County Expenditures.

The amount of claims audited by the county commissioners of Craven county at the April meeting footed up $1414.70. Four hundred dollars of this amount was for interest due Mr. H. Sperling on loan made to the county for building court house, leaving the amount of ordinary claims audited $1014.70. The amount audited at the April meeting of 1885 was $803.20, making an increase in the total amount of claims audited in April, 1889, pf $350.24. But there is still a contiderable margin in favor of 1886, when compared with the first four months in 1885.

Congressman Murphy, of Iowa, then spoke in fayor of his project, the con-structiontion of the Hennepin canal. A speech from Congressman O'Hara, of North Carolina, and T. P. Rinecler, of Pennsylvania, and a few closing re-marks from the chairman concluded the programme for the evening.

The chairman announced that letters had been received from Senator Logan and Representative O'Donnell, of Michi-

the meeting. Representative Murphy said he felt prouder when he was janitor of a college than he did now as a Representative in Congress. He argued that the passage of the Kennepin canal bill would bring comfort to the firesides of the workingmen. He wanted to go into the United States treasury and take $1,000,000 out of it now to bring bread and meat to the people west of Chicago and he wanted to do this in consideration of labor.
