LOCAL NEWS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

BRADSTREET'S, TRINITY COLLEGE. W. S. MIDYETT—Just received. D. L. ROBERTS—Notice. Journal Minute Almanac. New Berne, latitude, 35° 6' North, longitude, 77° 3' West. Sun rises, 7:11 | Length of day, Sun sets, 5:04 | 9 hours 53 minutes. Moon rises at 1:16 a. m.

Inferior Court at Kinston next week. Willie Midyett has oranges at the Frog Pond. See "ad."

New Berne Lodge No. 443, Knights of Honor, meets to-night.

Pork is on the look up, but we note no change in the New Berne market.

Freeman Ernul says the farmers in his section will be ready for planting peas next week.

Mr. U. S. Mace has painted the front of his store on the market dock, which adds much to its appearance.

Governor Jarvis' message is a lengthy document. We will endeavor to give it to our readers in piece meals.

The committee on court calendar, have completed their work and we publish the calendar elsewhere to-day.

We are pleased to see our old friend Maj. W. J. Barrett re-elected engraving clerk of the House of Representatives.

The auction sale of the stock of goods at Reel Bros. & Askins' store will be continued to-day, beginning at 11 o'clock.

About three thousand dozen of eggs are shipped from this city every week, and the dealers say the receipts are light as compared with last year.

The revenue cutter Stevens arrived yesterday evening after an absence of about three months at Baltimore. She is said to have been thoroughly overhauled and repaired, but the outside appearance is very much like the same old cutter.

Personal. Rev. Mr. Forbes, of Beaufort was in the city yesterday. He says life is too short to write about the proper way to spell New Berne.

Mr. C. T. Askew, formerly of the firm of W. F. Askew & Son at Raleigh, now traveling salesman for the House of A. G. Elliot & Co., of Philadelphia, gave us a pleasant call yesterday.

Mr. G. W. Moore, of the firm of Moore & Brady, oyster packers, of Baltimore, arrived on Wednesday night.

Evangelical Alliance.

Union service will be held to-night, Friday, in the First Presbyterian Church, Neuse street. The topic for consideration and prayer is:

For the Nations.—For rulers and governments and all in authority; for the prevention of war; that all laws which favor vice and cruelty may be removed; that wicked men and their conspiracies may be confounded, and loyalty and good citizenship prevail; for soldiers and sailors; for the removal of Mormonism, intemperance, and the social evil; and for the suppression of all that is impure in art or literature.

Let all the people attend these meetings and encourage Christian workers by their presence. Seats free and all are welcome.

Trinity College.

We call attention to the advertisement of Trinity College in this issue. This institution has sent out many representative men in the past, and it has recently been put under a management that will give it a fresh boom, and place it among the best in the land. An exchange says:

The Committee of Management of Trinity College—Messrs. Alspaugh, Gray and Carr—not relying so much on one man of great learning and reputation to build up the college, as upon a number of men, each expert in his line, have secured the services of seven to compose the Faculty, as follows: W. T. Gannaway, W. H. Pogram, J. F. Heitman, N. C. English, J. M. Handy, H. H. Williams, and A. W. Long.

Until a President is elected, Prof. Heitman will be Chairman of the Faculty. Prof. English will have charge of the Preparatory Department and Business course. Additional improved apparatus and appliances will be added; and thus rigged and manned, it is hoped the old ship is about to start on her most prosperous voyage.

A Queer and Novel Christmas Present.

Mr. Thomas J. Latham, bookkeeper for Messrs. Rountree & Co., of this city, received a few days ago from a friend in the Old North State a Christmas present in the shape of the stuffed skin of a monster rattlesnake. This huge reptile was killed by young Collins Hunter, son of J. H. Hunter, Esq., on the farm of the latter, near Havelock, in Craven county, N. C. The monster measured 7 feet 8 inches in length, 4 inches in diameter, and had 13 rattles and a button. His snakehood was on exhibition at the Cotton Exchange all the forenoon, and attracted much attention from the members and visitors.—New York Evening News.

MANLY—BUPFORD.

Brilliant Marriage on Franklin Street Last Night.

Richmond Dispatch. At half-past 8 o'clock last night Mr. Clement Manly, of North Carolina, and Miss Emily Townes Buford, daughter of Colonel A. S. Buford, president of the Richmond and Danville Railroad Company, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, northeast corner of Franklin and Adams streets.

