That was a sharp trick played by a fellow from Jones county on Tuesday last, when he had several merchants to wrap up large bundles of dry goods, telling them he could get as much money as he wanted and then went off home leaving them to put their goods back on the shelves. But the merchants think they were a little sharper than he in not letting their goods go out of the stores without the money.

While the clever young gentlemen engaged at the office of the North Carolina Freight Line were patiently waiting the arrival of the steamer Defiance yesterday, a spirited discussion arose resided with much dignity and case and his rulings during the discussion gave entire satisfaction. But the ques-tion is yet undecided by these young men, though it is said they have had some experience on the subject.

Important to Farmers.

We copy today two articles from the News and Observer, one of which is copied by that paper from the Richcopied by that paper from the Etch-mond Dispatch, on the subject of ensil-age. The one from the Dispatch gives directions how to build a silo, and should be preserved by our farmer readers. It is a subject of much importame to our farmers in this section, and we hope they will give it their careful attention. If there is one in this entire Lastern section that makes entired we are not aware of it, yet they entire Lastern section that makes en-silage we are not aware of it, yet they all know the value of green forage for milk cows and other stock during the winter. ## A New Departure.

EDITOR JOURNAL: - Apropos of parties, an extensive use here, because of its simplicity and unlity.

Few Isdies or gentlemen, heretofore, have been willing to appear at a "candy pulling" in full dress costume—indeed, it would have appeared rather bizarre to come out, on such an occasion, that this style did not reach here in time to be worn by the ushers "in full evening dress," at the Clara Louise Kellogg Concert last night; for it would have been a fine opportunity to advertise the new fashion.

In brief, the "new departure consists

In brief, the "new departure consists of a long, white apron, provided with long, wide waist and shoulder straps. This apron is worn over the usual dress, and serves a double purpose—adding to the appearance of the wearer, and protecting the more valuable clothing from candy and fruit stains.

Hereafter, ladies and gentleman will provide themselves with the new evening drees, and take it with them to these festive gatherings, where "linked sucrosity, long drawn out," is a prominent feature of the evening entertainment, and don it while in their respective waiting rooms, preparatory to entering the parlor. Of course it, will be a serious breach of proprily to appear at a candy party in undal a after this time.

Mr. Franklin,
I Make no Doubt you had the Good of your Country in View, when you invited your Correspondents, in your Pac per of last Tuesday, to furnish you with some select Pieces on Agriculture, for the Benefit of those Farmers who would improve their Lands to the best Advan-

I am very sensible, that this country in general, stands in the greatest Need of such Instruction, and this Colony in a particular Manner. This will, in my Opinion, be a blessed Means of banish ing from our Farmers, the unhappy Prejudice they have imbib'd from their Childhood, or what they call, the Folly of farming by Book; which when they try with Diligence, and a right Use of their Reason, I am sure must con-vince them of the real Necessity of farming by Rule as the most certain and ra-Means of obtaining Wealth by Agriculture: All other Methods now us'd among us, are but guess Work which is the principle Reason why we so often fail of Crops in this Govern-

In order to a regular Knowlege thereof, it is necessary the farmer should be well acquainted with the Kind of Land he is to work upon, as they are of sever-al Sorts. And notwithstanding it is thought by many among us, that be-cause our Land requires Toil and Care to make it bring forth, it is poor, and but of small Vaiue, compared with the Land in England; which allow me to say, is a great Mistake; for with great Truth it may be asserted, that the natural uncultivated Soil of this Country in general, is as good, if not in many Places better, than the natural unsultivated Soil of Great Britain, or any other Country; and with a right Improvement and proper Management, will yield to none for raising Grain of all Sorts, fattening Cattle, and every other Thing that the Farmer can raise in Great-Britain. Skill and Industry are only wanting to make this little Colony a from our own Productions.

It is remarkable, how much is yearly nippers. He was carried before justice rais'd among us for the Comfort of Life. not to be conceiv'd! For with a right Cultivation and Management, Cultivation and Management, our Lands will not wear out (as we call it here) but will be constantly growing candy stews, etc., it may not be inapported to draw attention to the fact that a new style of evening dress has just been introduced into New Berne party circles—latest design, direct from Paris. This innovation is likely to have an extensive use have the party of the latest design and the latest design and the latest design and because of the latest design and the latest design and by the same Reason, with a skill-ful Management every Part of the latest design and by the same Reason, with a skill-ful Management every Part of the latest design and the latest design fore: it may be kept increas-ing in Goodness during the Age of Man. And by the same Reason, with a skill-ful Management, every Part of the Business of a Farmer may be increased both in Produce and Value. For the want of Skill in Agriculture, and proper Diligence, it is, that our Farms here suffer so shamefully, and lie so neglected as they do.

As my Countrymen do not want for natural good Genius', what pity is it, now and then reproach'd with the good and neat Management of a Piece of Ground, by the Skill of but an indiffer-ent Farmer From Home! It is certain, that a skillful and diligent Improvement of a Country, will always make it flour-ish; without which, it must languish and die.

In order, therefore, to remove the Prejudices of my Countrymen, against a regular Method of farming, and to convince them of the Necessity of it, I purpose in my next to send you, for their information, a short Tract or Essay upon the different Sorts or Kinds of Earth, or the Land on which they are candy and fruit stains.

The hostess is attired similarly to the guests, with the exception that her apron is bordered with pink. The host in black small clothes, white cap and low states are applied.

The host is been and low state to the prove it; for a Mistake there will spoil all, and they will lose their Labor, let it be ever so great; if that be misapplied.

We may judge from this advertisement that industrial schools were very common in those days.

Congressional Work.

SENATE. - Jan. 22. - The Chair laid be-fore the Senate a letter from the Secretary of the Treasury, in compliance with the recent resolution of the Senate. asking for information as to what proportion of bonds called for payment February 1, 1886, are held by National banks as a basis for circulation. The letter was read. It states the amount of such bonds so held at $5,009,850.

Mr. Hoar submitted for reference to the committee on Rules the proposed new rule requiring that upon a motion to adjourn the Senate to a day other than the next legislative day the question shall be taken by yeas and nays. Referred to the committee on Rules. In offering the proposed rule, Mr. Hoar called, attention to the large number of important bills left over on adjournment of the last Congress, and the cor-responding number of public grievances left consequently unredressed. Mr. Hoar deprecated the practice of adjourning from Thursdays to Mondays.

A joint resolution from the House was placed before the Senate appropriating money for the relief of the North Cheyene Indians. Upon examinations. instion and discussion the spelling of June, some of the words of the bill was found to be wrong. Mr. Dawes said the spelling was such as to render the intent of Congress doubtful, and the matter went over, so as to permit of correction. Mr. Ingalls severely animadverted upon the ignorance or carelessness of the engrossing clerks of another body, from which many bills that came before the Senate eminated. In many bills sent by that body to the Senate for its action, all action had to be suspended and the intent of Congress frustrated by the misspelling of the commonest words. He exonerated the Senate clerk from any responsibility for these difficulties, and said he knew of no remedy at the disposal of the Senate except the correcting influence of public opinion.

The Senate proceeded to the consideration of the Electoral Count bill,
At 3:38 p. m. the Senate went into executive session. At 4:05 the doors were re-opened. The death of Representative Rankin was announced by Mr. Sawyer, of Wisconsin, and out of respect for the deceased the Senate ad-journed. Mesers. The Speaker appointed Mesers Bragg.
