BUSINESS LOCALS.

LEWIS WASHINGTON is in the city and will remain for eight or ten days. He is prepared to remove houses on reasonable terms.

St. John's Lodge No. 3, A. F. & A. M., meets tonight.

The old Tiger Lily has been brought around to Howard's shipyard.

Superior Court for Jones convenes next Monday. Judge McCoy will preside.

Lewis Washington, the house mover, is moving a warehouse for Mr. G. F. M. Dail.

The Elm City carried down a good lot of lumber for Lake Landing canal last night.

The schooner Amie Hall is at Stinson's mill loading lumber for Philadelphia.

The steamer Experiment arrived from Baltimore yesterday evening with a cargo of general merchandise.

The funeral of Johnnie Dillingham will be held this morning from St. Paul's Catholic Church, at 9 o'clock.

A large raft of lumber from H. C. Parrott's mill on Contentnea river, is at the railroad wharf and is being shipped to Goldsboro.

A telegram was received from Waynesville, yesterday, announcing the burning of the Haywood White Sulphur Springs hotel.

The cotton crop near the city are looking very promising. A tenant, Mr. Weatherly on Mr. R. Bryan's farm has a forty-five acre field that looks as if it might make a bale to the acre.

We are requested to announce that Rev. A. D. Bets will begin a protracted meeting at Hopewell, Jones county, the 4th Sunday in August and at Lee's Chapel the 1st Sunday in September.

Capt. J. S. Lane of Pamlico county, Maj. Gordon of Egypt farm, and Wm. Foster of this county, all report marked improvement in the crops within the last twelve or fifteen days. Capt. Lane says if there is no bad setback from now on, cotton in his county will average a bale per acre.

Mr. T. F. Woodard, of Pamlico, was in the city yesterday with two fine steers for the market. With cheap pasture and cheap food it is in this section, New Berne's market ought to be supplied with the finest beef in the country. But it is only now and then we find a farmer who will take the pains to prepare one properly for market, as Mr. Woodard has in this instance.

Passengers on the Shenandoah.
Miss Sadie Roberts for Chocertown, Md.; Mrs. Dr. Richardson, Misses Carrie and Flossie Richardson, for Philadelphia; Messrs. G. M. Ives, F. Ulrich and H. W. Wahab for Nags Head.

The Body Found.
The body of Johnnie Dillingham was found yesterday afternoon and an inquest held by Coroner Bates. The verdict was, death by accidental drowning. During the morning a number of guns were fired from the steamer Kinston near the place of the accident and it is thought were the cause of the earlier rising of the body, which was in a few hours afterwards discovered floating in the water not far from where he made the fatal fall.

The funeral will take place this morning at 9 o'clock, from St. Paul's (R. C.) Church.

Old Whigs Meet.
That was an affecting scene in the Journal office yesterday when one of our country officers met one of our prevalent farmers and claimed that they had always been friends. "You have always been my friend," said the officer. "Yes," responded the farmer. "Well then," continued the officer, "kiss me." "No," replied the farmer, "I am not used to kissing." "You were both old Whigs," suggested the editor of the Journal. "Yes," replied the officer, and he fell upon the neck of the farmer and imprinted two or three kisses upon his cheek. The farmer, while he did not return the kiss, he did like a man. It was a genuine shaking hands over the bloody chains, one being a strong Democrat and the other a Republican. It is remarkable how long are the ties between these old Whigs.

Think.
I recently return home thanks to the steam and fire department of New Berne for sending me to save near all my goods on Monday morning from the fire.

L. WALLACE.

Personal.

Judge Green returned from Nags Head yesterday, and is highly pleased with his trip. He was especially pleased to see so many pretty young ladies enjoying themselves so well.

Messrs. Bryant McCullen, jr. and John O. Conner, insurance agents at Kinston, called to see us yesterday and departed on the Shenandoah for Baltimore on a business trip.

W. T. Cahoon, Esq., of the Pamlico Enterprise, was in the city yesterday.

Wm. Cleve, Esq., of Vanceboro, is in the city and reports crops good.

Mr. W. P. Burrus left on the Elm City last night for Hyde county.

D. N. Kilburn, Esq., County Treasurer, returned last night from a visit North.

Mrs. W. R. Guion, C. E. Foy, Esq., John O. Wallace and several others were on the train for Morehead last night.

