FOR SALE.—Lot of old papers at the JOURNAL OFFICE.

Low tide yesterday.

The steamer Goldboro arrived from Baltimore yesterday morning loaded with goods.

Two cases of disorderly conduct were before the Mayor yesterday, one was discharged, the other fined five dollars and cost.

Messrs. Watson & Street report good work for the Maturity Insurance Co. Go into it yourselves and put the children in also. A good savings bank for all.

We are in receipt of the painful news of the death of Mrs. Belle Hughes, wife of Mr. Theodore J. Hughes, which occurred at Mobile, Ala., on the morning of the 24th instant, of pneumonia.

The fishermen brought in several white shad yesterday. The indications are that the run will be earlier than last year, but the frequent strong westerly winds are against them in the Neuse.

Seth Green, the veteran fish culturist of the United States, to whom the people are largely indebted as a pioneer in one of the valuable economic industries of the country, has concluded to place his practical experience in fish hatching and fish raising, covering over a quarter of a century, at the disposal of all who take an interest therein. With this object in view, he has become the editor of the Fish Culture Department of The American Angler, of New York, and in that capacity will be pleased to respond editorially to all queries germane to the subject of fish culture.

We commence to-day the publication of a few brief articles from the pen of our esteemed friend Professor Bosser, concerning certain evils in our city, which we commend to the attentive consideration of our citizens. Though he treats the subjects facetiously, and "shoots folly as it flies," with the arrows of wit, and uses the effective weapons of irony, sarcasm, and invective against the nuisances he complains of, he also uses forcible arguments and points out remedies. We accord to him the full privileges of a correspondent to express his views, in his own language and style, without adopting them or committing ourselves.

Carnival at the Rink.

The carnival at the skating rink last night was a brilliant success. A large number of persons were in attendance, an unusually large number of whom were ladies. The skating was fine, especially the military drill.

Cotton.

The price of cotton in New Berne market is better now than it has been since 1863 at the same date. Ten and a half cents was the highest price paid yesterday. On the same date last year the highest price paid was ten cents, and on the same day in 1883 nine and five-eighths was the highest. By reference to the files of the Commercial News we find that for the same week in 1839 cotton brought 11.30. We have had two short crops with prices lower than the last full crop, but the prospect now is that the price will be better next fall, and it is time that another full crop was made.

The Special Term.

Judge Shipp writes that he will not be able to reach New Berne before Monday night, consequently no court will be held on Monday. We don't know the Judge's excuse for not being here on Monday morning, but presume it must be a very urgent one or he would not disappoint suitors who have been notified that their cases would be called on Monday. Some of these suitors and their witnesses live a considerable distance from the city; the calendar has been arranged and they have been notified they will in all probability be here unless officially notified that there will be no court until Tuesday.

It is a great annoyance to suitors to have to attend court for two weeks without any definite idea as to when their cases will be called, and to avoid this as much as possible a calendar has been agreed upon by a committee appointed for that purpose, setting aside certain cases to be tried on certain days. The court will probably not be able, every day, to dispose of all cases set for that day, but for the convenience of suitors and witnesses who are compelled to attend, we suggest that all cases not disposed of on the day for which they have been set be placed at the foot of the calendar, so as to disarrange as little as possible the calendar as published by the committee.

For the JOURNAL,
A Cursing Corps—Postoffice—Hotels—Sidewalks.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—Shakespeare says there are "books in the running brooks, sermons in stones, and good in everything;" and so there is undoubtedly, but it is exceedingly difficult to find out the good of some things—rattlesnakes for instance, fleas, etc. But the present age is intensely utilitarian. It strives to make everything useful, and a large volume might be filled with illustrations of our success in that direction. We have probed the earth, and drawn from it kerosene to illuminate and warm up our buildings; the mud with which our grandfathers and great-grandfathers daubed their rude, pioneer buildings, has in many instances we might cite, been examined and found to contain more gold than they ever saw. It is our boast, and we can bring good evidence to substantiate it, that we make every edge cut. But this must be taken with many allowances.

I have lately bestowed much thought on this problem: What is the use of cursing men? I flatter myself I have solved the problem, and I feel like crying out eureka. We have in New Berne an inconveniently large number of men (I did not say gentlemen, for Pope says, "to swear is neither brave, polite, nor wise," but that it is vulgar,)—who are in the habit of using profane language so that "the army in Flanders" would hear them with astonishment, and the hair on the head of a Christian, though not "of the most straight sect," rises like the quills of the fretted porcupine, when he is compelled to listen to them.

On a bright sun-shiny day, a bright little fellow of seven years of age, requested his father to allow him to accompany him down town whether he was going to make purchases for the family. Greatly to the surprise of the mother, the father refused the request, because, as he afterwards told her, he did not wish the child to hear the profanity with which his ears would be shocked.

