FOR SALE.—Lot of old papers at the JOURNAL office.

The canning establishment was in full blast yesterday.

The city is full of strangers, drummers, insurance adjusters, etc.

The sidewalk in front of Dail Bros. store has been laid with coarse ground oyster shell.

The Shenandoah made the usual trip yesterday, taking out a good cargo of mixed freights.

Drs. C. & F. Duffy have taken an office on Middle street, second door above Detrick's.

Mr. J. L. Rhem has planted two hundred and seventy-five acres in garden peas. This is the biggest pea patch we have heard of.

The city authorities are pushing the work of shelling the streets. They are now treating Pollock with a covering; this done they will take up Broad, and then the four main thoroughfares, Craven, Middle, Pollock and Broad, of our city will compare favorably with any city.

A beautiful Easter card was shown yesterday, with a poem, "Truth's Easter Cross," by Mrs. Mary Bayard Clarke, printed on one side. They were sent to Miss Bayard Morgan from Raleigh to be sold for the benefit of the "Child's Cot" at St. John's hospital, Raleigh. The cards have been placed at Mrs. Susan Stanley's for sale. We will publish the poem on Easter Sunday morning.

Mr. T. A. Henry, collector of customs, has received instructions from Washington City that the lighthouses in this district have been placed under the superintendency of the collector at Wilmington. This indicates a consolidation of districts, and a cutting down of offices. Too much of this business will raise Cain among the Democrats. They will surely think it is poor policy to abolish all the offices just as they are ready to take them.

Schooner Arrivals.

The Mary S., Jim Berry, from Juniper Bay, with corn.

The Fleetwood, Tolson, from Swan Quarter with corn and oats.

Personal.

Miss Annie Phillips, of Kinston, is in the city visiting friends.

Thos. S. Smythe, pension agent, is in the city examining the claims of pensioners.

Change of Schedule.

A slight change will be made in the schedule of the A. & N. C. Railroad on and after Sunday next. By this change the train arrives here from Goldsboro at 8 o'clock instead of 7:40 as at present, and will arrive here from Morehead City at 9:08 a. m. instead of 8:40. There is also some change in the running of the freight train. See schedule.

Legislators—New Men.

"Do away with your dogs and then we will talk to you about sheep raising," said a farmer to us on Friday evening. But how can anything be done with a dog as long as men are sent to the Legislature who are afraid to do right? Where we find a Representative that intends to do right because he knows it is right, he is apt to be one that don't want to be returned to the General Assembly, but one that ought to be returned by all means. We find just such a man as this in Mr. I. B. Watson, of Hyde. He had the courage to vote for encouraging sheep husbandry by voting to levy a tax on dogs. He also noted the fact that a majority of the farmers in the General Assembly voted for it, while a majority of the merchants and professional men voted against it. They were doubtless looking out for "the party" while the farmer members were trying to look after the interest of the farmers.

The people of Hyde county ought to return Mr. Watson to the next General Assembly. He would make a more useful member of the next than he has the present because of his experience. It is a great mistake of our Eastern people to change their Representatives so often. The term of the General Assembly is short for the amount of work to be done. A new member, with no legislative experience, can hardly accomplish much in the sixty days session, especially if he meets opposition from those acquainted with the rules that govern legislative bodies, and understand the minutia of securing the passage of measures which they favor. When a good man is found it is well to hold him for awhile.

Hamilton Homer Dead.

The old patrons of the Washington Hotel in the days of yore will remember the colored cook named "Ham." He was universally popular in his sphere, and in the later days of his life was always glad to meet any one who could remember the scenes and events of those golden days. Since the war he has occupied various positions—as farmer, huckster, restaurant keeper, and in all these he exhibited the same industrious habits and honest principles, and pursued the even tenor of his way under great suffering from asthma until the message came to call him home. He died on the 12th inst. and was buried yesterday. Peace to his ashes.

LETTER FROM RALEIGH.