John S. Winthrop, Esq., of Florida, was in the city yesterday for a day among the scenes of his childhood.

Rev. Father Reilly returned last night in obedience to a call to attend the funeral of John Dillingham, he being in Duplin county on missionary duties at the time.

La Grange Items.

Saturday is said to have been a regular blue day with our merchants. Trade very dull.

A protracted meeting is being held here by Rev. W. E. Swain, assisted by Rev. Mr. Simpson.

Preaching at the M. E. Church here last Sunday and Sunday night by Rev. Mr. Simpson and Rev. W. E. Swain.

Mr. William Speight has moved to our place, Mrs. Speight having been employed as teacher of the primary department of the L. C. I. We welcome them to our town.

The mill of Messrs. Sutton & Walters has been provided with fixtures for grinding wheat. We have not heard as to the quantity or quality of the flour turned out.

Crops are now needing, and will soon be suffering for rain. Let us hope that our land will soon be visited with a shower, the crops benefited and sickness decreased.

We saw on our streets last Monday a colored man driving a very poor horse with fodder for sale. Would not humanity require that the provender be given to the animal?

Capt. A. J. McIntyre expects to leave for his new home in Carter county in a day or two. Mr. McIntyre has been a citizen of this place for many years, and leaves us with the view of bettering his condition, we suppose.

We are sorry to hear of the indisposition of Rev. G. W. Sanderlin at his home near here. He returned from his "California Farm" in Pasquotank, last week, and has been quite sick since then. We hope to see him out soon.

Mrs. Lela Barrow, nee Mrs. Lela Reid was the Stonewall itemizer has it, returned home last week much improved in health, judging from appearance. Stonewall and that section is regarded by our people as being very unhealthy, but we suppose it is only because of the location.

The young people of our town have been requested to meet at some place in town, for the purpose of practicing in vocal music. We notice that but few singing in our churches during religious service, and it is, we suppose, with a view to increasing the number of singers, and the quality of the singing, that the move has been made.

There is much severe sickness around here, and many deaths. A small child of Mrs. Lou Aldridge died last Wednesday, Mrs. Lou Aldridge, mother of the child, died Sunday morning, and R. K. Fields died Monday morning, making four deaths in a short distance of our town in less than a week. The weather is dry; cool nights and winds.

The Glissen-Uzzell case, or one of them, was decided at Wayne Superior Court last week, and resulted in the conviction of Glissen and his imprisonment in the county jail for six months. Men will go to law to get justice. Had not Glissen been convicted and Uzzell had had to pay the costs, his penalty had been nearly as severe as Glissen's, and all about a small matter that might have been settled without resort to the courts.

Richlands Items.

C's turkey hen continues to lay.

Cotton and late corn are suffering for rain.

Very little sickness; boils seem to be the general complaint.

Door hunting and picnics are all the go now; a party of 21 men and 23 dogs went hunting last Saturday; caught one large wild cat.

Quarterly meeting was held at this place in the Methodist Church on the 10th and 11th; the Presiding Elder, Rev. Paul J. Caraway, preached two able sermons. Text for the first day: Corinthians xiv c. 1 v. Second day: Cor. iii c. 21, 22 and 23 v.

There has been, within a radius of ten miles of this place in 4 years, 1500, 000 feet of lumber sawed; none of the lumber has been sold out of the county, and a contract now to cut 300,000 feet more in 2 miles of here and in the same space of time. There has been 15 handsome residences erected and two not completed.

Miss Johnnie Herritage was accidentally shot a week ago but not seriously hurt. She was in the garden gathering vegetables and a young man was leading his gun to shoot a bear, and in letting down the hammer it slipped and fired the gun, striking her with two buck shot, one in the leg and the other in the back. Her corset steel is all, probably, that saved her life.

L. WALLACE.

Jones County Items.

The watermelon crop is a failure with us.

Rain is needed with us, as the late crops of corn are in the very state to need it.

Our county jail, I understand, is fast filling up. Nine boarders there now; all colored but one.

Mrs. Susan King, of Kinston, is visiting her old home, Trenton. Her daughter, Miss Dora McDaniel, accompanies her. Their many relatives and friends will greet them with a cheerful welcome.

