February.

County Commissioners meet to-morrow.

Sheriff Hahn returned from Cincinnati yesterday with a cargo of mules.

The Singer Manufacturing Co. of this city wants twelve good men to sell Machines. See "ad."

We have "Bosses" conclusion of the Marshal's address to the swearing corps which will appear in our next issue.

The Mechanics Hook and Ladder Co. received per express yesterday two handsome silver nickel speaking trumpets.

Four marriage licenses issued by the Register of Deeds during the last week, two to whites and two to colored couples.

Beaufort has, as will be seen in "Coaster's" communication, organized a Chamber of Commerce, an organization essential to the prosperity of every live town.

An old New Bernian, Mr. E. P. Lorch, objects to our manufacturers' making such everlasting boots. But the manufacturer to whom he refers don't know how to make any other but a good Boot.

The regular Quarterly Meeting of The Ladies' Memorial Association will be held at the residence of Mrs. Daves, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon of Tuesday, the 3rd day of February. It is earnestly requested that all the members will be present.

We see Mr. Pearvall has introduced a bill in the House of Representatives to allow the City of New Berne to issue bonds for the purpose of city improvements. We would like to have a copy of the bill to publish for the benefit of our city readers. As soon as we can procure it we will let them have it.

Messrs. Moore & Brady are ready to make contracts with farmers for peas to pack this spring. Would it not pay our truckers to plant a portion of their lands with a view to making heavy yields at a certain price as well as planting for early shipping? If it can be done at profitable prices, we would like to see the canning factory in operation long after the oyster season is over.

"Fair Play" makes some capital suggestions to our young men. We often wonder why those who are the first to get out of church (if, indeed, they go in) should form a line in front of the door and inspect the remainder of the crowd as they pass out. He charitably attributes the practice to thoughtlessness on the part of the young men who indulge in it. If he is right in this they need only be reminded that it is impolite and unbecoming gentlemen.

Personal.

Representative I. B. Watson, of Hyde county, was in the city and left on the Edin City last night for his home, on leave of absence.

Short Crops.

There is no longer any doubt that the cotton crop in this section was out short at least one-third last year. Col. Jno. N. Whitford, one of the best farmers in this section, tells us that he made last year only twenty-one bales on the same plot of ground that made forty-seven bales two years ago. He also says the land was better manured last year than it was two years ago.

Road Supervisors.

The supervisors of the public roads of each township are required by law to meet next Saturday, the 7th day of February for the purpose of appointing overseers for all the roads in their respective townships and to assign hands for working the same. The JOURNAL office has on hand a supply of blanks for the appointment of overseers, also for overseers' reports, which will be furnished the supervisors on reasonable terms.

A Hint to Manufacturers.

117 Chambers St., New York, }
January 28th, 1885. }

EDITOR NEW BERNE JOURNAL.—In a recent issue of your spicy and interesting JOURNAL I note an advertisement from one of your well-known manufacturers of "walking fasts," who has made a great mistake and should "burn, burn, burn this letter." This letter is signed by a former resident of New Berne like myself, who has not forgotten the good things to be found in old North Carolina. But looking at it from a business standpoint, it tells a most distressing story, and the more we investigate the worse it shows. Here is one of your worthy manufacturers roused into activity by receiving a duplicate order after a lapse of twelve years, and his "soul" stirred to its depths by this call on the "last." But oh! fearful to contemplate this first transaction (it could not have been the second for that would bring us to antebellum days), here we have a manufacturer who does his work "sew" well, that putting his capacity at two pair of such boots a week, or one hundred pairs in a year, and giving him even 500 such customers, yet it will only give him continuous employment for five years, and at the end of that time he will be obliged to take a rest for seven years, until his first customer needs a new pair. It is terrible to think of the folly of putting such good material and workmanship into an article that results in a positive injury to one's self. No wonder we hear complaints of dull times, of industries languishing, and men being driven to "keep sto." Ah! we managed things a little better in my time. I recollect well how one beautiful spring day I sold a "gemman" a pair of All Buff Balt. at a reasonable figure—$1.10. I think, was the price—and how in his proud and colored manhood he stepped out to take the town; I do not mean to say that he intended to paint it a livid hue, but simply with a proud consciousness of self-satisfaction, to show himself and see others; but unfortunately it was not much of a day for those kind of shoes. It soon began to rain, and they were made for a dry climate. Needless to say the "gemman" on his return had only the uppers securely tied around his ankles, the soles having softened and spread themselves all over the sidewalk.

"I saw him but a moment,
Methinks I see him now,
With a wreath of ivy blossoms
Around his heavenly brow."

Ah! those were good times; and such incidents stimulated trade and made it lively, not only to the seller but also to the sold.

Now don't you do it—don't make your goods so perfect that the average man won't need more than three or four pair in his lifetime; it is wrong and contrary to our ideas of finance, for I presume the transaction was regular, that is, pay for the last order when leaving a new one.

