BUSINESS LOCALS.

Just received, by Mrs. S. F. Stanly, a new supply of Royater's Choice Candies. Mrs. Dillingham's superior Ice Creams served daily at her rooms and furnished on reasonable terms for parties or festivals.

The revenue cutter Stevens is being repainted.

The schooner Virginia Hawley is at Cawman & Thompson's mill loading lumber.

Dr. Jas. F. Long has removed his office from South Front street to Middle street, near the Henderson House.

The steamer Esperment will sail today for Baltimore with a cargo of shingles, cotton and naval stores.

The Beach Grove Sunday school will leave this morning at 5 o'clock on steamer Kinston for Biddle's landing.

Only two or three boats in the market dock yesterday evening. Clams and sweet potatoes constituted their cargoes.

Thunder shower last night, and the shower was very acceptable to farmers and truckers.

Presbyterian Church sociable at the residence of Mr. Geo. N. Ives on Middle street this evening. Refreshments served at reasonable prices.

The steamer Kinston arrived from up Neuse yesterday with a few bales of cotton and passengers; among whom was Spencer Brooks, Esq., of Pitt county.

We are indebted to E. R. Dudley for a quantity of very fine Irish potatoes—the finest we have seen this season. If these are a fair sample of his crop he will make it pay, notwithstanding the drouth has cut the crop short.

Mr. Melvin Price, who went in pursuit of his unfaithful wife, who fled with Van Ogleby on Friday night last, returned on Sunday night with his child, having overtaken the fugitives in Pitt county.

Prof. E. P. Hauser is in the city for the purpose of forming a class in vocal music. All persons interested and desiring to join this class can obtain information as to terms, etc., by applying to B. M. Gates. The class, ladies and gentlemen, will meet at the building of the Y. M. C. A. this, Tuesday, evening at 8 o'clock.

We publish an interesting letter today from Rev. L. C. Vass, who is attending the General Assembly of the Southern Presbyterian Church at Augusta, Ga. We see he has been placed on the most important committee of that body—the committee on the doctrine of Evolution which will come up for discussion and probably cause a stormy session. He is also made a member of the standing committee on Sabbath-schools.

The steamer Cleopatra left yesterday for the New Berne and Beaufort Canal, and lower Neuse river points, with a good load of freight. She carried, among other cargo, goods for Morehead City and Swansboro. This line advertises that it is now ready to carry freights through to Beaufort and Morehead City in one day, and also guarantees prompt delivery to all Bogue sound and White Oak river points at lower rates than by any other line. They also solicit freights for the Riverdale, Croatan, Havelock, Newport and Wildwood neighborhoods.

Personal.

Messrs. James and Fred Thomas returned from Chapel Hill on Saturday night. We regret to learn that James' health was such that it was necessary for him to come home for a few days' rest. He will return in time for the commencement exercises, being of the senior class this year.

Chas. H. Brown, Esq., of Trenton, is attending court.

Rev. L. W. Crawford left yesterday morning for Greensboro to attend a meeting of the Trustees of the Female College.

Where is the street sprinkler? was the inquiry yesterday, which, reduced to spring poetry ran thus:

Sprinkle, sprinkle, water cart,
How I wonder where thou art;
Never can I find you nigh
When you the dust begins to fly.

Miscellaneous.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 8, 1884.
One of my customers, Mrs. L. Williams, has been using B. B. B. a short time and reported to me that its effects were simply marvelous, and that it far surpassed all other blood remedies she had used, and that she could heartily recommend anything sold in its favor, as it has given her more relief than anything she had ever used before.

The Superior Court.

Court convened yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. The grand jury was drawn and Mr. W. H. Cobb appointed foreman. His Honor's charge was brief, but to the point, and such as the jurors could readily understand. When they retired the petit jury was called and work begun.

Before time to adjourn for dinner one case was given to the jury and another called, but the witnesses being absent—an attorney stating that it was unusual to try any cases before dinner on the 1st day—His Honor adjourned to 2 o'clock.

The following cases were disposed of:

State vs. A. A. Cato; injury to live stock; guilty.

State vs. Edgar W. Humphrey; false pretense; not guilty. Defendant's counsel lodged a motion to tax the prosecutor, W. Cohen, with cost.

State vs. James Becton; perjury; indictment defective, verdict of not guilty entered.

State vs. Emeline Banks; larceny; pleads guilty.

State vs. Job Manly and Wm. Slade; larceny. Pleads guilty. Motion for judgment; motion by consent of State continued.

State vs. Richard Bryant, A. & B.; pleads guilty.

State vs. John Mayo, A. & B.; called and failed, capias instanter.

The docket was called for motions in cases involving costs and sci fas and court took a recess to 9 o'clock this morning.

Punctuality in Court.

The old time punctuality required of suitors, witnesses and defendants in attending the Superior Courts is fast playing out, especially in Craven county. We see evidences of it at every term of the court and we believe it gets worse at every term. Judge Shepard could dispose of the criminal docket of Craven county in one-half the time if all parties concerned were on hand when their cases are called. Numbers of cases were called yesterday in which the defendant, witnesses and sometimes the attorneys were absent and they had to be passed over.

