THE JOURNAL.

NEW BERNE, N. C., JULY 29, 1885.

The Buckwheat Crop—Valuable. Buckwheat can be made a profitable crop, if proper care is given to it. This grain is worth at least seventy-five cents a bushel for feeding, if it is properly fed. It is best ground with corn, as fine as possible, and may be fed with cut hay or straw moistened with water. The seed may be sown early in July. We have found thick seeding the best. At least one bushel per acre should be used. It pays to prepare the ground as well for this crop as for any other, but it is especially useful for the purpose of breaking up an old meadow, and preparing it for reseeding. The sod will be well rotted, and the soil mellowed and made ready for a fall grain crop, if this is desired, to be followed by the grass seed the next summer. No other crop, except peas, so well mellow the ground as buckwheat, and this is precisely the effect required in reseeding land. Besides this useful purpose, buckwheat is valuable for its grain. It will easily produce thirty or forty bushels per acre if well managed, and a bushel of it is worth two bushels of oats of the light sort usually grown, which is largely husk. The crop, too, is put in at times and harvested at times convenient for the farmer. —American Agriculturist.

PERLEY POORE'S REMINISCENCE OF ZACH CHANDLER.—Zach Chandler, the merchant-Senator from Michigan, was justly proud of his business standing as a dry goods dealer in Detroit, and he used to narrate how, when almost every business man there failed in 1837, he could not see his way clear to the settlement of his own liabilities. He made a statement of his affairs, and taking what money he could raise, went to New York and proposed to his creditors there to make an assignment. His principal creditor said to him: "You are too straightforward a man and too honest and enterprising a merchant to go under. You can take your own time for payment, and we will furnish you with a new stock of goods." The young merchant accepted the extension of time, and going home went to work again and was soon able to pay all his debts in full.—Boston Budget.

AIDING THE MEMORY.—In France some years ago a conveyance of land required twelve adult witnesses, who were accompanied by twelve little boys; and when the price of the land was paid and its surrender took place the ears of the boys were pulled and they were severely beaten, so that the pain thus inflicted should leave an impression upon their memory, and, if required afterward, they might bear witness to the sale. Later, when a criminal was being executed, parents whipped their children, so that they might take warning by the example and keep in the path of virtue.

ON THE INSTRUCTOR.—A sharp boy at a commercial college had addressed a letter to a firm as "Gents." "You mustn't do that," said the instructor. "Why not?" asked the boy. "Because 'Gents' is vulgar. Don't you know that invitations to negro balls are always addressed that way?" "Well, no; I never got one," replied the boy, with such significance that the instructor blushed and hurried on to the next desk.—Merchant Traveler.

Merchants, Bankers and Manufacturers SHOULD READ BRADSTREET'S

A Weekly Journal of Trade, Finance, and Public Economy. Sixteen Pages every Saturday. Oftentimes Twenty Pages. Sometimes Twenty-five Pages. FIVE DOLLARS A YEAR.

The foremost purpose of BRADSTREET'S is to be of practical service to business men. Its special trade and industrial reports; its weekly epitome of bankruptcies throughout the United States and Canada; and the summaries of assets and liabilities, are alone worth the subscription price; its synopses of recent legal decisions are exceedingly valuable. As a commercial transactions, in the wider sense, are coming to be more and more conducted on a statistical basis, the information contained in Bradstreet's is of the first importance both to producers and middlemen.

The trade and agricultural situation throughout the United States and Canada is reported by telegraph to Bradstreet's up to the hour of publication.