I am also glad I was not aware of the fact on the night of the ball, for I would certainly have requested the floor committee or the society for the prevention of cruelty to shoemakers to interfere.

Trusting my remarks will have some effect with your manufacturers, as I still have the interest of the good Old North State at heart, having been a citizen of it for fifteen years, with the pleasant recollections of younger days and old friends without number among your best men, to whom as to yourself,

My regards,
E. P. LORCH.

BEAUFORT HARBOR IMPROVEMENT AND ENTERPRISE.

Organizing a Chamber of Commerce.

EDITOR JOURNAL.—The business men of the town of Beaufort, alive to the necessities for and benefits of improved transportation facilities, have organized a chamber of commerce, and are taking the earnest, active steps requisite to the promotion of increased business, the improvement of their harbor and tributary water ways, and a general extension of their trade throughout the tide-water section of North Carolina.

For a number of years the importance of Beaufort Harbor has been diminishing in the public mind, and for a great while little attention has been bestowed upon the great natural facilities of our chief tide-water outlet to the sea. Some effort has been made by the general government to prevent the further destruction of the Fort Macon and Shackelford Banks, and consequent injury to the bar, but no system of general improvement of the inner harbor has yet been undertaken, while the necessity for such work daily becomes more apparent.

The business element of the town of Beaufort, recognizing this condition of things, has determined upon practical and vigorous action in its own behalf. To this end a business organization has been effected to include in its membership the active and substantial people of the place, and the work of raising a fund for harbor improvement, by subscription among themselves, has begun.

The necessity for such harbor improvements will be pointed out, their feasibility demonstrated, and then the general government will be asked to aid the efforts of a people who thus propose to help themselves.

Beaufort Harbor is the natural center of the traffic of tide-water North Carolina, from Cape Hatteras to the Cape Fear, and it should be the outlet to the sea for all the sounds and tributary waters of the State between the Albemarle and the Cape Fear regions. It should long ago have been given deep-water communication with the Pamlico, either through Core Sound, or by the New Berne and Beaufort Canal connection. The inside passage should have been opened up to good draught through Bogue Sound into White Oak and New Rivers, and beyond.

Beaufort Harbor should have also been made in fact as well as in name the terminus of the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad, which, could have been so managed as to give to the City of New Berne all the practical advantages of an immediate on-lying seaport town. The traffic which might have been built up and maintained between New Berne and Beaufort Harbor, and the incidental development of the intervening sections of country, would have long ago made the Eastern Division the most valuable portion of the railroad.

The projects now on foot for improving the waterways generally of this section of the State have inspired a new hope in our people, and an impetus is being given to our inland navigation never before felt here. A steam line has been established from Beaufort to Norfolk; preparations are being made for a permanent steamboat through Bogue Sound to White Oak and New Rivers, and we are eagerly looking forward to the opening of the New Berne and Beaufort Canal route as affording us direct steamboat connection with New Berne and all lower Neuse River points.

Increasing development and growing industries are already noted as the results of the new transportation efforts recently made, and we have only to continue and make them permanently successful to insure to our section the fullest measure of prosperity.

To foster and encourage improvement and development and the promotion of trade and industries by united effort and intelligent direction is the peculiar province of the Beaufort Chamber of Commerce, and the names and character of its organizers give a sufficient earnest of its purpose: B. L. Jones, President; Wm. Sabiston, W. S. Chndwick, Jas. C. Davis, Benj. J. Bell, Mark Mason, C. W. Bell, W. F. Dill, B. J. Midyett, Thos. Thomas, R. B. Cox, F. B. Mace, W. F. Howland, N. M. Jurney, Thos. Duncan, J. Henry Davis, John Forliaw, L. A. Potter, N. W. Taylor, together with a membership embracing the business and industrial interests of the place.

Young Men, Don't!

It is not an unusual thing to notice a crowd of young men standing in front of our churches, just before the services begin, and a still greater number, after the congregation is coming out from the building.

What these young men want, or what they expect to gain by standing there, gazing at the people who have been worshipping God, has never been discovered as yet, even by those who have made social problems a study.

That it is excessively vulgar and impolite no one will deny. Surely all of these young men do not do this through ignorance for it is not uncommon to see the sons of the elite of the city among the number.

We will charitably conclude that it is thoughtlessness on their part. Young men must remember that people judge a man by the company he keeps, and also the places he frequents.

If a young man is very anxious to see Miss A. or Miss B. it would certainly be more becoming in him to call at her home, rather than to stand in front of a church, and stare at her as she is coming down the steps. No gentleman will take such an advantage of a lady as to watch her as she comes down a flight of steps. Not only that, but it is not polite to stare rudely at a lady anywhere—in fact, it is cowardly to do so; for ladies are not supposed to have the spirit and courage and muscle to inflict the punishment due this species of outrage, viz: to step up and give the gazer a genteel "whaling" on the spot.

