August begins hot and rainy.

The board of county commissioners will be in session tomorrow.

Devotional exercises of Y. M. C. A. this evening at the M. E. Church at 6 o'clock.

Mrs. W. D. Pender, widow of General Pender, has been appointed Postmaster at Tarboro.

Yesterday evening was a good time to test the roofs of buildings. Many were found leaky.

The steamer Trent left for Portsmouth last night with about forty excursionists on board.

The steamer Experiment arrived from Baltimore yesterday evening with a cargo of merchandise.

Our colored citizens have taken steps to properly observe next Saturday, the day of General Grant's funeral.

Mrs. Walter Dann, of Beaufort, desires boarders. Her house occupies a very desirable situation on Main street, near Ocean View.

During the thunder storm yesterday a car standing on the side track at the depot was started by the wind with such force as to throw the wheels from the track when it arrived at the switch.

There was a rumor in the city last night of a murder across Neuse river near Potipher's ferry. Upon enquiry at the Coroner's office, he informed us that he had received no notification of the fact.

In our notice of the burning of Mr. Paris' house on Friday morning in yesterday's issue, we unintentionally omitted to state that the house of Mrs. Anderson, an aged widow lady, adjoining Mr. Paris' was also burned.

Norris Green has received three additional guests at Craven street boarding house within the last week. They were from Esq. Hill's court and two were sent down on account of their pugnacious dispositions, while the other received his credentials for wanting a proper respect for the court.

Rain, hail and wind yesterday evening. About 4 o'clock it came from the north in torrents, and in a few minutes whipped around to the southwest and came back furiously. The streets in some portions of the city were lined with limbs wrung from the trees, and on South Front the balustrade on the upper piazza of Dr. Bagby's residence was blown away.

Schooner Arrivals.
The Potter, Capt. Nobles, from Wyoming with a cargo of corn and oats for W. P. Burrus & Co.
The Lena, Capt. Joe Rose, from Fairfield with a cargo of corn and oats.

Back To The Old Stand.
Maj. W. L. Palmer moved back to his old stand, from where he was routed by the late fire, yesterday. He is in the brick block on Middle street, third door from South Front dispensing cool drinks from his elegant soda fountain.

Not So Far.
In our Norfolk correspondence yesterday there occurred a mistake as to the distances from Norfolk to Virginia Beach and Ocean View, where we pointed out it should have read minutes. The beach road pulls through in 45 minutes and that to Ocean View in 30.

Church Services To-Day.
Christ Church—The 9th Sunday after Trinity. Holy Communion and morning service at 11 o'clock. Sunday School at 5 o'clock and evening service at 8 o'clock. Rev. E. M. Forbes officiating. The public are always invited to attend the services of this church.
Presbyterian Church—Services today at 11 a. m. and 5 p. m., Rev. L. C. Vase pastor.

Deaths.
John H. Small, Esq., of Washington, called to see us yesterday, and left on the freight train with about forty of our citizens for Morehead City. He has just dropped the editorial harness and doubtless feels free from the cares of this life.
Judge Clarke and daughter Mrs. Pender left last night for the Ocean House at Morehead City.
Mrs. J. B. Carraway, the clever book-keeper of the National Bank, is off to the mountains for recreation.

China Will Declare War.
SINGAPORE, July 31.—It is affirmed that China will declare war if Russia refuses to leave Korea.

Circulating Library in New Berne.

Nothing has created more excitement and started more enthusiasm in Raleigh and Goldsboro in some time than the starting of their circulating libraries. Mr. J. W. Denmark, of the firm of J. W. Denmark & Co., of Raleigh, was in the city yesterday. He has made arrangements with Mrs. S. F. Stanly to handle Denmark's circulating library here. He explained his plan to us and showed sample volumes; we heartily endorse it and bespeak for it the hearty support of our reading people. The library will contain two volumes to each subscriber, and every subscriber has access to the whole library two years for one dollar; the cheapest reading ever known.

Mrs. Stanly will canvass the city for subscriptions, and we hope she will swell the list to 1,000; this would give us free access to 2,000 volumes two years for only a dollar.

Card of Thanks.

NAGS HEAD, N. C., July 30, 1885.
To Mr. J. D. YEOMAN:—It is useless to express our thanks to you for the manner in which you have conducted this excursion; and rest assured, gentlemen, that we have in the existence of Nags Head never had one that has passed off so pleasantly, and we truly hope that this, your first, may be but a forerunner of more. The Management of Hotel wish you an abundant success, and hoping our short friendship may grow stronger, we remain,
Yours truly,
MANAGERS OF HOTEL.