Next Monday, the 17th of August, Jones Superior Court will convene. Judge McKay will preside. Pretty large criminal docket, I understand. There will be a murder case, Lott Murrill, col., for the shooting and killing of Alex. Simmons, col.

The county board of education of Jones county met at Trenton on Monday, the 3d of August, and after duly considering the matter, came to the conclusion to redistrict the county and enlarge the school districts, dispensing with at least one-third of the present number. The Board are of the opinion that they can save at least money enough to run the schools one month longer than they have heretofore. The Board ordered that the county superintendent inform each chairman of the school committees of the county, white and colored, and request them to meet at Trenton the last Sunday in September for the purpose of dividing the boundaries of their districts and the number of pupils also ordered that no school sites shall be purchased nor school houses built or repaired at public expense until the first of November next.

The above orders were made in consequence of the view of redistricting the county.

Also ordered, That school committees be notified to pay no teacher a greater salary than thirty dollars per month.

We are informed that there is a fine prospect for building up a permanent school at Trenton. Several of our citizens have concluded to patronize a good school at their own homes instead of sending them to other places. I saw a gentleman on Saturday last inquiring for a house to move his family there, so that he could aid others who have concluded that they can educate their children cheaper in Trenton than elsewhere. But I am informed that he found all the dwellings occupied, some of which had two families in them. The owners of vacant lots in Trenton ought to make a note of this, and invest some of their surplus capital in building some comfortable dwellings.

We have always noted that when you build up a good school in a town you enhance the value of the town property. Trenton has the material within itself to keep up a good school there if they will just unite a little effort in that direction. During the past season they have kept up a school of high order, having the services of a teacher who is highly recommended by such educators as President Battle of the University of North Carolina, and Dr. Lewis, Principal of the Kinston College.

Mr. Mewborn, the Principal of the Trenton High School at Trenton, desires the co-operation of his patrons to establish a permanent school of high grade. Will not each and every one second his efforts?

RUSSIANS PUT TO FLIGHT.

An American Guest at a London Hotel Defends his Country in a Novel Way.
LONDON, Aug. 6.—There was a little Russo-American warfare in the Grand Hotel last night. Unlike the Anglo-Russian affair, it was unattended by tedious diplomatic parleyings, but it was begun and ended in one brief battle, from which America emerged, as usual, victorious. A young sprig of Muscovite nobility, who is an attaché of the Russian Embassy in London, was dining in the ordinary of the Grand Hotel with a party of friends, all of whom were rather overheated with wine. Just opposite them was seated a quiet, middle-aged American, who was also dining with a friend. The Russians began a tirade of abuse against the English, whom they called braggarts and cowards, and boasted that they would soon give them another lesson like that at Fenich. Then, discovering from a remark made by the quiet gentleman at the other side of the table that he was an American, they diverted their attack to the American people, calling them a nation of parvenus, a pack of canaille, and so on.

The conversation was carried on in very loud tones, and in French. The American made a remark to his companion in French to warn the Russians that he fully understood what they were saying, but the warning was unheeded, and the torrent of vulgar abuse flowed on the swaggering young attaché being the most blatant and audacious. The placid American finally arose without a word, seized an empty decanter by the neck and smote the budding diplomat upon the head with a whack that resounded through the dining hall. The Russian jumped to his feet and began fumbling for his revolver, but the American proceeded to hurl plates and glasses at him with such rapidity and skillful aim that the Russian was glad to retreat.

One or two of his comrades seemed inclined to stand their ground, but they saw that the American's ammunition was by no means exhausted, and they all fled. The whole body of guests in the dining room, most of whom were Englishmen, hastily deserted the American, who calmly resumed his interrupted dinner and conversation.

It is said that the young diplomat today formally complained of the assault to Baron de Staal, and asked the Ambassador to take official action to secure redress. The veteran Ambassador is reported to have advised the young attaché to become more proficient in the manly art of self-defence before stirring up any more placid-looking Americans.

News by Mail.

