Stockholders' Meeting.

The stockholders of the New Berne and Pamlico Steam Transportation Co. held a meeting at the Exchange rooms yesterday.

The meeting was called to order by the Vice-President, Chas. H. Fowler.
The Chair appointed Messrs. Thos.
Daniels and W. B. Boyd a committee to verify proxies.

The committee reported that there were fifteen stockholders present representing 303 shares.

The Chair declared a quorum present and ready for business.

The Secretary read the proceedings of the meetings held by the Directors on the 20th and 21st of January.

Thos. Daniels, Esq., moved that the action of the Directors in releasing Mr.
Burris from the lease of the steamer Elm City be endorsed, provided the steamer is returned in as good condition as when he received it. The motion was adopted and Capt. S. H. Gray and C. E. Foy, Esq., were appointed a committee to examine and receive the boat.
A proposition was received from Mr.
J. V. Williams offering to lease the Elm City for one year with the privilege of two.

Letters were read from Mr. Reuben Foster, a large stockholder, calling attention to certain provisions of the charter.

On motion, C. E. Foy and Thos. Daniels were appointed a committee to examine the charter and consult counsel as to the propriety of amending the charter in order to accept the proposition offered by Mr. Williams.
The meeting adjourned to 8½ o'clock this evening.

Local Politics.

The local politician, in the Republican ranks, is beginning to cast about for supporters; but the non appearance of the Banner, since its remarkable railroad issue, is an indication that the candidates want a quick, sharp and decisive contest for the nominations, with the letting of as little blood as possible.
This was the tactics two years ago and it worked admirably; but the rank and file evidently want a long contest this year, and one that will bear abundant fruit. The first fight will be over the Chairmanship of the Executive committee, as Abbott and Dudley both claim to lawfully exercise the functions of that office. But when this question is settled, the rank and file of the party, it is understood, will oppose any convention being held for the nomination of candidates before early in October.
This will give ample time for every one who wants to declare himself a candidate to do so.
Doubtless there are several who would like to see how the truck farm pays this year before they consent to serve the people, but if a nominating convention is precipitated upon them like it was two years ago there will be no time to canvass.

So far as we can learn the following are or will be before the Republicans of the county for nominations: The friends of Hon. O. Hubbs want to see him clerk of the Superior court, while the friends of Mr. Carpenter, with equal warmth and zeal want him to stay; the friends of E.
R. Dudley and Rob't Hancock, respectively, would like to see them Register of Deeds; Dick Blackledge is also skirmishing, while Joe Nelson's "friends" will count at the proper time. For sheriff, the Hahn and Stinson factions will be pretty apt to revive the same old fight.
The fight for the county endorsement for Congress is 'between Abbott and Rev. B. W. Morris, with chances in favor of Abbott. He, Abbott, with Craven county's endorsement feels pretty sure of getting the nomination, notwithstanding O'Hara's advantage in distributing seeds. Abbott is a shrewd politician and will rest his claim upon personal popularity and knowing how to work the ropes.
The above is the situation as picked up by a reporter on the streets. Further developments will be reported as the situation warms.

Stonewall Items.

Old wave has busted at last.
O. D. Lewis has just returned from Kinston with a lot of swapping stock in the way of mustang, etc.

With regret I am informed by those who ought to know that the steamer Elm City has made her last trip here.
She will feelingly be missed by us all.

By the way, I see your itemizer at Aurora, Beaufort county, in giving the items of importance in his section so great that South creek has become South river. Now when I used to sit under the old board-roofed log school house, I was taught in Mitchell's geography that South river was somewhere in Carteret.
[Wasn't it last Legislature that put it in Carteret?—Ed.] Now if the spirit of improvement so continues, Pamlico sound will soon be the Atlantic ocean.
Well, there is no telling how things are progressing.

On last Saturday Aldin Moore, a colored man working at A. H. Whitcomb's mill, carelessly let his right hand come in contact with the cut-off saw, and the result was the loss of two fingers and as bad a chopped hand as could have been expected by such a result. Dr.
Attmore rendered what surgical skill was necessary, and time will complete the job. On the same day, on Goose Creek Island, Phil. Jones and John Flowers got into an altercation, in which Flowers was painfully cut. Dr. Attmore was again called and fixed the wounded man and he left for home on Campbell's creek the next day.

Do Not Be Deceived.

