A HIGHER SENSE OF RIGHT.

The stock law bill for New Hanover county was tabled in the House. The Wilmington Star says has presented a finer array of done, and that "Legislators ought dence that the selection is due to to be governed by a higher sense of right." Most assuredly they ought. flicting claims by political mana-We have not seen the bill here spoken of, but from what we can glean from the Star it was a proposition to submit the question of a stock law to the "fence builders" of New Hanover. We can not see why the House should deny the right of the farmers of this county to decide this matter, of so much importance to them, when it has made a stock law for many power for the common welfare, other counties without submitting it to a vote of the people. The Star further says:

The House ought to be above perpetrating a wrong upon an intelligent body of taxpayers as are the farmers of upon the people of Craven county, in the face of their earnest protest, in placing them in a judicial district which will subject them to all the inconvenience possible in matters of litigation. But against this the Star said not a word. We did not expect any complaint from local papers who were satisfied with the districts made for their counties, but from State papers, papers that circulate in every section of the State, such as the Star, News and Observer and Messenger, we did expect a word of condemnation of this judicial district bill. The press of the State ought to be governed by a higher sense of right than to advocate or silently acquiesce in such outrageous legislation as was perpetrated on Craven county in this matter.

THE CABINET.

The Journal of Commerce gives the following brief sketch of President CLEVELAND'S Cabinet:

There is not one of them against whom there is a word of scandal, and they are all men of ability as well as undoubted integrity. Mr. Bayard, born at Wilmington, Del., October 29 1829, is in the full matarity of his powers, and one of the first statesmen in this country. Mr. Manning was born at Albany August 16, 1831, and is well known as a very successful banker. No Secretary of the Treasury has been ham, Winston and Scott, but was lost. Mr. Hill moved to amend section 47, which provides for a marriage license tax of $1, so that it shall only apply to parties over the subject to take full charge of the subject to take full charge of the finances of the country. He is the finances of the country. He is the finances of the country. He is the subject to take full entance. the finances of the country. He is also entirely free from all entangling alliances with corrupt rings and cliques, which have heretofore contributed so largely to the policy of the Treasury Department. Mr. Endicott was born at Salem in 1827, is a graduate of Harvard, and al-though less known through the in-terior than some other sons of Massechusetts, is superior to most of them, both in character and ability.