Solicitor Collins begun yesterday evening to enforce a rigid rule to have those defendants whom he knew to live in the city brought up upon an instant capias after being called and failed to answer. The first case we think was that of John Mayo, col., a man who hardly has sense enough to know what court is in session for, and the Solicitor was making good headway with the rule until he reached a defendant of intelligence, one who certainly knew that his case was likely to be called at any time, and here he broke down and instead of a capias instanter the case was allowed to go over until this morning.

We offer the suggestion to the Solicitor that if he wants to make an example of some one for non-attendance, and enforce punctuality, his victim, if he wants to give force to the example and make it of value, should be selected from the very best material offered. To make an example of such characters as John Mayo will have but little effect. Judge Shepard was willing and anxious to do more work yesterday, but he could not for the reasons stated above. The fact of the business is many people have almost come to the conclusion that it is not worth while for them to attend court if they have a lawyer there to look after their cases, no matter whether they are defendants, witnesses or prosecutors.

Kinston Items.

Mr. S. C. Dunn, of Davis' school, came home a few days ago, and has been quite sick but is improving.

Drs. Gates and Woodley of Lenoir county enter the medical field. Success to them; they deserve it.

Archbell has added to his other accommodations, a very complete arrangement for fanning his boarders.

Mrs. J. P. Bryan, Miss Helen and Miss Mattie Rountree visited New Berne during the session of the Medical Society.

The preacher of the African Zion Methodist Church immersed 18 persons in Neuse river last week in the presence of a large assembly.

Dr. Martin Harper and wife, of Johnston county, have been spending a few days with Dr. H. D. Harper. He has been attending the Medical Society at New Berne.

The town officers are having Dick Whitfield move the market house out on Queen street, which will render it much more convenient and profitable.

The citizens of the surrounding country will be pleased to learn that the law prohibiting the sale of country produce before 10 o'clock a. m. has been repealed and all are at liberty to sell at any hour.

Rom Johnson of the Messenger was in town last Wednesday. We hope he may succeed in getting an itemizer in Kinston, but he is welcome to items borrowed from the JOURNAL until he can do better.

Dr. Bryan, Rountree and Tull have returned from the Medical Society and report an excellent time. We take pleasure in noting the fact that Dr. Henry Tull was appointed a delegate to the American Medical Association.

Mr. Jarman Becton died suddenly at his house on Friday night, May 21st. He retired in good health. During the night his wife discovered that something was wrong with him. She got up and struck a light, and he died only a few minutes after.

Among the large number of doctors who passed down on last Tuesday 18th, was one dissipated character. While a large number of them were taking supper at Street's hotel, this one was hunting for something to drink. The train was not accommodating enough to wait for him and he spent a day in Kinston much against his will. He tried to cure the blues by using the drunkard's remedy—whisky.

Miraculous Escape.

W. W. Reed, druggist, of Winchester, Ind., writes: "One of my customers, Mrs. Louisa Pike, Barton, Randolph Co., Ind., was a long sufferer with Consumption, and was given up to die by her physicians. She heard of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and began buying it of me. In six months' time she walked to this city, a distance of six miles, and is now so much improved she had quit using it. She feels she owes her life to it." Free trial bottles at Hancock Bro's. Drug Store.

AUGUSTA, GA., May 21, 1886.
DEAR JOURNAL:—Travel is made doubly pleasant when one meets with increasing numbers of friends and renews old associations. Such was my pleasant lot. First, from Kinston to Goldsboro I enjoyed an antiquarian conversation about North Carolina affairs with Col. Saunders, our accomplished Secretary of State. He is doing a work of inestimable value in gathering all available material touching the history of our State from the earliest period of its settlement. Under the authority of our Legislature, he is now publishing the first two volumes.

Gathering up members of the Presbyterian General Assembly we steadily swept on through the night via Wilmington to Columbia, S. C., where we breakfasted on Wednesday, 19th inst. Between trains I had a delightful visit to SUPT. D. B. JOHNSON, who was the organizer of the New Berne Graded School. Prof. Johnson is now at the head of the Columbia System of Public Schools, white and colored, embracing nearly 1500 scholars. As soon as possible I hope to send you a statement of the plans here, which may help our system.

COLUMBIA.

This city was almost wholly burnt down during the war. The colored carriage driver, who drove me around, gave interesting incidents about that burning; for he, Anderson and his wife Phillis, were witnesses of much that occurred. He pointed out the spot where one Federal soldier was shot as he was applying the torch; and said he knew that Gen. Sherman's men burned the whole city, except the bridge over which the Confederate troops passed, and a few buildings. But the city has risen wonderfully from its ruins, and one only traces here and there the sad occurrence. The capitol bears the marks of cannon balls, but was not injured. It had not been completed, and the work is now progressing. Immense blocks of stone, like those of the pyramids, are lying around, in various stages of completion. When finished, this will be a magnificent structure, and worthy of a noble State.

