Everybody invited to the grand jubilee Thursday night.

Let the houses be illuminated next Thursday night.

New Berns will do the thing up, brown Thursday night.

Athena Lodge No. 8, Knights of Pythias, meet to night.

The Thanksgiving turkey continues to arrive in good quantities.

A gentle shower of rain on Sunday evening was heartily welcomed.

J. F. Clark is improving the sidewalk in front of his new brick store on Middle street.

The McLean building on Middle street, purchased recently by Jas. A. Bryan, Esq., is undergoing repairs.

The Annual Conference of the A. M. E. Zion Church will convene in this city to-morrow. Bishop Thos. H. Lomax will preside.

The Union Meeting of the Atlantic Baptist Association will be held at the Baptist Church in this city on Friday and Saturday next.

Cotton fluctuates. November futures opened yesterday morning five points lower than Saturday evening, but closed with an advance of twenty-one points.

Next Monday is the time for new boards of county commissioners to be sworn in and enter upon the duties of their office. It is also the time for the giving and renewing of official bonds.

We have a card from Capt. J. H. McIver, at Core Creek, stating that he will take the convicts back to the Quaker Bridge road to-day. We hope he may be able to complete it before wet weather begins.

In the Superior Court yesterday after His Honor's charge to the Grand Jury, the criminal docket was called and many cases of minor importance disposed of. To-day the court will likely get down to work on those of more importance.

Gen. Hancock, of the celebration finance committee, tells us that he is receiving considerable help, in the way of soliciting contributions, from Washington Bryan, Esq., who is a member of the committee. We believe all the committees are alive to the work before them and the celebration will be a grand success.

The Revenue Cutter Stevens.
From a private letter received by a gentleman in this city we learn that the cutter Stevens will be ready to return to our waters in about twenty days. The writer states that she is undergoing thorough repairs, and we hope she will last until a Democratic administration will build us a good sidewheel steamer. Now "Boss" should be happy.

Off To Conference.
Rev. Dr. Burkhead left yesterday morning for Wilmington to attend the Annual Conference of the M. E. Church South of North Carolina, which convenes to-morrow. Dr. Burkhead has labored for three years at this station very acceptably to his congregation and the people of New Berns generally, and it would no doubt please the people of the community to have him returned.

Transparencies.
In getting up transparencies for the jubilee on Thursday night we wish to suggest to our Democratic friends the propriety of respecting the feelings of our friends, the enemy. There should be some redeeming features at least in a bitter political campaign. We believe there are Republicans in this community who honestly believed that the success of the Republican party was better for the whole country. We believed otherwise. We have won. Let us rejoice over the prospects of destroying sectionalism and having the government honestly administered, rather over the downfall of our political enemies.

All Signs Fail.
Soon after the National Democratic convention last summer, meeting a prominent citizen of this county on the streets of New Berns, he informed us that he thought the Democrats had nominated very good men on both State and National tickets. "But," said he, "do you know that it is a fact that there never has been a candidate for Governor of North Carolina whose name began with S elected by the people? And furthermore, did you ever think about it, every candidate for President whose name began with C has been defeated?"

For the time being, that is all we can say.

Superior Court.

Court was called to order on Monday morning at 10 o'clock, His Honor, Judge Gudgeon, presiding, and Solicitor Collins representing the State.

R. B. Lehman, Esq., who was recently granted license by the Supreme Court to practice law, was sworn as an attorney.

B. G. Credle was appointed Foreman of the Grand Jury. His Honor's charge was exhaustive, a complete resume of the criminal law of the State. He feels it his duty to tell the people who attend court what the criminal law of the State is. It is therefore not to be judged that he preumes upon the entire ignorance of the jury because he consumes considerable time in detailing to them what constitute crimes against the laws of the State.

The following cases were disposed of:

State vs. Frank P. Howell, A. and B.; nol pros.

State vs. John Sugg, highway robbery; nol pros with leave.

State vs. John Venters, larceny; nol pros with leave.

State vs. John Holly, affray; nol pros with leave.

State vs. Bryant West, carrying concealed weapons; nol pros with leave.

State vs. George Bryant, removing crop; nol pros with leave.

State vs. Ben McCullen, larceny; nol pros with leave.

State vs. William Kinsey, larceny; nol pros with leave.

