The steamer Trent arrived yesterday from Trenton with 24 bales cotton and other freight.

Capt. Darling and his party returned yesterday from up Trent, where he has been engaged in surveying for some days past.

That the editor of the JOURNAL had gotten the Custom House was one of the sells on the streets, which took a fair run, until it occurred to those sold that the office now occupied by this paper, was formerly occupied by the collector of customs and of course known as the Custom House.

Collision.

The steamer Goldboro, Friday night, towed up the schooner Verena, Capt. Sam'l Spencer, which was in a damaged condition from having collided with the steamer Shenandoah at a point near Smiths creek, about 30 miles below the city. We could learn but little of the circumstances attending the accident, nor the extent of damage to the steamer, if any.

The Verena was loaded with corn and other produce from Hyde county.

The Burglary Case.

John Smith and Ed Tilling, the boys arrested for breaking into the establishment of R. N. Duffy, druggist, were arraigned before Justice Brinson yesterday on the charge of burglary and committed for a hearing at the Superior Court. Smith was captured in the act, and Tilling later in the night by Marshal Hargett and Officer Bowden. The boys are well known to the police force and of bad character.

Watch Out For Them.

In view of the boldness of the juvenile colored thieves and burglars, who seem to be unusually numerous and active on our streets, it will be well for housekeepers, storekeepers and others to be on the look out for these visitors. They go around in many disguises, sometimes as beggars, vendors of various trifling articles, and as pretended customers, to buy, when the real object of their visits is to reconnoitre the premises visited, with a purpose to call at a more convenient season to ply their vocation. What we say unto one we say unto all, watch!

Important to Truckers.

Large shipments of fish are arriving in this city daily over the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad, and offered for sale eighteen hours after they are taken from the waters of Eastern North Carolina.—Philadelphia Record.

The above is an important piece of information to the truckers of this section. The time between New Berne and New York, by the line of the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad, has been shortened one whole day. Truck which leaves here on Tuesday afternoon, for example, will be on the New York market for sale on Thursday morning; heretofore it was Friday morning.

The Zephyr Boat and Pleasure Club.
A number of young gents have associated themselves under the above name for the purpose of social amusement and wholesome exercise.

In furtherance of the purposes of the club they will have a festival at Stanly Hall on Tuesday night. We commend them to the liberality of our citizens generally and heartily endorse the movement.

The young must have amusement and if not obtainable under moral influences will most certainly be sought, and almost certainly be found under immoral ones. Bowling clubs, gymnastics and such are much to be desired for the moral as well as the physical development of the rising generation.

Take Sine's Syrup of Tar for coughs and colds. Only 25c. For sale by H. H. DAVIS.

Trip to Pollokville.

A JOURNAL reporter being invited to take a ride to Pollokville on Saturday with Clement Manly, Esq., who was going thither on professional business, accepted the invitation, with the distinct understanding with the Esq. that he would be returned by 4 p. m. Leaving the city about 10 a. m., we arrived at the village at about 1 p. m. The reporter knew there was no use talking about getting back to New Berne by 4 o'clock, so he seated himself at Barrus' store, after walking through the village and noting the improvements, and waited the arrival of the Saturday evening crowd while Mr. Manly went about his professional business. Pretty soon they began to come in, H. C. Foscue and J. C. Bryan being the first to arrive. Next came in J. N. Foscue, J. C. Parker, Abner Dawson, G. A. Barrow, A. F. Duvall, J. F. White, Esq., and others.

Now, thought the reporter, is the time to learn their views on sheep breeding. Knowing that Mr. Bryan owned a very large scope of open high lands with but few ditches on it, he thought here is the man to give us a splendid report.

"Mr. Bryan, I want to get your views on sheep raising."

"I never owned a sheep in my life."

"Don't you think the business would pay if it had the proper attention?"

"Oh, yes."

"Then why don't you have them?"

"Because I don't want to give them the attention."

H. C. Foscue—"Ask Kit about fishing and he can tell you all about it."

Reporter—"Well, Mr. Foscue, what do you think of sheep breeding in this section, as a business?"

"I have a few sheep; my father always kept a small flock. I have introduced into my little flock the Cotswold, and I like it very much. But I don't think it will pay to undertake to raise stock of any kind without giving it proper attention. The Legislature ought to make it indictable for a man to own stock and not care for them properly. It is certainly cruel, and ought to be regarded as a misdemeanor."

"Mr. Dawson (Abner), give us your opinion of sheep?"

"I don't want them."

"Why?"

"Because I have got no use for them; don't like to bother with them."

"Don't you think sheep raising would pay as a business?"