The marriage was very impressively performed by Rev. Dr. Minnigerode, of St. Paul's Episcopal church, in the presence of about two hundred relatives and intimate friends of the family. An orchestra of eight pieces (under the direction of Mr. John Reinhardt, concealed in a room just in rear of the main hall, played the Wedding March as the bridal party entered the front parlor, and discoursed in subdued tones the song, "In the Fragrant Summer Time," while the ceremony was being performed.

The bridesmaids and groomsmen were as follows: Miss Sady Manly, sister of the groom, and Mr. Walker Hill; Miss Elise Strother and Mr. Owen H. Guion, of New Berne, N. C.; Miss Delia Claiborne and Mr. William Manly, brother of the groom; Miss Belle White, of Lexington, Va., and Mr. J. H. Hackburn, of New Berne, N. C.; Miss Matty Bolling and Mr. Thomas W. Strange, of Wilmington, N. C.; Miss Lullie Hampton, of South Carolina, and Edmunds Strudwick, of Norfolk; Miss Hattie Ross and Mr. C. S. Bryan, of New Berne, N. C.; Miss Agnes White, of Lexington, Va., and Mr. Blair Bolling; Miss Sue Buford and Mr. Matt. Manly, brother of the groom.

The bride, Miss Emily Buford, by her beautiful traits of character, which are singularly in keeping with her bright intellect and vivacious manners, she has surrounded herself with a host of friends and admirers, many of whom were present last evening to wish her unceasing joys through her married life. She was beautifully attired in a rich Ottoman silk, princess train, with embossed velvet and Duchess lace.

Of the bridesmaids (all of whom wore white), Miss Bolling had on cashmere and diamond ornaments; Miss Belle White, crepeoline and embroidery; Miss Agnes White, crepeoline and lace; Miss Strother, Canton crepe; Miss Manly, plain and brocade silk; Miss Hampton, silk and lace; Miss Ross, white silk; Miss Buford, satin and silk tulle; Miss Claiborne, cashmere and ostrich feathers.

The groom, Mr. Clement Manly, is the son of the late Judge M. E. Manly, a rising young lawyer of New Bern, N. C., graduating at Georgetown College in 1876, he began the study of law soon thereafter with his father, in New Bern. He has made rapid strides in his chosen profession, and now, as the junior partner in the firm of Simmons & Manly, stands as one of the most prominent young lawyers of North Carolina. Within five years after his admission to the bar he has won the confidence of his people, attained a lucrative practice, and by his many superior qualities of head and heart drawn to him a host of admiring friends. He was accompanied by a number of friends and relatives on this occasion; among whom, in addition to those who acted as attendants, were Captain Swift Galloway, from Goldsboro, N. C., F. M. Simmons, his law partner; Basil Manly, of the Atlantic and North Carolina railroad, and brother of the groom; and William R. Devries, of Baltimore.

Following the marriage was a most brilliant reception. From 9 o'clock to half-past 10 the guests to the reception poured in in great numbers. There were at least one thousand persons present. The grand old house was beautifully adapted to the entertainment of a large assemblage, and it was made resplendent with the great number of beautiful women in handsome toilets.

Rev. Moses D. Hoge and Dr. J. L. M. Curry were present, but took no part in the marriage ceremony. Among the guests were Miss Maria Manly, sister of the groom; Governor and Mrs. Jarvis, of North Carolina; Colonel and Mrs. A. B. Andrews, of North Carolina; Col. John N. Staples, of North Carolina; Mrs. Judge Greene, of Danville, Va.; and Colonel John Ross, of Lexington.

The supper-table was elegantly and tastefully arranged, and amply supplied for the great demands of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Manly left the city at 2 o'clock this morning via the Danville route for a southern tour. They will visit New Orleans and return to their home in New Bern within the month.

The Legislature.

Yesterday at noon the legislature assembled. The attendance at the roll call was notably large. Only two senators were absent, Messrs. Johnston, of Rockingham, and White, of Craven. The refitted halls presented a pleasanter picture than of yore and everything was neat and tidy. There was a notable absence of confusion. There is a good leaven of old members. There was much hand-shaking of course, and 50 compliments no end.

Yesterday the senate elected the following officers: E. T. Boykin, president pro tem; Robert M. Furman, principal clerk; Phil. Holland, of New Bern, reading clerk. Yesterday afternoon the following were chosen by the caucus: B. C. Beckwith, engraving clerk; W. V. Clifton, doorkeeper; John Oakes, of Forsyth, assistant doorkeeper.

