Frank Willis, colored, was committed to jail yesterday by Justice Brinson upon the charge of being crazy. His case will be examined today. The jailor, Rodgers, had quite a time getting him to jail, or rather after getting him in. He was decoyed in as a visitor to look at Rodgers' quarters when Rodgers closed the door on him; then he drew a razor and slashed about with it furiously. Rodgers went out and summoned two strong men to go and help him deprive the prisoner of his razor and other implements of war.

The Medical Association,

Some of the newspapers have got terribly mixed up as to the time of the meeting of the Medical Association. The time for the meeting has been fixed by these papers at all the way from the 12th to the 30th of May, while the Goldsboro Messenger of the 13th inst. states that, "The Medical Association is in session at New Berne."

The Association meets here on Wednesday, the 19th of May, 1886; the examining board meets on the day before and during the convention. Can the papers get it right now?

lords proprietors discounted printing presses and learning. In an interesting address delivered at Chapel Hill, in 1827, by Hon. Archibald D. Murphey, of the Supreme Court of N. C., he says there were few books in the colony; the library of a common man consisted of a Bible and a spelling book; the lawyers had a few law books, and the ministers a few on theology, and sometimes a few Greek and Roman byterian ministers, were generally the school masters, and with them the poor young men who wished to preach the Gospel or plead the law, received their Caldwell's famous classical school, he says, "the students had no books on history or miscellaneous literature. I well remember, that after completing my course of studies under Dr. Cald-well, I spent nearly two years without History of Charles the Twelfth of Sweden, an old volume of Smollett's

Congressional Work.

SENATE.-May 12.-In the Senate to-day Mr. Mitchell submitted a concurrent resolution, expressing it to be the sense of Congress that negotiations should be entered into between the United States and the Chinese government, with a view to securing such modification of the present treaty with China as may result in stopping the coming of Chinese to this country, except in case of diplomats and their servants, and except also in case of persons at sea driven to seek a place of shelter. The concurrent resolution was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations. Mr. Stanford gave notice that on the 27th inst. he would submit resolutions in respect to the death of his late colleague, Mr. Miller. The consideration of the Inter-State Commerce bill was then resumed. The bill having been completed as in Committee of the Whole, the question was on agreeing in the Senate to amendments agreed to in committee. A pro tracted debate arose on various amendments, especially amendments to the long and short haul clause.

Mr. Riddleberger moved to lay the bill on the table. This motion was de-feated—yeas 1 (Riddleberger); nays 44. feated—yeas 1 (Riddleberger); nays 44.

Mr. Riddleberger then stated that this vote settled all constitutional questions and resolved that all was attributed to the Democratic States Rights party into one general proposition that the federal government had the vight to control railroads, which carried with it the proposition to control telegraphs. The sole object of his motion had been to develop that fact. He wanted to hear no more talk of "unconstitutional" on Most. When asked whether he was no more talk of "unconstitutional" on these points.

Mr. Edmunds moved to restore to the ong and short clause the words struck out by the Camden amendment, namely. "from the same original point of de-parture" and to add to those the further words, "or to the same point of arrival." He believed this would be better than the Camden amendment, because the latter amendment created, he said, a distinction and an injustice between local traffic that happened to be a little way out of the State.

The Edmunds amendment was at first rejected—yeas 23, nays 24—but Mr. Edmunds again offered it later, and it was agreed to—yeas 27, nays 24. Several other amendments were offered and re-

The bill then came to a vote and was passed—yeas 47, nays 4. The negative votes were Brown, Colquitt, Morgan and Ransom. A number of pairs were ennounced.

The Bankruptcy bill was then laid pro forma before the Senate, but Mr. Hoar yielded in favor of the Pension bill, which latter accordingly remains the unfinished business for 2 o'clock to-