The city is a "forest city," amid its lines of trees, water-oaks, live-oaks, hackberry, elms, etc., that beautifully shade its streets by three rows frequently, one being in the center.

Here are situated the Columbia Theological Seminary of the Presbyterian Church, and the University of South Carolina, with about twelve professors and two hundred students.

AUGUSTA, GA.
This city has about 35,000 inhabitants. It is situated at the head of navigation on the Savannah river. Today the river is "booming" away out of its banks and more than thirty feet above its level by reason of great rains. Hamburg, a village on the opposite bank, is submerged, and great destruction prevails everywhere. The streets of Augusta near the river are under water and the bridges are in danger.

Great manufacturing enterprises are successfully conducted here, employing thousands of operatives, and here are six extensive cotton factories, making cotton sheetings and cloths and yarns; and three or four wool factories. A canal taps the river about seven miles above the city, and brings in water for supplying the city reservoir, as well as for water power. Two of the streets, Broad, on which I have my hospitable home; and Greene, are the most magnificently shaded streets I ever saw. There are four rows of trees running through them, and the two central ones make a splendid walk between them, as well as the two sidewalks. On Greene are two monuments; one a plain granite shaft, 40 feet high to Georgia's three signers of the Declaration of Independence; the other was erected to the Confederate dead from two counties. Their names are cut in the marble; I suppose there are 400. Another handsome marble shaft some 75 feet high, with a soldier on the top; and on the base are life-size statues of Generals Lee, Jackson, Cobb and Walker. Its ornamentation is in fine style.

I thought I would write you a sketch of Augusta, and things in general; but I must pause here.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

This highest ecclesiastical court of the Southern Church convened in the First Presbyterian Church here yesterday. It was opened with a sermon by Rev. H. R. Raymond, D. D., of Texas. The sermon was an appropriate one to the occasion, and serious business that will come before the Assembly. The roll was then read, but a large number—forty or more—of the members were detained in Charlotte, N. C., by breaks in the railroad. There are today about 150 members present. Rev. J. H. Bryson, D. D., of Huntsville, Ala., has been elected Moderator, Rev. E. A. Ramsey, of Tenn., and Rev. G. W. White, of Va., were chosen Clerks. Standing committees have been appointed, and the Assembly's Secretaries of the causes of Education, Publication, Home and Foreign Missions have made reports. So the body is in the way now of proceeding to real business. One of the most important committees, if not the most important committee in the body has been raised to take the whole Subject of Evolution in hand, as it comes to the Assembly by several overtures. Rev. G. D. Armstrong, D. D., of Norfolk, Va., is the chairman. He is a very able man; was thirteen years the Professor of Physical Science in Washington and Lee University, and has just published an able book on the whole subject of the Relations of Science and Religion. I must go to my committee work now. More anon,

L. C. VASS.

"Oh, might I kiss those eyes of fire,
Ten thousand scarce would quench desire,
Still would I steep my lips in bliss,
And dwell an age on every kiss."

That young dude needs something for his blood; he is utterly too fresh. B. B. B. is the best thing for him, because one bottle will cure him. But that dude is not all alone in his terrestrial glory—not by a "jug full." Many others are considerably "rattled" just now about that blood poison business, but B. B. B. will cure for the least money, and in the shortest time. The boom is coming. Purify, Purify.

BRIEFS.
Ex aldermen Jaehne's occupation at Sing Sing will be that of a laundryman.

Prince Alexander is making a tour of Bulgaria and meeting with ovations at all points.

Dr. Dio Lewis, an author and reformer of much note, died at his home in Yonkers, N. Y., last Friday, of erysipelas.

More firing has taken place between the Greeks and Turkish outposts. It was at long range and had but little effect.

A bill has passed Congress for the establishment of two life-saving stations on the North Carolina coast; one at Oak Island and the other at Topsail inlet.

The North Carolina Press Association meets at Morehead City this year, commencing June 17th. A visit to Washington and Luray caves is in contemplation.

Hon. Kemp P. Battle, L. L. D., President of the University of North Carolina, has been appointed by Cleveland as a member of the board of visitors to West Point for the present year.

The people of Johnston county are taking vigorous steps to raise funds for the erection of a monument to the memory of the Confederate dead, who perished at the battle of Bentonville.

Col. George I. Notwitzky, the cloyer, and indefatigable doctor of Indian tea fame, is one of the chief movers in the cause, and from the Smithfield Herald, we see that a handsome sum has already been subscribed.

Saved His Life.

Mr. D. I. Wilcoxson, of Horse Cave, Ky., says he was, for many years, badly afflicted with Phthisis, also Diabetes; the pains were almost unendurable and would sometimes almost throw him into convulsions. He tried Electric Bitters and got relief from first bottle, and after taking six bottles was entirely cured and had gained in flesh eighteen pounds. Says he positively believes he would have died, had it not been for the relief afforded by Electric Bitters. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by Hancock Bros.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. R. W. WOOLLEY, M. D., Atlanta, Ga., Office 63 1/2 Whitehall Street.