I accept this opportunity to return thanks to the Goldsboro Music House Band for the excellent music furnished on the occasion.
JNO. D. YEOMAN.

Cartaret County Items.

[From Telephone.]
The need of showers is general and from various sections complaints of damage because of drought are heard, and in our own county rain is badly needed.

The sale of the N. C. Oil and Guano Company's works which took place some time since has been confirmed and Messrs. Jones and Caffrey are now in possession. They will be ready for operating in a short time and will be prepared to take in the fall catch.

The suspension of the government work will cause the removal of Capt. Price, and as Mr. Reid Whitford is daily expecting to return to his work in South Carolina, we will soon be deprived of the pleasant company of these gentlemen.

Mackerel have been caught in larger quantities this season than usual and we are frequently told that they are seen in and about the harbor in larger numbers than ever before known. Who knows but they are coming to take the place of trout which for some years have been comparatively scarce?

In the year 1828 there were only five lighthouses and beacons in North Carolina. In January 1885 the number was, Beacon lights, 13; light-houses in the sounds and rivers, 13; brick towers or 100 feet in height 5, and 1 light-ships, making a total of 31. Four of these, viz., Currituck Beach, Body's Island, Hatteras and Lookout are lights of the first order.

No appropriations having been made last winter to continue the work on this harbor, the hands will be discharged today. The work already accomplished will be endangered by leaving it long in its present condition. We hope the next Congress will make an appropriation large enough to supply adequate force and keep them constantly employed until our harbor is protected from the storms, our towns from the danger of the waves and our waters deepened until the wharves in Beaufort and Morehead City can be reached by vessels of any size. This is what should be done.

Capt. Jackson H. Goodwin, of Cedar Island, was in town on Monday last and furnishes us with the following interesting information. On Saturday and Sunday last, a Baptist quarterly meeting was held, which was largely attended by citizens of Cartaret, Hyde, Pamlico, Craven and other counties. Near the close of the meeting, the enterprising citizens being impressed with the necessity for a new and larger church, took up a collection for building one, and the sum of $214, was raised in about 15 minutes. They mean to hasten the work and we predict they will soon have a creditable place of worship.

Since the establishment of the Custom House in Beaufort, in 1803 only nine different persons have held the office of Collector. The names and date of entry upon official duty are as follows: Brian Hellen, 1808; Henry M. Cooke, 1811; Bridges Arendell, 1818; Henry M. Cooke, 1829; James E. Gibble, 1834; Josiah F. Bell, 1853; John A. Hedrick, 1863; A. C. Davis, 1869; W. F. Howard, 1885. Mr. Henry M. Cooke was the only collector who served twice. Mr. James E. Gibble was longest in the office, his appointment covering a period of twenty-four years.

From Washington.
WASHINGTON, July 31.—The President today appointed Alex. M. Wallace, of Georgia, to be surveyor of customs for the port of Atlanta, Ga.; also Mrs. M. F. Pender, postmaster at Tarboro, N. C.; Frederick A. Schillig at Orangeburg Court House, S. C.; vice Alonzo Webster, suspended.

The Cholera.
MARRIAGE, July 31.—There were 2,519 new cases of cholera in the plague-stricken districts yesterday, and 10,929 deaths from the disease for the same time.

EXCURSION TO NAGS HEAD.

The excursion to Nags Head was throughout a grand success, though the heavy rain of the early morning at Goldsboro and Kinston greatly reduced the number of passengers from those points who were to have come down on the special train which arrived at 9 a. m. There were, however, quite enough of us to ensure a good time for all, and the number of "unprotected females" who committed themselves fearlessly to the care of the manager, Mr. John Yeoman, would have been something appalling had he not been equal to the occasion, and able to make each one feel that she individually was an especial charge to be taken care of as well as if she had an escort "all to herself." Nothing stronger than tea, coffee or lemonade was allowed to be sold on the boat, consequently we all had a jolly time, full of fun with nothing unpleasant to mar the trip.

When we were fairly off I began to look round for acquaintances, and soon had a "family party" around me, in a bony of young ladies from New Berne, championed by Mrs. Ives. Captain Powell, of the A. & N. C. R. R., was out in full force with three more New Berne girls, and assisted by several of "our boys," ably supported Mr. Yeoman in taking care of the ladies. The Goldsboro band gave us music from time to time, and one good-natured little lady in blue from that city, in the exuberance of her heart, danced alibly herself in the cabin, giving us some "real old time dancing with sure enough steps." She was so loudly applauded that she sat down blushing, and, turning to me, said: "I was just dancing because I felt like it, and these people need not look at me if they don't like it." I assured her we did like it, and were not, as she at first supposed, "making fun of her," but entering into her enjoyment of the music, the company and the sound breeze, all of which made her "feel good enough to dance."