State vs. Stejneger Lee, A. and B.; nol pros with leave.

State vs. William Rae, A. and B.; nol pros with leave.

State vs. W. Ferrell and Cornelius Jones, affray; nol pros with leave.

State vs. Thomas Carter and Lancy Willoughby, F. and A.; nol pros with leave.

State vs. Toney Cotton, forcible trespass; nol pros with leave.

State vs. A. B. Dawson, selling liquor on Sunday; submits. Judgment suspended on payment of cost.

State vs. Luke Mattocks, injuring stock; nol pros with leave.

State vs. Charles Wilson and George Bryan, affray; submits. Judgment suspended on payment of cost.

State vs. Thompson Wiggins, sci. fa.; called and failed. Judgment.

State vs. Aug. McCafferty, Thos. J. Wetherington and W. C. Brewer; sci. fa.; called and failed. Judgment.

State vs. Joe Johnson and F. J. Lee, sci. fa. called and failed. Judgment.

State vs. Geo. W. Mitchell, L. & R.; submits. Judgment suspended on payment of cost.

Personal.

S. R. Street, jr., accompanied by Alpheus W. Wood, left yesterday morning for Danville, Va., on an important mission.

Mrs. Mary McK. Nash left for Florida yesterday morning on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Rosseau.

Mrs. Jacob Dewey, of Middlebury, Vermont, is in the city on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. D. W. Hurtt.

Mrs. Susan Koonce and Mrs. S. E. Keonce, of Jones, are in the city.

Mr. Geo. B. McCotter, of Bell's Ferry, is in the city.

Mr. J. U. Smith, now a cotton buyer in the Kinston market, was in the city yesterday.

Major Gordon of the Egypt farm is in the city.

Grover Cleveland's Sentence.

The Barnwell People says: The following quaint and curious endorsement was found on the back of a Cleveland and Hendricks ticket cast at Barnwell November 4th:

Grover Cleveland, stand up! A jury of your countrymen have found you guilty of designing and conspiring with diva Democrats to become President of the United States, to the great harm and personal injury of over 100,000 royal office-holders of the Republic. And more: You have caused anger, hatred, ill-will, curses and maledictions to spring up and live among the hitherto united Republican family of this country.

Your advocates have defended you with great zeal and ability; indeed such zeal and ability have never before been known in the history of Presidential campaigns in these United States.

As the jury have recommended you to mercy, I make your sentence as lenient as the law allows.

It is, that you, Grover Cleveland, be confined at hard labor within the walls of the White House, in the city of Washington, District of Columbia, for the term of four long years. And may the Lord have mercy on your soul.

Bring in Tom Hendricks.

Kinston Times.

Owing to the great destructive fire at Goldsboro, N. C., recently, which burned our contractor's office, etc., the Times has not appeared. However, though, we will be on our feet again soon and will make amends. We ask the indulgence on the part of the public.

Respectfully,
R. L. FAIRBOTT, Editor.

Thrilling Marine Disaster.

By our Special Correspondent on the Spot.