"Yes, but I don't want to engage in it."

Henry C. Foscue: "I would obligate to try it as a business if some good man would locate in the neighborhood who knows how and would learn us how."

J. N. Foscue: "Now Henry, you know it will take a man with more 'git up and git' than you have got to go into that business."

Reporter: "Well, Mr. Foscue, (J. N.) what do you think of the business?"

"It is the very thing I want to get at, but I haven't got plantation enough to make cotton and take care of sheep too."

Henry C. Foscue: "Ceph can give you plenty of theory, but very little of the practical."

Thus the conversation run until the professional gentleman had concluded his business, and, after a little hand-shaking, he and the reporter left, making better time on the home-stretch than they did in going.

In all our conversations with farmers on sheep husbandry, we have yet to find one who says it don't pay if properly attended to. When asked why they do not engage in it, some say they haven't the capital to begin with, others say they don't like the business, while some few frankly acknowledge that they don't know how to make it pay."

Personal.

Samuel R. Street, jr., and lady left yesterday morning for Danville, Va.

Joel Kinsey, Esq., was in town yesterday. He brought down a fat ox, which he sold for $40. Mr. Kinsey demonstrates that cotton and beef can be grown on the same farm and sold in the same market, a fact worthy of note by our farmers in this section.

Owen H. Guion, Esq., returned Friday night from a trip to Warrenton, where he went as counsel for Arendal Nelson, colored, on a writ of habeas corpus from Judge Graves. Nelson was released on bail.

S. R. Street and E. M. Pavie have returned from the inaugural, and pronounce it a grand success in each and every particular.

Mrs. Dr. N. H. Street, of Pollokville, and Mrs. W. C. Monroe, of Goldsboro, are in the city on a visit to Miss Mary Eliza Scott.

A. E. Woodruff, Esq., and wife, of Railway, N. J., are in the city visiting friends and attending to business.

Stockholders, Directors, Etc.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—About the interference of the Governor of the State with the management of a corporation, in which the State is merely a stockholder, you are entirely correct.

There are several very large stockholders in the Atlantic road. Lenoir and Craven counties are large stockholders, in public importance of equal dignity with the State, but we do not hear that any of these are casting about for some new disposition to make of the road to the detriment of the development of a successful business policy of the road, and of its business and business relations with the people, and connecting lines.

The Atlantic road has not always been the best managed it is true, nor is the present management so good that it could not be improved, but a board of directors is not a continuing body, and the present management is only on trial for four months longer. The Governor, as President of the Board of Internal Improvement, and his associates of the Board, can exercise their powers of inquiry, investigation and discrimination in the selection of eight directors to manage the State's interest for one year from the last Thursday in June next. And if the Board of Internal Improvement will select from the stockholders eight of the best men for railroad directors among them, and leave them, with the four on the part of the county and individual directors, perfectly free to choose the President and all officers of the road, there are solvent people in this section who would give bond that the Atlantic railroad will be satisfactorily and successfully managed; and be no longer "a bone of contention."

Every Governor complains of the great trouble the Atlantic Road gives him. But the trouble is not with the road; the trouble is with the Governor. He goes intermeddling with something he knows little about, has less business with, and the inevitable result is, he gets into trouble, and he deserves all the annoyance he makes for himself. Every usurper makes trouble and gets into trouble, for usurpation is violence and lawlessness, and trouble is their legitimate offspring. A Governor who usurps power and disregards law may not expect to pillow his head upon the down of peace and contentment.

Let the railroad alone. Leave its board of directors to manage it. If a bad board is in, turn it out at the annual meeting, and put a good board in. Let it be a board of business men and not mere politicians or the personal favorites of the Governor ex-officio President of the Board of Internal Improvements. And let it be understood that a good board once in will stay in. This would give permanency to any good business policy and enable the road to effect and maintain advantageous connections.

We trust the Governor will wisely conclude to let the Atlantic Road severely alone until the time for convening the Internal Improvement Board for the appointment of a proxy and eight directors on the part of the State.

Scrofula.

Are any members of your family thus afflicted? Have they scrofulous swellings of the glands? Have they any scrofulous sores or ulcers? If so, and it should be neglected, the peculiar taint, or poison, may deposit itself in the substance of the lungs, producing CONSUMPTION. Look well to the condition of your family, and if thus afflicted give the proper remedy without delay. Buy that which makes absolute cures in the shortest space of time. The unerring finger of public opinion points to B. B. B. as the most wonderful remedy for scrofula ever known. You need not take our word—you need not know our names—merit is all you seek. Ask your neighbors, ask your druggist, ask or write to those who give their certificates and be convinced that B. B. B. is the quickest and most perfect Blood Purifier ever before known.