As muddy water turns the wheels of the mill as well as clear, and helps to grind fine and white flour for food, so vice may be utilized for a good purpose. It is like capturing the devil's battery and turning the guns upon him. I propose that a swearing corps be organized under the superintendence of our chief of police, and that they be paid one dollar a day, and allowed six drinks (not shots) daily of mean whiskey, which can be obtained at almost any of our bar rooms. The corps shall consist of a chief and six associates. The members of the corps shall be selected by competitive examination, and they shall go on duty, "from rosy morn to dewy eve," two daily (Sundays excepted). After being duly drilled and approved,—for the service is too important to entrust to raw recruits—it shall be their duty to parade our principal streets, and denounce with philippic anathemas our postoffice, our hotels, and our sidewalks.

This communication will be too long for your columns at one issue, and I shall therefore ask you to insert the remainder in your next paper.
H. BOSSER.

Greenville Items.

Prof. Ragsdale is sick.

Miss Florence Berry, of New Berne, is visiting friends in town.

Our clever sewing machine agent, J. C. Lanier, has gone off on a wild goose chase down South.

The weather for several days has been very disagreeable, and colds have been the rule almost without exception.

Miss Susan Kinsal has been very ill for several days with pneumonia, but we are glad to learn from Dr. O'Hagan that she is improving.

We would ask our brother itemizers to give us the authority for spelling Christmas with an X as we often see it in the papers "Xmas."

Rev. Mr. Anderson, of the Methodist Church, preached a very able sermon on Sunday from the text, "Give us this day our daily bread."

Those who visit the steamboat wharves at this place and witness the amount of freight discharged from the two steamers, daily will be impressed with the amount of business done in this town.

The young men of Greenville will give a grand ball on the 10th of next month in honor of Gov. Jarvis, who is expected to return to his old home at that time.

We saw a countryman a few days since make the most polite bow of the season to the two young gentlemen who stand at the entrance of Mr. Lang's store, and whose business it is to stand there as silent drummers of the dry goods trade.

Mr. W. B. Jarvis, our clever townman, will leave for Florida on the 27th by the advice of his physician. We regret to part with his genial face, and hope soon to see him return to his family restored to perfect health.

Kinston Items.

Continuous rains here from Friday to a late hour on Sunday night.

The protracted meeting at the Baptist Church continues this week.

We are glad to note that Mr. Jno. C. Wooten's broken arm is doing well.

We regret to learn of the serious illness of two other little children of Mr. W. A. Aldridge.

Capt. Whitehurst, of the schr. —, is spending a few days in town, visiting relatives of his wife see Miss Fannie Hooker.

Kinston College has pupils from the counties of Beaufort, Craven, Greene, Jones, Lenoir and Onslow, and from the States of Virginia and Florida.

Spring term '85 of Kinston College opened with ninety-nine pupils—a larger number for first day than at any previous term—forty-one boys, fifty-eight girls.

Hon. A. H. Chadwick, member of Representatives of General Assembly, with his accomplished daughter, Miss Carrie, spent Saturday and Sunday visiting the family of Rev. Nathan Hooker, of this place.

Two Kinstonians have exhibits at the New Orleans Exposition. Mr. Clem Bailey exhibits his combination baby carriage, bed and chair. Mr. Ed. Langinghouse shows his improved saw mill. The latter is now at New Orleans. In his letters he speaks in glowing terms of the vast exhibition.

Stonewall Items.

Jas. Ormond is the happy possessor of a fine boy, who made his debut into this climate on the 24th inst.

Jno. Lupton, our postmaster, and as good as there is in the department, is quite sick with pneumonia.

Mr. Jas. H. Miller, the clerk of our court, is still breathing with but faint hopes of ever being any better. He has been a long sufferer.

Mr. Irving Bonner and Miss Minnie Ross, of South Creek section, were married on last Thursday. A long life and pleasant trip through the future is the wish for them by your itemizer.

Sadie, 5 years old, the little daughter of Mr. John Robbins, of Vandemere, died on the 20th inst. of malarial fever, Georgia, aged 8 months, the daughter of Rufus H. Baxter, died on the 25th inst., following her mother who preceded her a few days only.

Wm. A. Harvey, accompanied by Mr. Geo. Lukens, was on a short visit to Stonewall. They returned to Aurora on Tuesday, accompanied by Mrs. Lukens and Mr. C. H. Wood, the photographer. The attraction in Aurora for him has not yet lost its magnetism.

Socialists in High Feather.

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—A meeting of Socialists was held this afternoon at 54 West Lake street, at which those who spoke advocated the free use of dynamite and the indiscriminate taking of human life.

A negro woman, wife of the rabid white Socialist, A. R. Parsons, presided. C. S. Griffin, the first speaker, in reply to the argument that the use of dynamite had led to the sacrifice of the innocent in London, said it was necessary for the innocent to suffer in order to accomplish good results. It had been arranged to have the explosion occur in the House of Lords first, in order that the crowd of innocent people in the House of Commons might have time to escape. The result was that two policemen, officers of the Government, were about the only ones injured. The explosion had demonstrated that Socialists could safely go into large congregations in broad daylight and explode their bombs. It meant that the poor people were taking an equal share in the affairs of the world. When the opposition should realize this fact the old idea of equality would prevail. The dynamite explosion in London meant death unless the world were set free.

A little hog's grease and a little nitric acid made a terrible explosive. Ten cents' worth would blow a building to atoms. This statement was received with great applause.