The day was overcast, so as to make it pleasant on deck all the time, until the moon shone out, when it was even more delightful. We reached Nags Head about 9 o'clock, most of us sharp set for supper, and consequently disappointed to find, that the storm having thrown down the wires, the telegram sent from New Berne to tell Mr. Whidbee to prepare supper for a hundred and twenty-five hungry excursionists had not reached him. But the supper was not unduly delayed, considering the nice hot fish and still nicer hot rolls that rapidly disappeared when we got to them. I asked the proprietor afterwards how he managed to give us hot rolls, light and nice, on such short notice, and found his baker was equal to the occasion, though he confessed that, had the telegram which arrived at 10 o'clock the next day been received the night before, telling him to prepare for nine hundred and twenty-five, he should have felt like forbidding the steamer to land.

Those who remember the old "Atlantic" at Beaufort can form a very good idea of the hotel at Nags Head. It is three stories high, with abundant piazza room, and though we were of course crowded and slept two in a bed, the four hundred guests were all accommodated and had something to eat three times a day.

But neither Beaufort nor Morehead City can give any conception of the delightfully dry and balmy atmosphere of the place, the immense sand hills which surround it absorb all the moisture, while the breeze keeps it cool. The beach a few hundred yards back of the hotel is said to be the finest on our coast for surf-bathing, and is not only perfectly safe with ordinary care, but so accessible as to render bathing an easy as well as delightful recreation, while the drive along it, at low tide, is equal to any in the world. Most of the gentlemen spending the summer here have their horses, and, through the kindness of Mr. Harry Skinner, I had a charming drive to Freshwater Lake, Judge Shepherd acting as charioteer and pointing out the numerous beauties and curiosities of the way. A short distance from the hotel the road enters a heavily wooded tract of land, with the sound on one side and the ocean on the other, along which one can drive all the way to Norfolk. I could almost imagine myself in the mountains as we wound in and out of the steep sand hills, covered with vegetation and fragrant with the resinous perfume of the large pine trees, which, mingled with live-oak and other trees, shut in the view on every side. We turned aside to visit Freshwater Lake, a beautiful sheet of pure fresh water, full, Judge Shepherd told me, of fresh-water fish of different kinds, and in some parts eighty feet deep. I was sorry to see they were preparing to drag a seine in it; it ought to be kept for sport, which, by the way, both hunting and fishing, is excellent here. We returned by way of the beach on which, just opposite the hotel, are a number of private cottages where families, who prefer housekeeping to boarding, establish themselves for the season. The hotel ought to have been built here, and probably before many years there will be as good a house here as the "Atlantic" at Morehead City. There is absolutely no malaria here, even in August and September, when many people feel that Morehead is not free from it; and the extreme dryness of the atmosphere renders this a most healthful summer home.

Some of the best people of our State come here regularly, and the company at present assembled is most charming. The hall-room, if not filled every night, as it was the two evenings I was in it, generally has both belle and beaux enough to make it pleasant. The moderate charges, good sport, accessible surf-bathing, and last, but by no means least, the number of young ladies always to be found here for the summer, renders it a most acceptable resort for the young men; one of whom said to me, "I can come here and board for a week for what the extras alone would cost at Morehead, and have better surf-bathing and quite as much fun fishing and flirting."

Judge Shepherd and family, Mrs. Monteiro and her three beautiful daughters, Mrs. Louis Latham, Mrs. Harry Skinner, and Miss Ella Monteiro, not one more beautiful than their handsome mother—were here for the summer.

The German, the last night of our stay was quite a success. Mr. Don Gilliam, with Miss Mary Rawls, of Tarboro, led it very gracefully, and was well sustained by Miss Claud Paxton of Edenton, with W. E. Patterson of New Berne, Miss Lelia Perry of Norfolk, with Mr. W. P. M. Bryan of New Berne, Miss Ella Monteiro of Greenville with H. D. Pollock of Kinston, with N. C. Hughes of Washington, with N. C. Sharp of Harrisville with T. L. Williams of Kinston, Miss Carrie Sharp of Harrisville with Mr. J. Leigh of Durant's Neck, Miss Mattie Leigh of Durant's Neck with J. D. Wallston, Tarboro, N. C., Miss Lucy Morton, Washington, with M. A. Capehart of Roxbury, Miss Gracie Leigh of Durant's Neck with T. Farmer of Wilson, Miss Rosenthal of Plymouth with Mr. Jernegan of Harrisville, and Miss Lulu Eaton of New Berne with E. Potter.

