Everything lively this week, on ac-count of good weather. Most of the farmers around are ready to plant corn, and we are glad to see them lively. Gardening is the chief occupation this week in our little berg.

Capt. Joe Moore, of the schooner Minnie Ward, came home a few days ago. He left his vessel in New river waiting for his load to Wilmington, N. C. Joe has not been home in two months before now.

Capt. W. W. Dennis has taken charge of the large wood and lumber boat belonging to Mr. Terry, the saw-mill man, and we think Capt. Bill has the best job for making money of any of our sea captains around.

The schooner Francis E. Jones arrived here Friday from Wilmington and New river. The Francis is waiting for a load, and Capt. Harden says he don't care much if the load is not ready under a week, as he wants to rest a little. He has not been home in two months.

Heard a good sermon by Rev. T. J. Leary last Sunday from Hebrews, ch. 4, v. 9—"there remaineth, therefore, a rest for the people of God." The Trenton High School is still improving. I learn that the number of students are increasing. The Principal is certainly deserving success for his efforts to build up a good school at our county seat. The citizens of the whole county, and most especially Trenton township, ought to second his efforts by every means in their power to make his school a permanent success. This can be done if each one of us will use a little effort in this direction.

I have been informed that a certain hale and hearty young man of our county has been imposing on some of our ignorant citizens, selling them what he terms luck hands. These charms he sells and tells them that they must carry them on their person. For fifty cents he will give them luck for six months; one dollar will carry them safely during the whole year. Sickness can't attack you, neither can enemies injure you, but prosperity and happiness will attend you through the whole time specified. Now this looks to me like running rascality into the ground and breaking it off. I see that the Legislature has a bill before it to prohibit fortune telling, and among other counties Jones was excused from the operations of its provisions. Now I can't see what injury to a good man such a law in our county would be. Let Jones be added and make it fine and imprisonment for any man who practices fortune telling or peddling these ridiculous luck charms. Just such characters don't deserve any sympathy and ought not to have it.

except as mentioned, we don't have, I consider that I can raise my crop with and don't know how it would sell here. One or two parties, one in particular, has some of the latter we know of, and we understand he says he wishes meat and corn would go up in price so he could sell a shoulder, but we would like to see it go down lower in price, so we buy one if we wanted to. Our school is progressing very nicely

now. Mr. Mallett is certainly the best school organizer, if not the best teacher, we have had here for many years. Friday afternoon was his 'semi-monthly examination of scholars, and to see the school room so tastefully arranged with flowers and evergreens, showed that he knew his business well. Some talk of a free school among some of the people here last week, but it all passed off quietly and our county commissioners put an end to the dispute by ordering no free schools taught until the first Monday in August next. A good plan, we think. On Saturday Mr. Mallette carried his scholars to the banks on a picnic party. Every two or three weeks there is something new for the children going to his school. Parents, if you want to send your children to a good school, send them here to Harry Mallett.