WASHINGTON, August 10.—Capt. W. H. Bixby, in charge of the improvements on the rivers and harbors in North and South Carolina, has made his annual report to Gen. Newton, chief of engineers. He recommends the following appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1887: Contentnea creek, N. C., $80,000; Trent river, N. C., $100,000; Neuse river, N. C., $60,000; inland line of navigation from New Berne to Beaufort, N. C., $50,000; harbor at Beaufort, N. C., $84,000; New river, N. C., $40,000; Cape Fear river above Wilmington, $60,000; Cape Fear river below Wilmington, $28,000; Great Pedee river, S. C., $60,000; Waccamaw river, S. C., $63,000; Georgetown harbor, S. C., $20,000; Santee river, S. C., $80,000; Watercore river, S. C., $30,000.

In relation to the improvement of the Cape Fear river below Wilmington, Capt. Bixby says: Recommendations for future work are as follows: That the improvement as originally projected be completed by completing the unfinished dike south of Zeke's island, so as to thoroughly secure Smith's island from further erosion by the ocean; by widening and deepening the existing river channels to their full dimensions of 370 feet width and sixteen feet least depth at low water; and by further protecting them against deterioration by submerged stone dykes where necessary. It is further recommended that the project be further extended so as to deepen the bar entrance at least sixteen feet at low water. The commerce of this harbor, now $18,000,000, regarded as sufficient to justify an expenditure of several hundred thousand dollars for this improvement. The recommendations for future work above Wilmington are that the improvement be completed according to the approved project, so as to insure a thoroughly cleared four foot channel from Wilmington to Elizabethtown, a distance of seventy miles; thence a similar three foot channel forty-two miles further, to Fayetteville. The improvement to cost $200,000 in yearly estimates of $60,000.

The great Poe Dam river. To secure a foot channel forty-one miles to Smith's mills, thence 31 feet 193 miles to Chowah at all stages of water. On the Neuse: To secure a nine foot channel sixteen miles to Kinston, thence three feet eight miles to Smithfield. The proposed improvement at Beaufort will protect Shackleford's banks and Fort Macon from erosion and will dredge a channel 100 feet wide and four feet deep at low water from bulkhead channel to Beaufort; it is also recommended that eighteen feet of water be secured on the bar at the entrance to Beaufort harbor, as was the case in 1737 and 1830.

GASTON, Aug. 7.—While Emperor William was on his way to visit Emperor Francis Joseph today he tripped on a staircase and fell heavily. He rose in an instant, however, without apparent injury.

SHAMOKEN, Pa., Aug. 7.—The fever scourge is still in this town, and deaths are numerous. Today the Rev. Hugh Riley, pastor of the Primitive Methodist Church, died. Everything is being done to purify the water. The disease is very similar to that which visited Plymouth.

BOSTON, Aug. 7.—The Massachusetts Safety Fund Association having been called to give an account of its affairs by Insurance Commissioner Tarbox, announced today that it would cease to do business. There are thirty-seven death claims pending against it, amounting to $80,000, and the association is unable to meet them.

The Atlanta Constitution.

In a long article relating to the B. B. of that city, says:
The Blood Balm Company started one year ago with $100,000, but today the business cannot be bought for $50,000. The demand and the satisfaction given is said to be without a parallel, as its action is pronounced wonderful.

We are glad to announce that our druggists have already secured a supply, and we hope our readers will supply themselves at once.

It is said to be the only speedy and permanent blood poison remedy offered, giving entire satisfaction in all cases before one bottle has been used. For Blood Diseases, Kidney Troubles, Scrofula, Catarrh, old Ulcers and Skin Diseases, try one bottle of B. B. B.

For sale wholesale and retail by R. N. Duffy. Cash to accompany the order.

BROWNED.

In Trent river, August the 10th, John A. Dillingham, eldest son of the late J. P., and Mrs. Eliza F. Dillingham, and grandson of Mrs. Susan F. Stanly, in the 17th year of his age.

An invalid from his birth, feeble in body, but with a bright mind and a generous heart; he was universally beloved by his young companions, and esteemed by the friends of his grandmother and his mother as one in whom there was no guile.

Just beginning to be able in some small degree to repay the tender love which had cherished him through a sickly childhood he was suddenly taken from the home which he left bright and buoyant one afternoon to be brought back a corpse twenty-four hours later, having been thrown overboard by a sudden flaw of wind while out sailing with two of his young companions.

His paternal grand parents, who reside in Lowell, Massachusetts, as well as his heart-stricken mother and grandmother in our midst have the sympathy of our entire community, for we all had a tender feeling for "Little Johnnie Dillingham," and mourn his sudden death.
