Another burglary case to be tried today.

The steamer Stout arrived last night from Baltimore with a cargo of goods. The summer luxury of fresh spots is now on our streets at the living price of "only ten cents a bunch."

A little over a month more and the watermelon will put in an appearance to the gratification of the thirsty.

It is suggested that New Berne is about to cease to be the city of Elms and will be known hereafter as the city of Lodges or Monuments and Steeples.

On and after Sunday next there will be a slight change in the schedule on the Atlantic and N. C. Railroad. The first train will arrive from Goldsboro about fifteen minutes earlier than at present. The corrected schedule will appear tomorrow.

The new version of the Old Testament is now in the crucible of criticism, but a western editor is entitled to credit for the discovery that the friends and admirers of the old version will be much grieved to find that in the new, the ten commandments are not abated in the slightest.

Dr. Trent river, yesterday, a small boat capsized, and its occupant, a colored boy, was precipitated into the water. He was rescued by a couple of colored men. As a colored man expressed himself: "The centenary edition of the boy and the city is improved by his event."

Miss Bell, of Harker's Island, with Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Lewis, of Philadelphia, have been visiting Mrs. Mary Snyder Clarke for the past few days. We are glad to hear that Miss Bell's good work on Harker's Island is prospering, and that by the aid of philanthropic friends, she has been able to purchase a fine location near the Straits for a second school, which she will carry on in connection with that she has so long sustained alone at her residence on the island; she has just procured a fine organ for the use of her school, and has an excellent teacher, who instructs the children in music. We understand she is looking out for an assistant teacher, so as to have one at each school, she giving a general superintendence to them both. Her visit here was for the purpose of "plugging" these schools on a permanent basis. The good she has accomplished can only be fully appreciated by those familiar with the locality in which she has worked. She left last night for Harker's Island, accompanied by Mrs. Clarke, who will spend a week with her, stopping on her return at Morehead City.

The committee on calendar for the civil docket of the Superior Court recommended through their Chairman, M. DeW. Stephens, Esq., to His Honor yesterday that the jury cases on the civil docket be continued for the term. The cause of this action on the part of the committee is the uncertainty of being able to reach the civil docket and the extremely busy season of the year, which is unusual on account of the contest raised. His Honor accepted the report and announced that no jury cases on the civil docket would be tried.

This is the way an exchange paid for the Journal, who was murdered by H. W. Terry, at Lynchburg, Va., was taken from the jail by a party forty men supposed to be Terry's relatives on the 15th of May, at two o'clock a. m., and lynched.

The principal difficulty in understanding this is to determine why Terry's relatives should have treated him so badly, while Terry is neither a present nor a prospective convict.

SUPERIOR COURT.

THE BURGLARY CASE.

The Trial of John Smith and Ed. Tilling.

Court convened at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, when the case of State vs. John Smith and Ed. Tilling, two colored boys aged about 12 and 14 years, for burglary, was taken up. These boys were charged with breaking into the store and dwelling of Mr. R. N. Duffy on the night of the 6th of March, 1885, and burglariously and feloniously taking therefrom money and goods. A second count in the bill of indictment charged the prisoners with the larceny of said goods and money.

H. R. Bryan, Esq., appeared with the solicitor for the State, R. B. Lehman, O. H. Guion, W. E. Clarke and H. G. Tull conducted the defence for the prisoner.

A special venire of one hundred was summoned, from which the following jurors were selected: H. H. Simmons, Moses T. Phelps, Lamb Brown, B. W. Morris, Noah Powers, William Bembry, Richard Green, R. G. Moseley, Nathan Styron, Benj. Johnson, Jonas Daniels, and W. W. Lawrence, all colored.

The following witnesses were sworn for the State: R. N. Duffy, George Pappendick, J. M. Harget and J. C. Matthews.

Mr. Duffy was the first witness examined. He stated that he lives in New Berne, resides in the store on the corner of Pollock and Middle streets; is in the habit of shutting the window blinds in rear of the building; discovered that the lock had been removed from the blinds; asked his next door neighbor, George Pappendick, to look out for him while gone to supper, as he believed that some one had been trying to break into his store; was sent for on the night of the breaking in while at supper; found Smith at the store under arrest; between 7 and 8 o'clock, dark enough to light lamps before going to supper; thought he had employed Smith at different times to bring water for him, and thought he was acquainted with the premises.

George Pappendick: Lives at Mr. Duffy's place, adjoining Mr. Duffy's. Mr. Duffy had called his attention to the fact that some one had been trying to break into his window; told him to keep quiet about it, and he would help him to catch him. One night last March, while in the billiard-room, heard a noise; went out, heard some one knocking in the tin gutter on the sidewalk; went to Mr. Duffy's window, and found John Smith in the room trying to cut into the safe. The blinds were broken and the window sash raised. J. C. Matthews being close behind him, got in through the window and caught Smith and handed him out to him.