RALEIGH, March 11th.
The News and Observer of yesterday contained an item to the effect that Governor Jarvis had been put in nomination for the office of Commissioner of Agriculture in Washington, and would probably receive the appointment; but it is rumored here that an effort will be made to retain his services for the Old North State, and that he will, at the next meeting of the State Board of Agriculture on the 1st Wednesday in April, be elected to fill the position of Commissioner of Agriculture, now held by Montford Maghee, Esq., which will be more agreeable to him than leaving the State. The salary of this commissioner is to be raised to $3,000, and that pay here will be more than $6,000 in Washington, and with an office in the Department building, and passes over all the railroads to make agricultural addresses he will be able to keep his hand on the helm and personally carry out the many plans he has inaugurated for the advancement of the agricultural interests of the State. As Governor he has literally been the Board of Agriculture, and has done so much to advance the interest of that department, outside of the limits of the State that his friends feel glad to know that it will not be disagreeable to him to remain in Raleigh and carry out his work.

Several prominent men from different parts of the State have been spoken of as probable successors to the present incumbent, but, from all I can gather, once it is known that Governor Jarvis will accept the position there will be no doubt of his election by the Board.

On all sides I hear regrets expressed at the terrible fire which has desolated New Berne, which, unlike some of our fires, has not merely destroyed a few wooden structures but has swept away some of the best business stands in the city. "How did it originate?" is asked by every one, a question as yet unanswered.

I have just returned from a visit to the "sweetest" place in Raleigh, Royter's candy factory, where I saw the whole process of making the various confectionery he places before the public. Everything is so neat, and the workmen so skillful that it is a real pleasure to visit their work rooms. This not being a busy time, the firm is only turning out about fifteen hundred pounds of candy a day, but they often put up two thousand pounds daily for weeks at a time. Think of it, two thousand pounds of Royter's candy! In the window there has recently been placed a log-cabin with well, pig pen, and other surroundings, all made of different kinds of candy and the words "No Fence Law" placarded over the exhibit. It is the work of a country lad employed in the establishment.

From this point I went to the ice factory to see the process of making artificial ice, but found it not yet in operation. Last year they manufactured ten tons of excellent ice daily, this year they increase to twenty tons a day and have contracts for supplying Goldsboro and Durham as well as the hotels at Morehead City during the summer.

A deacon in a Pennsylvania town holds the opinion that certain young men and maidens of his church do not attend prayer meetings for the glory of God, but for the love of each other. They do their courting, he thinks, while the services are in progress, and though they sing and even lead in prayer with great vigor, they are animated more by profane than holy motives. In fact, he objects to their singing as too loud under the circumstances, and as calculated to disturb those devout souls who are accustomed to drone through hymn and prayer. Therefore, as the young people will not be saved according to the manner which the deacon thinks proper, he has resolved to snatch them, not out of the burning, but out of the church, and to that end he has procured their arrest on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Thanks.

I return thanks to the citizens of New Berne for the kind assistance rendered during the night of the fire. I shall be pleased to see all my old customers, and as many new ones as may be pleased to favor me with their patronage, at the store formerly occupied by Mrs. J. W. Baxter, next door south of the Baptist Church, and nearly opposite the old stand, on Middle st. R. BERRY.

Eclipse of the Sun.

On Monday next, the 16th inst., will occur the annular eclipse of the sun, visible here as partial eclipse. It will begin about 11:50 a. m. and end about 2:15 p. m. It is the return of the annular eclipse of Feb. 12th, 1881. In 1881 the central line passed over Texas in a northeasterly direction, being last visible on this continent in parts of North Carolina and Virginia. At this return the path will be much further North. The eclipse will be annular over a line from Cape Mendocino, California, in latitude 40 deg., to Greenland in latitude 71 deg. and over a path about seventy miles wide. The only towns of consequence in the United States within this belt are Eureka, California, and Bozeman, Montana. At St. Paul the eclipse will obscure five-sixths of the sun, but will not be annular. At Chicago seven-tenths of the sun will be hidden. From Rochester, N. Y., the obscuration will be somewhat less, and from Raleigh, of course, still less, though sufficient to render the eclipse a most interesting event.

