Wilson is a lively town. It is more beautifully shaded than our "City of Elms," and its new and handsome buildings, in modern style, are rapidly increasing, and giving evidence of prosperity. The Hight Spirit,
Our old friend and former neighbor Capt. S. W. Noble, the successful grape grower of New Hanover, shows the right spirit in the item below, which we clip from the Star. We wish that all farmers entertained the same broad views and would give whatever infor-mation they possess in successful agriculture or fruit growing to their brother farmers. Capt. Noble has succeeded in making it profitable to grow grapes in New Hanover county, why cannot some one in Craven and Carteret suc-

Many of the grapes at the Noble's vineyard are now about ripe and ready for the market. Some of the early varieties have already been marketed. Shipping will commence this week. Early matheity is one of the advantages claimed by Copt. Noble. He beat Timmonsville this season, which is generally first in the market. Then as to size. He claims that larger grapes are not produced than are to be found in his vineyard. Many of them are as large as the largest scuppernongs. Another important feature was called to our attention during a recent visit. On some of the vines from which ripe grapes have been clipped a second crop has made its appearance and now has plenty of time to mature. In some instances there are ripe grapes and clusters of now crop on the same vine, Many of the latter are as large as China berries. ceed as well?

Another feature is the largeness of the bunches among some of the choice va-rieties, many of which weigh as much as a pound each.

Some one asked Capt. Noble recently pointed by Orange Presbytery Chair man of a commission to organize a Presbyterian church in Wilson, N. C. He went on that mission on last Saturday, and began the services on that night, preaching on the "Clearness of the claims of the Gospel of Christ." Night came soon after we did, and first paroled prisoners ever dewounded men, fcaptured in the Cheat mountains of Western Virginia, and when they marched into the great dining room of the Atlantic Hotel for supper, some with a leg, others with an arm gone, and others badly chopped up, there was a shudder ran over the crowd packing every avenue that approached the room, at the horrible at-rocities of war. With the flag also came a prominent citizen of Easton, N. C., who had been North to bring his daughter from a school in Massachusetts, and upon him was leveled the batteries of inquiry as to matters up North, while a desultory fire of small arms was kept up on the wounded man, as "How d'ye get hit?" "Whar d'ye lose yer arm?" and a thousand questions of the

The Iowa Prohibition law has been in force over a year, and is fairly successful in the small places, while in cities there is thought to be more drunkenness than under the license system. Reports from twenty-two leading cities and towns show 150 more open drinking places than there were a year ago.

An Episcopal minister in Virginia City had to look to the people for his support. Once a week he went among the business men. He says that he visited the saloons and gambling shopes as well as the banks and stores. On almost every round he received a number of peker chips, worth from $1 to $5. These he took to the bank, where they were cashed.

A Georgia physician took the precaution to secure a certificate from a woman whom he had treated, stating that it was his services which had given relief. When some praying visitors announced that their petitions to beaven had brought about the result, the doctor triumphantly shook the document in their faces, and they retired from the scene discomfited.

Prof. J. A. Harrison of Virginia says that the fertility of the negro dialect is really, wonderful, not only in the ingeulous distortion of words, by which new and startling significance is given to common English words, but more es-pecially in the imitation of animal ut-terances. It is an ear language altogether. The only wonder is how the egro could have so truly caught the swiftly uttered sounds about him.

Levaillant of the French Ministry, thinking it likely that the recent closing of clubs and clandestine gambling houses in Paris would increase the number of gamblers that betake themselves to the fashionable seaside places, has ordered the police commissaries to forward to him the lists of visitors as soon as they are published, in order that measures may be taken against any no torious swindler who may be among

A Texas young man advertised for a wife, and a correspondence succeeded with a girl in Cleveland, resulting in a long range betrothal. From the returns already in, it is estimated that the campaign in Tonquin cost the French $96,000,000; while the wear and tear to the naval force are $6,000,000 more. We have here a round sum presented of $102,000,000, with certain heavy expenses yet to be met, the amount of which cannot now be determined. If, two years ago, the French people had been asked to pay $100,000, 000 for the right to establish a protecto rate over this distant and unhealthy Asiatic country, the proposition would have been laughed down.

Boy Preacher Harrison, according to his own estimate, has converted between forty and fifty thousand souls during his careen. Evangelist Sam Jones says that he has made between eight and ten thousand converts during the present year. This is a much better showing than Harrison's, considering that the latter has been engaged in the work for some twenty years. Jones avers, fur-thermore, that ninety-five per cent. of his converts remain true to their professions after his departure. This remarkable statement is discredited by the rival revivalist.

Taking Care of the Body. The Christian Index, the leading organ of the Baptist Church in the South, published in Atlanta, Ga,, in its issue of Dec. 4, 1884, has the following editorial: Too many people seem to think that a religious newspaper should be confined to the discussion of moral and religious subjects only, forgetting that religion has to do both with the bodies and souls of men.
