BUSINESS LOCALS.

A well selected stock of suitings as well as samples at N. M. GASKILL'S
FOR SALE.—No. 8 IRON SAFE. Good as new.
K. R. JONES.

Suits guaranteed to fit, at N. M. GASKILL'S.
A Fine lot of N. C. Hams, from Onslow county, just received.
ALEX. MILLER.

Considering quality of goods and make-up, a nice suit can be obtained as cheap as anywhere in the State at N. M. GASKILL'S.

A large lot of Business Cards just received at this office.

Stanly Hall to-night.
Japanese Fair to-night at Stanly Hall.
Several oyster boats arrived yesterday evening.

Trent Council No. 411, Royal Aroun, meets to-night.

Ten bales of cotton in market yesterday. From 7 to 9¢ was the price paid.
The Magic Lantern was an attractive feature at the Fair last night. It will shine again.

The produce exchange of Wilmington has invited Minister Jarvis to visit that city before departing for Brazil.

Major Dennison ginned six bales of cotton from Hyde county yesterday. He has reduced the price of ginning to thirty cents per hundred.

The steamer Elm City was at her wharf yesterday evening and will resume her trips to Hyde county to-day under the new schedule.

The sloop Nellie May, Capt. Sam. Howland, arrived from Roanoke Sound yesterday evening, bringing a lot of shad and herrings for Mr. Geo. N. Ives.

We bespeak a larger crowd to-night than last night if that be possible.

The Japanese Fair.
The Japanese Tea Party of last night proved a grand success in every sense of the word, and great credit is due to the ladies and gentlemen who got it up. Stanly Hall hardly knew itself, being beautifully decorated with evergreen garlands, flags, Japanese lanterns and flowers. Inside the bar a Japanese tent was erected, under which was a table with the articles for sale; while in front was a regular Japanese writing desk, the property of Mr. A. M. Baker, on which in letters of gold was printed "Don't ask for any credit."

The gift tables were loaded with pretty things, while the refreshment counter was bountifully supplied with good things as set forth in the poetry. For once poetry was truth, for all promises made in rhyme were fulfilled in reality.

The lady attendants in costume were: Mrs. Crouder, Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Duquid, Mrs. Morgan, Miss Leah Jones, Miss Mamie Ulrich, Miss Anna Pierce, Miss Emma Becton, Miss Sallie Fensell, Miss Mamie Lane, Miss Annie Arendell, Miss Cottie Hanks and Miss Carrie Richardson.

The young gentlemen with petticoats and queues were: P. H. Pelletier, B. B. Neal, K. Styron, D. S. Willis, J. J. Baxter and R. Burkhead. While Masters Thomas Daniels, Rosco Nunn, Jack Neal and David Bell assisted Misses Minnie Eaton, Lula Nunn, Lottie Hubbs, Katie Daniels, Fannie Jones, Bertha Cutler, Emma Henderson, Maud Green, Lillian Greer and Stella Roberts to represent Japan as waiters.

The entertainment will be repeated to-night as it would have been impossible at one sitting to eat up all the good things provided by the ladies for the occasion. That they were good, we can testify, but they were also as pleasing to the eye as to the taste; we could not possibly enumerate all that we saw but we cannot omit noticing a cake ornamented with white calla lilies and green leaves made of paper but so well executed as to look like nature.

We bespeak a larger crowd to-night than last night if that be possible.

Personal.
Capt. Matt Manly has returned from a visit to Washington City and Baltimore. Dr. F. B. Mace, of Beaufort, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. T. A. Green has returned from a meeting of the Directors of the Oxford Orphan Asylum. He is a member of the Board and reports the Asylum in good condition. There are between one hundred and sixty and one hundred and seventy children, about one hundred and forty of whom have just recovered from the measles and mumps. Their general health is now good and everything is moving on nicely. In this connection we wish to remind the citizens of New Berne that there are several children at this institution from this section. We should not lose interest in this noble work. The Grand Lodge has honored New Berne by appointing one of her citizens a Director. Let the contributions go forward steadily.

Stock Raising.
Mr. J. T. Eaton, of Wildwood, Carteret county, came in to see us yesterday to find out if we were particularly fond of mutton or partial to sheep and against dog. He also wanted to know if a nice fat beef steak would not suit us as well as mutton.

Our recently published interviews with farmers on the subject of sheep raising prompted Mr. Eaton to make the above inquiries. He thought we were getting rather on the extremes in advocating sheep raising and making war on dogs to the neglect of that other important industry, cattle raising.

He is mistaken as to our preference in this matter. We have given the subject of sheep raising more attention recently because we have had special inquiries from a gentleman in New York about it. We believe the climate and the large bodies of pasture lands in Eastern North Carolina make it well adapted to the successful breeding of both cattle and sheep, and after conversing with Mr. Eaton a few minutes we found he agreed with us in this. He is rather partial to cattle raising because the dogs cannot interfere with that business. And he says cattle is a protection to sheep, when they both go together, against dogs.