The eclipse will be annular because the cone of the moon's shadow does not reach the earth. It will appear annular at those places nearly in the line of the point of the cone. In an annular eclipse a ring of sunlight surrounds the moon's shadow, the moon being at such a distance that it does not cover the whole of the sun's disc. Until recent years annular eclipses have been neglected by astronomers; but during the last one some very important observations were made by the French astronomers, and it is probable that some effort will be made to observe the coming eclipse. Efforts will be made to photograph the eclipse during its entire progress, if the sun is not wholly obscured by the clouds. The event may furnish an opportunity to determine whether the moon has anything like an atmosphere. As the sun is likely to show a number of spots of considerable extent upon the date of the eclipse, it will be observed with added interest.—News and Observer.

Notice to Mariners.

Notice is hereby given that, on or about April 1, 1885, there will be shown from a temporary structure erected on the eastern end of the Delaware breakwater, Delaware, a light of the following characteristics:

The light will illuminate entire horizon. It will show fixed red from the bearing E. N. W. by the southward to W. N. W. & W. throughout the rest of the horizon it will show fixed white.

The focal plane is 50 feet above mean low water.

The light should be seen in clear weather, from the deck of a vessel 15 feet above the sea, 12½ nautical miles.

The structure is a pyramidal framework tower surmounted by a lantern painted red.

The approximate position of the light-house, as taken from the chart of the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, is as follows:

Latitude, 38° 47' (50') North.

Longitude, 75° 06' (03') West.

To vessels coming from the southward, this light will show red, clear of the sand hills to the northward of Cape Henlopen light. Care should be taken not to approach the latter light too closely, in order to avoid the Hen and Chickens shoal.

Delaware Breakwater front light (fixed white, varied by white flashes) in range with this light (fixed red) marks a line clear of the northern end of the Hen and Chickens shoal. When this light is in range with the Delaware Breakwater rear light, or when it changes from a red to a white light, or bears W. & S., it marks a line passing about one hundred and fifty yards clear of the point of the cape, and vessels should approach no nearer the cape than this line.

When in range with Cape Henlopen light, this light will mark the line of shoals making down from the Shears shoal.

Delaware Breakwater front light in range with Cape Henlopen light marks a light inside the shoals.

A change in the new light from white to red marks the inside limit of the outer harbor. The new light showing red and Cape Henlopen light showing white guide clear of the western end of the ice-breaker into the Breakwater harbor.

AN EXPRESSIVE LANGUAGE.—"The Chinese have got a very expressive language," said Tom Benton, of Houston, one morning after breakfast.

"What is there expressive about it?" asked his mother-in-law, who is an incessant talker.

"Take the word Ken for instance."

"What does Ken mean?"
"It means several things. In the first place it means a female's mouth. Another meaning of Ken is a gate. In short, anything that is everlastingly opening and shutting is called Ken."

CLIPPINGS.

While elephant hunting recently in the Garrow Hills, in Bengal, Lords Arthur and Henry Grosvenor captured 85 elephants in three drives.

A clerical contributor to the Louisville Courier-Journal thinks that no moral young man could read to his virtuous affianced all that Dickens wrote in "David Copperfield."

Some wonderful revival meetings at New Corner, Ind., have resulted in 500 conversions. About seventy of these persons have been in a trance state, and tell of beautiful visions.

Among the objects of interest at Fulham, the Bishop of London's suburban palace, is the original manuscript account of the voyage of the Mayflower, in the handwriting of Gov. Bradford.

At San Sabra, Texas, the other day, a couple were married on the street, sitting in a buggy, the bridegroom armed with a rifle and the bride with a revolver. They feared the bride's relatives.

The moss crop of Florida, says the Pensacola Commercial, is worth more than the cotton crop, and can be put on the market at less expense. The demand exceeds the supply, and there is not a county in which this product is not going to waste.

Miss Lucilla Y. Dudley was for some time a model in the London art world. Among those to whom she used to sit is Mr. Edward Burne Jones. Her name and address still; ornament the pre-Raphaelite studio door, on which he writes his models' names. She also used to sit to Sir Frederick Leighton.