In these times of quack medicine advertisements everywhere, it is truly gratifying to find one remedy that is worthy of praise, and which really does as recommended. Electric Bitters we can vouch for as being a true and reliable remedy, and one that will do as recommended. They invariably cure Stomach and Liver Complaints, Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary difficulties.
We know whereof we speak, and can readily say, give them a trial. Sold at fifty cents a bottle, by all druggists.

BRIEFS.

The catch of falcon in Maine was larger last year than ever known before.

The Greek flag has been insulted by Turks searching their vessels for munitions of war.

An old colored woman living in Charleston, W. Va., claims to be 123 years old. Like many other of the good old aunts, she was well acquainted with George Washington.

At Seattle, Washington Territory, the militia had to be called out to preserve order at an anti-Chinese mob. The mob set upon them, when they were ordered to fire, which they did, wounding four and killing one.

The building of the Young Men's Christian Association in Baltimore has been completed. The aim of the association is to help women help themselves, to instruct young girls on such subjects as will enable them to obtain situations where skilled labor will demand good wages. Mathematics and book-keeping are given special attention. A lunch room supplies meals at cost prices, also they furnish lodging to give shelter to the stranger and homeless at a cost of 15 cts. per night.

The Norfolk Virginian gives the death of Col. A. J. Harrell, in that city, formerly of this State:

Col. A. J. Harrell, of the firm of Harrell Brothers, died at the Purcell House yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, of pneumonia. Col. Harrell had been sick only about a week, and his death was a sudden shock to all who knew him. The deceased was a native of North Carolina, but for many years had conducted the cotton commission business in this city.
Col. Harrell leaves a widow and a number of relatives to mourn their loss. He was highly respected by all who knew him.

Congressional Work.

SENATE.—Feb. 8.—Mr. Eustis offered a resolution directing the finance committee to enquire whether it had been the custom for the Assistant Treasurer at New Orleans to receive deposits of the standard silver dollars from shippers of said coin and to issue to their correspondents at New Orleans receipts for silver, subject to count, and to issue silver certificates after the count of said dollars so deposited had been made, and whether said custom, if it had pre-valled, had been changed by the instruction of the Treasurer of the United States and reasons therefor. Also, whether such a custom was now in force at any other Sub-Treasury; also, whether there was adequate clerical force at the New Orleans Sub-Treasury, and if not, what increase was necessary there to enable the Sub-Treasurer to carry out the law.

During the debate on the resolution, Mr. Sherman said that if the transaction under consideration involved a request from the bank that the Assistant Treasurer should open an account with that bank for the silver dollars deposited with the sub-treasury, then that government official was right in refusing to open such an account. Mr. Sherman said the inquiry was entirely proper, and that the Senate had a perfect right to anything on the executive files, either relating to this subject or to executive appointments, suspensions, or removals.
This precipitated a debate upon the question so long pending in caucuses, and committee meetings and secret sessions as to the right of the Senate to information regarding removals.

Mr. Eustis's resolution and its subject were entirely lost sight of in the debate which followed. Mr. Sherman had made the statement that any citizen had a right to go to the Sub-Treasury with his silver dollars and receive certificates for them, and that it was not right for the government to refuse to give that accommodation.

Mr. Morrill asked, jocularly: "Can he ask for their reasons if they refuse?" This was greeted with laughter, but Mr. Sherman immediately precipitated the debate notwithstanding the absence of Mr. Edmunds, who has a large interest in the question. Mr. Edmunds, however, has frequently maintained that the question at issue was merely a mock question and not a practical one.

Mr. Sherman spoke at great length and with much vehemence. His main point was the broad assertion that the Senate had a right to call for and to receive from the President all documents upon the Government files. That it may not ask him in terms to give his reason for any of his acts, but that it has a right to ask and receive all documents whether they bear upon removals or appointments. The Senate, he maintained, was not obliged to give reasons to anybody for what purpose it wished papers, but it had a right to possess the same sources of information possessed by the President to do with as it pleased.

Messrs. Fugh, Salisbury and Morgan combated Mr. Sherman's proposition and upheld the view expressed in Mr.
Fugh's resolution some days ago. Mr.
Fugh began by stating that Mr. Sherman's speech was wholly irrelevant to the resolution before the Senate. He then restated his proposition that the matter of removal from office was wholly apart from that of appointment, and in the former case the President was wholly independent of the Senate, but not so in the latter. The debate partook largely of the question by the Democratic Senators named and extended replies by Mr. Sherman. The debate finally closed, and Mr. Eustis's resolution went over till tomorrow.
Executive session. Adjourned.