Mr. Eaton speaks in glowing terms of the advantages in his section for this business. Besides the immense range, which cattle subsist on, both summer and winter, he avers that they are subject to no disease. All that is lacking to make it a success is, some man with capital who understands the business. The range is free; cattle can be bought cheap at this season of the year, and they are free from disease.

He respectfully invites some man with capital to join him in the undertaking and we believe if some such were to visit him at Wildwood, Carteret county he could convince them there is millions in cattle and sheep breeding in Eastern North Carolina. We hope some one with money will go to see him and give this business a boom.

Kinston Items.

"On account of fire, &c, reduced price," &c.

Another frost and peaches not killed yet. We live in hopes.

Charles Askew suffers from inflamed eyes, caused by working in the fire.

The crocers who had moved their goods into the street, have all things snug again in store.

Bruton Taylor is compelled to wear glasses, on account of injury to eyes while exposed to the fire.

Sam. Dunn received a severe injury at the fire, one of ankles being seriously bruised by the falling of a fence.

The recent fire was caused by sparks from an out-door fire under a pot in the yard of George Phillips. The wind blew a gale and took the sparks right up under the roof.

Ward meetings for Kinston: 1st Ward, in J. A. Bridgen's vacant brick store, 2nd Ward, in court house, 3rd Ward, in graded school building, 4th Ward, at Kinston College.

Mr. J. W. Grainger, one of the most enterprising merchants of Eastern N. C., suffered a loss of $1,450, at the recent fire, by the burning of nine new cotton gins which were stored in one of the burned buildings.

Dr. Burkhead, of New Berne, preached in the Methodist church last night, and will continue to assist the pastor during the meeting. Very much interest is manifested, and large congregations fill the church ever night.

England and Russia.

LONDON, April 15.—In the cabinet council to-day the Anglo-Russian situation it is said was represented to be as follows: England and Russia have agreed upon a basis for the delimitation of the Afghan frontier, subject to a satisfactory explanation by Russia of the recent attack on the Afghans. According to this scheme it is said that Penjdeh will be ceded to Russia, provided the Amer consents.

LONDON, April 15.—The recruiting for the British navy continues with great activity, the admiralty having invited the navy pensioners to volunteer.

LONDON, April 15.—A cabinet council is now being held. Nothing is known as to the subject under consideration, but it is believed to be with reference to the Anglo-Russian difficulty.

PARIS, April 15.—Le Paix says that in the event of war between England and Russia, the other powers, especially France, must remain neutral. Following the above declaration Le Paix hints that these powers have already reached an agreement to remain neutral.

The government officially denies that there is any truth in the story cabled yesterday from Hong Kong to the London Times, that there was such a serious hitch in the peace negotiations between France and China that France thought of substituting M. Baure for M. Patenotre, the present French envoy at Peking as her agent in the negotiations.

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Senator de Peralta, the Costa Rican minister, received to-night the following telegram from President Zaldivar, of Salvador, who was in command of the army of that republic at the battle of Chalchuap: "The treaty of peace of Central America has been signed. It is a new triumph, doing great honor to Salvador."

The Coming War.

The situation in Europe is unchanged, although it is hourly more difficult to believe in a peaceful solution of the differences between England and Russia. The official reports of Gen. Komaroff only make it the more plain that Russia was the aggressor at Penjdeh, and hence it is less likely that the English will accept the explanations of the Russian government as satisfactory.

Yet Mr. Gladstone hesitates, and asks the British Commissioner in Afghanistan, Sir Peter Lumsden, for his version of the affair.

If the English were playing the Czar's game for him they could not apparently do more to promote his evident object. Russia wants delay in order to push forward her forces and supplies, and because she knows the uncertain, excitable temper of the Afghans, and believes that procrastination after a blow has been struck and a resort to negotiations instead of guns will make them distrust England's good faith and dispose many of the tribes to favor the Russians.

It may be the object of England to hold matters in negotiation until she can make arrangements to throw her ships at once into the Black Sea in the expectation of destroying the Russian fleet, bombarding Odessa and breaking the communication with the Caucasian Railway.

But will the British ships be allowed to pass the Dardanelles? Will Turkey insist on strict neutrality and, backed by Germany, refuse England's request?

This is the most interesting problem of the situation, upon the solution of which may depend the confinement of the war to a struggle between Russia and England in Afghanistan or the embroilment of all Europe.

The disposition of the Russian Generals in Turkestan is unmistakably to provoke war. It will not be surprising to hear of another attack at any moment. Nor need it cause astonishment if, while the attention of the British and the Afghans is directed to the operations of Komaroff on the Murghab, the real advance on Herat should be made through Persia territory by the valley of the Hari Rud.—N. Y. World.