An amusing incident in connection with the police precautions at the Law Courts happened in London the other day. One of the judges was stopped at the entrance in Carey street and requested to show the policeman the contents of his bag. The Judge at once acquiesced, and was then allowed to enter.

An accident which many persons are doubtless constantly expecting occurred lately in Boston. During an alarm of fire a hook and ladder truck ran into a horse car and tore off one whole side as nearly as if it had been chopped off by an axe. Three persons were severely injured. It is surprising that there are not more such accidents.

The Lancet says that appetite is a most misleading sensation, only remotely related to the actual demands of the organism. If we only ate more deliberately we should find half our accustomed quantity of food sufficient to satisfy the most eager cravings of hunger, and hence save ourselves from the evils of dyspepsia, or, on the other hand, a tendency to over increase in weight.

A "barnstorming" company visited Winamac, Ind., week before last and billed the town for the "Lights of London." On Saturday night the audience, finding that the entertainment was to be a magic lantern show, stormed the stage and seized the agents of the concern and took them toward the river with the intention of ducking them, but the men were saved from a very cold bath by the sheriff.

The girls of Philadelphia have organized an athletic club, and propose to establish a well-appointed gymnasium. In addition to the usual appliances for spraining ankles and wrists, and for breaking bones, there will be a roller skating floor, and in the spring and summer there will be horseback riding under the exclusive escort of riding masters. No men are to be admitted as spectators under any conditions. The doctors are understood to regard this undertaking with favor.

At the funeral ceremony over the remains of Dr. Cahill, the Lord Mayor of Dublin "was groaned and hissed at by the crowds, and was obliged to leave the procession and take shelter in the Mansion House." The other day that same Lord Mayor was cheered heartily when he declared that he would haul down the flag of the Mansion House on the arrival of the Prince of Wales. But on further consideration he wrote a humble apology for his threat. Hence those groans. This is discouraging for the ovation to his Royal Highness.

According to Dr. Hyades, who has lately returned from Terra del Fuego, whether the French Government, the Fuegians are the lowest human beings in the scale of existence. Their language contains no word for any number above 3; they are unable to distinguish one color from another; they have no religion and no funeral rites, and they possess neither chiefs nor slaves. Their only weapons are bone-pointed spears, and, as they grow neither fruits nor vegetables and their country is naturally barren, they are obliged to live entirely on animal food. Even these savages possess, however, some social virtues. They are not cannibals; they ill-treat neither women nor the old, and they are monogamous.

Willacochee

Is the name of a flourishing village in Coffee county, Georgia, on the line of the Brunswick and Albany railroad.

Mr. D. E. Gaskin, a well known citizen of that village, writes under date of December 23d:

Soon after my marriage, about four years ago, my wife was stricken with some trouble peculiar to her sex, which broke down her general health. In this condition she was soon after attacked with Inflammatory Rheumatism of such a severe type that it made her a cripple. She was reduced in flesh to sixty-five pounds, and came very near losing her life. She was attended by three good physicians who treated her with some benefit, but the swelling in her joints never left her. Last summer the rheumatism returned in a still more severe and painful form which seemed to defy the skill of the doctors. She would almost go frantic with pain, and would lie and scream all day. A friend of mine, who is an engineer on the Brunswick & Albany Railroad, suggested that I should use Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) which I did. After she had taken one small bottle she was up and able to walk over the house, and after taking the six small bottles she is now able to do any kind of house work; the swelling has gone, all the pain has left her, and she is in better health than she ever was. The treatment before using the Swift's Specific cost me between $350 to $400, and the six bottles of S. S. S. cost me six dollars.

It is certainly the most wonderful medicine and the best blood purifier in the world. The proprietors should let the world know about it.

NOTE.—The S. S. S. Company wish to caution purchasers in regard to the numerous imitations of their goods. Some carry the lie on the face, purporting to be vegetable remedies, when, in fact, they are really strong solutions of poisonous minerals—as Mercury, Potash, etc. Be careful to get the genuine.