Hopps.—Under the call of States the following bills were introduced and referred:

By Mr. Dunn, of Arkansas.—To authorize the purchase of foreign nav-ships by citizens of the United States, and to permit the same to be registered as vessels of the United States.

By Mr. Blanchard, of Louisiana.—A resolution calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for a statement of all monies or funds seized and collected by Generals Butler and Banks while in command of the Department of the Gulf during the war, and particularly of all amounts seized by Gen. Banks and by the United States officers in New Orleans from May, 1863, to May, 1865, together with dispositions of monies and lands so seized and appropriated by the United States.

By Mr. Reid, of North Carolina.—To abolish the statute allowing seizing officers to destroy forfeited stills.

Mr. Crane, of Texas, from the Committee on Labor, reported a bill constituting eight hours a day's work for all laborers, etc., employed by the United States Government.

The House then went into a committee of the whole on the Half-Gallon Liquor Tax bill.

Mr. Weaver, of Iowa, took the floor with a speech upon the financial question and an attack upon the national banking system. He said the House might just as well face the music first as last. There were four things relating to finance which this Congress must enact. First, it must provide for the unrestricted coinage of American silver.
Second, a law must be passed for the issue of Treasury notes to take the place of bank notes. Third, a larger portion of the surplus in the Treasury must be paid out in liquidation of interest bearing public debt. Fourth, it must forbid, by law, any further discrimination against silver coin.

The committee then rose and the House, at 5:15, adjourned.

Death of Gen. Hancock.

It will be a great shock to many of our readers to learn that General Winfield Scott Hancock's death. He died at his military home on Governor's Island near New York city, on yesterday afternoon at 35 minutes past 2 o'clock, of a malignant carbuncle on the neck and diabetes. His death was sudden, but not unexpected to his family. He was born in Pennsylvania in 1824, and was nearly 63 years of age. His military career was brilliant. He served in the Mexican war, and in the war between the States was one of the most gallant, dashing, hard-fighting commanders on the Northern side. He distinguished himself greatly in the Peninsula campaign in Virginia, at Fredericksburg, at Chancellorsville and at Gettysburg.
The Southern soldiers respected and honored him. They always liked a brave and honorable foe.

After the war, in 1863, Gen. Hancock was sent by President Johnson to take command of the Southwestern Military District, with headquarters at New Orleans, if we remember correctly. The Republican Senate failing to confirm the appointment his administrative career was brief, but it lasted long enough for him to greatly endear himself to the Southern people and to the Democrats in the North by his orders, which breathed a high patriotism and a profound and sincere regard for the Constitution of his country. He showed that a man reared to arms in a free country and knew how to regard law and the rights of the people. His nomination by the Democrats for the Presidency in 1880 and his defeat are too well known to require more than mere mention in a necessarily short and hurried notice.

A distinguished American soldier has passed away, quickly following the two eminent commanders, Grant and Mc-Clellan, whom he served with conspicuous gallantry. A brave, heroic spirit, a noble, patriotic American lives no longer on earth. Among all who shall lament his death, there will be no people to surpass the South in the sincerity and poignancy of their sorrow.—Wm mington Star.

Raiding the Mormons.

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 7.—This morning raids were made by deputy marshals on the residences of George Q.
Cannon of the Mormon First Presidency. His supposed latest polygamous wife, who avoided service of a summons heretofore, and other persons were suspended to appear and testify before the Grand Jury. [United States District Attorney Dickson offers a reward of $500 for the capture of Cannon.

The Territorial Supreme Court has rendered a decision sustaining the conviction of Apostle Lorenzo Snow of unlawful cohabitation. The court recites that Snow, in Nauvoo, first illegally married two women at one ceremony, and the contract, therefore, was null and void. He then married successively seven other women; all of whom he supports and holds out to the world as his wives. This is known by the testimony, while at the same time he dwells regularly with Minnie, his latest polygamous wife, who has a three-months-old child.

The Court says this is one of the most flagrant cases of polygamy in the Territory, and that no error was made in convicting Snow. The Court also sustains the conviction of Brigham Young Hampton of conspiring to establish disreputable houses for the purpose of luring thither prominent Gentiles, and says the testimony disclosed a wicked and disgraceful conspiracy, which must be condemned by all.

Hold on to the truth, for it will serve you well and do you good through eternity. Hold on to virtue, it is beyond price to you at all times and places.
Hold on to Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, for there is nothing like it to cure a cough or cold.
