The importance of schools furnish gratifying evidence that the subject has suggested, and I believe, this city has been fortunate in securing justifies this long letter. the services of a master-workman, as Superintendent of its educational affairs.

But my special aim is to give the re-sults of information obtained as to the way educational matters are conducted in South Carolina. We may derive hence valuable suggestions in our present troubles in New Bern about the conduct of our own graded school. Difficulties we have found in our towns, about the special discriminating tax, do not exist here, but are all avoided by the South Carolina method. The great and distinguishing feature is that no discrimination is made between white and colored in the distribution of the public schools. There are, of course, no the schools. But the school fund is the bar had been clovated to the level

There are some grumblers here. But selfishness is not dead, and no human systems are perfect. Yet the South Carolina method commends itself to my judgment as wise and practical. I have strike prices. The most vital strike in been studying it, and it does seem to be the very one for us in North Carolina to which guarantees you perfect satisfacadopt and carry out. Certainly the colored secreted itself while Mr. West was fish- schools would gain superiors dvantages never yet in their grasp, and our white school could be continued without embarrassment. Unless some such plan is adopted, our children in New Berne are adopted, our children in New Berne are likely to suffer much from defective educational facilities.

Columbia is feeling the uplifting power of its improved ballools and op-ponents have been transformed into warm friends. Cannot New Berne begin on a new basis, proven good by experience elsewhere, and inaugurate ecessful educational departure in the Old North State? I hope so sincerely. I shall bring with me the document