No doubt many a lady has been kept at home on Sunday because she knew that she would be insulted by the crowd of young men who gather round the church doors "to see who is there."

Then the "corner loafer." Of all the mean things in a city, the meanest is the "corner loafer." He seems to have no occupation, nothing to engage what few soft brains he has, so he takes the contract of holding up the lamp posts at the corners of the principal streets; and in order to amuse himself, he has to stare into every lady's face, as she passes, and pass comments upon her appearance, etc., with his boon companions. The hangers-on at the church, and the street loafers are a public nuisance, and the city council should instruct the police to "run in" all who engage in these things. Young men who have nothing to do, and no where to stay except around our churches, on Sunday, and hanging round the corners, the remainder of the week, ought to be furnished a home and employment by the city.

Kinston Items.

Miss Emma Blount of Kenansville is visiting at Mr. W. C. Moore's.

Miss Annie Rosenthal left for her home in Raleigh on Thursday.

Miss Sue Phillips has returned from a visit to friends in Duplin county.

Another blizzard, on Wednesday, chilled the marrow of warm-blooded animals.

Miss Sallie Hooks of Goldsboro is spending some time with Miss Mattie H. Rountree, near Kinston.

Mrs. G. E. Miller and Miss Julia White of our town are visiting Mrs. Walter Harding of your city.

Mr. Wiley T. Rouse has a neat new residence, nearly completed, on the northern extension of Queen street.

We are glad to notice that the steamers Neuse and Kinston are now making regular trips from New Berne to Kinston.

There will be another American voter, if he lives twenty-one years longer. He arrived in Kinston on Wednesday night the 28th inst. We congratulate our grocer friend.

In a recent antarctic exploring expedition, it was noticed that those members of the party who used wooden toothpicks suffered much less from cold than those who used goose quills.

We do not consider it, at all, as a mark of ignorance not to know how many counties there are in North Carolina. Our legislators, who make new counties every two years, would, no doubt, be unable to answer the question. In fact, counties are made so fast that the geographers cannot keep up with the count.

La Grange Items.

Dull times. News scarce.

Mrs. B. F. Nunn, of Kinston, paid a visit to our town Friday.

Rom. Johnson, of the Messenger, was in our town one day last week.

It is a pleasure for us to do the Free Press's bidding. So we whistle.

Our townsman, D. M. Stanton, Esq., has bought of Capt. W. S. Byrd the farm formerly owned by Jesse Brown, about 1 1/2 miles from our place.

Many, many of those travellers called drummers, visit our place. La Grange is the second town in Lenoir, in importance and business, and deserves on account of this, if nothing more, to be made the county site of some county.

Mrs. Scarborough, wife of B. F. Scarborough, died at her husband's residence in Falling Creek township on the 29th inst. The burial took place at the cemetery in La Grange Friday evening. Rev. George Joyner conducted the burial service.

Firemen's Notice.

On and after 8 o'clock, p. m., of the 2nd day of February, both steamers will proceed to the fire immediately on the alarm being given.

The Atlantic Engine will begin the work of extinguishing the fire as soon as possible. The New Bern Engine will wait for orders before going to work.

This arrangement to hold good for the month of February, unless countermanded, of which proper notice will be given.

WM. ELLIS, Chief.

J. W. SMALLWOOD, Sec'y.

It is important that you at once send in your nominations for justices of the peace for your county, so that the committee may elect good men for your county.

Write the names of townships and the parties you nominate plainly (in full), so that "I" cannot be taken for "J," or "J" for "I." Send your nominations, officially signed, to the undersigned at Raleigh, N. C., at once.

Respectfully,
E. J. HILL,
Chairman Senate Branch of Committee.

R. P. WARING,
Chairman House Branch of Committee.

Obituary.

The Rev. Harvey Stanley, for the past 33 years rector of Holy Trinity parish, Glendale, Prince George's county, Md., died yesterday morning a quarter past 9 o'clock at the rectory, in the 76th year of his age. He had been sick since the week before Christmas of a complication of diseases. Mr. Stanley was a native of North Carolina, and a cousin of Hon. Edward Stanly, member of Congress, and military governor of North Carolina during the war. He was educated for the bar, and as a law partner of his cousin Edward practiced for a number of years, part of the time in Vicksburg, Miss. He subsequently studied for the ministry, and after some years spent in missionary labor became rector of Holy Trinity parish, where his genial disposition and effective work so endeared him to the people of the parish that they would never consent to his going from them. He leaves a widow and six children. His three sons are Chas. H. Stanley, attorney at law, ex-member of the Legislature from Prince George's county; William Stanley, attorney at law, Upper Marlboro'; and James G. Stanley, of the firm of the Boykin, Carmer & Co., of this city.—Baltimore Sun.