Mr. Cleveland and the Democracy.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Mr. Calhoun said that every Administration was most unpopular during the first three months of its career, owing to the disappointments caused by the distribution of patronage. Mr. Cleveland and his Cabinet are now passing through this sort of experience. They are half way on the journey to Mr. Calhoun's limit, and continue to be confronted with discontent.

Selfish interests have thus far prevented a free expression of the dissatisfaction existing among the Democrats. Leaders do not wish to have a collision if it can be avoided. But the fact is not to be disguised that the discords are serious and are constantly growing.

The Democratic majority in the House of Representatives next winter will be about one-half of what it was in the late Congress. If the policy pursued thus far in regard to patronage be continued, it is certain that the Administration will meet with a very lukewarm support among the Democratic members, and may encounter very decided opposition.

Besides the offices, there are other questions likely to create antagonism with the President, and to disturb the harmony of the majority. Mr. Cleveland's letter in regard to silver coinage excited a very hostile feeling at the close of the last session. If his opinions on that subject had been known before the meeting of the Chicago Convention, he could not have been nominated.

This subject, though passed over in the inaugural address, will be presented in the regular message next December. It will certainly lead to an angry discussion, and it may provoke an open rupture with the Administration, unless Mr. Reagan and others associated with him modify the strong conclusions they expressed a few weeks ago.

The tariff is still a stumbling block to Democratic unity. Mr. Morrison is pledged to renew the contest, and the defeat of his Senatorial aspirations will encourage his ambition to figure as a leader on this question. Whether he will have the power to lead will necessarily depend on the election of the Speaker. Should Mr. Carlisle be again chosen, Mr. Morrison would doubtless have the Chairmanship of the Committee on Ways and Means. If Mr. Randall should be elected, he would be assigned to another place in the natural order of a change in the organization of the House.

The outlook for the new Administration with these breakers ahead is not cheerful. It remains to be seen whether the policy of the President will attract a sufficient following from the Independent Republicans to compensate for a threatened disaffection in the Democratic ranks. It is the problem of last November in New York applied on a national scale.—N. Y. Sun.

To the Voters of the First Ward:

I have been solicited by several of my friends to become a candidate for Councilman in the First Ward, and in obedience to their wishes, I have consented to announce myself as a candidate for Councilman. Should you feel disposed to select me to represent you, I will endeavor to do so to the best of my ability. My motto is for the officers of the city government to pay cash as they go, issue no voucher's promises to pay, and when presented to the treasurer, no funds on hands, and hence it is, have to be discounted fifty to seventy-five cents on the dollar!

R. P. WILLIAMS.

A Railroad Speaks.

My wife has been a great sufferer from Catarrh. Several physicians and various patent medicines were resorted to, yet the disease continued unabated, nothing appearing to make any impression upon it. Her constitution finally became implicated, the poison being in her blood.

I secured a bottle of B. B. B. and placed her upon its use, and to our surprise the improvement began at once, and her recovery was rapid and complete. No other preparation ever produced such a wonderful change, and for all forms of Blood Disease I cheerfully recommend B. B. B. as a superior Blood Purifier.

JAPANESE FAIR.

Come to the flowery kingdom,
The kingdom of Japan,
With its coat of arms—a tea cup
Crossed by a paper fan.

For just a single quarter
We'll open wide its door.
Though those who wish to do so
Can spend a good deal more.

But we'll agree to give you
For this your entrance fee,
A pretty cup and saucer
For your coffee or your tea.

Or a tiny little basket,
To hold a knitting ball,
Or banner fixed on rollers
To hang against the wall.

Or every one for asking
Can have a paper fan,
China box, to hold pomatum,
Or hair pins from Japan.

For a single dime apiece
We'll admit the girls and boys
For whom there'll be a table
Of china-ware and toys.

All these are gifts we make you
And in return you'll buy
From yet another table
Fancy articles not high.

Little teapots made with strainers,
And big ones made without,
Some with handles made of willow,
Some with handles like a spout.

Little tea sets for two people,
Bowls for eating bread and milk,
And parasols of paper
As pretty as of silk.

Of course you'll take some oysters
If you a supper make,
Cold turkey—chicken salad
Or syllabub and cake.

For these you must pay extra,
And we'll politely say
We only give the tea cups,
DON'T TAKE THE SPOONS AWAY!

By Japanese young ladies
Attended you may sup,
While gentlemen in costume
Will take your plate or cup.

But if you are too lazy
To venture out at night,
Just send along your money
And we'll fix you up all right.

For a bill of fare we'll send you
That will gratify your wishes,
But, like the spoons, remember
We will not give the dishes.

But you'd better come in person,
For the frolic and fun
We cannot send on waiters,
As suppers may be done.

So come and do your duty,
Don't leave us in the lurch,
But do your best at eating
To benefit the church.
