Death by Rail The sad news of the death of Mr. Nathan Stanly, which occurred near Atlanta in a railroad wreck on Monday night was received in this city on Tues day night. Mr. Stanly was a native of Jones county, was for a while conductor on the A. & N. C. R. during the administration of his uncle, Edward R. Stanly. He was also, we believe, at one time postmaster at Kinston. He married Miss Martha Rountree, daughter of Mr. Wm. H. Rountree, of Lenoir, and sister of our townsman, W. F. Rountree, Esq., and for the last year or two has been engaged in business at Anniston, Alabama. He was an honest, straightforward man and a Christian gentleman of the very cleverest type. From the press dispatches we have the following account of the accident, which caused his death:

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 15,-Ope of the most terrible railroad accidents ever known in Georgia occurred last night at midnight fifteen miles from this city on the Georgia Pacific railroad. The East Tennessee and Georgia Pacific roads use the same track to Austell, and last night the Georgia Pacific mixed train with a coach and one sleeper stopped at the tank to get water; the coach and alcoper were on a treatle thirty feet higher. The East Tennessee fast passenger train, going at the speed of thirty miles per hour, struck the sleeper and the engine went nearly half way through it. Beath of B. Gratz Brown. St. Louis, Dec. 13. B. Gratz Brown died suddenly this morning at his residence in Kirkwood, just outside of the city, of heart disease. He was 59 years old, and had a national reputation, having been the nominee for Vice President on the Greely ticket in 1872. He was born in Frankfort, Ky., and came to Missouri in 1851. He became editor of the old Missouri Democrat in 1856, theing at that time a free trade Democrat. He became involved in 1858 in a quarrel with ex-Gov. Reynolds, who was an anti-Benton Democrat. The quarrel resulted in a duel, which was fought on Bloody Island. Gov. Reynolds was seriously wounded. Mr. Brown was elected to the United States Senate in 1863, and in 1870 was elected Governor of this State. #### Two Hundred Millions.

Mr. Vanderbilt was worth $200.000, If we say that he was worth $500, 000,000 or $1,000,000,000 do we get a per ceptibly different impression about the bulk of his fortune? Most people do not. To the average mind the conception of enormous wealth is much the same, whether it be reckoned in hundreds of millions or in vigintillions. The human mind cannot grasp these great sums or clearly appreciate the difference between one hundred millions and two hundred millions.

Let us try and describe Mr. Vanderoilt's great fortune in terms of linear, square, and cubic measurement and of in this line will please hand them to either of the following gentlemen who constitute the executive committee: sion on men's minds.

sion on men's minds.

If this sum of $200,000,000 were in standard silver dollars it would present such features as this: Put lengthwise, dollar after dollar, it would stretch a distance of 4,673 miles, reach a height of 355 miles.

Laid flat on the ground, the dollars would cover a space of nearly 60 acres. The weight of this mass of silver would be 7,160 tons.

To transport it would require 358 cars, carrying 20 tons each (this is the capa-city of the strongest freight cars) and making a train just about 24 miles long. On ordinary grades it would require 12 locomotives to hauf this train. On roads of steep grades and sharp curves 15 or 20 locomotives would be needed. In one dollar bills this two-hundred-million-dollar fortune would assume such shapes as this:

Piled up one on another, close as leaves in a new book, they would reach height of 12 miles. Spread out on the ground they would cover 746 acres, or nearly the whole surface of Central Parks, including

A Word of Caution.

As is usually the case where an article of true merit has attained a worldwide reputation by its wonderful results, as the celebrated Electric Bitters have done, certain unprincipled parties have endeavored to imitate them, and expect to induce an usuaspecting public to purchase their fraudulent wares. ATLANTA'S ARTESIAN WELL.
ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 13.—The artesian well in the heart of the city, and which s now nearly 2,500 feet deep, has begun a steady flow, and runs a solid stream of about 200,000 gallons daily. For weeks the water has stood within fourteen feet of the surface, and the project was about to be given up as a failure, as the water rose no mearer the surface. On the suggestion that the sititude of the surface was higher than the supplying vein, suction pumps were put in the well and an abundant flow was immediately started. The supply, is inexhaustible, and the city will have many other wells dug. and get therefrom its water supply.
