Stranger Things Have Been.

It was formerly the case in North Carolina and elsewhere that inland towns played second fiddle to towns that had easy access to the sea and that no permanent prosperity, activity in business or large populations could be found off of the seaboard. Hence Edenton, Elizabeth City, Plymouth and other Eastern towns in North Carolina formerly thought they would become large cities if the Inlet at Nags Head could be cut out and vessels could find the sea in a few hours. This idea was so thoroughly adopted by public men that large sums were appropriated by the State and General Governments "to open the Inlet." But now this is all changed. Our domestic and inland trade has become so immense that inland towns are not now dependent upon foreign trade and instead of being second to the seaboard towns they now furnish another case of the tail wagging the dog. We are credibly informed that Elizabeth City now furnishes Norfolk with some of its manufactured articles and we suppose that in proportion to population it is making more headway in business and population than its big sister by the sea. We should not be surprised if in half a dozen decades Norfolk merchants should be importing their spring and fall stock from the factories and wholesale houses of Elizabeth City, and Elizabeth City drummers and commercial travellers should be canvassing Norfolk for trade. Stranger things have happened. Our merchant prices had better make a note of it and set their sails in that direction. We hear of one factory in our town supplying Norfolk dealers with their manufactured wares. —E. City Economist.

THE NORTHERN BOUNDARY OF THE U. S.—There is little danger that any one wishing to settle in far Northern Dakota will by mistake find himself in the Dominion. The boundary is marked plainly and continuously by stone cairns seven and one-half by eight feet; mounds, seven by fourteen feet; iron pillars, seven feet high, eight inches square at the bottom and four at the top, and timber posts five feet high and eight inches square. There are 385 of these marks between the Lake of the Woods and the base of the Rocky Mountains. East and west of the Red river, the boundary is marked by cast-iron pillars at mile intervals. "American and 'British' pillars alternate. On one side of each post is "Convention of London" on the other "October 20, 1818." Where lakes are crossed, stone heaps have been built projecting several feet above water. In forests the line was first marked by felling the timber a rod wide and clearing away the underbrush; where this line has since been obliterated, posts have taken its place.

Steamer for Sale—Cheap

A very light-draught, stern-wheel Steamboat, double engines, carrying fifty to seventy-five bales of cotton, besides passengers, boiler nearly new, machinery and boat in perfect order, is for sale cheap. This boat draws about two feet, runs seven miles per hour, requires but three men—Captain, Engineer and Cook—burns half-cord of wood in twelve hours, and runs at expense of $5.50 to $7.00 per day. She is adapted for work on the Trent or Contentment rivers, and will be sold to responsible parties on the easiest terms, and delivered at New Berne free of expense to purchaser.

Harper's Magazine,

ILLUSTRATED.

The December Number will begin the Seventy-second Volume of HARPER'S MAGAZINE. Miss Woolson's novel, "East Angels," and Mr. Howell's "Indian Summer"—holding the foremost place in current fiction—will run through several numbers, and will be followed by serial stories from R. D. Blackmore and Miss D. M. Craik. A new editorial department, discussing topics suggested by the current literature of America and Europe, will be contributed by W. D. Howells, beginning with the January number. The great literary event of the year will be the publication of a series of papers—taking the shape of a story, and depicting characteristic features of American society as seen at our leading pleasure resorts—written by Charles Dudley Warner, and illustrated by C. S. Reinhart. The Magazine will give special attention to American subjects, treated by the best American writers, and illustrated by leading American artists.
