass. And, having never had any experience in Goldsboro on Saturday evening for the farming, I am the better qualified for giving advice. Here it is:

Crab grass is, in some respects, like Nut grass. I have had much experience in raising the latter; and I am satisfied a committee to go and escort them to that no man in my county has produced the city. The following gentlemen finer crops than mine. I have seen Nut grass in my garden two and a half feet high. Once it was thought, by a neigh-bor, to be a field of wheat.

Nut grass is like a mule, it knows exactly when not to do it. It has the rare gift of knowing where it is not wanted. and there it grows abundantly. I firmly believe that if you could find any use for this grass, it would vanish from the earth.

If you are going to raise Crab grass as a crop, work to eradicate it. Don't publish a word about it. Keep dark. Kindness and cultivation will defeat your ends.

other crops fail, that laughs at drouth, that flourishes in the rain, that no frost can destroy, that grows any where and always luxuriantly, we commend the Cane grass. You can get cuttings of this plant, on application to any farmer near Kinston.

If you are 'going in' for grass, send your agricultural editor to Kinston, and he can get all the information he wants.