J. C. Matthews: Some time about the 1st March was in Mr. Detrick's billiard room one night; heard a crash outside; Pappendick got up saying he expected it was some one trying to get into Duffy's store and started out; he followed and when they got to the window saw John Smith at the safe with the door open and trying to pick the lock of the inside drawer; saw some one run by the alley way; he got into the window; the boy dashed for the window on Pollock street; told Pappendick to head him off there; captured him and took him back to the window; one of the window lights was broken and one or two sashes of the blinds.

J. M. Harget, City Marshal: On the night of March 6th policeman Bowden brought to the station John Smith, and in consequence of what Smith said he went to arrest Tilling; found him at the house.

Here counsel for the prisoners objected to admitting as evidence any admission made by Tilling to the Marshal after his arrest. The point was argued by Mr. Lehman, principally upon the ground that the defendant was very young and might have been intimidated by the manner of the Marshal in making the arrest. His Honor ruled that the evidence was admissible; counsel noted exception.

The witness then stated that when he called for Tilling to come out he said he didn't go in the store, he stood outside and Smith went in the store. He told Tilling that he had been in many difficulties, had been whipped had been up for stealing, and he would keep on until he got his neck broke; this was after Tilling had made the confession. He offered no inducements to the prisoner to make the confession.

Here the State rested its case, and court took recess until 3 o'clock.

Upon the reassembling of the court, Mr. O. H. Guion, of counsel for prisoners, arose and stated to the court that the counsel for the defense had given considerable time to examining and preparing the defense, and after doing all within their power for the prisoners had come to the conclusion that it was for the best interest of their clients to submit to a verdict of guilty on the second count in the bill.

Mr. Bryan, of counsel for the State, assented to this.

His Honor stated that the counsel for prisoners had taken a wise course, and that counsel for State had shown considerable leniency in consenting to a verdict of not guilty on the first count in the indictment.

The Solicitor asked judgment, and also called His Honor's attention to the fact that John Smith had been convicted of larceny at a former term of the court and had judgment suspended. He now asked sentence in that case.

Mr. Guion made a touching appeal for the boys, stating that they had been thrown upon the world to look out for themselves, with no moral influences thrown around them, but on the contrary subjected to all the evil associations and corrupting influences of the community, and in consideration of this fact and the further fact of their tender ages, asked that the court be merciful in its sentence.

Mr. Bryan stated in behalf of the State and of Mr. Duffy that this was not the first time he had been sinned against in this particular, and that if these boys had no one to look out for them and endeavor to keep them out of the evil paths, it would be better for them and the good citizens of the community that the State take charge of them and try to make them good citizens.

They were sentenced to hard labor in the penitentiary for ten years each under this verdict, and Smith received two years additional for the former conviction.

OTHER CASES DISPOSED OF.

State vs. Alfred Reddick; larceny; Geo. H. White assigned as counsel for defendant, Solicitor Collins for the State; verdict, not guilty.

State vs. W. H. Morris; larceny; submit; judgment suspended on payment of cost.

State vs. Thos. Havens; larceny; Geo. H. White for the defendant, Solicitor Collins for the State; verdict, guilty; judgment, two years hard labor in the penitentiary.

Adjourned to 9 o'clock this morning.

The Theatre Saturday Night.
Tickets will be on sale for reserved seats in the theatre next Saturday night, this morning at Meadows' drug store. A Jacksonville paper gives this notice of the Company:

The favorite Bijou met the warm welcome they may always expect from a Jacksonville audience on their return to Park Theatre last night. In their travels they have lost nothing of their brightness, and their voices have evidently suffered nothing from our climate. That they made such a success of the "Mascot" without chorus or orchestra is sufficient proof of ability and merit of which the delighted audience gave constant and hearty recognition. Mr. Hamilton, as Prince of Piombino, was in fine voice, and gave a wonderful exhibition of his deep basso, that in the scrap of the "Old Sexton" introduced in a medley almost caused the house to "rise to him." The favorites of the audience were plainly Miss Randall, as Flannetta, and Mr. Pepper, as Pippo. Miss Randall's voice is pure and clear, always smooth and always sweet, particularly in the high register. Pippo, Tutein, in the extravaganza and raptures of her really difficult part, in vivid without exaggeration, while the clear, mellow tenor of Mr. Pepper is always enjoyed. In the two duets with Bettina they carried the house with them. Indeed, their audience was no mean support to the entire company, every point of any merit being promptly and heartily recognized, and with the most rollicking good humor. We saw Miss Helen Harrington as Frederic overestimate her audience. Perhaps the simple manners of a semi-developed youthful metropolis, are hardly sufficiently advanced as yet to appreciate the extremes of costumes, which may be entirely suited to the stages of large cities. She seems admirably adapted to the sustaining of masculine characters, and her superb physique challenges criticism. The local hits with which the play was stratified, were keenly appreciated, and many of them of the happiest conception.

Funeral of Rev. John N. Andrews.
The funeral of Rev. John N. Andrews took place May 27th at 4:30 p. m. from St. Paul Methodist church in Goldsboro. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Burkhead, assisted by Revs. J. T. Harris, Rhodes and Blackburn. A large congregation of people.

We wholeheartedly adopted the sustaining of masculine characters, and her superb physique challenges criticism. The local hits with which the play was stratified, were keenly appreciated, and many of them of the happiest conception.