A few nights since the steamer Trent was quietly steaming on her course up Trent river, and David, her noble captain, with his bronzed, weather-beaten hand on the wheel, was directing her course, while his eagle eye sought in the darkness the tortuous way of this grand and majestic river, and his thoughts were wandering and centering on the loved home circle he had so lately left, to pursue his avocation as pilot on the bosom of this mighty river—a shock is felt. Why starts this noble captain? Why the anxiety so plainly depicted on the countenance of that noble captain? He has passengers on board—both saloon and steerage—and instantly his thoughts are with them and he is inwardly planning for their safety and welfare. What noise is that? It is a prolonged whistle which shows that some one wishes to communicate through the speaking tube. Instantly his mouth is at the tube and the cabalistic telephonic "hello" is sent ringing through the tube. Whose voice is it answers? It is the voice of the noble chief Lassiter: "Captain, we have struck a jetison or a sunken log and are sinking rapidly." Why blanches the stern face of that young salt when he hears the ominous words of the chief? It is not fear for himself. He has braved the dangers of the mighty ocean and is hungry for perilous adventures when he only is concerned. Then why this sudden change from calm serenity to terrified anxiety? He appreciates the danger of his passengers should his steamer go to the bottom and leave those who considered themselves so safe under his care fighting for that precious boat so dear to us all—life—on the turbulent waters of the Trent river. His hand is on the bell wire. He pulls four bells and the jingle. The engines are stopped—reversed, and by another pull at the bell—stopped. All is still except the hissing of the steam. What now? Well, he is equal to the emergency? Why that sweet smile on that which was so short time since a terrified countenance? He says not a word, but reaches aloft and takes from its accustomed hook the speaking-trumpet, and with trumpet in left hand pressed to his lips, and right hand raised aloft while a mental prayer is sent out to Neptune to preserve those under his care, he yells in stentorian tones, "To your boats! We will desert the ship." A rush was made for the life-boat. There was seen the cause of that sweet smile on our captain's handsome face. "Uncle Sam" has a law which is rigidly enforced by those fortunate office-holders who are paid to enforce them, that all steamers shall carry a large metallic life-boat for the safety of passengers and crew if the Board of Supervisors think it necessary. Passengers combined with crew, but alas their efforts were unavailing. The boat by her weight was as if glued. Another effort. She moves. She glides gracefully into the rushing stream. The captain is still on deck. His tones are stern as he orders his crew to first lower his passengers into the way-tossed life-boat. Following the passengers were the crew and the last to leave the deck of the doomed ship was that "ablest Roman of them all." With a tear in his eye and a tremor in his voice he gives the command, "shove off." Why the delay? Will they still imperil themselves by remaining longer while the grand old ship sinks and engulfs them in the terrible whirlpool which she will make as she sinks. Every effort is made to leave. The men are straining until the veins of their necks protrude like cords and no movement is made. A sounding is taken. "Three feet of water and the life-boat aground." "Saved at last." The last words of our dear old skipper, as he clambered to the decks of the sunken seararer was, "boys let's go to bed."

THE GREAT JUBILEE.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

The committee on arrangements for the coming Jubilee on Thanksgiving Day, consisting of Col. John D. Whitford, Mr. A. W. Wood, Gen. R. D. Hancock, Mr. Matt. Manly, Capt. H. B. Lane, Mr. Wm. G. Brinson, Mr. Jas. A. Bryan, Mr. T. A. Green and Mr. Henry R. Bryan, met Friday night and decided upon the general character of the demonstration to be made.

It was decided to have a grand procession, something like the Mardi Gras exhibition in New Orleans or the Oriole in Baltimore. A number of flat cars, drawn by locomotives, will be in the procession. The cars will be decorated and have on them representations, political and historical. One car or float, as they are called, will contain the States of the Union, a second the State of North Carolina, a third the City of New Berns, another a Christmas scene and so on.

The procession, consisting of bands of music, horsemen, locomotives, floats, torchlights, transparencies, burlesques, etc., will go down Hancock street to South Front thence to Craven and back through Craven street to the depot. A temporary track will be laid.

The procession, barring the locomotives and cars, will go through the town on a route not yet defined.

The display of fireworks will be the most extensive seen in New Berns for many years. Every house on the line of march will be illuminated. Lights of various colors will be thrown upon the tableaux by the use of chemicals.

From present indications there will be the largest parade of horsemen ever seen in Craven county.

Thanksgiving Day, 1884, will be a grand holiday in New Berns and no doubt one long remembered.

"Let the kettle to the trumpet speak, The trumpet to the cannonoes without, The cannon to heaven—the heaven to earth."

The Night shall rule again.

The Latest News.

GALVESTON, Tex., Nov. 23.—A dispatch to the Times, from San Antonio, says: "Lieut. Eggleston, who was ordered in pursuit of the Apache Indians who have been raiding in Presidio county, last night telegraphed the result of his scouting to Gen. Stanley. He said that a farmer named Petty had been shot three times in the head and his wife had been maltreated and murdered. Three children were also found butchered. The Indians were trailed to where they crossed the Rio Grande into Mexico, and Lieut. Eggleston gave pursuit to the river, as the reciprocal treaty for the crossing of troops has expired. Lieut. Eggleston believes if he could take up the trail on the Mexican side of the river he could overtake the Indians in five days. Gen. Stanley has written to the authorities at Washington, urging the immediate renewal of the reciprocal connection with Mexico."