J. P. Dusey said that dynamite could be made out of the dead bodies of capitalists as well as out of hogs. All Chicago could be set ablaze in a minute by electricity. What was the use of the fools in Washington saying they were the masters?

O. A. Bishop said there were 5,000 men in Chicago who knew how to manufacture dynamite in their kitchens for the price of a good dinner. Private property must be abolished, if they had to use all the dynamite there was and blow ninety-nine hundredths of the people off the face of the earth.

Mrs. Parsons said she had often wanted to be a man, but since she had heard that it was a woman who had blown up the Parliament buildings in London she would not swap places with any man in the country.

A. R. Parsons delivered a long and rambling address in which he advocated the use of dynamite in unlimited quantities.

Churchill's Medical Directory puts the number of doctors in Great Britain at the end of 1884 at 21,331, as against 19,947, in 1883. In London the increase has been 19 per cent so that the metropolis now has a doctor to every 800 inhabitants. But England turns out very many more doctors than it retains. In 1883 over 1,500 registered practitioners resided abroad, and in 1884 they numbered over 1,900, an increase of 30 per cent in two years. Although there are now over 35,000 doctors holding British certificates.

CLIPPINGS.

California's first attempts at raising producing were made about nineteen years ago. The following year about 1,500 boxes were made. Ten years ago the crop amounted to about 40,000 boxes, while this year it is estimated at 200,000 boxes.

It has been discovered by the Tronton, N. J., Board of Health that farmers in the surrounding country have been in the habit of adulterating their "fresh roll butter" with oleomargarine and other nauseous stuff, and then selling it to their confiding customers in that city as the pure and genuine article.

A two and a half year old child wandered away from its home at Moccasin Springs, Utah, a few days ago and after travelling several miles through a deep snow and sleeping one night in the mud, it was found, forty-six hours after starting, badly frosted, but in such a condition that by good treatment and nourishment it soon recovered.

A Vermont farmer made a net profit of $43.50 from the produce of a single hen turkey during the past season. This is equal to 100 bushels of wheat in Kansas at 43 cents per bushel, with this difference: It would cost as much to raise and harvest the wheat as it would bring, while the proceeds of the turkey were gain.

The two replicas of the bust of Henry W. Longfellow, taken from the one now standing in the Poet's Corner of Westminster Abbey and presented by the Prince of Wales to Harvard College and the Maine Historical Society of Portland, have arrived in Boston. They are made of marble, and are exact reproductions of the bust in Westminster. The opinion concerning the bust is that as a work of art it is excelled by none other in the Abbey, and is the chef d'œuvre of the sculptor, Thomas Brock, A. R. A.

The Latest News.

LONDON, January 27.—The Times in a leading editorial to-day says: Englishmen reading the speech of Parnell at Milltown yesterday will not discover even a passing allusion to the monstrous and inhuman outrages of Saturday. The speech, the Times says, was confined to the stale denunciations of English landlordism and Dublin Castle. Yet Parnell must have been aware of what was done by other and perhaps rival laborers in the sacred cause of Ireland's independence at Westminster and the Tower. Several of the morning papers find it necessary to publish notices to their readers stating that they have received hundreds of letters regarding the explosions which they have been unable to publish for want of space.

Many of the more characteristic or important letters are published, however, and they occupy several columns in each paper. Most of the letters urge retaliation against all Irishmen and some of the plans proposed for their punishment are as ingenious as they are absurd.

Several Irish workmen complain that they were discharged from employment on Monday morning for no other reason than that they were Irishmen, and that in many mills, foundries, etc., placards are displayed which read "No Irish employed."

Skin Diseases.

I have a little daughter seven years old, who for the last four years has been afflicted with a peculiar skin eruption on the face and one hand. I have tried seven or eight physicians, among them the best in California and in this province, but to no purpose. The child kept growing worse. Fortunately, I saw a statement in a St. Paul, Minn., paper, of a cure of a disease similar to that of my child. It was effected by Swift's Specific. I secured six bottles and commenced giving it to my little girl. In less than one week this terrible disease, which had baffled all the known remedies within reach, began to disappear. She has been taking it three months—is perfectly well, and her skin is as clear as wax.

What a Minister Says.

Extreme weakness and general debility, produced by exposure and overwork attendant upon my duties, were gradually developing into an utter prostration of my system. Adopting the suggestions of intimate friends, who had experienced relief in similar cases by taking Swift's Specific, I now find myself restored to a perfect condition of health and strength. Accept my fervent wishes for your continued prosperity in your well chosen and successful method for relieving those who suffer.

DIED.

On Monday, January 26th, 1885, at her home at Johnson's Mills, Pitt county, Mrs. Caroline Wooten, wife of W. S. Wooten, in the 84th year of her age.

The name of Lina Gardner is fresh in the memory of many dear friends in New Berne, where she was born and reared, and where all her gentle life was spent up to the time of her marriage. Lovely in person, amiable in character and attractive in her manners, she has passed from earth's burdens and entered into rest almost in the early summer of her womanhood. Her closing hours were filled with Christian triumph, and her loved ones will mourn for her with a humble faith of meeting her in the beautiful world.