Fire in New York.
NEW YORK, May 27.—The vast furniture factory of H. Herman Bros., at Mangin and Tompkins streets, was discovered to be on fire at 3:30 o'clock this morning. It is a five story brick building and occupies a whole block, fronting 300 feet on Delaney and 150 feet on other streets. It was an old building, occupied by the Singer sewing machine factory, and was saturated with oil. The whole building is surrounded by miserable tenement houses, occupied by the poorest classes in the city.

Over three hundred men will be thrown out of work. The streets at 5:00 p. m. were crowded with people and the greatest excitement prevailed in the neighborhood, as everybody in the surrounding tenement houses was moving furniture and seeking to escape from the flames, which were fast spreading in all directions.

At 5:30 o'clock this morning special calls for extra engines were being sent out, and it was estimated that the loss would amount to $1,500,000. Through the entire available force of the fire department was summoned, it was two hours before the flames were fairly under control. The flames are burning fiercely in the ruins yet, but all danger of their further spread has passed.

THE WUMPS.

The wumping comes when the hour is late. To the man where the light is shining. And the wumping stands at the garden gate. His arm the maid entwining.

The drugwump waits for the stealthy wink The brand denominating. And the drugwump pays takes a drink From the jar while his sock he's stitching.

The porgwump kisses the nose of her pet. And folds him to her bosom. And the musgwump waits for his office yet. And—well, we must excuse him.

A Pleasant Picnic.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—Wednesday morning, May 27th, loomed up bright and clear. The shrill whistle of the steamer Carolina at 7:30 warned us that her time of departure was fast approaching and soon thereafter we were all safely on board.

The jingle of the bell and the powerful thuds of the propeller and we are off, gliding over the smooth and placid waters of the old Trent, while the sweet strains of music were wafted away by the mild zephyrs on the morning air.

A jolly crowd are we fair damels and blushing young men, widows and widowers, wives and husbands all vying with each other over the day's pleasure. We are rapidly going up the stream, viewing the beautiful scenery on either bank of this majestic river, when all eyes were turned to the large arm chair and all voices cried aloud "Credle has a mish." Fishing next in order; the only catch that was made by Miss S.; she caught a Herring! Pelletier was caught later, but to his sorrow she had already been caught.

We are near the end of journey—the first house is now in view—there we see the town; we are at the metropolis of Jones county—Polkville. All hands off and stroll up the main street and back to the boat, where we find a table erected in the large store of our townman, Mr. C. E. Foy, and well filled with all of the good things of life, at which we all enjoy a bountiful repast.

At 2:30 we cast off from our moorings and are homeward bound. A picnic indeed and in truth have we had; all of the viands that appetite could desire, and that most delightful draught, ice cold lemonade. Was it delicious? Griff Credle was the maker and dispenser of it—how else could it be? It would be a pleasure to say more about the crowd, but space forbids, and in conclusion will say that the boat was beautifully decorated in flowers and evergreens.

We arrived safely at 6:30 under the careful guidance of Capt. Wallace and the efficient Engineer, Ed. Lewis. Esq. The latter gentleman and ex-Mayor Howard and their wives are entitled to the lasting gratitude of all who were with us, and received a vote of thanks for this day of unabated enjoyment and pleasure.

I cannot close without a further expression of my high appreciation of the kindness of Mrs. Ann Howard shown to me. Awaiting the arrival of this day's sister, I am, Taking Care of the Body.

The Christian Index, the leading organ of the Baptist Church in the South, published in Atlanta, Ga., in its issue of Dec. 4, 1884, has the following editorial:

"Too many people seem to think that a religious newspaper should be confined to the discussion of moral and religious subjects only, forgetting that religion has to do with the bodies and souls of men. 'Prove all things, hold fast that which is good,' has as much to do with the practical side of life as it has with the moral side. Our readers will bear testimony that in all questions discussed in the Index, the practical has been duly set forth. In this paragraph, therefore, we only seek to present an article worthy of consideration. After subjecting it to the above test we have tried Swift's Specific and found it good as good as a blood purifier, good as a health tonic. In this opinion we are sustained by some of the best men of the church. Rev. Jesse H. Campbell, the pastor of the Baptist denomination in Georgia, says: 'It is my deliberate judgment that Swift's Specific is the greatest blood purifier ever discovered. Its effects are wonderful, and I consider them almost miraculous. There is no medicine comparable to it.' Dr. B. C. Hornady, one of the best known ministers in our church, says: 'Swift's Specific is one of the best blood purifiers in existence.'"

These testimonies speak in every tongue. But few preparations can bring forward such endorsements. The Index besides says to endorse the statement. We have witnessed the beneficial effects of this medicine, and only in our own households, but in several other cases.

where seemingly all other remedies had failed. It is purely a vegetable compound, scientifically prepared, and perfectly harmless in its composition. It renews the blood and builds up broken down systems—gives tone and vigor to the constitution, as well as restores the bloom of health to the suffering. Therefore, we do not deem it inconsistent with the duties of a religious journal to say this much in its behalf.
