THE JOURNAL.

NEW BERNE, N. C., AUG. 1, 1880.

Work for Southern Women. Labor for the purpose of self-support was almost unknown among the white women of the South under the regime of slavery. But with the new era of freedom, inaugurated and accompanied as it was with great destruction and loss of property, the hard necessity of "doing something for a living" fell upon thousands of women in that section who had never before undertaken directly to earn a dollar. Labor having been dignified by freedom, and made "respectable" by custom, many women of the South have been led, as their sisters at the North long since were, to of July, 1885. work without the stress of actual to their independence, and even to their pleasure. With this change in the social and industrial situations, of July, 1885. public attention at the South has been directed, by the press and by essayists and lecturers, to the discovery and development of suitable and remunerative employments for women. The climate of that favorite section opens many occupations to women that are in a measure closed to them in the North; and their love of out-door life leads them to choose such avocations as flower gardening, fruit growing, bee-keep ing, dairying, poultry raising and the like, rather than the harder and more confining work in offices and shops. A capable and energetic woman can direct the work of many suitable out-of-door occupations with much greater pleasure and profit, and with less loss of nervous force, than result from school teaching, writing, clerking or other of the employments usually chosen by prove to be an inviting field for self-supporting women.—Boston In Effect 6:15 A.M., Thursday, July 23d, 1885. her sex. Fruit in the Piedmont Belt. All through the Piedmont belt the country is especially adapted to the growing of fruit, and practical demonstrations of what can be done in this line were given at the Agricultural Fair held in this city last year. Peaches, pears, apricots, cherries and luscious fruit of all kinds, nearly all of perfect growth, were exhibited, and yet not a single person has attempted to can this fruit and put it on the market for home consumption in competition with the Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and California canning companies, all of whom are making money. Over 20,000,000 cans of vegetables and fruit were consumed in the South Atlantic States during the last twelve months. At Tryon city, on the Asheville and Spartanburg railroad, at Gaffney's, Spartanburg and Seneca, and at Greenwood, canning factories would undoubtedly pay. The machinery is not very expensive and the work can all be P. M. done by women and girls, with a few male inspectors .- Extract from Greenville correspondent News and

SHOULD READ BRADSTREET'S

A Weekly Journal of Trade, Finance, and Pubile Economy.

Bixteen Pages every Saturday. Oftentime Twenty Pages. Sometimes Twenty-four Pages.

FIVE DOLLARS A YEAR.

The foremost purpose of BRADSTREET'S is to be of practical service to business men. Its special trade and industrial reports; its weekly epitome of bankrupteles throughout the United States and Canada, and the summaries of assets and liabilities, are alone worth the subscription price; its synopses of recent legal decisions are exceedingly valuable. As commercial transactions, in the wider sense, are coming to be more and more conducted on a statistical basis, the information contained in BRADSTREET's is of the first importance both to producers and middlemen.

The trade and agricultural situation throughout the United States and Canada is reported by telegraph to Bradstreet's up to the hour of publication.
