That whenever differences or controversies arise between common carriers engaged in the transportation of proprty passengers, whether said common carriers be private persons or corporainvitation to deliver the address at the tions, between two or more States of the United States, or within the territories of the United States, or within the District of Columbia and the employees of Alabama. The General commanded said common carriers, which differences second only in dash and skill to Stonewhen such employees or any of them wall Jackson. Gen. Gordon is said to allege that they have been treated unjustly or oppressively, either as to wages, hours of labor or otherwise, by such common carrier, if upon a written proposition of either party to the controversy to submit their differences to arbitration, the other party shall accept the proposition; then and in such event the common carrier is hereby authorized to select and appoint one person, and such employee or employees, as the case may be, to select and appoint another person; and the two persons thus selected and appointed to select a third person-all three of whom shall be citizens of the United States and wholly impartial and disinterested in respect to such differences or controversie -and the three persons thus selected and ap-pointed shall be and they are hereby created and constituted a board of ar-

Section 2. That the board of arbitration provided for in the first section of this act shall possess all the powers and authority in respect to administering oaths subpoenaing witnesses and compelling their attendance, preserving order during the sittings of the board, punishing for contempt and requiring the production of papers and writings, and all other powers and privileges in their nature applicable now possessed and belonging to the United States Commissioners appointed by the Circuit Court of the United States, and said board of arbitration may appoint a clerk and employ stenographer and prescribe all reasonable rules and regulations not inconsistent with the provisions and purpose of this act looking to the speedy advancement of differences and controversies submitted to him to a conclusion and determination. Each of said arbi-trators shall take an oath to honestly, fairly and faithfully perform his duties and that he is not personally interested in the subject matter in controversy which eath may be administered by any State or territorial officer authorized to administer oaths. The third person so selected and appointed as aforesaid shall be president of said board, and any order, finding, conclusion or award made by the majority of such arbitra-tors, shall be of the same force and af-fect as if all three of such arbitrators concurred therein or united in making Section 3. Section 5. That each member of said tribunal of arbitration and the clerk, stenographer and witnesses attending before them shall be entitled to receive like fees or compensation as U. S. Commissioners' clerks, stenographers and witnesses attending before U. S. Commissioners, and such fees or compensation shall be payable by the United States in like manner as fees of such U S. Commissioners in criminal cases are payable under existing laws.

In a point of order raised by Mr. Dunn, of Arkansas, the bill was referred to Committee of the Whole and the House immediately went into committee for consideration of the measure. A long and interesting debate followed, in which the strongest arguments in favor of the bill were that it was a step in the right direction; that its moral effect would be very great; that it was imperatively necessary for Congress to move in the matter promptly; that the bill gave vent to public opinion in an June, orderly, legitimate way, and that it is July, the best that can now be done. The objections to it were that the bill could not compel and that it was not competent for Congress to compel either party to the controversy to accept arbitration under it, if they chose to refuse; therefore, that the bill is powerless for good if it becomes law; that it would be a useless expenditure of time; that it would be trifling with the grand subject; that advantage could be taken of it to settle petty quarrels and that the United States could be made to pay bills. Several members announced their intention to vote for it, while they condemned it as being wholly valueless. Pending discussion the committee rose and Mr. O'Neill, of Mo., gave notice that he would try to have a vote taken on the measure tomorrow. At three o'clock Mr. Willis, of Ky. reported the river and harbor appropriation bill; and it was ordered printed and recommitted. Mr. Turner, of Ga., from the commit-tee on elections, submitted the report of tion case, and Mr. Martin, of Ala., obtained leave to file a minority report The following is the full text of the The report was placed on the calendar and Mr. Turner gave notice that he would try to get action upon it next