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—In the Leman-Brand State Senatorial contest, in which there have been allegations of fraud, application was made this morning before Judge Blodgett, of the United States district court, for an attachment to compel the county clerk to go before the federal grand jury with the ballots and poll list. This the court declined to do, but entered an order directing the county clerk to show cause on Monday next why an attachment should not be issued. The county board of canvassers this afternoon decided that it could not go behind the returns and that the vote would have to stand as returned, giving Brand, Democrat, a seat in the Senate and allowing the Democrats a majority in both houses, leaving the Senate itself to decide as to the question of fraud in the returns. Whether the proceedings in the Federal court have any bearing on the case as it stands is not known. The returns will probably go to the State capitol tonight.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Nov. 22.—A telegraphic draft for $1,200 has been received by Gen. Early and Charles W. Button, from the cattle men's association, in session in St. Louis, for the relief of the sufferers from the plague in the counties on the line of Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky, and immediate steps will be taken to distribute it to the best advantage.

It seems to be pretty generally conceded that if Rev. Dr. Burchard had died an infant teething, and if B. F. Jones and Stephen B. Elkins and Tom Donaldson had been born in the wilds of Africa, and if William Walter Phelps and Charles Emory Smith and Whitelaw Reid had been lost on an ocean steamer ten years ago, and if the men who ordered the Gonid dinner had died of apoplexy before they got the invitations out, and if the vote in New York had been 1,100 for Blaine instead of 1,100 for Cleveland, Blaine would have been elected President. But as Blaine now soliloquizes—

Treatment of Cancer.
For twenty years I have suffered from a cancer on the side of my neck near the shoulder, and exhausted the whole catalogue of remedies without any relief. The cancer growing worse all the time, the whole upper part of my body became stiff and full of pain, I had virtually lost the use of both arms, my general health had broken down, and I saw it was only a question of time when life itself would be destroyed. In this condition I commenced the use of Swift's Specific. The first bottle relieved me of the stiffness in the neck, the second gave me perfect use of my arms, and I feel strong and well in every way. I am a poor man but I would not take $5,000 for the good I have experienced with Swift's Specific. I believe it will force out all the poison and cure me.

Sweet Gum and Mullein.
The sweet gum, as gathered from a tree of the same name, growing along the small streams in the Southern States, contains a stimulating expectorant principle that loosens the phlegm producing the early morning cough, and stimulates the child to throw off the false membrane in croup and whooping cough. When combined with the healing mucilaginous principle in the mullein plant of the old fields, presents in TAYLOR'S CHERRY REMEDY OF SWEET GUM AND MULLEIN, the finest known remedy for Coughs, Croup, Whooping Cough and Consumption; and so palatable, any child is pleased to take it. Ask your druggist for it. Send two-cent stamp for Taylor's Biddle Book, which is not only for the amusement of the little ones who will gather around your knee to hear the puzzling questions, but containing information for the health and welfare of every home.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.
STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
Our Holy Religion teaches us to look to our Heavenly Father as the author and giver of all good. Our faith in this religion has led to the sacred custom of setting apart days of Thanksgiving and Prayer. In conformity to this custom, sanctioned by law, I, THOMAS J. JARVIS, Governor of North Carolina, do issue this my proclamation, setting apart

Thursday, Nov. 27th Inst.,
As a Day of Thanksgiving and Prayer,
and do invoke all to observe the day as becomes a God-fearing, christian people. Let it be truly a day of Thanksgiving and Prayer. Let all places of secular business and labor be closed, and the places of public worship opened. Let all who can, attend these places of worship and join in songs of praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for the manifold mercies and blessings vouchsafed to us. From every fire-side and family altar, from grateful hearts everywhere, let our Prayers go to the Throne of Grace for a continuance of these mercies and blessings.

The same Religion which teaches us to give thanks for what we receive, commands us to feed the poor, comfort the widow, and protect the orphan. On this appointed day of giving, let us remember with suitable gifts the wants of the poor and needy, the widow and the orphan. And I do make a special appeal to the generosity of our people, in behalf of the Oxford Orphan Asylum. This noble charity, as best it can, fills the place of mother and father to the orphan children of the State. Let our donations to this charity be equal to the needs of the children, and Heaven will bless them and us.

Done at our City of Raleigh, this eighteenth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four and in the year of American Independence the one hundred and ninth.

By the Governor:
WILLIAM C. BLACKWELL,
Private Secretary.