JOY ON THE EXCHANGES.

Happy Democrats Invade the Sacred Precincts of the Republican Custom House.

Any immigrant arriving at Castle Garden yesterday and strolling up Broadway and down Wall street would have known that this was a gala day of the American nation. Flags were displayed on all the public buildings, the exchanges, and on many private buildings. Everybody—at least everybody that didn't hold an office—had a smile on his face, and many Democrats wore bouquets on the lapels of their coats, surrounded by miniature portraits of Cleveland and Hendricks.

At the Stock Exchange, exactly at noon, Admiral Dan Worden mounted the rostrum and said:

"GENTLEMEN, Grover Cleveland is now President of the United States. Three cheers for the new President."

These were given with a will and were followed by three more. Then the brothers trumped up and down the Board-room, shouting "Grover-Grover-Cleveland!" Then one broker asked:

"Who is Grover Cleveland?" And the answer came from several hundred throats in unison:

"First in war,

First in peace,

First in the hearts of his countrymen!"

This continued for about ten minutes and then business was resumed.

At the Produce Exchange a brand-new steamer was hoisted to the top of the flagpole in honor of the event of the day, and at 12 o'clock the members gave three cheers for "President Cleveland."

At the Cotton Exchange the flag was raised exactly at noon. At that hour Mr. R. C. Allan got hold of the big gong which is used to sound the hour of 3, when business must cease, and began raising a terrible noise on it. Supt. Powers, surprised, was about to order the thing stopped, when several brokers shouted out:

"Why, don't you know that Cleveland is President?" Then the enthusiasm knew no bounds. They are pretty much all Democrats, the cotton men, and they felt in good trim for cheering and shouting over the accession of their party to power.

At the Custom House an extraordinary scene took place. All day long brokers and others having daily business at the Custom House went solemnly from clerk to clerk and, insisting on shaking hands, said:

"Well, good-by, old fellow."

The clerks took the quizzing in good part. Several of the officials received from their Democratic friends a square box containing crow. Among those who received this suggestive bird were Deputy Collector Stanwood, a nephew of James G. Blaine, Andrew Green of the Naval Office, and Deputy Collectors Bartram and Wyncoop. Two or three hundred brokers and business men gathered in the rotunda in the afternoon and shouted for Cleveland and fired off large fire-crackers in honor of his inauguration. They sang "America," "Yankee Doodle" and "Climbin' Up the Golden Stairs," and generally made a noise such as has not been heard in the building for many years. Collector Robertson appeared on the scene, but he said in his quaint, homely way:

"Keep right on, boys; have a good time, but for my sake don't hurt the building."

Then he retired, the crowd cheering him as he left.

Mr. W. T. Woodruff, the Custom-House broker who served as marshal in the Cleveland parade last fall, made a brief speech from the gallery. The justification was kept up till a late hour, many of the clerks participating.

An official at the Sub-Treasury said: "I see it stated that Arthur and Cleveland first met at the Folger funeral. This is incorrect. They first met in this building on the centennial anniversary of Evacuation Day, when the Washington statue was unveiled. In the evening they both attended the Chamber of Commerce dinner."

Many of the patriotic Democrats of Brooklyn decorated their residences and business establishments with bunting yesterday. Flags floated in the breeze from the city hall and other public buildings.—N. Y. World.

A Note of Warning to Suffering Humanity.

We feel that we would be wanting in the duty we owe to suffering humanity if we did not sound a note of warning in regard to the use of Mercury and other poisonous minerals in the treatment of Blood and Skin Diseases. If the reader could see the horrible suffering, the awful wrecks of human health and happiness, shown by our correspondence with those who have been dosed with these mineral poisons, he would shudder with horror. Arsenic, Mercury, Antimony, and Iodide of Potassium are some of the remedies most ordinarily used for these diseases, and these are all POISON. Do not take these poisons. They might dry up your disease for a few days, and with it you will have Mercurial Rheumatism, which may bring you years of torture. The Mercury seems to sink into the bones, and the Potash drives the Poison into the system, only to lurk there and attack the tender organs of the body, as the lungs, the throat, the nasal organs and stomach. Hundreds of people have been made deaf, and a great many blind, by the use of Mercury and Potash. Beware of Mercury and Potash Mixtures gotten up in imitation of our Specific. A few grains of sugar of lead dropped into a glass of these imitations will cause the poisonous drugs to fall to the bottom, and show the danger of using them. Swift's Specific is entirely vegetable, and is the best tonic for delicate ladies and children and old people in the world.

Treatise on Blood and Skin Diseases mailed free.