Yesterday the house chose the following officers: T. M. Holt, speaker; John D. Cameron, principal clerk; Will G. Berkhead, reading clerk; D. R. Julian, doorkeeper. Last evening the caucus chose J. P. Norton, of McDowell county, assistant doorkeeper; W. J. Barrett, of Lenoir, engraving clerk.—News and Observer.

If you are in need of bill, letter or note heads, call at the JOURNAL OFFICE and have them printed neat and cheap.

Special February Term Craven Superior Court.

The following is a list of cases to be tried at the Special February Term of Craven Superior Court, to be held at the court house, in the City of New Bern, by order of the Governor, on Monday, the 2nd day of February, 1885, and continue two weeks, for the trial of civil causes only. No witness will be allowed to prove his attendance before the day on which his case is set on the Calendar. E. W. CARPENTER, Clk Superior Court Craven Co.

Beaufort Items.

Quite a number of Northern gentlemen are in and around Beaufort, ducking.

Dr. Charly Mann and Mr. Ben. Midyett, of Hyde county, have moved with their families to Beaufort.

Dey & Brother are enlarging their fish factory to doubling their capacity for handling fish during the coming season.

Trade is exceedingly dull. The weather has been so unfavorable that scarcely enough fish, oysters and wild duck come to market to supply the local demand.

One of Captain Thomas's schooners, that has been in the rice trade, South, arrived to-day from Charleston. Two other vessels belonging to Mr. Ben. Midyett passed up the sound to-day bound home.

A few days ago, during a heavy wind, a small boat, with two young men, was capsized below Beaufort, and one of the young men, whose name is Nelson, was drowned. He lived with Miss Jennie Bell. His body has not yet been found.

Greenville Items.

Lots of bad weather and what the Yankees call "slush."

Mr. J. L. Smith, grocer, and Mr. W. B. Jarvis' hardware merchant, have moved into the Skinner building.

The McElreth dramatic troupe graced the Greenville boards for several nights during the holidays to large and appreciative audiences.

Rev. Mr. Moore, P. E. of the M. E. Church, an able expounder of the Word, is in attendance upon the Quarterly Conference at this place.

Rom. Hammond, the clever young druggist, has gone on a "raze" to Bell's Ferry to attend the tournament at that place. A pleasant trip to him.

Rev. Mr. Morrill, the young editor of the Standard, called to see us a few days since. He is a live editor and will make a success of the Standard.

The physicians of Pitt county met Jan. 1 in the court house and elected Dr. J. T. Sledge superintendent of health, and re-elected Dr. C. J. O'Hagan secretary. The next meeting will be held in Dr. O'Hagan's office on the 17th.

The Kinston colored band opened on the Greenvilleills early on New Year's morning, arousing the sleeping inhabitants, who imagined that forty Gabriels had concluded to blow at once. They blew their breath all away in one day and night, and left for their homes on the 2d. "Blessed is he that bloweth his own horn."

Two colored divines had a hand to hand fistcuff on Christmas day in front of John S. Congleton's store. The cause of trouble was the dispute over the possession of a sum of money amounting to one dollar. From appearances it required the services of three or four policemen and twenty-five or thirty negroes to allay the trouble and stop the fracas. No arrests as we have heard of.

The Christmas tree at the court house on Christmas night, by the Baptist Sunday-school, was a beauty to behold. Many happy children were made happier on that occasion, and Santa Claus was unanimously voted a hero and a clever fellow. The tree by the Methodist Sunday-school was also very fine, and showed very great taste for the fair hands that it was evident had arranged its bearings. These two denominations are doing much for the rising generation.

SHOULD READ

BRADSTREET'S

A Weekly Journal of Trade, Finance, and Public Economy.

Sixteen Pages every Saturday. Oftentimes Twenty Pages. Sometimes Twenty-four Pages.

FIVE DOLLARS A YEAR.

The foremost purpose of BRADSTREET'S is to be of practical service to business men. Its special trade and industrial reports; its weekly epitome of bankruptcies throughout the United States and Canada, and the summaries of assets and liabilities, are alone worth the subscription price; its synopses of recent legal decisions are exceedingly valuable. As commercial transactions, in the wider sense, are coming to be more and more conducted on a statistical basis, the information contained in BRADSTREET'S is of the first importance both to producers and middlemen.

The trade and agricultural situation throughout the United States and Canada is reported by telegraph to Bradstreet's up to the hour of publication.