With the exception of this last mentioned young lady, New Berne had no lady dancers, but "our boys" sustained our reputation and were pronounced the best gentlemen waltzers on the floor; at least several persons were kind enough to say so to me, but then they probably knew I take a grandmotherly pride in all the New Berne boys and girls when away from home and wished to flatter me; so I only modestly admitted that they "did very well indeed," but heartily assented that New Berne held her own and stood back for no one in music when compliments were showered on the singing of Miss Ella Ives, which was pronounced by competent judges as highly scientific and showing great culture.

At five o'clock on Thursday afternoon the Shenandoah reached the dock with quite a number of passengers from Washington, Elizabeth City and Norfolk, and the hotel being full to overflowing, I overflowed at eleven into a state room aboard of her, and not only secured a quiet night's rest, but avoided rising at four the next morning, so that I came out refreshed at half past six, and, knowing it would be at least an hour and a half before breakfast, prudently interviewed the stewardess as to the possibility of getting a cup of coffee at once. Vain, however, were my efforts, "Jake," the cook, declared he had no coffee. I called down the dumb waiter and promised to put him in the papers not only as the best cook, but the best looking one I ever met, if he would only let me have some coffee "right off," but was politely assured that in the world could not give coffee till it "biled." So calling to him to come under the waiter and hold out his apron, I dropped a dime down to him and asked if that would help to boil the pot? With a bow he assured me I should have my coffee as soon as it "biled," and in fifteen minutes I was accommodated by the smiling chambermaid with a cup of hot coffee, which enabled me to wait patiently for breakfast, Captain Southgate, as usual, taking me under his special care and seeing that I had a seat at the first table, for so numerous were the passengers that half could only be accommodated at once, and it was amusing—to us who had had our breakfast—to watch the faces, and pick out by the expression, those who had eaten and those who were longing to eat.

The fare on any boat that Captain Southgate commands is always excellent and so are the state rooms, as he personally inspects every department daily. When they build a fifty thousand dollar hotel on the beach at Nags Head, I hope he will be appointed to keep it, for it will, in that case, be well kept and he will probably feel willing then to retire from active service. An effort is being made to build such a hotel, and I am sure all the passengers in this last excursion will cast their vote with me, not only for Capt. Southgate as proprietor, but also for "Jake" as cook and "Eliza" as head chambermaid.

Mr. Yeoman speaks of having another excursion when the Scuppernon grapes are ripe on Roanoke Island; if he does may I be there to—eat—. The success of an excursion must depend in a great measure on the manager, and no better one could be found than Mr. John Yeoman, and no more pleasant route than a passage on the Shenandoah under Capt. Southgate.

Notice.
NEW BERNE, July 31st, 1885.
At a meeting of the citizens of New Berne held at the A. M. E. Z. church for the purpose of making arrangements for the observance of the funeral of Gen. U. S. Grant, the following resolution was passed:

Resolved, That we, the citizens of New Berne, for the better observance of the funeral of the late Gen. Grant, do hold public memorial services on Saturday, August 31st.

Taking Care of the Body.

The Christian Index, the leading organ of the Baptist Church in the South, published in Atlanta, Ga., in its issue of Dec. 4, 1884, has the following editorial: "Too many people seem to think that a religious newspaper should be confined to the discussion of moral and religious subjects only, forgetting that religion has to do both with the bodies and souls of men. 'Prove all things, hold fast that which is good,' has as much to do with the practical side of life as it has with the moral side. Our readers will bear testimony that in all questions discussed in the Index, the practical has been duly set forth. In this paragraph, therefore, we only seek to present an article worthy of commendation. After subjecting it to the above test we have tried Swift's Specific and found it good—good as a blood purifier, good as a health tonic. In this opinion we are sustained by some of the best men of the church. Rev. Jesse H. Campbell, the Pastor of the Baptist denomination in Georgia, says: 'It is my deliberate judgment that Swift's Specific is the grandest blood purifier ever discovered. Its effects are wonderful, and I consider them almost miraculous. There is no medicine comparable to it.' Dr. H. C. Hornady, one of the best known ministers in our church, says: 'Swift's Specific is one of the best blood purifiers in existence.'"

These brethren speak advisedly. But few preparations can bring forth such endorsements. The Index desires only to endorse these statements. We have witnessed the beneficial effects of this medicine, not only in our own households, but in several other cases where seemingly all other remedies had failed. It is purely a vegetable compound, scientifically prepared, and perfectly harmless in its composition. It removes the blood and builds up broken down systems—gives tone and vigor to the constitution, as well as restores the bloom of health to the suffering. Therefore we do not deem it inconsistent with the duties of a religious journal to say this much in its behalf.
